LOCAL FARMERS INTERESTED IN CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

Although the attendance at the meeting in the Memorial hall on Thursday, June 25, was not as large as it might have been, those who were there were much interested in the question of co-operative marketing. Mr. Shields, of Macleod, was present, and gave a very interesting address on the principles of co-operative marketing in all its phases.

At the close of his address many pertinent questions were asked and quite a lively discussion relative to the present livestock shipping association joining the livestock pool took place. The consensus of opinion was that it would be greatly to the advantage of the members of the association to have their stock pooled, but there were a few minor difficulties to be overcome first, and it was decided to call a meeting of the board of directors to devise a workable solution of these difficulties.

On Saturday evening the board met at the office of the manager, Mr. Geo. Cranston, and after a full discussion of the question decided upon a workable plan, the details of which will be made known shortly.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL MEETING UNITED CHURCH

The first congregational meeting of the United Church, Fort Saskatchewan, was held in the old Presbyterian church Monday evening.

Rev. C. E. A. Pocock opened the meeting with scripture reading and prayer. Rev. Mr. Pocock was appointed chairman and Mr. A. B. Adamson secretary for the meeting.

Eight members were nominated for Session and the following five were elected by ballot: Dr. Turner, L. B. Augustine, T. B. McClellan, R. B. Hunter, J. W. E. Markle.

It being decided that nine Stewards should be elected the following were elected by ballot from a list of nineteen nominations: A. Stetson, E. A. Wilkenson, E. Kelterborn, H. Walton, Geo. Cranston, A. S. O'Brien, G. S. Lord, A. M. Sutherland.

Eight were nominated for the three Trustees it was decided to elect and the balloting favored Messrs. J. B. Adamson, R. B. Hunter, Dr. Turner.

An amendment to a motion regarding the payment of an honorarium to F. Doye for the use of his theatre for last Sunday's services was carried, and he will be paid the sum of $10.00.

Moved by Mr. Dalgetty—seconded by Mr. McClellan—That Mr. Markle be choir leader. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Augustine—seconded by Mr. McClellan—That Mrs. Baetz be organist. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hunter—seconded by Mr. Augustine—That the following be elected a music committee to arrange for morning and evening choir service: Mrs. Pocock, Mrs. Glover, Mr. Markle and Mr. McClellan. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Wilmerath—seconded by Mr. Hunter—That Mr. Rogers be requested to act as auditor for United Church. Carried.

Moved by Mr. [illegible]—seconded by Mr. Moore—That old Methodist church building be used for services for the next two months until other arrangements can be made.

Messrs. Cranston and Hunter moved an amendment that old Presbyterian church be used as above stated. The amendment was declared carried.

Moved by Mr. J. B. Adamson—seconded by Dr. Turner—That the Board of Stewards be requested to appoint a building committee. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Kelterborn—seconded Mr. Hunter—That church envelopes for last Sunday go to the respective churches to whom they were addressed, open collection to the United church and that old churchbooks be closed June 30th, and handed over to new Board of Stewards. Carried.

OBITUARY

The death occurred on Wednesday, July 1, of William John Bawden, aged 56 years and 10 months. Born at Lucan, Ontario, deceased came west with his brother Oscar 22 years ago and has since that time resided at Fort Saskatchewan. Following a lengthy holiday he was in the spring taken with his fatal illness while at his old home in London, Ovario, and arrived at the Fort last Friday in practically a dying condition in the care of Nurse Ellwood, his sister, and his brother Oscar, who had gone east on hearing how serious his case was.

He leaves to mourn, his father, John Bawden, Macleod, five sisters, Mrs. D. M. Brown and Miss Mary Bawden, of London, Ontario, Mrs. C. Ellwood, Sarnia, Ontario, Mrs. A. G. Weddle, Detroit, Mich., and Miss Donalda Bawden, Wetaskiwin; three brothers, Albert, of Macleod, Arthur, London, Ontario, and Oscar, Fort Saskatchewan.

Interment will be made in Fort Saskatchewan cemetery on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Service will be held at St. George's church, Rev. W. E. Goodman officiating. The Masonic order will have charge of funeral arrangements.

EDMONTON EXHIBITION

Livestock entries for the twenty-five thousand dollars worth of prizes offered by the Directors of the Edmonton Exhibition to be held July 13 to 18, are far in excess of last year.

Exhibitors as far east as Quebec have filed their entries at the offices of the Association, and the competition for this year's livestock ribbons will be the keenest in the history of the Association.

Shorthorn classes lead the way at present, but the dairy classes are pressing this breed closely. In the cattle section the finest array of cattle, both of the beef and dairy classes, will be on view at the Exhibition.

In the horse classes the high reputation already gained by Alberta at the different shows throughout Northern America and Canada is being strongly challenged by outsiders, and entries from Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec in the Shire, Clyde, and Percheron classes have been received. It is expected that entries from over forty exhibitors outside the province of Alberta will contest for the ribbons when the show opens on July 13.

SPECIAL MEETING OF FORT SCHOOL BOARD

A special meeting of the School Board was held last Friday. The resignations of Miss Sinnett and Miss Hoff were read and accepted with regret by the Board and the secretary instructed to advertise for teachers to take their places.

Mr. Poole was re-engaged at a salary of $1800.00 per annum.

Canada's Tied-Up Resources

(Third Article)

In all articles appearing in this column, it is sought to be explainable and some practical, rather than pessimistic and destructive, because only so can any service of real value to the community be rendered. Having in the previous two articles on "Canada's Tied-Up Resources" outlined the situation which confronts every citizen and lover of this Dominion—and an extremely critical situation, it is unquestionably in some attention should be devoted to finding a solution, if, indeed, one can be found. But found it must be if Canada is not to continue in the doldrums for many years to come, cheated of the position among the nations of the world which Nature has intended (through the variety and abundance of its gifts) this country to occupy.

The first essential to a solution is an awakening of the people of Canada to a full realization of their country's present position in respect to its resources.

A second, and equally important essential, is frankness and courage on the part of public men of all parties in facing and grappling with the problem confronting Canada.

It is necessary that present shibboleths, pet policies, and partisan nostrums be completely scrapped and relegated to a forever buried past. Instead of continuing to waste time debating in fact what manner the stable can best be locked now that the horse is stolen, each interested citizen in Canada should unite with other interested citizens in an endeavor to, if possible, recover the stolen horse.

The battle for and against embargoes, or export duties, on pulp wood and pulp, on waterpowers and electric energy on nickel and other ores, is being waged with vigor. It is largely beside the mark. The best embargoes and export duties are but half measures and likely to result in reprisals. They do not go to the basic root of the whole trouble, namely, that an enormous amount of Canada's natural resources have passed from Canadian ownership and control into foreign control, and that control is being exercised in the detriment of Canada, checking development, employment, growth of population and industry, and making full prosperity impossible.

The thing to be addressed in this solution is repudiation of obligations, whether national or entered into through private contract. Consequently no such thing is repudiated or illegally made use of, when it is discovered, that when the natural resource of any country—the property of all the people—pass into private ownership and control, there also passes to the new owners an obligation to the people and country who were the original owners. That obligation, expressed in written contract or not, is that the resources in question shall be developed for use of the people as a whole, thereby providing for their wants and advancing the welfare of the country at large. If this obligation is not carried out honestly and in the full ability of the new owners, then the original owners have right and justice on their side in demanding either the discharge of such obligation or a return of the property.

With such a huge burden at stake as the success of our railways, the prosperity of all our industries, employment for our people, increased population and wealth necessary to carry our national burdens and pay off our war debt, with, in fact, the whole future of Canada as an overseas national unit hanging in the balance, the people of this Dominion dare not allow its national and natural resources to remain indefinitely tied up awaiting the convenience of foreign interests for their development for use.

The Dominion Parliament and the Legislatures of those Provinces which have control of their natural resources would be acting well within their undoubted rights if they gave notice to all holders of undeveloped natural resources that developmental must be begun and prosecuted with vigor, not a mere surface scratching but real development consistent with the nature and extent of the resources held, and that, failing such development within a stated time, title to all such resources would revert to the people as represented by the Crown.

Such action could in no sense be construed as repudiation; it would rather be a proper enforcement of the rights of Canada and the people of Canada, and a very necessary recognition of Canadian manhood and independence and emancipation from a galling servitude which, if continued, sounds the death knell of the Dominion.

Britain Makes Another Payment

Washington Receives Over Sixty-Eight Million For Semi-Annual Interest

The U. K. treasury received payments from Great Britain, Finland, Hungary, Lithuania and Poland on account of their funded indebtedness to the United States.

The British payment, a semi-annual remittance on interest, amounted to $68,210,000. It was paid in 2½ per cent. treasury certificates with a $75.94 payment in cash necessary to adjust the interest accrued.

The total payment from Finland, $132,000, was made in cash. Hungary funded half of its third semi-annual payment of interest, and paid the other half, $14,906.40 in cash. Lithuania also funded part of its first annual instalment on principal and interest, and turned over to the treasury $71,232 of the total of which $45,233 was for interest and $25,000 for principal. This payment also was in cash.

The first payment on account of the Polish Government amounted to $500,000, but interest amounting to $1,875 was turned over to the treasury last January, and the remainder was remitted on June 15 in cash.

New Grain Act

Would Make Provisions Uniform Throughout the Dominion

Concurrent legislation to make provisions of the Grain Act uniform in all throughout Canada and place them beyond question on the ground of constitutionality, should be asked of the Provincial Governments, especially those of the western provinces. This is the issue which has been adopted by the agricultural committee of the house at Ottawa.

The resolution was sponsored by J. L. Brown, Progressive, Lisgar, Man. It asks the Federal Government to take up with the Provincial Governments the advisability of passing such concurrent legislation at the earliest possible date.

Canada's Problems

Sir Robert Falconer Addresses Educationists at a Dinner in London

Many educationists of note attended the dinner given by the London Club of London in honor of Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto.

Sir Robert submitted that Canada's three greatest problems were: First, the internal settlement by the Dominion; second, her future population; third; the complaint that Canada is reserved in her attitude towards Britain and the empire.

The western and maritime provinces are just now loudly expressing discontent and it is clear that Canada to have received less from confederation than they legitimately expected, he stated.

One thing can be definitely said with regard to the appointment, if Canada has any particular predilection for any particular person they have only to explain their preferences in order to have it carried into effect. It is admitted that it will be a difficult task to find a man outside the royal family who is invested with sufficient prestige and influence to make the bonds between the motherland and Canada more secure.

Warren Harding Memorial

Status to be Unveiled at Vancouver in September

An international memorial which in many ways is unique, will be unveiled in Vancouver on September 17 next, to perpetuate the remembrance of the late President Warren G. Harding's visit to Canada in July, 1923. The unveiling will take place after the international convention of Kiwanis Clubs under whose auspices the memorial is being erected. Although the status was first ordered to be built by a committee acting on the initiative of the Kiwanis Club of Vancouver, the subscription list was open to clubs in the United States as well, with the result that the objective of $15,000 was soon over-reached and the United States clubs insisted that they bear the entire cost. Over 1,000 persons subscribed by the Canadian clubs being returned to them.

The memorial will mark an event of which history offers no duplicate—that of a United States president making an address on Canadian soil during his term of office. President Harding visited Vancouver for a few hours on his way south after visiting Alaska in July, 1923, and was given an impressive reception. His address, in which he made an eloquent plea for continued friendship between the English-speaking peoples and practically between Canada and the United States, was listened to by over 20,000 people and aroused considerable interest throughout the British Empire.

Introduction Of Garnet Wheat May Be Fraught With Great Possibilities In Future

The Dominion cerealist, recently addressing the agricultural council of the House of Commons, speaking of a new wheat developed at the experimental farms, made the statement: "The production of Garnet wheat may possibly be the most important of the famous Marquis wheat. This new wheat has capabilities of high production in seasons of drought, ripens earlier than Marquis, even in wet weather, thereby escaping the possibilities of rust and frost, and is hoped that Garnet wheat may extend the wheat growing area many miles farther north."

In an appreciation of Marquis wheat, it is difficult to grasp the full significance of this. Marquis wheat, developed by Charles Saunders, in 1904, was recently granted a pension of $5,000 per year by the Canadian Government for his invaluable contribution to the continent's agriculture, and was awarded the gold medal by the Royal Society of Canada, but in some extent revolutionized wheat growing in America. In the past twenty years it has placed millions of additional dollars in the pockets of Canadian and United States farmers. The statement forces attention, to what has been accomplished in wheat growing in Western Canada.

The development of the raw plains of the west into a productive territory known familiarly as the "Granary of the Empire" has been rapid and sensational. In the early eighties, when the Canadian Pacific Railway first thrust its steel into the area and government and railway advertised the area as a grain-growing territory, the possibilities of wheat production were regarded very sceptically, and many authorities stated dogmatically that it would never be produced economically there. In 1894, forty years later, Canadian wheat acreage was 23,685,000 and the estimated spring wheat production 271,433,000 bushels. This compared with an acreage of 49,629,000 and a production of 673,673,000 in the United States in the same year. Canada's yield in the past year was equal to nearly 13 per cent. of the world's wheat crop grown in 31 countries, as recorded by the International Institute, as against 23 per cent. in that of the United States crop.

In 1911 Canada first entered the international lists with her wheat, since when she has failed in only one year to carry off the world championship, when she had the consolation of knowing that the winning Manitoba farmer had produced his crop from Canadian seed. The yield of wheat in Canada is consistently higher than in other countries of similar conditions. The world's record wheat crop was grown in Alberta in 1902, when 106,442,000 bushels were produced on 2,992,561 acres, an average of 38 bushels to the acre of wheat weighing 61.45 pounds to the bushel.

Hog Feeding Experiment

Self-Fed and Trough-Fed Hogs Are Compared

In feeding experiments with Berkshire hogs, conducted at the central experimental farm, tests have been made of the relative merits of self-feeding and trough-feeding. According to the report of the Dominion animal husbandman for 1924, in those tests the self-fed hogs made the greatest gains, but they required more food and cost more per pound of gain. They were thicker and heavier at the shoulders than the trough-fed lots, but the latter produced a more desirable type of bacon carcass.

Why Barley Is Bearded

Provision Made By Nature To Protect the Grain

In nature there is a reason for everything, even though we may not be clever enough to find it. Since near first encounter with barley beards, you may have noticed what useful purpose those things could serve.

Recently Jas Robinson, a farm crop man at the Iowa State College, answered the question. Because such remarkable things as developing a spineless cactus have been accomplished with plants, he was asked why a satisfactory beardless barley could not be found.

As anyone knows who has had barley beards in his clothing, they are very brittle and scratchy, readily breaking into tiny pieces, each one capable of mischief. This, brittleness is due to the high percentage of silica or sand in the beards. If only the beards are removed the silicon continues to be collected by the plant. In the absence of the awns or beards, the material is left in the culm, and particularly in the little stems that attach the kernels. These stems then become so brittle that the grain shatters too easily to be harvested. Thus it seems that the awns do a useful job for an element that would otherwise damage the crop.

Of course, there are beardless varieties of barley, but as yet they have not given general satisfaction. It seems that nature intended barley to have beards and that man will have to move it threw the plant out of balances.

Use Canadian Coal

Government Would Endure a Scheme To Relieve Fuel Situation

An important statement was made in the House of Commons recently by Mr. Euler, acting minister of railways and canals, in the course of the debate on the export of power from Canada. His statement dealt with the development of certain parts of Ontario and Quebec upon the imports of coal from the United States. Mr. Euler said, in part:

"I am glad to say that my diagnosis are irrepeatable in this respect. The Province of Quebec, Ontario and in parts of the west, depend largely for our coal upon the United States. Some millions of it will be brought in from the United States, and year after year when there is a scarcity of coal in the United States over there to see that we get a square deal and up to date the United States has not seen fit to place an embargo on our shore of anthracite, even though they were pressed very hard on the other side to allow the export of our supply of anthracite. I might say that I am in hope, and the government are in hope, that before many years grow up in the west a scheme which will relieve the situation to a large extent so far as anthracite is concerned. We have coal in abundance both in the east and west for the manufacture of coke. If that can be done, and it will be done, it will be a different position from what we are today."

Passes Another Clean Test

Renewal Certificate Received For Large Herd in Quebec

R. R. Ness and Sons, Howick, Que., have recently received a renewal certificate showing their accredited herd has successfully passed its yearly test for tuberculosis. The herd comprises 111 head and purchases and sales have been made continually throughout the year. To be able to maintain a healthy herd under these conditions, coupled with constant testing, is a proof, Charles Ness, jr., of Spokane, Washington, plans to send sixty acres and arrange for the erection of a pickle factory next year.

Canada's Standing Timber

The total stand of timber in Canada is estimated to comprise 482,000 million foot board measure of saw material, and 1,700 million cords of pulpwood, four of wood, posts, etc., a total of 246,826 million cubic feet. Of this, 108,946 million cubic feet is in the eastern provinces, 64,475 million in the prairie provinces, and 81,657 million in British Columbia; but British Columbia has 70 per cent. of the saw material in the Dominion.

Homesteading Is Still A Very Important Phase Of Western Land Settlement

That homesteading is still an important phase of Canadian land settlement and that the day of the acquisition of free western land is by no means over, though being farther and farther from existing railway lines each year, is made evident in the last report of the federal department of the interior. This shows that in the last fiscal year a total of 2,541 homestead entries were made in Western Canada, 1,609 being in Saskatchewan, 1,376 in Alberta, 623 in Manitoba and 186 in British Columbia. A homestead consists of a quarter section or 160 acres of land, on that this method of land acquisition alone in the past year resulted in the settlement on 614,000 acres. To this should be added soldier homestead grants which made an additional 115,000 acres, bringing the total settlement upon free homestead land in Western Canada up to 731,400 acres. This is not a bad showing in the face of the stats of immigration in that year and the repatted apathy towards land settlement.

It is gratifying to find that the English speaking races continue to preserve their majority in Western Canada, although in certain districts nearly thirty nationalities are represented in those homestead filings last year. Canadians led with 1,277 entries, followed by citizens of United States with 623 and then those from the British Isles with 574. Those from continental Europe filed to the extent of 67 per cent. of the total registrations. More than four hundred of the British entries were Scandinavians, more than one hundred Scottish, whilst the leading states in the forty-two representations were Minneapolis, Dakota, Nebraska, Illinois, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Homesteading has unquestionably been a great factor in the settlement of the great agricultural tracts of Western Canada, the extent of government land so acquired being 64,000,000 acres. Following this has been the settlement effected by the railway land grants by the Canadian Pacific Railway, which has accounted for another approximately 20,000,000 acres. The latest method of settlement to be a factor in western land settlement is evident from the observation in the department of Soldier Settlement that next newly surveyed lands in fifty-nine townships were made available for settlement during 1924, being 18 in Saskatchewan, and nineteen in Alberta.

Land settlement in Western Canada is still unexploited and regulated today than it has ever been, a circular issued on the country by steadily increasing demand for settlement new homestead districts are being made available by survey each year.

When Horses Should Have Special Care

Harvest Season Unusually Hard On Neck and Shoulders

Horses will soon be on the mowing machines, and later will be doing their share on the self-binders. Perhaps few think that the horses are called upon to do is harder on the neck and shoulders than these very operations. On this account, every precaution should be taken to keep these parts of the animals in prime condition.

The first essential is the well fitting collar. Next, after the well-fitting collar comes the clean collar. The collar should be neat-fitting to every part of the shoulder, so that there is no rubbing or chafing. Where there is a really good collar maker available, he should be consulted, as skilled vision and skilled fingers can save no end of suffering and loss. When the horses have finished his turn at the mowing machine, he should have his shoulders washed out and thoroughly dried. A little salt in the pail, or a tablespoonful to a pail, should be added to the water. The shoulder should be thoroughly dried after the washing.

If the shoulder should have the skin broken, there is but one humane procedure, and that is to have the broken flesh and skin to allow it to heal. The aim throughout is to keep the skin healthy and free from inflammation, owing to undue or uncom pressure.

The matter of the proper fitting of the collar should be looked after in great daily, as horses' necks change in size with working or with change of work, according to the period of the year, and of motion applied to the collar. An ounce of precaution in collar trouble is worth several tons of cure.

Milk Good For Poultry

Keeps Fowls Healthier and Acts As a Tonic

Is milk a substitute for a 50 per cent. meat mash as a feed for chickens? According to the results of an experiment conducted by the dominion poultry husbandman at Dunbar's Station Carleton, it is. "If a farmer has milk he ought to feed some of it to his chickens," states G. L. Hoverman, head of the department. "Milk can be fed to chickens to better advantage than to pigs because the pigs are handicapped in their use of milk by the lack of teeth. The chickens have no teeth and will appreciate the necessary protein to the chickens for less cost. A point in favor of the milk, however, is that it keeps the fowls healthier. The lactic acid in the milk seems to act as a tonic.

Experiment With Cucumbers

Pickle Plant May Be Established In Southern Alberta

Experimental plots have been plant ed to cucumbers this year by farmers in the Lethbridge-Northern Irrigation district, to determine whether or not this vegetable can be grown successfully and in large enough quantities to justify the establishment of a pickle plant in Taber or in the immediate neighborhood. If the cucumbers can be grown successfully, Charles Ness, of Spokane, Washington, plans to send sixty acres and arrange for the erection of a pickle factory next year.

The Japanese Government has decided to install hospital cars on all the trains of the national railways to care for third-class passengers who become sick while on a journey or who are travelling while seriously ill.

Wireless Torpedo Invented

To counteract the pilotless aeroplane, an aerial torpedo has been invented. It is claimed that the torpedo could be made to pursue and destroy the pilotless aeroplane through wireless control.

Hydraulic cement was used in ancient Rome by mixing and baking lime and volcanic ashes.

Round Up Valuable Animals

Many Horses and Cattle Are Impounded in Saskatchewan

Hundreds of horses and cattle have been impounded in Saskatchewan, including a number of valuable Clydesdales and Percherons.

This is the season of the year when roundkeepers are busy. Advertisements under the head of animals lost in the Gazette have multiplied ten-fold, nearly a thousand animals being advertised as impounded. Agricultural experts attribute the increase at this season to the fact that with the crops above the ground there is a general disposition on the part of the rural population to see that stray animals are reminded up out of harm's way where they will do no damage to the growing crops.

Should Not Be Strange

The Anglican Bishop of Quebec says Cardinal Begin calls on him every year and he calls on the cardinal, and relations are quite cordial and friendly. The significance of such a statement is that it is regarded by some newspapers as a fine example to other provinces. A resident of Mars might think that after 2,000 years of Christianity it might be taken for granted that two distinguished followers of its founder could meet occasionally and maintain friendly and courteous relations.—Chatham News.

CAPTAIN BLOOD
By RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

Within an hour, the water-casks at least replenished and stowed aboard, the Arabella and the Elizabeth put to sea upon that nagry chase.

"What now, Peter?" cried the young Jeremy Pitt. "Lord, man what is there here to fret you. Surely 'tisn't the thought of Rivarol?"

"No," said Blood quickly. And for once he was communicative. It may well be that he most want the thing that oppressed him or be driven mad by it. And Pitt, after all, was his friend and loved him, and, as a prop-er man he confidenced: "But if she know! if she knew! Oh God! I had thought to have done with pity; thought to have done with it for ever. Yet here have I been committed by this scoundrel to the worst pity that ever I was guilty of. Think of Cartagena! Think of the hell those devils will be making of it now! And I must have that on my soul!"

Setting a course for Hispaniola, since they judged that thither most Rivarol go to refit before attempting to cross to France, the Arabella and the Elizabeth ploughed briskly north-ward with a moderately favorable wind for two days and nights without ever catching a glimpse of their quarry. The third dawn brought with it a haze which circumscribed the range of vision to something between two and three miles, and deepened their growing vexation and their apprehension that M. de Rivarol might escape them altogether.

They had Jamaica on their larboard bow some thirty miles to westward, and, indeed, away to the northwest, faintly visible as a bank of clouds, appeared the great ridge of the Blue Mountains whose peaks were thrust into the clear upper air above the low-lying haze. The wind was westerly, and it bare to their ears a booming sound which to less experienced ears might have passed for the breaking of surf upon a lee shore.

"Guns!" said Pitt, who, stood with Blood upon the quarter-deck. Blood nodded, listening.

"Ten miles away, perhaps fifteen—somewhere off Port Royal, I should judge," Pitt added. Then he looked at his captain. "Does it concern us?" he asked.

"Guns at Port Royal . . . that should argue Colonel Bishop at work. I think it may concern us. Anyway, we'll stand in to investigate."

Close-hauled they inched sweather, guided by the sound of combat, for an hour, perhaps. Then, as, telescope to his eye, Blood raked the haze, the guns abruptly ceased. They held to their course, nevertheless, with all hands on deck, eagerly, anxiously scanning the sea ahead. And presently an object loomed into view, which soon defined itself for a great ship on fire. As the Arabella with the Elizabeth following closely raced nearer on their northwesterly tack the outlines of the blazing vessel grew clearer.

"An English ship!" he cried.

He scanned the seas for the conqueror in the battle of which this grim evidence was added to that of the sounds they had heard, and then at last, as they drew closer to the doomed vessel they made out the shadowy outlines of three tall ships, some three or four miles away, standing in toward Port Royal. Pitt, who through his telescope was examining the receding squadron, observed things apparent only to the eye of the trained mariner, and made the incredible announcement that the largest of these three vessels was Rivarol's Victorieuse. They took in sail and hove to as they came up with the drifting boats, laden to capacity with survivors.

CHAPTER XXVI.

The Service of King William

One of the boats bumped alongside the Arabella, and up the entrance ladder came first a slight, agrace little gentleman in a coat of mulberry satin laced with gold, whose wizened, yellow, rather peevish face was framed in a heavy black periwig. His modish and smartly appred had newise suffered by the adventure through which he had passed, and he carried himself with the easy assurance of a man of rank.

He was closely followed by one who in every particular, save that of age, was the physical opposite, corpulent in a brawny, vigorous way, with a full, round, weather-beaten face whose mouth was humorous and whose eyes were blue and twinkling.

As the little man stepped from the ladder into the waist, whither Captain Blood had gone to receive him, his sharp, fervent, dark eyes swept the un-couth ranks of the assembled crew of the Arabella.

"And where the devil may I be now?" he demanded irritably. "Are you English, or what the devil are you?"

"Myself, I have the honour to be Irish, sir," said Blood, and added in his wig the Arabella, all very much at your service."

Dammel What's to laugh at, you porpoise," spluttered mulberry-coat.

"Blood!" shrilled the little man. "O, Whlood! A pirate!" He swung to the Colossus who followed him—"A damned pirate, sir de'Kaylus. Read my vitals, but we're come from Scylla to Charybdis."

"Sir!" said the other guttorally, and again, "Sir." Then the humour of it took him, and he yielded to it.

"Diamme! What's to laugh at, you porpoise?" spluttered mulberry-coat. "A fine tale this'll make at home! Admiral van der Kuylen first loses his fleet to the pirate, then the flag-ship Bred under him by a French squadron, and ends all by being captured by a pirate. I'm glad you find it matter for laughter. Since for my sins I happen to be with you, I'm damned if I do."

"There's a misapprehension, if I may make so bold as to point it out," put in Blood quietly. "You are not captured, monsieur, you are rescued. When you realize it, perhaps it will occur to you to acknowledge the impolitality I am offering you. It may be poor, but it is the best at my disposal."

"Damme. Do you permit yourself to be ironical?" he demanded angrily. "I am Lord Willoughby, King William's Governor-General of the West Indies, and this is Admiral van der Kuylen, commander of His Majesty's West Indian fleet, at present mislaid somewhere in this damned Caribbean sea."

"King William," quoth Blood. "And who may be King William, and of what may he be King?"

"I am alluding to His Majesty King William III.—William of Orange—who, with Queen Mary, has been ruling England for two months and more."

"Dye mean, sir, that they've roused themselves at home, and kicked out that scoundrel James and his gang of ruffians?"

"Hush! Hush! you hound! Where the devil have you been at all?"

Briefly he gave information. After that, with renewed assurances that aboard his ship they should be honourably treated, Captain Blood led the Governor-General and the Admiral to his cabin, what time the work of rescue went on.

"Go home, if you will," said his lordship when comfortable. "Here is a great chance for you, since you declare yours-if sick of piracy. Should you choose to serve King William out here during the present hostilities, the Governor-General and the Admiral of the West Indies should render you a very valuable servant to His Majesty's Government, which you owned not find ungrateful. You should consider it, Damme, sir, I repeat: it is a great chance you are given."

Pitt could see that the first the work of rescue was at an end, and the men picked up—some forty-five in all—had been distributed in the various ships. He asked for orders. Blood rose.

"I am beginning of your lordship's company — the attraction of my own. You'll be wishing me to land you at Port Royal."

"As you will." The little man squirmed wrathfully on his seat. Wrathfully and at length he informed Blood that Port Royal fell into Port Royal last evening to find its Deputy-Governor absent. "He had gone on some wildgoose chase to Tortuga where he was detaining the whole of the fleet with him."

"Is Rivarol aware of this?" Blood cried sharply.

It was the Dutch Admiral who answered him. "Vould he go dere if he were not? He vas not dere, but some of our men prisoners. Dey—dey—oeh! Ich bin a great ass!" he concluded bitterly.

Honors Memory Of Paul Kruger

Prince Places Wreath On Monument Of Britain's One-time Foe

The Prince of Wales placed a wreath on the monument of Paul Kruger—"Oom Paul"—who was credited with being the spirit of the policy that brought on the Boer War of 1899-1902. He was president of the provisional government of the Boer "war against Britain in 1881, and in 1883 was elected president of the Transvaal Republic. He held that office as long as the republic stood.

The Prince paid his tribute to the empire's former enemy without any private statement or ceremony. He was accompanied by only two members of his staff.

The climax of the Prince's visit to the Transvaal came when Pretoria was superbly illuminated and a symbolical procession was held in his honor.

He was entertained at a dinner given by the administrator to 250 representatives from different parts of the Transvaal.

The Prince, in the course of a speech, expressed the hope of some day being able to visit South Africa again. "Gentlemen," he declared, "it is no polite platitude when I say I will do my best to come back."

Religious Tolerance in Germany

President Ebert of Germany has promised to foster the spirit of religious tolerance in Germany, and conscientously to respect and protect all creeds. This assurance was made after he had received representatives of the inter-denominational church alliance, composed of German Evangelical, Catholic and Jewish delegations who called to congratulate him upon his assumption of the German presidency.

But for the need of horrible examples many a man's meekishness would never be properly fisted.

She Said He Was "Incorrigible"

By Marjorie Bradford, Social Service Counsel of Canada.

A woman incurable let me into one of our Canadian juvenile courts a short time ago because, as she terrified it, the boy was incorrigible. He would not stay in school and was getting his parents into continual difficulty.

When the boy gave his side of the story to the judge he said that school always gave him a headache.

The boy, on being examined by the court doctor, was discovered to be totally blind in one eye with the sight of the other already seriously impaired. And this poor incurable was "incorrigible" because of defective eyesight. I wonder how many of these children have been adjudged stupid or "incorrigible"?

Admiral Sturdee's White Feather

Naval Hero Equipped As Blacker By Ultra-Patriotic Women

Admiral Sir Doveton Sturdee, who died in England this spring, was the admiral who chased and destroyed the squadron of Admiral Von Spee off the Falkland Islands, the second year of the war. Soon after that battle he returned to England early in 1916, he followed the custom of every other officer of his time and brought into his outfit. At that time ultra-patriotic young ladies were infesting the streets of London and other English cities, thrusting white feathers into the hands of able-bodied men who seemed to be shirking their responsibilities in not volunteering for service. As Sturdee was walking down Whitehall on his way to the admiralty, he was held up by one of these young women, who gravely presented him with a white feather, while the deftly turned to her companion, and exhorted him to turn into the adjoining recruiting office at Scotland Yard without delay. She then equipped as a politroon, the hero of the biggest naval victory since Trafalgar and one which saved Britain from the fate of the losers of the admiralty.—Argonaut.

The Village Blacksmith

Effort Being Made in Britain To Prevent Passing Of This Picturesque Figure

Strenuous efforts are being made in agricultural districts of England to save the picturesque village blacksmith village blacksmith from passing into oblivion. The smith of England thanks to "selling and replacing" by a few undue attention to himself, but is "sorrowing" a great deal more than in the days when Longfellow immortalized him.

In their desire to "save" the village blacksmith the Hertfordshire county council members announced recently particulars of a plan designed to keep alive the dwindling industry which has been so hard hit by the modern organization of the big manufacturers and their agents who supply standardized parts of farm implements and machinery on lines of mass formation. The ministry of agriculture too has become interested in the scheme to prevent the passing of the black smith and has agreed to co-operate in the movement.

Natives in Congo Superstitious

The natives in the Congo region are firm believers in demons and witches. The number of people annually put to death owing to this horrible superstition is unknown, for the witch-doctors pursue their dreadful trade in secret, but it is believed to be very large, for no merry is shown to anyone convicted of witchcraft.

Submerged Village Re-appears

Roofs Of Swiss House Visible After 300 Years

After 300 years, a submerged Swiss village in the upper valley of the Saar has re-appeared, owing to the low level of the waters of Lake Auttona. The original catastrophe was caused by a landslip from the Monte Pizzoni, which destroyed 42 houses of the village of Auttona Plana, together with the inhabitants and their cattle. As a result of the landslip a lake was then formed, but owing to the waters now receding the roofs of the old dwellings are again visible.

STOMACH TROUBLE
DUE TO THIN BLOOD

It Usually Disappears When the Blood is Made Rich and Red

"Thin blood is one of the most common causes of stomach trouble. It affects the digestion very quickly. The whole blood system is affected, nerve fluids are diminished in their activity, and digestive muscles are weakened and there is a loss of nerve force. In this way the food nothing will not quickly rest ive the appetite, digestion and normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich and red, and this enriched blood strengthens the nerves, stimulates the digestive and awakens to normal activity the glands that supply the digestive fluids. This is shown by an improved appetite, and because the blood is richer enriching pills is evident throughout the whole system. You feel that you eat them with a relish, you can tell by the brightening of the eye, the clearness of the skin, the firmness of the flesh, and the elasticity. If your appetite is feeble, if you have any of the other many pains and symptoms of indigestion, you should at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and feel how fine the better condition in which they will put your blood.

These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PAINS IN BACK AND SIDES

Ended by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Funiier, Sask.—"For two or three days every so often I would have such pains in my back and sides that I could do anything—could not even lie quietly in bed, and my head ached, too. I was this way about three years, but was worse after I was married. I was on a farm with not a house nearer than five miles and there was not a person to advise me, as my folks live in Manitoba. My sister-in-law told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told me to try it. I took her advice and have been thankful for it ever since. After taking the medicine for three months I can say it has helped me a lot and I am strong. I am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to others and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. HELEN BALANOFF Funiier, Saskatchewan.

VETERANS READY TO FORM BRITISH LEGION IN CANADA

Ottawa.—An organization of veterans of the Great War, to be known as the British Legion in Canada, is expected to grow out of the action of the Great War Veterans' Association, which, in annual convention here, unanimously adopted a resolution, placing its assets, totalling approximately $8,000,000, and membership of about 50,000 at the disposal of Field Marshal Earl Haig, in accordance with the expressed wishes of the former commander of the British armies in France for complete unity among Canadian ex-service men.

While the identity of the G.W.V.A., which has been the senior ex-soldiers' organization in existence since the armistice, would be submerged by the proposed formation of a legion of all war veterans' organizations, the guarantee is asked that in the event of Earl Haig concurring in the proposal, the ideal of the G.W.V.A. be preserved, that the organization will not be allowed to disintegrate during the transition period, which is not to exceed one year, and that the adjustment bureau of veterans be not impaired.

Amend Temperance Act

Bill to Amend Canada Temperance Act Is Given Second Reading

Ottawa.—The bill to amend the Canada Temperance Act has passed all stages of the House of Commons. It now goes to the senate.

The bill chiefly affects the provinces of British Columbia and will give that province the right to prohibit importation of liquor into the province except for medicinal, sacramental and industrial purposes.

When the bill came up, considerable opposition developed from the Conservative benches. Brig.-Gen. J. A. Clark, of Barrard, B.C., and George Black, of the Yukon, objected that the bill was aimed chiefly at private citizens and not at export houses.

A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, gave hearty support to the bill. He said the liquor was being brought into British Columbia, ostensibly for export, and no excise duty paid. It was shipped a few miles out to sea, smuggled back and bootlegged and it was quite easy to do this province, at prices which the provincial liquor commission could not compete with.

Will Evacuate Ruhr August Sixteenth

Withdrawal of Franco-Belgian Troops Will Be Speeded Up

Paris.—The Franco-Belgian armies and technicians will evacuate the Ruhr by August 16. The French cabinet approved the plan which will complete the withdrawal by that date, just one year after the London agreement whereby the Dawes plan and evacuation were determined upon.

France's proposal that she act as spokesman for the powers along Germany's eastern frontier, is considered by those German Liberals who have consistently urged that Germany join the league, as nothing short of an affront to the league. Adoption of the plan, however, would determine the whole league structure.

Shameen In State Of Siege

Canton Foreign Settlement Is Now Prepared For Emergencies

Canton.—Shameen, the artificial island which is the Canton foreign settlement, is in a state of siege.

Two gunboats, one British and one French, hold commanding positions in the river, and sandbag machine gun emplacements have been erected. All approaches to the island were fortified with piled-up sandbags and quick-firing guns, testifying to the watchfulness of the foreign forces for emergencies.

Washington.—The marriage license clerks and parents in four American counties had a very lean year in 1922, the census bureau reports. In Grant county, Kansas, Sioux county, California, Dolores county, Colorado and Wayne county, Idaho, not one marriage license was issued.

LABOR TROUBLES ARE PENDING NOW IN BRITAIN

London.—The prolonged trade depression and consequent steadily increasing unemployment in Great Britain, which have long been sub-jects of grave comment, now have reached a point where a crisis is imminent.

The Laborites mostly put the blame on the government, which they accuse of using banking, the employers' elite high wages, and short hours, as among the chief causes of the trouble, while the government admitters seem to adhere to the view that they can only undertake active interference, at the request of both the employers and workers.

The situation came to a head with the refusal of the miners and the operators and miners' representatives into the position of the coal industry, which has been one of the worst sufferers from this depression. The owners announced they would give formal notice of their intention to terminate the present wage agreement at the end of July, and also demanding resumption of the eight hour day, instead of the seven hours now legal for miners.

Want Action On Coal Rate

Ontario Aroused Over Cancellation of Reduced Rate on Special Shipments

Toronto.—Cancellation by the Canadian National Railways of all the arrangements by which Ontario was granted a reduction of $5,000 per month in the amount of Alberta coal has aroused not only the Ontario Government, but civic and trades organization, as well, to such an extent that demand was made upon the government that they support the appearance of a representative before Sir Henry Thornton in Montreal.

Following the appearance before the board of trade on Wednesday, Mr. Marcil, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association; H. H. Cowan, general manager of the C.P.R.; and Thomas Bradshaw, of the board of trade, and numerous others, Hon. George S. Henry, acting premier, dispatched the following wire to the C.N.R. president:

"Large deputation of Ontario representing different interests in conference and the various interests, desire interview with you regarding movement of Alberta coal for distribution in this province. Pleased to have date arrang d as soon as possible."

Security Discussions

Premiers of German Federated States To Talk Matter Over

Berlin.—While numerous governmental departments are studying the French reply to the German security pact proposal, active political discussion will not begin until the premiers of the Federated German States have been summoned to meet here.

Legal authorities, who have gone over the French note, find one of the greatest obstacles in the question of the withdrawal by the French troops within the scope of the League of Nations covenant.

France's proposal that she act as spokesman for the powers along Germany's eastern frontier, is considered by those German Liberals who have consistently urged that Germany join the league, as nothing short of an affront to the league. Adoption of the plan, however, would determine the whole league structure.

Amundsen Still Hopes To Fly Over Pole

King's Bay, Spitsbergen.—Roald Amundsen and the other members of the expedition which recently made an ineffectual attempt to reach the North Pole by aeroplane from Spitsbergen, have returned to Oslo, Norway. They took with them the aeroplane which brought them back from the Arctic Circle to Spitsbergen. Amundsen told the Associated Press that he believed land existed near the North Pole on the Canadian side. He looks upon the expedition just ended as experimental, his dream for years having been to make a flight over the pole, landing in Alaska. For this project he had now gathered much additional and valuable knowledge.

Medical Men Meet

Fifty-Sixth Annual Meeting of Canadian Medical Association At Regina

Regina.—With addresses of welcome from Hon. J. M. Uhrich, representing the province of Saskatchewan, Hon. Meyer Mason on behalf of the City of Regina, and with greetings from official representatives of the British Medical, Newfoundland and American Medical Associations, the fifty-sixth annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association was officially opened in the Normal School here.

In attendance were about three hundred delegates from every province in the Dominion, from the Far East, the United States and from the British Isles, representing every branch of the profession.

This meeting of professional men from so many parts of the world, said Dr. J. A. Urich, would be instrumental in bringing about better understanding of the problems to be faced by all. The visitors, he said, were assured of a most welcome and hospitality of the province of Saskatchewan.

A similar enthusiastic welcome was extended to the delegates by Mayor Mason, who spoke for the City of Regina.

PROPOSES TWO WESTERN MEN ON RAIL BOARD

Ottawa.—Right Hon. George F. Graham, minister of railways and canals, expressed the opinion in the House of Commons that the board of railway commissioners was rather too large and unwieldy. A vote of $239,350 for maintenance and operation of the board was under consideration. C. G. Coate, Trepassey, Bell Lead, asked whether the government proposed to increase the number of commissioners.

Mr. Graham replied that in his opinion the board was. If anything, he was apt to present. There was no provision in the estimates for an increase in the number of commissioners, but he thought that some residents of points in the far west more adequate representation, might be feasible. This question was a large one, and any change in the constitution of the board would require legislation.

Mr. Coate said he would like to see the board more representative of Canada as a whole. The west now has only one representative on the board, and with the Crow's Nest Pass agreement cancelled, would be completely at the mercy of the board. He asked the minister if he thought the west was likely to receive justice at the hands of the board.

Mr. Graham replied that the question of having another western representative on the board was well worth consideration, but did not admit that the west would be treated unfairly by the board, as at present constituted. But a change in that might bring to the board a somewhat different point of view.

Clears Up Mystery

Discover Remains of Members of Stefansson Polar Expedition

New York.—Another mystery of the Polar regions was solved by Capt. H. A. Snow, big game hunter and explorer, just returned from a two years phonographic exploration in the Arctic regions, announced the discovery of the remains of missing members of Vilhjalmur Stefansson's North Pole expedition in 1914, on Herald Island.

Snow's discovery clears up the tragic and mysterious story of the fate of the six members of the crew, one of the two parties in which the expedition was divided, who quit the ice-bound ship Karluk and started back to civilization.

The first party, led by Stefansson, completed the long voyage after terrible hardships. The other party, led by the ship's doctor, was never heard from, and relief expeditions found no trace of it.

Snow declared he came upon the remains while taking pictures on Herald island, which is about sixty-five miles from the spot where the Karluk was lost. He believes the entire party perished of exposure and starvation.

Has Had Successful Year

Reports Show Weekly Press Association Made Good Progress

Winnipeg.—The accomplishments, activities and financial standing of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association for the past year, were fully dealt with at the opening of the organization's fifth annual convention here, and in all reports submitted, good progress was recorded. Four hundred delegates, representing all parts of the Dominion, as well as Newfoundland, were welcomed to the city by Mayor Ralph H. Webb, and the session was presided over by Lorne A. Eddy, of The Telescope, Walkerton, Ont., president.

Motor Bus Causes Strike

Shanghai.—An attack on the motor bus in China has caused a strike of 4,000 rikshs men in Nanking. They are protesting the starting of a bus service by the city and have circulated to block traffic by placing obstacles in the streets.

Hong Kong.—Britishers employed on the Canton-Kowloon Railway, arriving here said they had been surrounded privately by Chinese friends on each safety, because "the Chinese are determined to kill one foreigner, no (xxxy) Chin-se."

Aristocratic Four-footed Immigrant

This highly bred Ayrshire dog was raised by the Duke of Hamilton and is valued at $700. He is the winner of many prizes and was despatched from Glasgow by the Dominion Express Company on the Canadian Pacific Liner, "Metagama" to Canada. He is going to a well-known sporting gentleman of Winnipeg and looks as though he will not have many chances for prizes in the dog shows of the west. However high his breeding he is evidently not too proud to be of assistance to fellow-immigrants and is here seen carrying a useful bit of information in the form of a pic-card as to money orders.

Yellowhead

"BREWED AS A BEER SHOULD BE"

PURITY is an outstanding feature of the Yellowhead Plant. The beer is blended from the purest hops and barley malt, carefully brewed and thoroughly aged, sparkling and satisfying—a delightful refreshing, appetizing and invigorating beverage. The bottles, even the tiniest particle of dirt, are washed by machinery and filled and capped by machinery. Each is pleasing evidence of purity from first to last. Make your home of Yellowhead beer, the healthy beer with the "K."

LOCAL NEWS

C. Oake, of the Standard Bank staff, left today on his holidays.

The Josephburg picnic is being held Friday, July 3, at the Joe Dore place.

W. Hambly leaves Thursday for a month's holiday at Toronto and other eastern points.

Mr. Collinson and Miss Wort won the prizes in the mixed doubles finals of the tennis tournament commenced at St. George's garden party.

Gavin Breckenridge, of the staff of the Union Bank, has been taken ill and is at present a patient in the General hospital, Edmonton.

Dr. Henry will be in charge of the pharmaceutical department of the Sutherland Drug store during the absence of Mr. Sutherland on holiday.

Harold Lloyd appears this week at the local theatre in "Girl Shy." Also comedy. Show starts at 8 p.m. each evening. Matinee Saturday at 4 p.m.

The Beaver Hills Union Picnic will be held on July 8 at 1 p.m., in Joe Dore' picnic grounds. Races and baseball. Lunch will be served by the Ladies' Aid of the church.

A sample of wheat 36 inches in height and well headed out was brought into The Record office Tuesday by Mr. T. H. Whitson, Partridge Hill. Mr. Whitson says the whole field will be headed out in two or three days.

A man came into the office this afternoon and asked for medics for the records. We are on pins and needles most of the time but they are not the kind anyone would care to pay money for. We sent him round to the drug store.

William Fedun, M.L.A. for Victoria, was in the Fort district last Friday looking into a matter of considerable importance to the farmers living south-west of the town, and afterwards headed a deputation to interview the Minister of Public Works, who promised to give the matter his careful and sympathetic consideration.

The services of the United church, which were held in the theatre last Sunday were well attended and very much enjoyed. The Rev. R. R. Aldridge was the preacher in the morning, the lesson being read by the Rev. M. L. Wright. In the evening the Rev. T. H. Mitchel of Robertson church Edmonton, preached the sermon and was assisted in the service by the Revs. M. L. Wright, R. H. Hamilton and C. E. A. Pocock. Helpful messages were brought by both speakers and were heard with keen interest by the large congregations notwithstanding the intense heat. The choir merited much praise for the manner in which it led the praise service and for the special selections given at each service. By the hearty co-operation of all connected with it the United church should make a valuable contribution to the life of the community.

Josephburg

The Beaver Hills Union Picnic will be held on July 8 at 1 p.m. in Joe Dore' picnic grounds. Races and baseball. Lunch will be served by the Ladies' Aid of the church.

Miss Thelma Lasby left on Friday for her home near Edson.

Mr. Philip Rippel underwent an operation for appendicitis at Lamont hospital on Wednesday. He is recovering nicely.

Mr. Jacob Hennig is erecting a fine brick residence similar in plan to that of the Reformed church manse.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN AND DISTRICT BASEBALL LEAGUE

Results of the games played in the Fort Sask. and District league are:

The postponed game between Yorkville and Bon Accord was played on Saturday and the former won by one run. Bon Accord piled up nine or ten runs before Yorkville were able to tally, but when others started they gradually crept up and finally were on the long end of a long score: 14-13.

Brenner were victors in the game with Gibbons last Wednesday.

The Fort easily disposed of Partridge Hill Friday, the cliff dwellers being decidedly off form.

Gibbons played superior ball to Yorkville on Monday and deserved their 11-6 victory.

Talking Films

First Display is Now Being Made in Great Britain

Talking films are the latest attraction promised at the new Wembley exhibition. This is the first presentation of such films in Britain.

They are being shown in one of the conference halls, where they are being presented by Mr. E. B. Saleberr, in association with Messrs. de Forest Phonofilms, an all-British company, which owns all the British rights for the making of talking motion pictures. These pictures are made at the studio of the de Forest Company at Clapham.

The picture and the sound being recorded simultaneously are absolutely synchronized.

The future of the Phonofilm today is similar to that which faced the new art of the silent picture when it was first realized that in order to fulfil its mission as a means of entertainment and education, it must not follow blindly the path of the legitimate drama. An entirely new form of screen drama can now be worked out, taking advantage of the possibilities of introducing music and voice and appropriate acoustic effects.

It may be that some splendid films will absolutely disappear and be replaced by a pleasant-voiced speaker announcing the next item. In the realms of comedy, news items, scenic effects, educational films, interviews with celebrities, and in many other directions the future of the Phonofilm holds unlimited possibilities.

Wretched from Asthma. Strength of body and vigor of mind are inevitably impaired by the visitations of asthma. Who can live under the cloud of recurring attacks and keep body and mind at their full efficiency? Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy dissipates the cloud by removing the cause. It does relieve. It does restore the finer in normal bodily trim and mental happiness.

Does Your Baby Cry?

Is it nervous and restless during hot weather? If so—most likely his food is not agreeing with him. If you cannot nurse your baby, or if it does not gain upon your breast milk give him Borden's Eagle Brand Milk—the food that has successfully reared hundreds of thousands of babies. Easy to prepare—just add boiled water as directed.

In this paper from time to time you will find an advertisement of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk, a food that has raised more healthy babies than all other prepared infant foods combined. Cut out the advertisement and mail it to The Borden Company, Limited, Montreal, and they will send you, free of charge, instructions for feeding your baby, and a Baby Welfare Book and Baby Record Book. Or just write the Company, mentioning this paper, and they will be sent.

For Catarrh.—It is one of the chief recommendations of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil that it can be used internally with as much success as it can outwardly. Sufferers from catarrh will find that the Oil when used according to directions will give prompt relief. Many sufferers from this ailment have found relief in the Oil and have sent testimonials.

Literary Progress in Canada

Canadian Literary Section One of the Features at Wembley

Interesting evidence that Canada is making progress not only along material lines, but in the world of letters, is found in the fact that a Canadian literary section is one of the features of the Canadian pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition. The exhibit represents both French-Canadian and English-Canadian literature from the earliest dates down to the publications of 1924.

A Junior Party-frock

Each season the styles for children grow more fascinating. Designs and materials are chosen as thoughtfully as for grown-ups; and while the designs are more and more simple, they have gained in charm and individuality.

Every little girl loves a party frock, and No. 1032, of fine French voile, which comes in the most adorable colorings, and looks as light and fluffy as chiffon, is sure to please her. The frock illustrated is a two-piece dress closing at the centre back, with short kimono sleeves inched and seamed on shoulders, and three slightly-rounded tiers. The neck is cut square or bateau neck, and is trimmed with a ric-rac edging or insertion. The pattern is cut in sizes 8 to 14 years, the 12-year size requiring 3¾ yards of 36-inch material and 2¾ yards of 4-inch ribbon for sash.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 5

THE BEGINNING OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

Golden Text: And He said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation. Mark 16:15.

Lesson: Acts 12:25 to 13:12.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 55:1-7.

The Text Explained and Illustrated

The first foreign missionaries and their dismissal services, viewed in the light of the church at Antioch there were many prophets and teachers, chief among whom was Barnabas. There were also Symeon the Black, an African, no doubt; Lucius of Cyrene, perhaps one of the original evangelists who established the church at Antioch, Acts 11:20; Manaen, the foster-brother of Herod (the tetrarch) and Saul, possibly the latest to join the leaders in Antioch. The Herod referred to here was Herod Antipas, whom Jesus described as a "fox," Lk. 13:32, son of Herod the Great. According to Delaunaea, "foster-brother" was a court title of honor, like the phrase "the friend of the king" used in the Old Testament. It is interesting to recall in this connection that Joanna, wife of Chuza, the steward of this same Herod, was also a follower of Christ, Lk. 8:3.

"In the days of the apostles, and so long as Christianity was a proscribed religion, the body of the membership of the Church consisted of the humbler and middle ranks of society. The wealthy and noble will always be few in comparison with others in the Church, for this if for no other reason, that there are fewer of them." (Dr. James Orr).

Peter the Hermit

The bones of Peter the Hermit, one of the leading preachers of the first crusade, are reported to have been found at Huy, while the ground covering an ancient cloister was being levelled. Peter the Hermit, also called Peter of Amiens, was born about 1050 and died at Huy, Belgium, on July 11, 1115. He led the advance of the first crusade as far as Asia Minor in 1096.

Citizens of Victoria are already using the Gardens prior to its official opening.

Screening at the Capitol Theatre, Montreal, of the scenes through which the University of Montreal seven-Canada trip and the similar journey of the Toronto Varsity Eight of Canada will pass, attracted a large and appreciative audience. The film was a revelation of the beauty of Canadian cities and scenery. The University of Montreal trip will start from that city July 7 and will return July 28. The trip of the Teachers' Federation will commence July 29 and will conclude August 19.

Frank W. Ashby, secretary of the Manufacturers' Association of Australia, a recent visitor at Banff, said he found Canada to have a most delightful climate and "cities that are more modern than our own." Mr. Ashby said the impression in Australia had been that Herschell Island and Baffin's Bay were linked up municipally with Montreal and Winnipeg, and thought that the best way to correct these geographical misconceptions was to encourage more tourist travel from other parts of the Empire.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CLOVER BAR, NO. 517

The regular monthly meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Clover Bar, No. 517, was held on Saturday, July 4, with all members in attendance.

The secretary was instructed to notify the bridge foreman to block roads leading to bridges under construction.

The reeve reported that the contract for putting the Ritchie Hills had been awarded to the lowest tenderer, who was Drysdale Bros. of Clover Bar. Approval of the awarding of the contract was given by the council.

A by-law for the establishing of a reserve fund was given its first, second and final reading.

Mr. Anderson, weed inspector, attended to report on his activities during the past two weeks. The prevalence of noxious weeds in various parts of the district was brought to his attention by the councillors.

Reeve Wilson and Councillor Ball of the Strathcona Municipal District were in attendance to discuss the questions of methods of construction and maintenance of main market roads. Mr. Hecho submitted a copy of the minutes of the meeting of the committee selected at the last municipal convention to take up the matter of road construction with the Provincial Good Roads Board. The findings of this committee were in the main favored by the council.

With the passing of paybacks and accounts totalling $2,000.00 the council adjourned to meet again on the 1st August.

Union Church was the scene of a happy event on the evening of June 24, when a host of friends gathered to express in a tangible form their appreciation of the services of Miss Rosie Smith, who has been church organist for the past few years. Rev. Mr. Sneddon presided over the little program when Mrs. Wiggin, Miss Kingsley and Miss Osbaldeston entertained with solos and readings. Mr. Wilson Allen then called Miss Smith to the platform and read a splendid address of appreciation, asking her to accept the accompanying purse of silver, which was presented by little Gladys Osbaldeston, as a token of our esteem. Although taken by surprise Miss Smith thanked the friends for their gift and assured them it always gave her pleasure to help thus in the services of the church. Following this the ladies of the district served dainty refreshments which were enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Hicks and family of Edmonton are holidaying at the home farm this week.

Mrs. J. T. Armitage and sons Carmen and Colin, of Edmonton, are guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lawrence.

Mrs. Fred Scott, Edmonton, is the house-guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith and Miss Lilah attended the Kennedy-McDonald wedding in Edmonton on Dominion Day.

Mrs. Latimer, nee, of New Norway, returned home this week from a fortnight's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Latimer of this place.

Miss Grace Lacey, who has been visiting at her uncle Wm. Lacey's for a few weeks, left Thursday to take a position as stenographer inEdmonton.

We are pleased to see Lucy Houghton home again after a month's stay at Manville.

Miss Sadie and Mr. Billie Whitson were Ben Accord visitors last Sunday.

Little "Tim" Whitson suffered a painful accident last week when his saddle horse stepped on his foot. He is under Dr. Emery's care. We hope soon to see him alright again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Alton, Ray and Mrs. Alton, Miss Wetherley, Miss Finch and Rod Alton, Edmonton, were Dominion Day visitors in Partridge Hill.

Mr. Editor, it was an oversight on your part not to chronicle our victory over the Fort team on June 19, and then to tell the world we were off color in the game of 26th, but we'll forgive the oversight if you'll when you pay to the same world that at this writing and following tonight's game with Yorkville we are sitting pretty on the top of the heap. Congrats are due Howard Anderson, our star second catch man, who smashed out a homer in the first innings of tonight's game.

Success again attended the U.F.A. picnic which owing to the heavy storm of last Tuesday night was held Thursday, July 2. We were favored with an ideal day and a big crowd all in holiday mood. The first event of the afternoon was the raising of the new Union Jack which has been purchased by the grounds committee. This ceremony was entered into by school children and grown-ups alike by singing "O, Canada" and giving three ringing cheers for "The Union Jack" and for "Canada." At 2 o'clock Mansfield and Partridge Hill played ball, the game resulting in a 19-4 score in favor of P. H. At 4:30 an interesting program of races was run off under management of Wes Attewell and Wilmot Alton. Following is a list of winners:

100 yds. dash—Howard Anderson, Wilmot Alton.
Old man's race—J. Larson, W. Churchill.
Clothes pin race—Miss Hodgins-Mr. West, Miss Lilah Smith-W. Alton.
Nail driving contest—Mrs. Pete Goss.
Potato race—Norma Alton.

A number of races were also run off for the kiddies, etc., etc.

Brudenheim

For the second time within a month W. Dlin's store was robbed last Sunday night. It is estimated about $200 worth of goods were taken. There was no money on the premises. The four grocery stores have been robbed in succession during the last few months.

The fish pond in charge of Mrs. Will Pearce and Mrs. J. Osbaldeston was a popular spot, as was also the booth in charge of A. Liman, C. Flindof and Wes Attewell. This was very well patronized indeed.

The ladies of the U.F.W.A., under convenorship of Mrs. Joe Smith, served a good supper to a hungry multitude from 6:30 o'clock until 7.

After supper the funniest ball game of the year was pulled off when the Benedicts and the Bachelors went to the mat. The married men gave the youngsters a close run and excitement ran very high while this game was on. Afterwards the matrons and maids played a five-inning game which was also very entertaining.

As a result of the day's work and play a tidy sum will go into the exchequer of the Community Hall fund.

MONTHLY MEETING OF FORT SCHOOL BOARD

The regular monthly meeting of the Fort Saskatchewan School Board was held Monday, Mrs. Rogers, Mr. Ollerenshaw and Mr. Flintoft being present, the latter occupying the chair.

Nurse Clarke's report was read and the Board decided to take up at a later meeting the matter of Hylophate green blackboards for some of the rooms and washing facilities as named in the nurse's report.

The secretary was instructed to have a notice in the local paper with regard to outside pupils attending the school, permission being required from School Board in future.

The secretary was also instructed to see Mr. Markin and, if possible, get a statement whether a new room would be required after mid-summer and to call a special meeting if necessary.

The number of pupils enrolled during April was 295; during May 305.

E. Dubac was on Monday fined $6.00 and costs before Magistrate Adamson for driving a car on the wrong side of the road.

To Hold-Up The Farmers

With weather and other conditions at the end of June—when this article is written—favorable to the production of a bumper crop in all three prairie provinces this year, a report comes of a movement under way having for its object the holding up of the farmer in order to extort from him a high rate of wage for harvest hands and farm workers in general. It remains for the farmers themselves to nip the scheme in the bud, and log them to be forewarned is to be forearmed.

An effort is now being made by organizers of the I.W.W. to organize a farm-workers' branch of that body of international agitators and trouble makers in Winnipeg, which is the centre of distribution of farm workers throughout Western Canada, and one of the international organizers, is now in Winnipeg assisting the local organizers of the I.W.W.

On a previous occasion, two or three years ago, an attempt was made to organize an I.W.W. farm-workers body among the unemployed in Winnipeg at a time when efforts were being made by the civic authorities to find employment for those men on farms, thus benefiting them, helping the farmers, and relieving the economic situation in the city. At that time one of the I.W.W. organizers was reported as using the following language in a speech delivered in the Labor Temple:

"The only way to get even with the farmer for paying so small a wage to the worker was for the worker to turn round and sabotage the farmer. There were always lots of wagons, machinery and shovel handles that the workers could break up, and it would only be a short time until the farmer would see the necessity of paying a decent wage in order to protect his personal belongings. Those of the unemployed ranks who were going out on the farm should get together and run an organized sabotage on the farmers, and make them spend more money on tools and implements if they would not spend it on their farm hands."

In Alberta an attempt of the I.W.W. to organize farm-workers' branches was killed through newspaper publicity, resulting in the farmers themselves being made fully aware of the designs against them, and leading to the taking of necessary precautions and concerted action.

Harvest and threshing time in Western Canada always forces the necessity of bringing tens of thousands of men from Eastern Canada and British Columbia for temporary employment in the harvest fields. Included in this temporary army there is always a large number of that class who are in a chronic state of unemployment, men who fight every job they can get, and also a percentage of young fellows "out for a lark" and ready for any kind of devilment. Mingled among them are professional agitators whose business in life is the stirring up of unrest, disaffection and trouble. They require to be watched and their presence promptly reported to the authorities.

The vast majority of harvest excursionists are steady, reliable men, willing and anxious to work and give an honest return in labor for their wages. Hundreds of them come to spy out the land with a view to permanent settlement here. Hundreds of others are farmers' sons who, having completed their own farm work, are keen to see more of Canada, gain new experiences, and earn money which they cannot do by remaining at home. It must be recognized that such men, after paying their fare from the East—low though such fare may be—faced with only a few weeks employment and the cost of the return journey, are entitled to receive fairly good wages, good food, and decent living quarters and treatment. And the farmer who so treats his workers is advancing his own best interests and those of the West at large.

But the man who has no real desire to work, who is out on the job, who finds fault, grumbles and complains all the time, in a word, whose main occupation is to agitate, should receive short shrift. He earns little or nothing, and usually gets more than he does earn. It is this type which later drifts into our Western cities and towns "broke," unable to get back to the place from which he came, and constitutes a burden and source of expense and trouble to those urban communities throughout the ensuing winter months in when there is lack of employment of all kinds.

Business men and communities generally should unite with the farmers in so protecting themselves against this latter class, and every possible action taken within the law to eliminate the agitators and keep them in bounds and not allow them, to play ducks and drakes with the interests, not only of the farmers of the hundred things; but also with the interests of farm workers and harvesters—who are anxious to get on with their work.

Won First Victoria Cross

Charles David Lucas Was Decorated By Queen Victoria

Included in the estate of Mrs. Frances Rimmell Lucas, is a priceless relic, the first Victoria Cross ever awarded. Mrs. Lucas was the widow of Admiral Charles David Lucas, the first man to win the V.C.

This was gained on June 30, 1854, when H.M.S. Hecla was bombarding Bomarsund fortress, in the Baltic. When the Hecla's magazine was in danger of the principal fort, a live shell, with the fuse burning, fell on the deck. Lucas, who was then a midshipman, picked up the shell in an instant and buried it into the sea. Almost before it reached the water it exploded with a terrific roar. Captain Hall, of the Hecla, immediately promoted Lucas a lieutenant, and two years later Queen Victoria decorated him with the Victoria Cross. Mrs. Lucas was the daughter of Captain Hall, of the Hecla, afterwards Admiral Sir William Hutchison Hall.

NEW STRENGTH FOR WEAK GIRLS

Can Be Had Through the Rich Red Blood Made By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There comes a time in the life of almost every girl when weakness or lacks her. The strain upon her blood supply is too great, and there comes headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, attacks of dizziness, heart palpitation, a constant weariness and misery in a dozen ways. In these symptoms may not be present in any particular case, but the presence of one or more shows the necessity for prompt treatment. And Miss Bertrand Stewart, of Thornhill, the blood-making toule qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are the one thing needed to maintain the health of growing girls and women of mature years.

Here is a bit of strong proof:—Miss Matilda Bross, King Highway, Newcastle, N.B., says:—"I was in an extremely run down condition from anaemia. I was looking flesh, had a poor appetite, sleep poor, and suffered frequently from headaches. In fact my condition could be described as miserable. I had tried several treatments but did not find help in the least. Then, reading one day about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I decided to try them. After using three boxes I was much improved, but continued until I had taken six boxes, when the result that I am now well and strong. With good color and a bright appearance. In view of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me I cannot recommend them too highly."

You can get Pink Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Curious Inheritance Case

Descendants of Armenian Will Receive Property After Fifty Years

A curious inheritance case is occupying the attention of the Armenian patriarchal court, which is trying to discover the descendants of a wealthy Armenian, named Selerian, who died in India half a century ago and made a will, ordering the investment of his great estate for fifty years, after which it should be equally divided among his descendants. Most of them are believed to be in Egypt, but the fate of these about a score have already lodged their claims. The estate is said to amount to £500,000, and the difficulties of distribution are increased by the fact that many of the sought for descendants are scattered over the world and their whereabouts are unknown.

Out of the mouths of babes and schoolmarms may be perfected definitions as well as praises. For example, there is the case of the teacher who, in the class of the reading lesson, was questioning her class on the subject matter thereof. "What is an oyster?" she asked.

"Please, miss," replied the bright boy of the class, "it's half a fish and half a nut."

Science Versus Crime

Doctor's Examination Helped to Convict Man of Counterfeiting

French police suspected a man of counterfeiting, but had not the desired proof. The suspect was quite glib and plausible under examination and nothing could be proved against him.

"Before you depart, though," said the investigator, "a doctor will examine you, merely a little precaution in the interest of public health." The man submitted willingly. Two days later the police called at his cafe and again took him in custody, for they had evidence that eventually resulted in his conviction. The prisoner had unwittingly supplied it during the physical examination, in a tiny specimen of ink with which the doctor had taken from his ear. This bit of wax had been forwarded the director of the police technical laboratory at Lyons, who had photographically enlarged it with his microscopic camera. Magnified many times, it showed tellitale streaks of printer's ink, particles of dust identified as from a lithographic stone, and traces of characteristic crystals of a chemical used by engravers, undeniable evidence that the prisoner's story was a fabrication.

Believe School Boys Suffering From Leprosy

Two At Newark, N.J., Confined In Isolation Hospital

Suffering from a disease diagnosed as leprosy, two Newark school boys have been taken from their classrooms and confined in an isolated hospital at Ke Ho, N.J. The victims are brothers, Hal and Frank George, 11 and 12 years old respectively.

The first complaint of a strange skin infection to the school nurse, who reported it to the physicians. Examination disclosed the malady to be leprosy, which the boys are believed to have contracted in Bermuda, where they lived until six years ago, when they came to Newark with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank George.

"The labor-saving devices which have come on the market to make the life of the modern housewife easier are making her lazy, instead," said Dr. Manning.

KING OSCAR SARDINES

The Increasing Tourist Traffic Directly Benefits The Farmer As Well As The Merchant

The natural resources intelligence service of the department of the interior at Ottawa says:

"So touring in automobiles and railroad trains are speeding by and through the farming districts no doubt many times our rural residents will wonder what benefit this traffic can be to them.

Governments and municipalities are encouraging tourists with the idea in view of appreciating very considerable sums of money for the purpose, and any immediate expenditure upon good roads throughout the country are held out as an inducement to sentiments to visit us.

That they bring trade to the city cannot be doubted, but they also bring trade to farmers and others. For instance, there is the providence that they consume. It is probably possible to compile a statement of what this consumption would be, using the experience of large caterers as a basis. The quantity of farm products must be enormous, however.

Last year, there were 361,650 motor cars entered at Canadian customs ports for the purpose of remaining in the country for a little over thirty days, 2,244 for from one to six months and 1,334,845 for one day only. If these cars brought in an average of but two persons each, and that the 361,839 cars that remained in Canada from two to six months, or an average, averaged seven days, they would require 15,194,460 meals. Think of the quantity of bacon, ham and bacon, eggs, milk and butter, meats and poultry, fruits and vegetables, etc., that would be used in these meals. These would all have to be purchased from the farmers, and would make a very large total revenue.

There is further fact that a very considerable portion of the expenditures of tourists among urban business people finds its way back to the farm, in that this revenue is used by them to purchase the necessaries for themselves and their families.

It will be seen from the above that our farming interests have a very direct connection with the rapidly growing tourist traffic, and should do what they can, by courtesy and assistance when needed, to make our visitors feel that they are welcome.

Geography and Merchandise

Many people Do Not Know Where Articles Come From

A little thought by average dry goods store might furnish to geographical knowledge as well as a means of securing merchandise if we would take time to study the names of articles for sale. For example, calico owes its name to Calicut, a town in India. It is the days before Manchester was a great manufacturing centre most of the best calico came from Calicut, and even after the industry came to Britain the old name remained. India is also responsible for muslin, which came originally from a place called Mosul. Two textiles owe their names to Persia. These are cretonne and cambric, the first of which came from the Normandy town of Creton, while the second is still manufactured at Cambrai. Serge takes its name from China, where it was introduced into this country in 1460. The Latin name for China is sericum, which gradually has changed into the modern word serge.

Getting Very Serious

We saw a man walking down street the other day carrying a buggy whip. Which led us to inquire if buggy whips were manufactured any more. We were told that there was only one buggy whip factory in the country. Harness factories which made a specialty of fancy harness for driving horses also are getting scarce. They are going the way of livery stables.—Cooper's Weekly.

Work of the Illustration Stations

Number of Stations Last Year Totalled 145

John Fixter's report for 1924 of the operation of the illustration stations by the Dominion experimental farms, the illustration stations in the three prairie provinces and British Columbia, might profitably be in the hands of every farmer in the western half of the country. Mr. Fixter is the chief supervisor of the system and he not only tells, through the different district experiments, of the work that is being done, but of how it is being performed. These stations, which three years ago numbered 89, last year totalled 145. They, by actual demonstration on the spot, carry the work of the experimental system annually into the district to farmers both individually and collectively, the location of the stations being chosen with a view to the greatest possible benefit.

As nearly as possible the whole country is being gradually covered, there being at present eight of these stations in Prince Edward Island, thirteen in Nova Scotia, seventeen in New Brunswick, thirty-eight in Quebec, eight in Ontario, eight in Manitoba, twenty-three in Saskatchewan, sixteen in Alberta and fourteen in British Columbia.

One of the principal functions being carried on is encouragement of the use of good seed grain. In the nine climax of work last year there were sold 29,845 bushels of seed grain, principally oats, seed potatoes and 9,280 bushels of grass and clover seed.

Another branch of the work to which especial attention is being paid is the encouragement of stock raising, and the interest in the report shows an exceptionally convenient rock-stand, loader and unloader, instructions for the making of which are supplied.

One other among the many useful lines of work is that for improvement in the housing, feeding and handling of poultry. For this purpose in 1924, 356 cockerels, 191 pullets and 1,000 hens were culled, to make room for good laying strains of Barred Rocks were sold by the stations.

More Settlers For West

Farmers of Illinois and Wisconsin Greatly Interested in Canada

C. J. Broughton, Canadian Government immigration agent at Chicago, with headquarters at Minneapolis, arrived in Winnipeg, bringing with him four new settlers for Western Canada. Three of the new arrivals are settlers representing twenty families.

"At the present moment," said Mr. Broughton, "the greatest interest is being shown in Western Canada by farmers of Illinois and Wisconsin, and there is no doubt that many will migrate here in the near future. We are particularly interested in getting farming families from the south to make the change to Western Canada, for farms can be bought outright here nearly as cheaply as they can be rented down south for a period of only two years. The fire proposition is one also accompanying me on this journey are practically certain to persuade many families to settle here."

Not a Hobby, An Occupation

Peerage gossip collectors will have to content themselves with £5,000 different varieties of tea, which are sold in titles to make their lists complete, according to late estimates. Within the last few months 1,000 new stamps have been issued by the various governments.

Valuable Bit Of Paper

A bit of paper whirled along in the dust of a busy street in Chicago unnoticed. A newsboy stooped to examine it; it was a check for $10,000, payable to a jewelery concern. The newsboy turned the check in to police headquarters.

Good Year For Sheep

Hon. W. R. J. Tisdale Completes Inspection of Western Ranges

W. H. J. Tisdale, assistant general manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers Limited, made a trip to Winnipeg recently on his way east after spending six weeks in the range and domestic wool sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Mr. Tisdale stated that most clipped every large band of range sheep in the west and seen a great deal of the domestic sheep also.

The ranchers generally are turning to the co-operative method of selling and their own company, the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers Limited, will get around a million pounds of range wool this season and around half a million pounds of domestic.

"The range wool," continued Mr. Tisdale, "is generally strong in staple and fibre and this is especially true as this is not the case, were located in districts where the snowfall was heavy, thus crimped and weakened the fleeces. Shearing has not sufficient feed available to feed well during the period of shearing. The quality of the fine wool is the best in years, with these exceptions, and fleeceweights are also heavier than for the past few years. As nearly as possible the whole country is being gradually covered, there being at present eight of these stations in Prince Edward Island, thirteen in Nova Scotia, seventeen in New Brunswick, thirty-eight in Quebec, eight in Ontario, eight in Manitoba, twenty-three in Saskatchewan, sixteen in Alberta and fourteen in British Columbia.

Confidence Of Farmers In Western Canada Much Higher Than For Many Years

Canadians Returning From States

Many Coming Back to Take Up Residence Here Again

The exodus of Canadians to the United States is rapidly coming to an end, and a homeward trek is now under way which will soon counter balance the tide of emigration, according to statistics issued at Ottawa.

Canadians taking up residence in the United States in the calendar year 1924, totalled 159,062, as against 181,373 in the previous twelve months, and figures for the first quarter of the present year indicate that this year's total will be less than half that of 1924.

Simultaneously, during the year ended March 31 last, 48,175 Canadians who had previously emigrated to the United States returned to take up their residence once more in this country, and an even higher total of such persons is anticipated for the current year. In April, the first month of the fiscal year, 3,995 returned and May figures, still incomplete, already total 7,876.

Saskatchewan Leads In Horse Production

Mr. J. G. Robertson, livestock commissioner for Saskatchewan, has issued the following brief review of the livestock situation in this province at the present time.

"This province has become so famous for its grain production that sometimes people fail to realize the significant place it occupies in our cattle in its agriculture today.

"In horse production, Saskatchewan is easily first among the provinces, having a population of 1,316,-745, which is over 300,000 more than any of the others. In cattle production and in the production of hogs we stand fourth among the provinces. Last year our livestock was valued at $183,547,823.

Farmer Should Be Scientist

Are Educated in Farming Methods Is Most Successful

That black farming methods are to be generally accepted; but that black farming methods are a waste of national assets and an injury to the landless population must be the creed of the future. Already there are abundant signs that the farmer must be a scientist highly educated in his profession and understanding to the last point the natural forces which he calls into play. As much he will take his place as a professional man—the most highly respected professional man of all.—Sydney (N.S.W.) Bulletin.

Canadians Returning From States

Many Coming Back to Take Up Residence Here Again

The exodus of Canadians to the United States is rapidly coming to an end, and a homeward trek is now under way which will soon counter balance the tide of emigration, according to statistics issued at Ottawa.

Canadians taking up residence in the United States in the calendar year 1924, totalled 159,062, as against 181,373 in the previous twelve months, and figures for the first quarter of the present year indicate that this year's total will be less than half that of 1924.

Simultaneously, during the year ended March 31 last, 48,175 Canadians who had previously emigrated to the United States returned to take up their residence once more in this country, and an even higher total of such persons is anticipated for the current year. In April, the first month of the fiscal year, 3,995 returned and May figures, still incomplete, already total 7,876.

Flowers will retain their original bloom for many days, if subjected to the rhythmic strains of music, according to F. C. Billings, musician and horticulturist, of Milwaukee. Saskatchewan Leads In Horse Production

Mr. J. G. Robertson, livestock commissioner for Saskatchewan, has issued the following brief review of the livestock situation in this province at the present time.

"This province has become so famous for its grain production that sometimes people fail to realize the significant place it occupies in our cattle in its agriculture today.

"In horse production, Saskatchewan is easily first among the provinces, having a population of 1,316,-745, which is over 300,000 more than any of the others. In cattle production and in the production of hogs we stand fourth among the provinces. Last year our livestock was valued at $183,547,823.

Farmer Should Be Scientist

Are Educated in Farming Methods Is Most Successful

That black farming methods are to be generally accepted; but that black farming methods are a waste of national assets and an injury to the landless population must be the creed of the future. Already there are abundant signs that the farmer must be a scientist highly educated in his profession and understanding to the last point the natural forces which he calls into play. As much he will take his place as a professional man—the most highly respected professional man of all.—Sydney (N.S.W.) Bulletin.

"It's myself he's hunting at Tortuga, my lord," said Hagthorpe. "But I'm thinking that while he's about it, he'll best be looking after Jamaica for King William." He laughed, with more mirth than he had used in the last two months. "Set a course for Port Royal, Jeremy, and make all speed. We'll be level yet with M. de Ribaud, and wipe off some other scores at the same time."

"But you are not equal to it, damme!" cried his lordship. "Any one of the Frenchman's three ships is a match for both yours, my man."

"In guns—aye," said Blood, and he smiled. "But there's more than guns that matter in these affairs. If your lordship would like to see an action fought at sea on an axiom should be fought, this is your opportunity."

"Rivarol carries in his hold the treasure plundered from Cartagena, amounting to forty million livres. He has gone into Port Royal with it. Whether he defeats me or not, he cannot get out of Port Royal with it again, and sooner or later that treasure shall find its way into King William's coffers, after, say, one-fifth share shall have been paid to my buccaneers. Is that agreed, Lord Willoughby?"

His lordship stood up, and shaking back the cloud of lace from his wrist, held out a delicate white hand.

"Captain Blood, I discover great sense in you," said he.

"Sure it's your lordship has the fine sight to perceive it," laughed the Captain.

CHAPTER XXVII.

The Last Fight of the Arabella

It was the afternoon of that same day, and the two buccaneer ships, rocked gently with idly flapping sails under the lee of the long cays on land forming the great natural harbor of Port Royal, and less than a mile from the Arabella lending into it, which the fort commanded. It was two hours and more since they had brought up thereabouts, having crept thither unobserved by the city and by M. de Rivarol's ships, and all the time the air had been aquiver with the roar of guns from sea and land, announcing that battle was joined between the French and the defenders of Port Royal. That long, lunative waiting was straining the nerves of both Lord Willoughby and van der Keyden. Blood faced them, smiling confidently. "It's in this way, now: there's nothing at all to be gained by precipitancy, and a deal to be, gained by delaying, as I shall show you, I hope. Sure, it'll be time enough to go forward when the fleet has shot its bolt. . . ."

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Letter from Mrs. Ayers Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Spring Valley, Sask.—"I took the Vegetable Compound before my last confinement, when I got to feeling so badly that I could not sleep nights, my back ached so across my hips, and I could hardly do my work during the day. I had taken so many medicines before and this is my sixth baby. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the 'Farmer's Telegram' and wrote for one of your books. We have no druggist in our town, but I saw your medicine in T. Eaton's catalogue. I am a farmer's wife, so have all kinds of work to do inside and outside the house. My baby is a nice healthy girl, the weighed nine pounds at birth. I am feeling fine after putting in a large garden since baby came. (She is as proud as she can be.) Yours is the best medicine for women, and I have told about it and even written to my friends about it."—Mrs. ADDIE E. AYERS, Spring Valley, Sask.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a powerful effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system so that it may work in every respect as nature intends. All druggists sell this medicine. Write Lydia E. W. N. U. 1584

Led now by Blood himself, they launched themselves upon the French.

Blood scanned the French ships, and shortly the Victorieuse and not the Medina appeared to have taken no more than a few scars; but the third ship, the Dolphin, having come to larboard so as to keep the great mass in her starboard well above water, was out of account.

The sight of that great red ship with her gilt beak-head and open ports engaging broadside on must have given cheer to Rivarol's men in action. Yet before he could move to give an order, before he could spill reserve shot to give a volume of fire and metal burst upon him from the buccaneers, and his decks were swept by the murderous scythe of the broadside. The Arabella held to her course, giving place to the Elizabeth, which, following closely, executed the same manoeuvre. And then, whilst still the Frenchmen were confused, panic-stricken by an attack that left them so utterly by surprise, the Arabella had gone about, and was rushing in her turn, presenting now her larboard guns and loosing her second broadside in the wake of the first. Came yet another broadside from the Elizabeth and then the Arabella's trumpeter read a call across the water which Hagthorpe perfectly understood.

"On, now, Jeremy!" cried Blood. "Stand by, there! Prepare to board! Hayton . . . the grapnels!" Briskly he established himself to his two guns. "Boarding is our only chance here. We are too heavily outgunned."

Of this the fullest demonstration followed quickly. Confusion and panic-ing recovered their wits at last, both ships swung broadside on, and continuing the duel with a will, drew nearer and heavier and therefore more immediately dangerous of their two opponents, vollleyed upon her plainly at almost the same moment. The Arabella reeled and staggered under that terrible hammering. For a moment she seemed to hesitate, then she plunged forward with a gaping hole forward, that was only just above the water-line. Meanwhile, the Frenchmen going about, gave the like reception to the Elizabeth. The Arabella, indifferently served by the wind, pressed forward to come to grips. But in love she could accomplish her object, the Victorieuse had landed her broke off to listen. "Aye, I was right! The fire's slackening. Ho there, Jeremy!"

Came the padding of feet along the decks, the creaking of blocks and the hoisting of sail. The helm was put over hard, and in a moment they were heading for the Jamaican following, even in obedience to the signals from the Arabella, whilst Ogle, the gunner, whom he had summoned, was reviving Hagthorpe's final instructions before plunging down to his station on the main deck.

Within a quarter of an hour they had rounded the head and stood in to the harbor mouth, within saker shot of Rivarol's three ships, to which they now abruptly disclosed themselves.

Where the fort had stood they now beheld a smoking rubble heap, and the victorious Frenchman with the lily standard trailing from his mastheads was preparing forward to smatch the rich prize whose defiance he had shattered.

Led now by Blood himself, they launched themselves upon the French, and clambered up the high side of the Medina appeared to have taken no more than a few scars; but the third ship, the Dolphin, having come to larboard so as to keep the great mass in her starboard well above water, was out of account.

The sight of that great red ship with her gilt beak-head and open ports engaging broadside on must have given cheer to Rivarol's men in action. Meanwhile, the Frenchmen going about, gave the like reception to the Elizabeth. The Arabella, indifferently served by the wind, pressed forward to come to grips. But in love she could accomplish her object, the Victorieuse had landed her starboard guns again, and pounded her advancing enemy with a second broadside at close quarters. Amid the thunder of cannon, the rending of timbers, and, the screams of maimed men, the half wrecked Arabella plunged and reeled into the cloud of smoke that concealed her prey, and then from Hayton went up the cry that she was going down by the head. The blue and gold flank of the Victorieuse loomed through the smoke. But even as Blood caught that exhaustingly brief glimpse he perceived, too, how slightly his own was their advance. They were not a mile before they reached her. But they had not yet completely failed. Hayton himself, and a score of sturdy rogues with him, whilst Blood commanded, were crouching for shelter amid the wreckage of the forecastle with grapnels ready. Within seven or eight yards of the Victorieuse, when their way seemed spent, and their forward deck already swash under the spits of the jerking, shooting French-men, those men leapt up and forward, and hurled their grapnels across the chasm. Hooked, they clung, and reached the Frenchmen's decks, and fastened there. Unhesitatingly all three themselves on the heels of one of those grapnels, neglecting the other, and hearted upon it with all their might to warp the ships together. Blood sent out his voice in a clarion call:

"Musketeers to the prow!"

Fifty of them dashed forward instantly, and from the ranks of the forecastle they blazed over the heads of Hayton's men, mowing down the French soldiers who, unable to dislodge the brave, firmly held where they had deeply bitten into the timbers of the Victorieuse, were themselves presently preparing to rife upon the quarter crew.

Starboard to starboard the two ships swung variant each other with a jarring thud. The advance guard of boarders, a hundred strong, were ordered to be the party, grapnel-men posted, and prompt to obey Blood's command at the very moment of impact. As a result, the Victorieuse's Arabella was literally kept afloat by the half-dozen grapnels that in an instant grappled her firmly to the Victorieuse.

Led now by Blood himself, they launched themselves upon the French like hounds upon the stag they have brought to bay. For fully half-an-hour that battle raged aboard the Frenchman. The French resisted stubbornly, and they had the advantage of numbers to encourage them. But the Irish genius for valor, they ended by being pressed back and back across the decks that were dangerously canted to starboard by the pull of the grapnels that attached the two ships. Foot by foot the buccaneers fought with the desperate fury of men who know that retreat is impossible, for there will be ship to which they could retreat, and here they must prevail and make the Victorieuse their prize.

"Lady Of the Penny Rose"

Peonies Flourish to Utmost Perfection in Canada

A blaze of color will meet the eyes of those who visit the C.P.R. pavilion at Wembley early in July, for 5,000 penny blooms will soon be shipped overseas from Canada for exhibition purposes.

Canada has long enough been heralded as "Our Lady of the Snows," say those who are behind the scheme. The time has arrived when she should be known as "Our Lady of the Penny Rose."

The bulk of the blossoms will be cut from plants grown by W. Ormiston Roy, well-known landscape gardener and Imperial Rose judge, but everything may be done to keep the blooms in proper condition, John F. Wilson will go over with them and be host; for it is believed that this is the first time cut flowers have been sent across the ocean on a considerable scale. The temperature varies greatly, the humidity, but below 40 degrees Fahrenheit, is required for the best results.

W. Ormiston Roy's world-famous collection of peonies, recognized as the greatest and largest assemblage of the classic sorts and enough to produce exhibition blooms, will be augmented by a lot of new varieties from the noted penny gardens of H. Norton, Ayerscliff, Que.

Mr. Roy has a growing ambition to have the penny recognized in Canada at its true value as a landscape plant; and he claims that it is the beautiful ball-like form of the flower that will bring the height and breadth of Canada. This is a rare and proud distinction, because our national flower, the maple, cannot exist in many parts of our country. The penny requires less than any other plant, a shrub, shrub, and will succeed in any good garden soil, provided it is exposed to sunlight and is well drained. Given these simple conditions, and if it is not planted more than two or three inches below the surface of the soil, it will grow in any province of the Dominion, save the Klondyke, he says.

The varieties which Mr. Roy intends exhibiting at Wembley will include such rare sorts as La France, Solange, Tourangelle, Sarah Bernhardt, Eleanor-ense and Avalanche—all of which are seldom seen in such perfection in English gardens. In fact, no country in the world do they flourish as in Canada—not even in China, where the first peonies came from, and where they have been in cultivation for many centuries.

From Mr. Norton's garden will be shipped a host of unusual varieties, such as Kelway's Glorious, which originated in England; Le Cygne, perhaps Victor Le Modne's greatest contribution to the penny world; Martha Bulloch and Mrs. Edward Harding's outstanding varieties of American origin, all of which still range from $25 to $100 a plant.

Mr. Roy points out that if Canadians once appreciate the value of the penny in landscape planting, every city and village in the country could be as noted for peonies in a comparatively few years as Portland, Oregon, is now famous for its roses. Canada yet has the opportunity to prevent the penny and to grow it in every garden where there is a yard or two of open to the sun. No other country has yet wakened to its wonderful possibilities.

Tree Grew From Cane

Cottonwood Stick Was Planted in Kansas Fifty Years Ago

One of the largest trees in Hutchinson, Kan., has grown from a judge's cane.

Fifty-one years ago, in April, 1874, Judge W. R. Brown, the first judge of this judicial district, was walking from Hunt Sherman's store to Hutchinson twirling a cottonwood stick. Anson Plank, veteran jeweller, who watches for the story, was walking in his yard when Judge Brown came along.

"Well, I guess I'd better plant you a tree," the judge remarked, and he stuck his cane into the soft ground in front of the Plank home. Plank was called away from home for the summer. When he returned he found the cottonwood stick had sprouted. He left it in the ground. Today it is one of the largest cottonwood trees in Hutchinson.—New York World.

UNSURPASSED FOR CHILDHOOD AILMENTS

Mrs. Howard King, R.R. No. 6, Truro, N.S., says:—"I am the mother of four children and have always used Baby's Own Tablets when any of them needed a medicine, and I can recommend the Tablets as being unsurpassed for childhood ailments." Thousands of other mothers agree with Mrs. King as to the merits of the Tablets. There are thousands of homes throughout Canada where the Tablets are always kept on hand in readiness for the least sign of any of the many ailments which afflict little ones. Baby's Own Tablets never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels, thus they banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; relieve colic and bring the baby through that dread teething period in safety. The Tablets never do harm—always good—as they are guaranteed absolutely free from any injurious drugs. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRY TO EFFECT A UNION OF ALL WAR VETERANS

Ottawa.—Four veterans' associations in Canada already have pledged themselves to the establishment of a united organization as a result of a series of conferences held since the arrival of Field Marshal Earl Haig in Ottawa. Representatives of several other national and local bodies have pledged themselves to carry the proposal for a complete union to their memberships and obtain an expression as soon as possible.

In a statement, Lieut. General Sir Richard Turner, V.C., immediate president of the G.W.V.A., who has acted as chairman of the conferences, presented a resume of the results to date. The statement is in part as follows:

"Organizations that have been pledged to union at all ranks in Canada include the Great War Veterans' Association, the Canadian Legion, the Dominion Veterans' Association, and the Naval Veterans of Canada. These groups will continue to function as at present until the unity convention is definitely decided on.

"The calling of this convention probably will be delayed a few months, as other associations, such as the Army and Navy Veterans, the Corps of the Imperial Veterans in Canada, the Veterans' Civil Service Guild, the Grand Army of United Veterans, etc., will be holding conventions during the next two or three months.

Feels Railway Should Carry Out Agreement

Ontario Will Get Alberta Coal Says Sir Henry Thornton

Ottawa.—Should the total shipments of 25,000 tons of Alberta coal to Ontario will be made in accordance with the original understanding, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, stated in an interview at Ottawa.

Sir Henry explained that since the statement made some weeks ago to the effect that in view of the pending re-organization of freight rates, the National Railway would not be able to carry out the experiment, there had been a conference with officials of the Ontario Government. In this conference it was shown that many persons in Ontario had in good faith counted themselves to the handling of the Alberta coal. Sir Henry stated that when he learned matters had gone so far and the actual commitments had been made, he felt that the Canadian National Railway should carry out its agreement.

GRAVE FEARS OF COAL SHORTAGE ENTERTAINED

Ottawa.—Grave possibilities of an industrial struggle in the anthracite regions of the United States upon the termination of the present wage agreement on September 1, are intimated by the latest reports received from these fields, stated Dr. Charles Camsell, chairman of the Dominion fuel board. Householders, he declared, insofar as was humanly possible, should therefore, obtain at once supplies of whatever kind of domestic fuel they intend to use during the fall and winter months.

Dr. Camsell pointed out that if trouble developed in the American anthracite coal fields during the coming fall, it would probably be concentrated again with the necessity of hauling for small amounts of any kind of fuel at any point.

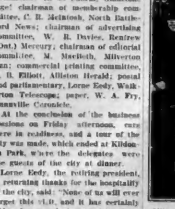
Movie Adonis Gets Black Eye



Milton Sills, darling of the flappers and young, and forceful hero of many a thrilling action picture drama of Romance, got his the other day. He has been acting in "The Knockout," a story of prize fighting days in Northern Quebec, and in an encounter with the villain the latter swung a heavy one onto the star's eye which resulted in the usual discoloration. Here he is seen, debonair and smiling, on the Canadian Pacific Railway station, Montreal, just back from his strenuous labors and almost recovered. The right eye still shows a faint indication that it has been in the wars. He says it is all in the game and takes the slight effect good-humouredly. During the making of the picture he had the experience back to see the biggest log-jam in sixty years on the Montreal River near Beauchesne, about which are incorporated in the film.

United Public Opinion

Canadians Can Alter the Whole National Situation Says Bynd

Victoria, B.C.—Canadians would meet the common ground to compose their differences they could alter the whole national situation declared Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of Canada, who is making a tour of the western provinces, during the course of an address before the Canadian Club here.

"If there was a united public opinion," said Right Hon. Meighen, "something would happen. If the east and west could get together in a nice way, if the land and capital people could talk differences over in friendly fashion, they could produce a harmony that might be fraught with great profit to Canada. A united public opinion might take us a long, long way toward freedom from our differences from a sectional point of view."

Frances Signs Protocol

Geneva.—A League of Nations official communique announces that Rene Boncour, French chief delegate to the recent arms conference at Washington, has signed the protocol of the permanent court of international justice.

Another Imperial Parley Suggested

But British Premier Doubtful As To Its Usefulness Just Now

London.—A. C. H. Hiley, member of the House of Commons, has suggested that the time is ripe for the Empire owing to the state of trade in Britain, that representatives of Dominions should be called together to formulate Empire schemes to develop the resources of the dominions and finding work for the unemployed.

Premier Baldwin replied that the government was engaged in further-ing, to the best of their ability, interimperial co-operation and development of the empire's resources on lines agreed upon at the imperial economic conference of 1923.

He doubted whether, at this stage, the summoning of another imperial conference could materially advance the objects which all were equally concerned in promote.

Canada's Sea Harvest Increases

Ottawa.—Canada's sea harvest increased in value in 1925, 87,000,000 pounds of sea fish were landed on both coasts and the value of the catch, $3,323,165, is an increase of $1,000,000 over that of 1924. On the Pacific coast, 1,884,300 pounds of salmon were taken, compared with 527,486 pounds in May, 1924.

Cloudburst In California

Bakersfield, Calif.—A cloudburst in Tejon Pass, 44 miles south of here, on the Ridge Route, delayed all traffic nearly three hours.

Tons of debris were washed over the mountain highway and a crew of 15 men with trucks and scrapers were necessary to open up a one-way passage. No dines were lost.

GRAVE FEARS OF COAL SHORTAGE ENTERTAINED

Ottawa.—Grave possibilities of an industrial struggle in the anthracite regions of the United States upon the termination of the present wage agreement on September 1, are intimated by the latest reports received from these fields, stated Dr. Charles Camsell, chairman of the Dominion fuel board. Householders, he declared, insofar as was humanly possible, should therefore, obtain at once supplies of whatever kind of domestic fuel they intend to use during the fall and winter months.

Dr. Camsell pointed out that if trouble developed in the American anthracite coal fields during the coming fall, it would probably be concentrated again with the necessity of hauling for small amounts of any kind of fuel at any point.

Wheat Pool Crop Year For 1924 Ends July 15

Regina. — The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool will close its 1924 crop year July 15, the date set for winding the cut-off, it is announced by A. J. McPhail, president. The Alberta and Manitoba pools have set the same date las making the final cut-off. The grain records at the terminals after July 15 will be treated as though it were part of the 1925 crop," added Mr. McPhail, and an initial payment of one dollar will be made until the 1924 pool people for the 1925 crop has been definitely decided later in the season."

EMIGRATION THE ONLY CURE FOR BRITAIN'S ILLS

London.—Dr. Winnington Ingram, Bishop of London, speaking at the Church House, Westminster, on the subject of Anglican Church aid for British Columbia, said he had been in Canada twice, and each time had returned with a feeling that Canada was going to be one of the greatest nations in the world.

Bishop Ingram said he believed that emigration was now the only cure for Britain's ills at home. He had read with amazement, he said, the premier's remarks as to the numbers emigrating having decreased from 296,000 to 130,000 a year. If this was so, it seemed perfectly calamitous. Undoubtedly, unemployment in Britain was largely due to the slowing down in emigration. The real solution of Britain's difficulties was to send to countries like Canada, Britain's very best—not the unfit—to build up that great country.

Canada's London Home

Office at Hub of British World Says Manchester Guardian

London.—The Canadian papers, as was to be expected, have extended cordial editorial comments on the formal opening of the new Canada House Building here by the King, and papers published outside of London have been equally cordial in their remarks about the event.

The London Daily Telegraph says: "The Dominion could not have better had has secured a home in London worthy of its past, present and future. The re-modelling of the building for its new has improved the amenities of Trafalgar Square, for which the people of London and, indeed, the whole Empire, owe a debt of gratitude to the Canadian people."

The Manchester Guardian, noting the desire of the dominions to plant their offices as near as possible to the heart of London, says Canada has chosen a home in the very centre of all to the heart of the metropolis; her admirable building is right in the line of the British people, where everyone who comes to London will look for it as as inescapable as Nelson's monument."

Heart Disease More Deadly Than Cancer

Terrific Pace Imposed By Rapid Way Of Modern Living

Portland, Ore.—Great strides in medical efforts to lengthen the average span of human life cannot be made until heart disease, more deadly than cancer, tuberculosis and plague, is controlled, physicians here, attending the opening of the convention of the Pacific Northwest Medical Association, declared.

The human heart must physically be a heart of steel to withstand the terrific pace imposed by the rapid pace of modern living, declared two of the leading authorities of the world, both of whom devoted their lectures to discussions of the heart.

Grain Growers Disapprove

Regina, Sask.—Disapproval of the action of certain grain growers' associations in parliament in supporting a clause in the revised Canada Grain Act, taking away from the farmers the right of debenturing where they think they should be stored until it is sold, was expressed in a resolution unanimously passed by delegates of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association in session here.

Will Investigate Fires

Montreal.—Every fire occurring in Canada will be subject to investigation, following the decision of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association, at a meeting at Murray Bay, to extend the activities of its inquiry department to cover the entire Dominion.

Americans Bring Wealth

During the year ended April 30th, 1925, the value of motors' effects entering Canada from the United States amounted to $5,227,000, an increase of about $480,000, as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year.

THE RECORD

H. Oxley, Editor and Publisher

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1925

There is no disputing the fact The Record is very widely read. The Farm and Ranch Review has quickly come forward with a logical reason why the sale could continued with their circular letters were printed in U.S.A. It is probable, in view of the expiration letter from The Farm and Ranch Review appearing in these columns, that Harry Brenton will once more have to dig down for two bits.

THAT GRAIN MONOPOLY

(The Vancouver Sun)

Until the permit system in the shipment of grain to Vancouver is definitely abolished, this port will never be able to render maximum service to the farmers of the West.

There is no reason in the world why a few grain firms should have a monopoly on shipping grain through the Port of Vancouver. It is iniquitous and can have no other effect than to work against the farmer and against this Port.

A farmer walks into a country station with the idea of shipping a car of grain to Vancouver in order to secure the premium on the Vancouver route. He is told that he cannot ship the car unless he has a permit showing he has ocean space booked at this Port.

A representative of one of the grain firms will then slip up to the farmer and tell him that he has ocean space booked at Vancouver and will handle his car for him. But while the actual difference between Vancouver price and Fort William price may be several or eight cents, the representative will only give the farmer two or three cents over the Port William price.

This is just like ticket scalping, with the ticket office sitting in on the game.

The Port of Vancouver cannot afford to sit in on any game that will cheat the Western farmer out of the saving he might effect by shipping his grain via Vancouver.

If the Western grain grower is to get a square deal, if Vancouver is to be an open port, the permit system must be abolished.

The Canadian National Railway has reversed its decision respecting the transfer of Alberta coal to Ontario in a test shipment, and has announced that it will transport 25,000 tons of the coal at the $7.00 rate with no check by outside authorities on the actual cost of the movement, and with no guarantee by Dominion or Provincial governments.

CARD OF THANKS

The Bawden family wish to thank their friends for the many kindnesses shown them during their recent bereavement.

ALBERTA ANTELOPE THRIVING

Antelope, which were threatened with extinction in Canada a few years ago, have been successfully preserved in Nemiskam National park. When this preserve was established in 1918 there were only 45 in the herd, the last survivors of the thousands that once roamed the Dominion. There are now 235 animals in the herd, a gain of 190. How well they breed in captivity is shown by the fact that there are an increase of 55 at 1924 shoot. Antelope once were prized trophies and suffered such ravages in numbers that extinction of the species was in sight. A herd finally was discovered in southern Alberta, and the tract of 5,000 acres, on which the animals were feeding, was surrounded by a wire fence and all the work was done without disturbing the herd.

EXHIBITIONS OPEN THIS WEEK

The exhibition season in the province opens this week with the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, which this year is also taking the form of a jubilee celebration in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the establishment of Fort Calgary by the Mounted Police. The Calgary Exhibition will be on from July 6 to 11 and the Edmonton Exhibition and Stampede, with added attractions this year, will follow the week of July 13 to 18.

ALBERTA EXHIBITORS WIN

Alberta dairy exhibitors at the Brandon Exposition just closed captured 31 of the prizes offered in the various dairy classes. In the livestock department at the same exposition, Alberta exhibitors were also heavy winners.

TOURIST TRAFFIC IS UP

According to the annual report for 1924 of the National Parks Commissioner, which is just to hand, the total tourist traffic at the various parks in Alberta during the season of 1924 was 135,189, out of a total in all parks of the Dominion of 250,000. The tourist traffic to Alberta parks was divided on estimate as follows: Rocky Mountain 97,181; Waterton Lakes Park 10,972; Waterton Lakes 16,695; Elk Island Park 7,812; Buffalo Park 5,650.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Record,
Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta.

Dear Sirs:

Our attention has been drawn to Mr. H. J. Brenton's letter to your Editor, which was published in a recent edition of your paper.

We can readily see that conclusions drawn from this sole card would not be entirely favorable without a proper understanding of the circumstances, and for this reason, this understanding could only come through explanation, and it was an oversight on our part that this explanation was not made in the circular letter accompanying the card.

We have the largest printing plant in Western Canada, that is west of Winnipeg, and naturally if we were doing anyone any harm through purchasing these in the United States, it would be ourselves. However, this card is patented and if we wish to use them they must be purchased from the patent owner in any case, even if it were not patented, special machinery is required for their manufacture. In our trade you will give this explanation at least equal prominence to that given Mr. Brenton's letter. At the same time, we must say that we feel thankful to Mr. Brenton for drawing this matter to our attention, although done in a more or less indirect manner, as an explanation of this will be given in our next circular, should we make a similar offer.

TAR SANDS SHIPPED EAST

Thirteen carloads of tar sands from the Draper leases at Waterways were shipped east during the months of May and June, for the purpose of experimental road building at various points in the Dominion.

FIRST SHIPMENT OF SALT MADE

The first shipment of salt from the new salt wells of the Alberta Salt Co., below Fort McMurray on the Athabasca river came from the mines last week. The plant is producing about 25 tons of salt per day.

Here and There

The entire Province of Prince Edward Island and adjacent islands have been leased for oil prospecting purposes to Henry L. Doherty & Company, according to an announcement by the concern. The lease has been taken on option.

Indications are that 1925 will be one of the best tourist seasons ever experienced by Montreal. It is estimated that 750,000 people from all over the continent visited Montreal last year, while this year the number is placed at a million.

It is understood that a contract has been let for the laying of a submarine cable from Vancouver Island to Suva, Fiji Islands, by the Pacific Cable Board. This is part of the "All-red" cable and wireless route which is being established between British possessions the world over.

In order to facilitate the work of the air force patrol radio stations are being erected at the Pas, Norway House, Victoria Beach, and Fort Osborne Barracks, Winnipeg. The stations will be completed shortly and will have, it is stated, a radius of communication all over Canada.

"Judging from the amount of sound business activity noticeable here, British Columbia is launching into an era of constructive development which augurs well for her future prosperity," comments Grand Hall, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who recently spent ten days on the Pacific Coast.

"So long as the Canadian Pacific Railway has a dollar left in its treasury, it will fight for the ideals, uphold the faith and maintain the precious heritage of confederation," said E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, when addressing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at their annual convention held at Hamilton recently.

Eleven hundred pounds of speckled trout, gray trout and pike were the trophies taken back to New York recently by seven members of the Caughnawaga Hunting and Fishing Club, private preserve near Montreal, after a two-week stay on the fishing grounds. The catch included a 19-lb. gray trout and the average weight worked out at around eight pounds.

Frank W. Ashby, secretary of the Australian Manufacturers' Association, visiting here recently, said the impression in Australia was that Canada was the back door to the North Pole. People in the Antipodes think that Churchill Island and Baffin's Bay are linked up municipally with Montreal and Winnipeg, he said. He was surprised to find the Dominion had a delightful climate and cities more modern than those in Australia.

What is stated to be the biggest log jam in sixty years recently occurred on the Montreal River in a gorge through which the river flows into Lake Temiskaming. 300,000 logs were piled up to a height of 80 feet, with a width of 250 yards, choking the river for 300 yards down at the point where the jam took place. An army of 400 men, working night and day for three days, at last succeeded in breaking the jam with dynamite.

A three-week tour of Canada by teachers and their friends, under the auspices of Dean S. Laird, of Macdonald College, will leave Toronto July 30 on the Canadian Pacific Railway. The party will travel by train to Vancouver and Victoria, and will return by way of Southern British Columbia, across the northern end of the Prairie Provinces and by boat from Fort William east. Stops will be made at all the principal points of interest.

Investing Money In Palestine

Jews Spending Millions in Purchasing and Improving Land

The Jewish national fund has invested almost $6,000,000 in the purchase and improvement of land in Palestine from October, 1920, to April, 1925, approximately the period of Sir Herbert Samuel's administration as high commissioner, according to a report issued by the world headquarters of the body in Jerusalem.

Of this money $5,194,440 was spent in the purchase of agricultural and urban land and $774,150 in land improvements, including the drying up of swamps, road building, water supply installation and building loans to new settlers.

Dr. Shearer's Estate

According to the will of the late Dr. John G. Shearer, formerly secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, his entire estate, valued at $44,411.26, passes to his widow, Elizabeth A. Shearer. Upon the occasion of her death all the residue is to go the Social Service of Canada to be used as they may decide. The bulk of the estate, amounting to $44,000, is in real estate in the city of Toronto.

A New British Colony

Island of Cyprus is Now Part of Empire

A new milestone in Mediterranean history was set up on May 1st, when by Royal Letters Patent, read by the high commissioner of Cyprus at Limassol, that island became a British colony. Our King Richard, Coeur de Lion, took it from Isaac Commenus and bestowed it on Guy de Lusignan. In 1570 the Turks took it from the Venetians and held it in the stagnation that marks Turkish rule until 1878, when under the Treaty of Berlin, Great Britain undertook its administration, paying an annual tribute to Turkey. Since then the Cypriotes have progressed morally and materially, and it has been for us a vital Mediterranean station, though possibly of less value than Lord Beaconsfield expected. In November, 1914, it was annexed by proclamation. The high commissioner now becomes governor and various reforms will be introduced, such as an increase in the representation of Moslems in the legislative council and the opening to them of posts of some dignity filled from home.—London Spectator.

Rub it in, inhale it, wherever there is pain, rub on Nerviline, and you will get prompt results—50c at all dealers.

Canada At Geneva

Has Become Leader in Humanitarian and Idealistic Matters

The outstanding activity Lieut. Canada has displayed in League of Nations affairs in the past six months is rapidly putting the Dominion in the position of leader of the "Small Nations Group."

As a result of the absence of the United States from the league, Canada has become more or less a leader in humanitarian and idealistic matters. Her attitude on geographical makes her a natural arbiter when national ambitions, racial prejudices threaten international conflict.

The Canadian headquarters in Geneva, which are characterized as "the embassy of Canada's advocacy" to the League of Nations, is situated on what is now known as "Diplomatic Row."

Woman Making New Motor-Cycle Record

Averaged Sixty-eight Miles An Hour In Race Near Paris

Mrs. Stewart, wife of Lieutenant-Colonel R. H. Stewart, established a record for the 250 miles on a 2.46-h.p. motor-cycle at the Linas-Montlhery motor racing track, near Paris, accomplishing the distance in 3h. 53m. 25s.

The previous record was 3h. 56m. 25s.

Mrs. Stewart's average speed was over sixty-eight miles an hour.

Mrs. G. M. Stewart is the holder of the double twelve hours record at Brooklands, London, and was once described as a "frail little woman with bobbed hair." She served as an ambulance driver with the Russian army during the war.

One-Lump Car Is Menace

The Worlds of Empire

We are as a nation only dimly aware of the golden chances we possess of calling in those new worlds to redress the balance of the old. Let us have a vision. Let us realize that here is the true solution of our unemployment problem. Let the old country go to the aid of the new countries which are ready to feed its millions and to provide it with new markets for its merchants and its manufactures. Forget Europe! Remember the Empire!—London Daily Express.

The metric system originated in France about 1790.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 12

THE GOSPEL IN ANTIOCH OF PISIDIA

Golden Text: Behold, I have given him for a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander to the peoples. Isaiah 55:4.

Lesson: Acts 13:13-52.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 9:1-7.

The Text Explained and Illustrated

1.—The impression made by Paul's first preaching at Pisidian Antioch, verses 42, 43.—See the Historical Background.

As Paul and Barnabas went out of the synagogue, the people besought Paul to address them the following Sabbath. When the congregation was dismissed, many devout proselytes (God-fearing Gentiles—their presence in the synagogue gives evidence of the kindly feeling existing between Jews and Gentiles in this city), followed Paul and Barnabas, who urged them "to hold fast the measure of faith they already had, and to expect further divine favor by answering to their steadfastness."

II.—The jealousy of the Jews, verses 44, 45.—Paul must have been a most convincing speaker, for the next Sabbath almost the whole city had gathered to hear him. The sight of such a crowd filled the hearts of the Jews with jealousy, and they contradicted Paul's word and slandered the apostle.

Made Interesting Discovery

Students Find Wonderful Caves Among Yorkshire Hills

Two students spending their summer holidays among the Yorkshire hills happened to survey one morning the rugged slope of the great Ingleboro Mountain through their field glasses. They saw, half-hidden among the bracken, a narrow hole in the rock. They blasted away a couple of thousand tons of limestone, and in the heart of the mountain discovered a roaring river passing through crystal caves. In lofty chambers, curtained with stalactites of orange and white crystal, are cascades of clear water, which have splashed down for countless ages. At one point the river has formed a pool and forms a long subterranean lake. This portion is not yet opened up, but excavation is being carried on.

The largest turbine ever built recently was set up at Niagara Falls. In a year it can do the same amount of work as 9,000,000 men.

The Fort Saskatchewan tennis club is playing a friendly tournament with the Bon Accord club Saturday afternoon. Bon Accord is to be the scene of the conflict.

Dave Simmons has purchased a large and flourishing pool room and barber shop, with bowling alley in connection, at Wetaskiwin. He left this afternoon to attend to the final details in connection with the purchase.

W. Blyth, warden of the Lethbridge gaol, came back to the Fort Tuesday and Mrs. Blyth and family will return with him on Thursday. Their removal to the southern city is a distinct loss to the town and is universally regretted. We wish them the best of luck in their new sphere.

The Fort Saskatchewan Public School Board require all prospective non-resident pupils, whether for public or high school, to obtain permission from the Board before attending. All applications will be attended to at the regular meetings of the Board, which are held on the first Monday of each month.

Yorkville

Miss Hazel Walker and pupils have finished a very successful term of school. All of the pupils passed, even the little tots. Miss Walker also had a class of high school students. We wish them the same success. We are pleased to know Miss Walker has accepted for another year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Alf. and Miss E. Saville, and Miss Mary Kritze, of this district attended the Riley-Johnson silver wedding celebration at Tofield last week. All report a fine time.

The Misses Goldie and Eileen Robinson gave an informal party at their home July 1.

Mrs. G. W. Armstrong and children, accompanied by Mrs. Armstrong's brother, Sid Jolliffe, spent last week visiting with their mother at New Sarepta.

Mr. J. Kinsey, who underwent a serious operation in the General hospital, Edmonton, is progressing very nicely. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. R. Booker left last week for a short visit to the coast.

The pupils of the Yorkville school fortunate enough to win prizes were Miss Ruth Booker, Aletha Booker, Ione Booker and Ardith Robinson.

SIXTH CROP REPORT

Issued by Department of Agriculture, Government of Alberta, Edmonton, July 4, 1925

Warm weather accompanied by hot dry winds during the past week has made a distinct change in the crop situation over most of the province. The grain is still showing a healthy, vigorous growth but the stage has been reached where more rain will be needed within another week if actual damage and lessening of ultimate yield is not to be the result.

In a number of districts in the southern part of the province the hot weather and winds have already had a damaging effect on the wheat now headed out, the heads showing a shrunken condition that will mean a 25 per cent. decrease in the yield. In these districts the most that can be hoped for now is that the undamaged portions of the heads will fill.

Generally speaking the situation continues to be satisfactory. The wheat is rapidly coming into shot blade, and in some districts in the south the early wheat is already heading out. Fall rye is well advanced, and the first cutting of alfalfa is under way. Range and pasture conditions excellent, and the prospects are at present for plenty of feed. There is ample labour for present needs.

It becomes more apparent as the season advances that the first estimates of wheat acreage will suffer considerable revision when the final figures are available. The indications now are that there will be practically no increase in the general wheat acreage over the province, the addition to acreage in some districts being more than offset by the very large area withdrawn from wheat production in the south-eastern districts as a result of the removal of many farmers to other parts. These farmers for the most part have taken up farms already cultivated so that they will bring practically no new wheat acreage into calculation. The department of agriculture has moved a total of 900 families in the past two years, and it is estimated that twice as many more have moved of their own volition.

There is also to be considered the fact that a good deal of the area in the eastern central districts affected by worms has been re-seeded to other crops and withdrawn from the general wheat acreage.

No estimate of wheat yields is as yet being attempted, but the situation is being surveyed with the view of making an estimate shortly. Some districts expect record yields, while others which have suffered from wireworms and cutworms, and from the damaging effect of the hot, dry weather, will have considerably lowered yields.

Damage from hail has not been extensive as yet.

NOTE—Since the above report was issued rain has relieved the situation practically throughout the whole of southern Alberta. On Monday night from .25 to 1.00 inches of rain fell in different parts of the area requiring it most and has put a different aspect on the crop prospects in that region. —Editor.

DOUBLE SILVER WEDDING

A double silver wedding was celebrated at Tofield Thursday, July 2, the happy couples being Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hisey, Tofield, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Johnson, New Norway.

The celebrations were commenced in the afternoon in picnic form in the grounds of Mr. Hisey's farm, the time being pleasantly spent with races, baseball and other games. Supper was served on the lawn at tables erected for the purpose and about 175 guests sat down to the delightful repast set before them. The piece de resistance was the wedding cake which crowned the table, it being beautifully decorated with white, pink and silver icing, with the words "Twenty-fifth Anniversary" around the base. The cake was cut by Mrs. Hisey and Mrs. Johnson, who were supported, as they were twenty-five years ago, by their husbands. Rev. Mr. Wilson, Tofield, gave a short address and presented to each couple a purse of silver as a token of esteem from their numerous friends. Individual presents were also made to them during the day.

After supper the entertainment took the form of dancing on a specially made platform amid the trees. Lonnie Brun, orchestra supplied the music and the dancing was kept up till the early hours of the morning.

SALE OF GOVERNMENT HOUSE

Premier Greenfield has issued the following statement with respect to the resolution passed last session by the legislature recommending the sale of government house as a measure of economy:

"The resolution in reference to Government House passed by the legislature on March 20, made certain recommendations only regarding the future disposition of the property. Since that time the advisability or otherwise carrying out of the recommendations embodied in the resolution have been and are being carefully canvassed, and the government will be prepared to inform the legislature what course, in its judgment, should be followed in dealing with the recommendations of the resolution. In the meantime no disposition will be made of the property."

LORD BING GOES NORTH

Lord Bing, Governor-General of Canada, and Lady Bing, with official party, left Edmonton Monday for the northland and will make the round trip to Aklavik on the Arctic Ocean. Premier Greenfield of Alberta, who was to have been a member of the party, was not able to go on account of pressure of business.

CALGARY'S BIG JUBILEE

Total attendance at Calgary's big stampede and jubilee last week reached more than 150,000. Visitors from all parts of the continent were in attendance, including many special writers and motion picture men to record the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of Fort Calgary by the Mounted Police. A historical pageant more than five miles long was the opening feature of the jubilee.

MANY ELKS VISIT PROVINCE

Several special trains conveying Elks to the convention in Portland, Oregon, visited Edmonton during the past week, and were entertained to drives about the city and district. The weather was particularly fine while they were in the province during the past week was the especially conducted party of 110 teachers brought by the C.N.R.

BUFFALO BOY SCOUTS ON HIKE

The W. Ditz and Co. Ltd. store was broken into on Friday night, making the second time this store has been robbed within a week. It is reported that a large quantity of men's clothes and a trunk were stolen.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Lutheran church on Wednesday afternoon when Miss Edith Kupsel, of the Walker school staff, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward Redekopp. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a wide circle of friends. A reception was afterwards held at the home of the bride's parents, followed by a sumptuous repast and a dance in Rasich's hall. The happy couple left for motor for Calgary and Banff. On their return they will reside in Edmonton.

Miss Lloy Greenfield, accompanied by Mr. Bill Hurst, motored from Edmonton to attend the Redekopp-Kupsel wedding.

Miss McLaughlin of Edmonton has joined the staff of the Union Bank succeeding Miss Irene Groves.

Mr. Fred Hembleman was a visitor in Calgary during the stampede.

A serious accident occurred here Tuesday when R. Paul upset with a car in which he was driving. The steering wheel either crushed his chest or broke some of his ribs. N. Prochnau, who was with him, escaped with only a few bruises on his right arm. Paul was taken to the Lamont hospital. He had started driving his car, switched on the batteries. After he had gone a little way he reached down to switch it over to the magneto when the front wheels struck a stone and sent the car into the ditch.

AMERICAN WRITERS

American writers visiting the province at present include R. Burrett of the Chicago Daily News, who is writing a series of articles on farm life, and other interesting western topics. He is particularly interested in the co-operative marketing movement and secured considerable data on this in Alberta, which was the cradle of the wheat pool. Another visitor is Mrs. Hal Kane Clemmis of the Chicago Herald-Examiner.

MINERAL ADDITIONS TO THE GRAIN RATIONS OF HOGS

(Experimental Farms Note)

Some valuable information relative to the importance of adding mineral matter to the usual grain rations of hogs has been secured at the Agassiz Experimental Farm during the last two winters.

The mineral mixture used was composed of ground bone meal, 6 pounds; ground charcoal, 5 pounds; ground rock phosphate, 5 pounds; and salt, 2 pounds at a cost of 2.7 cents per pound. It was fed at the rate of 8 pounds to each 100 pounds of meal.

In order to test this material, a total of 64 pigs were divided into fourteen lots of six pigs each. In every ration where the mineral mixture was fed increased gains were secured. This applied not only when the usual trough-feeding method was followed, but also when self feeders were used and when the meal ration was supplemented with cooked potatoes. In one instance there was a profit of $7.85 in favor of the mineral ration.

An increase of six per cent. of mineral matter proved unsatisfactory and gave similar results to a ration supplemented with two per cent of rock phosphate.

When other mineral matter is not available, ordinary wood or coal ashes thrown on the floor give good results.

Another large gas well was brought in the past week in the Viking field east of Edmonton, with a production approaching ten million cubic feet daily. The well will be turned in with the others serving Edmonton.

PREMIER RETURNS FROM EAST

Premier Greenfield returned from Ottawa last week, following several weeks of negotiations with governmen and railway authorities with respect to the Ponce River railway situation, the natural resources question, etc.

Two definite offers in connection with the solution of the railway situation with respect to the disposition of the E.D. and B.C. line to Ponce River have been received, one from the C.P.R. and the other from the C.N.R. These are now being considered by the government, in conjunction with the Royal Bank, which has assumed the interests of the Union Bank in the railway line. The consent of this bank will be necessary to any deal which is made. Complete details of any plan decided on will be ready for the adjourned session of the legislature when it is called.

Foot troubles cause shoe troubles
Many people blame their shoes for wearing out sooner than they should. Their shoes will break down at the shank, the heels will run over, holes will wear through, the soles and other apparent defects quickly appear.
In nine cases out of ten, weak or broken-down arches or the foot is the cause of all such shoe troubles. Until the trouble must be overcome, then shoe trouble will disappear.
A Pedo-graph print tells why
In a few seconds' time, without removing the hose, we can make a photographic print on Dr. Scholl's Pedo-graph of your foot that positively shows if you do have foot troubles and if these foot troubles are responsible for your shoes wearing out sooner than you think they should.
This service is absolutely free. Don't make any difference whether you buy anywhere from us or not. Everybody is cordially invited to test out this wonderful machine. We are headquarters for good shoes and foot comfort. Our Foot Comfort Expert who can tell you why you have foot trouble and how to overcome it, is always at your service.

Canadian Trade Prospects

With the close of the first six months of 1925, financial and commercial publications in Canada have been taking stock of the business situation throughout the Dominion. The conclusions reached by them as the result of careful surveys is that present conditions are better and prospects for the immediate future more promising than for some years past. This is especially true in regard to agriculture, and, as the West has always contended, a betterment in the farming outlook has a direct beneficial effect on manufacturing and all business.

Although actual returns from the farms are probably maimal until the crops are harvested, and it is never safe to closely estimate yields of grain and field crops until they are finally removed from all vagaries of weather, plant diseases and pests, the fact remains that at the end of June the prospects throughout Canada, and especially in the Western Provinces, were better than for many years and, in the absence of widespread and extremely adverse conditions between harvest, the outlook is for one of the best and most profitable crops in ten years.

One financial paper in its annual review at the end of June states, on the basis of reports from all the Provinces, that the biggest increase in employment in two years has taken place, with the result that, except in the larger cities where the unemployed always congregate, there are few idle men. Manufacturing industries are busier than for years and in Ontario and Quebec real activity prevails with manufacturing near to capacity in several lines and some plants working overtime.

Record catches of fish on both the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards have taken immigration is increasing, the summer tourist traffic shows every indication of attaining a new high record, while the export trade of the Dominion continues to increase both in volume and value month by month. Building construction is likewise much greater than a year ago. Contracts let for buildings are smaller, but this is accounted for in two items, the smaller volume of last year's grain crop and reduction in the movement of coal resulting from the labor troubles in the mines. On the other hand, there is a substantial increase in car loadings of manufactured articles and general merchandise, while this year's grain crop promises to more than offset the reduced volume of a year ago.

One of the significant developments is the steadily rising volume and value of Canada's export trade. For some years now the Dominion Government has been quietly negotiating trade treaties with other countries. One of the latest was with Australia and already British Columbia is looking forward to and preparing for a big expansion in trade with that sister Dominion. Before this article appears in print it is expected that the terms of a new trade arrangement with the British West Indies will be announced, because such an event has been much as each and every one of these reciprocal agreements provides for the removal of artificial restrictions on trade through the lowering of customs duties and the wiping out of other obstacles to the free exchange of commodities, and are frequently accompanied by the provision of larger and improved facilities of communication and transport, the effect cannot be otherwise than to greatly enlarge Canada's markets abroad, and, as has been urged in this column, that is exactly what a young and producing country like Canada requires. Freer trade and wider markets are bound to bring about the Dominion's development leading to increased employment and production and resultant prosperity and growth in wealth.

A young country like Canada, with a comparatively small population, but huge resources and productive powers, and producing more than its own people can consume, and already possessing manufacturing and other industries with capacities for production far in excess of the needs of home population, stands in need, not so much of protection of that overflow home market, but the removal of obstacles in trade with the world. We cannot grow strong and wealthy by merely trading with ourselves; that is too much a case of trying to lift oneself by the boot straps. Strength and wealth will come through producing for sale abroad, thus bringing into Canada the wealth derived through the sale of our products abroad.

6,000 Miles of Roads

"The province of Quebec now has 6,000 miles of modern improved roads, including a complete system of main trunk highways and county or market roads, and a large number of local roads," says the Quebec official bulletin of the roads department. "These 6,000 miles of roads represent thirteen years of strenuous and sustained work. They cost, in construction, repair and maintenance, over $60,000,000."

The Canadian Arctic

The merest glance at the map, or better at a globe, shows that if commercial aviation fulfils the hopes of its promoters the great intercontinental air lanes will lie in the far north. Siberia and Alaska will both have great importance, and so will any island found further north, even if it is only big enough to provide a filling station and enough level ground for an airiner to alight and take off.—Springfield Republican.

How Germany Solves Housing Problem

Families Allotted Space According To Number Of Members

They have a speedy method of solving the housing problem in Germany, according to an English paper, which says:

"You have here a flat of eight rooms; you are three in family. You will live, in future, in three rooms. Another family will move in next week to occupy the other five rooms. Good morning."

What would a British (or Canadian) householder say if an official said such a thing to him, and if he knew that he could neither protest nor refuse?

That is what happens in Berlin every day. Next time we are inclined to grumble at hard conditions in our own country, it may help us to be more contented if we realize what the Germans put up with.

Rents are adjusted according to the number of rooms and the height of house or flat. Thus, the family using five rooms in an eight-roomed house—with the original tenant inhabiting the other three rooms—will pay five-eighths of the rental.

NATURE'S WARNINGS

Danger Signals That Everyone Should Take Seriously

Pale lips are a warning that something is wrong with the body. Indigestion, for instance, is characterized by pale lips, the skin often about the heart; rheumatism by pale nails, the lobes and joints; headaches are a sign that the system is clogged up with waste matter; in some ailments, such as anaemia, the lips become unnaturally pale. In case Nature's warning take the form of pallor, breathlessness after slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, loss of appetite. Whatever form Nature's warning may take, people will not ignore the fact that many diseases have their origin in poor blood, and that when the blood is enriched the trouble disappears. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are most helpful in such cases because they purify and build up the blood to its normal strength. In this way it tones up the nerves, relieves headaches and can truthfully say that my health is restored. When I began taking Milla I weighed 97 pounds and now I weigh 114. I feel that I owe my good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and hope other ailing people will give them a fair trial."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

World's Smallest Yacht

Soviet Denies Intrigues

Would Avoid Any Action Which Could Be Regarded As Intervention in China

Foreign Minister Tchitcherin has issued a statement declaring that while the sympathies of the Russians are on the side of the Chinese in their struggle for complete liberation from foreign domination, the Soviet Government's policy is to avoid any action which could be regarded as intervention in China's internal affairs.

The statement was prompted by attacks upon Soviet Russia in the English newspapers in connection with the present disorders in China. The foreign minister denies that Soviet Russia is carrying on intrigues in China against British trade or against foreigners in general.

You never can tell. Some people aim so high they never hit anything on earth.

New Livestock Organization

Animal Husbandry Men of Western Canada Form Association

Animal husbandry men of western Canada have formed themselves into an organization affiliated with the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists. The society has been formed for the purpose of co-ordinating and checking up the experimental work that is being carried on in the province and to see that a similar society will be formed in the east, and their work will be united through the C.S.T.A. In the meantime a provisional executive will take charge of the organization, and the first annual meeting will be held in Winnipeg next Christmas at the same time as the western agronomists convene.

The organization will include the Dominion experimental farm superintendents on the prairies, the animal husbandry men of the above mentioned provinces, the three livestock commissioners and one or two others who are doing a certain amount of investigational work, including C. M. Learmouth, superintendent of institutional farms for Saskatchewan, and G.-H. Hutton, of the C.P.R. agricultural department.

The provisional committee of the above organization includes: H. J. Thiesse, representing Manitoba; W. H. Gibson, representing Saskatchewan; F. H. Reed, Lacombe, secretary of Sackville, University of Alberta, is chairman.

Use Miller's Worm Powders and the battle against worms is won. These powders correct the normal conditions of the stomach which nourish worms, and these destructive parasites cannot exist after they come in contact with the medicine. The worms are speedily evacuated with other refuse from the bowels. Soundness is imparted to the organs and the health of the child steadily improves.

Brought Millions To Canada

Since the British cattle embargo was lifted on April 1, 1922, 183,000 head of cattle had been shipped to Great Britain up to May 31 last, and the estimated value to Canada of these exports is $14,135,710. This was stated in the commons in answer to a question.

The Professional Farmer

Farmer Must be a Specialist Highly Educated in His Business

That slack farming methods do not pay is generally accepted; but that slack farming methods are a waste of national assets and an injury to the landless population must be a creed of the future. Already there are abundant signs that the farmer must be scientifically trained in his business and understanding to the last point the natural forces which he calls into play. As much will take his place as a professional man—the most highly respected professional man of all.—Sydney Bulletin.

The latest title granted to the Prince is that of "Alleyist Diamond Digger." An official certificate entitling him to this honor was presented by the "Digger's Committee" of West Purkior. Assisting Agriculture By The Selection Of New And Better Varieties Of Wheat

About the year 1842, David Fife, farming in Otonabee, Canada west—now Ontario—procured from a friend in Glasgow, Scotland, some seed wheat, says The Saskatchewan Farmer. Mr. Fife did not know it, but this wheat had been part of a cargo from Russia, a Russian wheat, and grown in Scotland and of course unknown to Canada. Mr. Fife liked the looks of the wheat and sowed a large acreage from his first year's crop.

This wheat did so exceptionally well on Mr. Fife's farm that neighbors wanted some seed and called the wheat Fife wheat. Soon it was the staple variety all over Canada and in the northern states until Marquis, a daughter of Red Fife, pushed her parent off the wheat throne.

Red Fife, a farmer in the Saskatoon district, noticed a field of oats of some unnamed variety which seemed to him so much superior to the rest of the crop that he secured a small quantity of the seed and gave it to the University of Saskatchewan. Prof. Garnett is dead, but the Garnett oat, which outyields any oat grown on the university farm, will perpetuate Gerlach's memory and his public spirit.

These two men were farmers with the admirable point of view and the contribution they made to agriculture was very great, but there was something accidental and fortuitous about the way in which they became public benefactors.

At the University of Saskatchewan thousands upon thousands of crosses have been made with wheat for the purpose of developing, if possible, some variety that will be highly resistant to rust and will in addition, have the good qualities of Marquis and Garnett. Some crosses have been quite resistant to several strains of rust. This is not enough for the scientists who are in charge of this experiments. They keep on hoping for fresh strains of rust and if any are found which attack the new wheat it is rigidly and ruthlessly discarded unless it shows sufficient promise to be used in further crossing. Only one day either at the University of Saskatchewan or at some other university, a rust resistant wheat will be developed and the discovery of such a wheat will more than pay the country for all and more than all time it would take to run all our universities for the next hundred years.

Yellow Corn As Chick Food

Gives More Nutrition Than Any Other Grain

Meat and vitamins A, two factors required in chick nutrition, are present in yellow corn to a greater degree than in any of the grains commonly used. Hence yellow corn can be used extensively in chick feeding with every assurance of success. Oats, barley, wheat, white corn do not contain vitamins A in appreciable quantities, so that a ration considered to be the same class as yellow corn when used as chick feeds. A ration made up of eighty pounds of yellow corn meal, twenty pounds wheat middlings, five pounds raw bone meal, five pounds pearl grit, and one pound salt, stirred as a mash and fed dry from a hopper or pan, will give excellent results providing liberal quantities of alfalfa silt and clean fresh water are also supplied. Direct sunlight will complete it.

Long Service On Farms

Remarkable Records of Veteran Hired Man in England

A great crowd from all parts of Suffolk visited the country show at Saxmundham, Suffolk, England.

One of the most remarkable sights to be seen at any show in the annual array of add men who receive Suffolk Association's presentations for long service on the same farm. This year there were 14 with periods of service ranging from 50 to 65 years and 16 others with 40 to 50 years' service on the same farm.

John Marsh, who has been 65 years a laborer at Great Bradley Hall, Newmarket, was not well enough to travel, but Thomas Vincent, 62 years on H. S. Buck's farm, near Diss, was present and looked hale and hearty.

He has never been farther than Ipswich in his life. He is 78 years old, started work on the farm when driving sticks and doing odd jobs. He came by omnibus and part of the way afoot to present-day Diss.

Some of these old men have no aversion to the railroad. One, Elijah Read, a shepherd all his life, has for years on the farm of the Hollesley Bay Colony, and was entitled to a prolonged visit to London because of the train journey. He has been in a train only once in his 78 years.

Exports of Livestock Continue to Increase According to Statistics

Details of exports from Canada during the first five months of 1925 compared with the same period in 1924, announced by the Dominion live stock branch market returns: 29,547 cattle against 24,332; 4,911,000 lb. of beef against 14,562,200 lb.; 1,474,000 lb. of bacon against 41,460,700 lb.; 4,170,000 lb. of pork against 3,504,200 lb. and 102,800 lb. of mutton against a negligible quantity. The exports of calves took 9,350 cattle against 24,515, 28,- 050 calves against 11,021; 49,900 hogs against 1,771, 7,752 sheep against 1,- 158; 2,738,900 lb. of beef against 6,- 628,700 lb.; 539,200 lb. of bacon against 194,700 lb.; 2,454,500 lb. of pork against 554,000 lb.; and 42,900 lb. of mutton against 30,100 lb.

During the same months extending over two years the eggs treated by the "Guarantee" process, which consists in dipping them in a solution of water of wax and oil, graded much better than the untreated ones and had a decidedly better flavor. Other salient points brought out by the tests are that eggs should be stored with the small ends down, that they should be fresh as possible, that clean dry eggs keep better than either dirty or washed ones, and that they should be stored in clean flats and fillers.

Agriculture In Saskatchewan

Agricultural Products in 1924 Were Valued at $281,992,000

By far the largest industry in Saskatchewan, is agriculture, and in 1924 the products of agriculture in field and chowan were valued at $281,992,000. The production consisted of the following:—

Field Crops	$237,310,000
Farm animals	15,940,000
Wool	162,000
Dairy products	20,020,000
Fruits and vegetables	3,160,000
Poultry and eggs	5,274,000
Clover and grass seed	126,000

The gross agricultural wealth of the province in 1924 was $1,482,473,000, of which the principal items were: Lands, $977,642,000; buildings, $214,394,000; implements, $176,876,000; livestock, $181,548,000.

Grain Loadings Higher

Farmers are taking advantage of the slack spell following seeding to haul their grain, and loadings at country elevators along Canadian National lines have been climbing rapidly during the past few weeks. The week ending June 25 saw 1,320 cars, containing 1,361,000 bushels, loaded at C. N. points, and the week's markings amounted to 1,510,000 bushels, with 1,700,000 bushels still in store.

Manitoba Peony Farm

Fifteen Thousand Plants Growing On Six Acres of Land

Just north of Portage la Prairie is to be found one of the most beautiful spots in western Canada—the peony farm operated by Alex Wilson and his two sons. During the season for the cutting of these magnificent flowers, hundreds of carloads of people from Winnipeg and other parts of the province, who are aware of the existence of Mr. Wilson's grounds, visit the farm. Here is found a blaze of color—a blanket of bloom covering approximately six acres. It is 19 years since Mr. Wilson started the tiny root of peony on his land one mile north and one mile east of Portage.

Fifteen years ago, finding the peony thrived well on the plains, Mr. Wilson decided to devote more space to its cultivation. Today he has 15,000 plants from which he cuts thousands of blooms for the Winnipeg market daily. His shipments to the city, however, only represent part of the output of the farm, the blossoms going to all parts of the west. Starting with the old-fashioned variety of peony, on the farm today can be found scores of different types and colors, from the pure white to the deep red.

Mr. Wilson, although he has now developed a big business, is himself still as enthusiastic a horticulturist as in the days when he planted his first root, and delights in the fact that years on the farm of the Hollesley Bay Colony, and was entitled to a prolonged visit to London because of the train journey. He has been in a train only once in his 78 years.

Egg-Laying Contest

To Encourage and Improve the Breeding of Poultry

During the season of 1923-24 twelve egg-laying contests were conducted by the poultry division of the central experimental farm. A Canadian contest was held at Ottawa and the other eleven were provincial. These contests, which have been carried on since 1910, are intended to encourage and improve the breeding of poultry along lines of egg production, to provide reliable information for breeders and a medium of qualification for the registration of poultry. According to the 1924 report of the Dominion poultry husbandman the contests have brought about a remarkable improvement in the breeding of poultry and have done much to stabilize the industry in Canada. The increase in production between the first and fifth years of the contests is 52 eggs per bird. The report, which is distributed by the publications branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa, gives a detailed account of the 1923-24 contests in which 2,610 hens took part and laid an average of 182 eggs per hen. One bird in the Nova Scotia section laid 313 eggs in 52 weeks. Out of 1,985 birds laying 200 and over, 154 qualified for registration.

Reindeer Industry To Be Re-organized

Hudson's Bay Company Sending Scottie Man to Baffin Land

W. T. Lopp, until recently chief of the Alaskan division of the United States bureau of education, has been appointed by the Hudson's Bay Company to re-organize the reindeer industry in Baffin Land, northeastern Canada. He will spend a year in this service.

Lopp, who has left for his mission in the isolated Arctic area, will inspect the progress of a herd of 700 reindeer which was sent to Baffin Land four years ago by Hudson's Bay officials, on the suggestion of Stefansson, the explorer. The Scottie man will investigate the possibilities of establishing the deer industry on a firm basis to this far northern frontier.

Agriculture In Britain

Says the Farmer Must Rely On His Own Strong Right Arm

Premier Baldwin's recent declaration in agriculture that it should not look for any greatly increased assistance from the state, was put more plainly by Lord Medlicote, minister of agriculture, speaking in Lancashire, when he said: "If the agriculturists look to the government to perform wonders for their industry they will be bitterly disappointed. The most the government can do is to see that the agriculturists have a fair field."

The British farmer, he continued, would achieve his own salvation with his own strong right arm and would assume the government was out to provide him with artificial remedies.

Alberta Wheat Production

Average Yield For Thirteen Years Given As Nineteen Bushels to the Acre

A statement just published by the province of Alberta shows the remarkable advance which is being made in wheat production. In 1906 the Alberta wheat crop was less than six million bushels; in 1923 it was more than 144 million bushels. The figures for a number of years in this period are as follows:—

	Bushels
1906	5,922,000
1915	56,802,000
1919	56,586,000
1920	83,461,000
1923	144,834,000

The average yield of spring wheat for a period of thirteen years is given as nineteen bushels to the acre.

The natural resources intelligence service of the department of the interior at Ottawa, says:

Canadian weekly newspaper men have just concluded their annual convention at Winnipeg, and have discussed fully the many problems which the weekly newspaper has to meet. The weekly is undoubtedly very close to the hearts of its readers, and in locating a want that can be supplied from no other source. Particularly to this the case in many of our newer settlements, where the discovery of new mineral resources or the development of other is taking place. Many of what are today Canada's most prosperous towns and villages owe their inception to the opening up of mineral developments, such, for instance, as those in northern Ontario, while the exploitation of the forests or the harnessing of waterpowers has established settlements. In all the provinces of Canada the weekly newspaper has gone enterprising editors to establish newspapers to meet the needs of the settlement.

Development of natural resources has thus been the means of creating new and valuable fields for paper space. The protection of those natural resources thus naturally becomes of deep interest to the weekly publisher, as without these the settlement could not survive. Many villages and towns have as their principal support the forests of the surrounding country, and for their raw materials upon mineral resources, while the surrounding country will have increased the circulation field for the local paper. The weekly press is giving its support to the conservation of forests and other natural resources. In turn, therefore, the weekly newspaper is deserving of and should receive the support of the business interests and individuals of its local field.

Farming Operations In Manitoba Are Changing

Increase In Showing of Dairy Cows At Provincial Fair

Manitoba Provincial Fair at Brandon, shows a rapid increase in dairy cattle, sheep and swine this year that may be taken as indicative of the steady change that is taking place in the character of farming operations in the province.

Year after year the showing of dairy cattle has been on the upward trend and this year the exhibit of these classes was the best in the history of the fair.

Even though the fat breeds of the hogs were eliminated from the prize list the entries of other varieties was far in advance of those of 1924. The showing of sheep was so large that extra pens had to be erected to accommodate them.

Suitable For Sheep

East Kootenay Country, B.C. Especially Adapted For Industry

According to Arthur Meeres, of the Dominion livestock branch, the East Kootenay country of British Columbia is especially suited to sheep raising. Though at the present time there are only about 1,200 sheep in the district, many are arranging to increase their flocks. So far, little loss has been experienced from coyotes, and in many districts, have proved such a pest for sheep men. The breed chief ly favored is a cross between the Oxford and Shropshire, which makes a splendid dual purpose animal.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Warwick picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

And their own they made her in the end and at cost of nearly half their numbers. Driven to the quarter-deck, the cowering defenders, urged on by the infuriated Rivarol, maintained awhile their desperate resistance.

But in the end, Rivarol went down with a bullet in his head, and the French remnant, numbering scarcely a score of whole men, called for quarter.

Even then the labors of Blood's men were not at an end. The Blandish and the Medusa were tight locked, and Hagthorpe's followers were being driven back across their own ship by the second time. Prompt measures were demanded. While Pitt and his remnant bore their part with the sails, and Ogle went below with a gun-crew, Blood ordered the grapnels to be loosened at once. Lord Willoughby and the Admiral were already aboard the Victorieuse. As they swung off to the rescue of Hagthorpe, Blood, from the quarter-deck of the conquered vessel, looked his last upon the ship that had served him so well. A moment's regret after her release, then slowly and gradually settled down the water gurgling and ribbling about her topmasts, all that remained visible to mark the spot where she had met her death. As he stood there above the ghastly shambles in the waist of the Victorieuse [illegible] beside him, "Captain Blood" once more have I seen the impossible made possible by resource and valor, or victory so gallantly snatched from defeat."

He turned, and re-raised to Lord Willoughby a formidable frame. His head-piece was gone, his breastplate dented, his sleeve a rag hanging from his shoulder about a naked arm. He was splashed from head to foot with blood. There was blood upon his scalp wound that he had taken in starting his hair and matting with the grime of powder on his face to render him unrecognizable.

But from that horrible mask two vivid eyes looked out preternaturally bright, and from those eyes two tears had ploughed each a furrow through the filth of his cheeks.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

His Excellency the Governor

It was not until the evening of the following day that van der Kuyler's vessel, one of nine ships came in anchor in the harbor of Port Royal, and his officers, Dutch and English, were made acquainted with their admiral's true opinion of their worth.

"Ho!" he said. "Very terrible!" My lord wheeled forcibly upon Captain Blood.

"If you wish your past forgotten and your future assured, this is your chance. Your only chance here, at least for as long as the war lasts. When the wife's over, you may get back to Jamaica and raise cane or native Ireland and Its pothers, but until then you'll make the best of Jamaica, sah."

Van der Kuyler explained into laughter. Sir Hilliard remained not-ress to the point of gruffness. His thoughts were on Miss Bishop, who was somewhere here in this very house in which they stood, but whom he had not seen since his arrival. Had she but shown him some compassion . . .

And then the ranging voice of Willoughby cut in again, upbraiding him for his hesitation, pointing out to him his incredible stupidity in trifling with such a golden opportunity of this, his sufficient and bowed.

"My lord, you are in the right. It shall be as you wish; and very gratefully, let me assure your lordship. I shall know how to earn his majesty's approbation, and may depend upon my loyal services."

Thus it was settled. Blood's commission was made out and sealed in the presence of Mallard, the commandant.

"We sail tomorrow morning," his lordship announced. Blood was startled.

"And Colonel Bishop?" he asked.

"He becomes your affair. You are now the Governor. You will deal with him as you think proper on his return. Hang him on his own yardarm. He deserves it."

"Isn't that trifle invidious?" wondered Blood.

"Very well. I'll leave a hotter for him. I hope he'll like it."

Captain Blood took up his duties at once. With the sanction of Lord Willoughby he marshalled his hor-ses and ordered—to them one fifth of the captured treasure, leaving to their elders themselves either to the part to enrol themselves in the service o. King Wallace.

A scene of them elected to remain—and among these was Jeremy Ogle and Dyke, whose customary, jibe Blood's, he came to an end with the command of King Jame.

[illegible] saying old Wolverstone who had been left behind at Cartagena the only survivors of that band of rebels of conflict who had so thunderously over three years ago in the Three Lions.

On the following morning, gibbs and her Majesty's fleet was making finally ready for sea. Blood sat in the spacious wainscoted room that was the Governor's study at the house of Mallard brought him word that Bishop's homeward squadron was in sight.

"I am glad he owes before Lord Willoughby's departure. The orders, then, may be in the Dyke and Jeremy hour. Alfred W. McCann, justifiable terms white bread "a foodless food" and the boiling of vegetables, almost all of their priceless mineral salts. All vegetables which require cooking should be cooked by steaming. Cooking ers or steamers of tubing, makes can be bought which allow vegetables to be cooked without loss of salts. Such steamers are reasonable in price, save fuel and space, as several saucepans are fitted one above the other—1 pudding 1 potatoes, 3 vegetables or roots, 4 meat, poultry or fish.

Excessive consumption of white sugar and all forms of preserved fruits and starchy foods produce such maladies as catarrh, hay-fever, asthma, rheumatism, arthritis, heart disease, etc., the body no longer retaining its normal alkalinity of the blood and the nature of the ensuing disease largely depends on the inherited tendencies of the subject

Originally endowed with sound constitutions, men and women may, with apparent impunity, defy Nature's laws and requirements regarding their diet for years, but, for such defiance, Nature will sooner or later exact commensurate penalties

Only in recent years has the subject of correct rational diet occupied civilized public attention, but with the knowledge comes obtainable assurance that this vitally important matter, it has now literally becomes your option to forthwith commence making long over restitution to your body to look forward to such physical poise and possibles as will be demanded by Nature for your past neglect before your premature death terminates the delightful life which still belongs to you if you wish to retain enjoyment of your most valuable possession. The fact that the uncivilized races, which live entirely apart from contact with almost all the fashionable, but never-theless fatal, diseases of civilization, are the truth of the statement that the further we depart from Nature's inviolable laws regarding our food, the quicker we create trouble and discomforts in the form of ailments diseases naturally resulting from our insistence upon refinement and sophisticated cooking. 1620 A.D., George Herbert made a statement which has not yet been contradicted: "Whatsoever was the father of the disease,

An ill diet was the mother."

Hoping that mental digestion of these lines may result in greatly improved health and happiness of their readers. Your sincerely,

Empire's Finest Baby

Calgary Mother and Baby Awarded First Prize at Wembley

The champion mother and baby in the empire are Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Malins, of Calgary, Alta., and John Duncan Hamish Macdonald Malins, of Calgary, Alta., and John Duncan Hamish Macdonald Announcement of Mrs. Macdonald and her child winning the first prize was made at Wembley recently.

The first prize in the competition which has been won by Mrs. Marlboro and with her baby she was in possession

RED HOT JULY DAYS HARD ON THE BABY

July—the month of oppressive heat; red hot days and sweltering nights, is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentry, colic and cholera infantum carry off thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they come on suddenly to fight them with quick action. It is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent summer complaint, or if the trouble does come on suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRADE PACT IS NOW CONCLUDED WITH WEST INDIES

Ottawa Improved steamship service and direct tariff preferences are the features of the Canada British West Indies trade agreement, the full text of which was made public. The agreement, which is subject to the ratification of the Parliament of Canada, the colonial office and the governments of the other contracting parties, is for a period of 12 years, and will come into effect upon proclamation

Canada, under the agreement, extends tariff preferences on bananas, cocoa beans, lime juice, limes, arrowroot, cocoanuts, grape fruit, rum, onions, raw cane sugar, coffee, pimento and other spices, molasses, raw sugar, matting, pineapples and sugar, matting, pineapples and sugar matting sponge, angostura bitters. All goods other than tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and petroleum and its products, being produced or manufactured in any of the colonies mentioned, when imported into Canada shall not, at any time, be subject to a tariff more than 10 per cent. of the duties imposed on similar goods under the British tariff. Goods from Canada, Jamaica, The Bahamas, British Honduras, Barbados, Trinidad and Tobago, British Guiana and Bermuda, are to be admitted free of duty.

Trying To Sell Government House

Alberta So Far Has Not Received Any Offers

Edmonton—What is to be done about selling or keeping Government House is to be the subject of a report to the next session of the legislature when it is complete on a date yet to be definitely fixed.

The government is now looking into the matter and Premier Greenfield, who was in the east when the invitation was issued to real estate deal-ers to make or give offers for the property, says this action is intended to carry out the wishes of the legislature by ascertaining what the chances are for a sale.

So far no offers have been received

Britain Reducing Dole

Negus New Government Bill Will Be Aid to Emigration

London.—Unemployment to be a rat of six and a half million pounds in the unemployment dole under the new government bill and labor is furious-ly attacking the government. The minister of labor under this measure will regain his power of discretion to allow or disallow benefit already extended, by which it is hoped to check the scandalous abuses and the glaring cases of married women drawing the dole and yet being unwilling to work

The effect of the bill will be to reduce the number of men and women on the dole and to encourage emigration, which is today being seriously handicapped under the dole system

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1925

A petition, signed by seventeen of all walks of life in the town, was presented to the deputy mayor last Saturday requesting that all places of business close Wednesday to enable all those desiring to do so to attend the Edmonton exhibition. As it has been customary for the past fourteen or fifteen years to observe Citizens Day as a holiday, the deputy mayor readily gave his sanction and a holiday was declared by him. Edmonton exhibition benefitted by some hundreds of dollars through the granting of a half holiday to the Fort residents who otherwise would have undoubtedly attended and we dare say that said Fort residents consider the granting of a holiday a privilege rather than a nickel by any means around the stores.

BASEBALL NOTES

Below we publish the table of the Fort North and District league, including games played up to and inclusive of July 5, 8. With two-thirds of the schedule completed, the championship is a very open affair, the leaders being practically equal to everything. Even the 8 th one in the cellar is not out of the fight by a long shot who on a row for the rest, a couple of defeats for any of the higher placed clubs would materially alter the relative standings. Now for the results of each game will be eagerly watched by the fans and with such a tight race, large crowds will doubtless be the rule at every game.

Compared with last year we find that the two clubs which fought it the play-off, this year occupy the cellar position, one being very comfortably ensconced in the subterranean depths Partridge Hill has climbed considerably and are joint occupants of the top berth. Gibbons also show an improvement, whilst the new-comers, Bon Accord, are making a vastly better showing than their predecessors, Pleasant View. The Fort club is maintaining consistently a position at or near the top, as they did last year.

TABLE

	Won	Lost	Percentage
Fort Saskh.	4	2	.666
Part. Hill	4	2	.666
Bon Accord	3	2	.600
Gibbons	3	3	.500
Bremner	3	4	.429
Yorkville	2	5	.286

The game played July 3 between Fort and Bon Accord, which resulted in a tie, is not included in the above table.

Pollo Turner's fielding in the Bremner game was a million per cent better than he has been giving us. A continuation of this will make a vast difference to his side. We look for it.

There was one player on the Fort team who effectually proved that he is NOT suffering from love-sickness We don't wish to mention any names, but the first-base position was exceedingly well looked after. Was the inspiration coming from another source?

The finish of the game was close and Fort fans, after two runs came

A Wonderland for Children at Wembley

Viscount Jellicoe, former Admiral of the British Navy during the Great War, shaking hands with Sir George McLaren Brown, European General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, at the miniature Banff Station and seated on the miniature C.P.R. train which takes travellers around Treasure Island. Viscount Jellicoe is remarking "This is another of the great things the Canadian Pacific Railway is doing and I am sure that the Canadian Pacific trains are going to prove in conjunction with the wonders of Treasure Island one of the dreams, cards of the (Wembley) Exhibition". The engine which draws this train is a replica of engine No. 2300. The Island is intended most of all to delight children who obtain views of a sandy beach on which Robinson Crusoe and Man Friday disport themselves. There, too, the children dig to the hearts' content, and there are caves and Nash's Arts with chains of mining animals, pirates and seventeenth century ships characters out of fiction such as Pan and Wendy Long John Silver and Jim Hawkins, Tweedledum and Tweedledee. The train passes through the fairy-magic tunnel and winds in and out of the Canadian Rockies through the Great Divide. There are realistic scenes of Banff and Lake Louise and a park of wild animals while from the sands the children climb by pony tracks to the summits of many peaks in the Canadian Pacific Rockies.

Yacht Has Been Fitted Out For Trip To Labrador

Bound for Labrador a yacht of 84 tons, only 99 ft. long, named Strathcona II., anchored Southampton from quarantine and later set sail for St. Johns Newfoundland. She carries medical supplies and other necessaries to deep-sea fishermen along 600 miles of the coast. Captain A. R. T. Kirby, her commander, who was wounded at Zeebrugge stated that the yacht had been fitted out for Dr. W. T. Grenfell by the Royal National Mission to Deep-sea Fishermen. Dr. Grenfell would join the yacht at St. Johns as medical chief of the expedition. It is planned to establish medical stations and to attend to the needs of the community and also to obtain information as to navigation in the creeks and to make a survey of the northeast river, where nobody has ever been. The party may be away two years.

Livestock Loss Prevention Association Formed in Ohio

With the hope of saving some of the millions of dollars of loss sustained from injury to stock in transit, the farmers, feeders and shippers of livestock in this have formed a Livestock Loss Prevention Association. At least 50 per cent of such losses are preventable, according to officials of the new organization, and the responsibility is about evenly divided between producers and the railways. Rough handling, both in the matter of loading and in the cars, is noted as a serious item.

Excellent for Croupy Children.—When a child is suffering with croup it is a good plan to use Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It reduces the inflammation and loosens the phlegm, giving speedy relief to the little sufferer. It is equally reliable for sore throat and chest, earache, rheumatic pains, cuts, bruises and sprains. Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil is regarded by many thousands as an indispensable of the family medicine chest.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 19

THE GOSPEL IN LYSTRA

Golden Text: Blessed are they that have been persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Matthew 5:10.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 46:1-7.

The Text Explained and Illustrated

I. A cripple made to walk, verses 8-10. Teeth being no advantage at Lystra, Paul began by preaching in the open air. Near him was a man cripple from birth, probably like the cripple whom Peter restored, he sat begging for his accustomed alms. Paul noticed the cripple's eager attention in his preaching, and that the man had faith to be made whole. He said to him "Stand upright on thy feet" and the man sprang up and walked. He was able to do. Compare Christ's words to the man with the palsied arm—"Stretch forth thy hand". The impossible happened in both cases, the cripple leaped up and walked.

II. The people seek to worship Paul and Barnabas, verses 11-13.—Seeing the miracle wrought, the people were so amazed that they cried out in the speech of their province (Lycaonia): "The gods are come down to us in the likeness of men." Egyptians and Greeks believed that the gods often assumed human bodies and visited the earth to reward the good and punish the evil. Homer, Virgil and Ovid record many such visits. Cowper translates a passage from Homer thus—

Pan, in similitude of strangers, oft
The grots, who ran with ease all shapes assume,
Repair to populous cities, where they mark
The contrasts reside, and the righteous deeds of men.

A special legend of the coming of Jupiter and Mercury to this very region (see the second topic) made it natural for the people to call one of the apostles Jupiter and the other Mercury.

Education and Ability

Education is Limited by the Material On Which it Has to Work

Education does not produce mind. But it is the mind on which education works—a truth which is often forgotten by those who have set up the Bible as god of efficiency and utilitarian ideals. Even the educational idea No amount of education will stuff knowledge and ideas into a mind that is incapable of receiving them. Education works no miracles or feats of magic; it is strictly limited and conditioned by the material it has to work on.—Cape Argus.

Premier of Ireland Attend Dinner Given in London

Prominent men from both north and south Ireland attended a dinner recently at the Irish Club in London, the affair developing into one of cordiality and great harmony.

Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, was absent, having to the death of his brother, and William T. Cosgrave, president of the Free State executive council, was unable to attend, but the guests included Timothy Healy, governor-general of the Free State, and the Duke of York.

The latter, eulogizing T. P. O'Connor, veteran Nationalist member of the British Parliament, raised a laugh by saying that the only complaint heard about him was that he was willing to do everything for Ireland except live there.

Governor Healy landed the part King George had taken in the Irish settlement, saying:

"The turmoil and stress which used to prevail in South Ireland as wrung His Majesty's heart that but for him no approach to a truce or settlement would have been possible."

Alberta Man Has Invented Machine For Extracting Oil

The tar of Alberta tar sands for street paving will now be possible on a large scale as a result of a machine invented by Thos. Draper, president of the McMurray Asphaltum and Oil Limited, Waterways, Alta. The machine, according to Mr. Draper, has stood up to all that was expected of it in tests, made at Petrolia with tar sands brought from Waterways for the purpose.

The machine is built to serve the double purpose of being used for street paving and also for the extraction of the oils from the sands.

across for Brenner in the last frame, with the tieing run in sight, heaved a sigh of relief.

Diamond got himself out of several holes, notably once when Brenner had runners on second and third and none out. A double play helped greatly to relieve the situation.

Ellis Graham, through no fault of judgment, was badly fooled on a hit which hit the ground and went off at a tangent when Ellis seemed to have it safely gathered in.

Wonder if the fans who thought the Brenner runner was out because he had picked up the sack from the third-base position and was on his road to the home plate when put out, would have wanted to count a run if he had carried the sack all the way home?

Earlier in the season we earnestly urged fans to refrain from encroaching too near the foul lines, pointing out that a missed "fly" might easily affect the result of a game. This nearly happened in the Fort-Brenner game, Rowland being unable to reach a foul fly which would have been a sure put-out, owing to a number of fans being in his path. We are sorry no fan wishes to interfere with the play, over-eagerness being the cause of their thoughtlessness and we would again urge them to give ample room for the players to reach "fouls." Any fan who could get within 200 feet of the foul lines at a big league park, would consider he was wonderfully lucky to get such a close-up view. At the same distance in any of the local league parks they would see just as well.

One prominent member of the Fort team was suffering from a "hangover." It hung over the home plate.

With one gaping hole in the field plugged and with steady practice, the local boys should assure the championship.

Here and There

Conditions in the fruit areas of British Columbia are reported as satisfactory. Strawberries have been good and the trees are healthy.

According to recent reports general conditions in the Maritime Provinces are normal. Potato seeding is about complete. Trees in the Annapolis fruit districts are in good shape and estimates point to a normal crop.

A consignment of lumber from South Westminster, B.C., arrived recently on Darrell, Quebec, on the Canadian Pacific lines, consisting of twenty-nine logs of Douglas Fir, some of the British Empire Service League at Ottawa.

"Western Canada has never had better crop prospects than which exist now," stated Ernest G Cook, of E. Cook, Ltd., Crop Insurance Co., of Moose Jaw, Sask., who recently spent two weeks at Banff, after touring the West and studying crop conditions.

According to "Agricultural and Industrial Progress in Canada" the Department of Trade and Commerce has issued the following comparative statement for 1924 and 1925 trade in the Dominion:—

Total trade	$1,262,180,164	$1,378,294,180
Imports	620,266,577	796,932,537
Exports	1,056,763,297	1,281,361,643
Fav. Bal.	185,256,430	284,428,106

According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics the annual consumption of standing timber for use, amounts to about 3 billion 600 cubic feet. The loss by fire, insect and fungi about double this depletion, and it is estimated that Canadian forests are depleted at the rate of upwards of five and a half billion cubic feet per annum.

For the first time in the history of Canada upwards of three thousand reindeer from the four western provinces and Montana journeyed to McLeod, Alberta, early in July, and held an all Indian celebration and formed a line of plains Indians. Five thousand white people attended the ceremony and watched the Indians stage their spectacular mounted war-dance.

Deep gratification is felt in Canadian Pacific Railway circles over the receipt of the following cablegram sent to President E. W. Beatty by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales:—"Ubersam, South Africa, July 2nd.—Have just heard of Mr. Heward's death. Please convey to relatives my deepest sympathy. (Signed) Edward P." The late Mr. W. B. Heward was twice in charge of the Prince of Wales' train when His Royal Highness travelled over Canadian Pacific lines.

For the second time in the history of the newsprint industry, Canadian output has run ahead of that of the United States. During the month of May Canada produced 139,013 tons of newsprint, as compared with 130,226 tons in the United States. The cumulative production of Canadian mills for the first five months of the current year totals 623,295, which favorably compares with a production of 622,964 in the United States during the same period.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

The country newspaper is considered by good authorities as the most valuable of all advertising mediums. Its relations with its readers are intimate and strong. While the metropolitan daily is hastily read by hurried people, the country paper is usually read thoroughly and more than once, and its topics are of more vital interest to its readers.—The Country Merchant.

Men's clothes may be more specific, but women are not crazy enough to wear coats in July.

BON ACCORD DEFEATS FORT IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Fort Saskatchewan tennis club went down to defeat in their tournament with Bon Accord last Saturday.

Marred somewhat by the strong wind the games were for the most part won and lost by a small margin, Bon Accord having at the end of the afternoon's play 21 points to their credit, and the Fort 20.

Many of the members of the Fort club are away on their holidays and it was unfortunate that they missed the day's pleasure and the renowned hospitality of the Bon Accord club. They always treat their visitors in a way which makes it a pleasure to return and the annual trip to Bon Accord is looked upon by the Fort players as one of the treats of the season.

Bon Accord will play a return tournament at the Fort in the near future and it is the hope of the local club to give them stiffer opposition in the games and a right good time in every way.

CATHOLIC PRIMATE PASSES

His Eminence Cardinal Louis Nazaire Begin, archbishop of Quebec and primate of the Roman Catholic church in Canada, died early Sunday in the archbishop's palace of uremia, with which disease he was stricken a week ago Sunday night. The body lies in state in the chapel of his residence, from where it will be taken to the Basilica and remain until Saturday morning, when his ashes will be interred in the crypt alongside the remains of other archbishops of Quebec.

Cardinal Begin was overcome on his return from St. Nazaire a week ago Sunday. He made a gallant fight against death and on Friday evening reports were given from the palace were of a hopeful nature, but Saturday late, who was 85 years old, suffered a relapse on Saturday morning and sank rapidly thereafter. His eminence was conscious to the end, and died peacefully. It was due only to his remarkable constitution that Cardinal Begin did not succumb with the illness that had overtaken him.

EDMONTON BREWING AND MALTING CO. INSTALLS A NEW BOTTLING UNIT

In order to be able to absolutely guarantee that Yellowhead beer reaches the consumer in the same pure condition in which it leaves the storage tanks, The Edmonton Brewing and Malting Co. Ltd. has just installed a new bottling unit that renders it unnecessary for either the beer or the bottles to be touched by the human hand at any stage of the bottling operations.

The unit consists of a bottle washing and washing machine, bottle filler, crowning or "capping" machine, pasteurizer, and labeller. The bottle washing machine is amazingly efficient, and imparts a new meaning to the word "cleanliness." Each bottle is subjected to no less than forty cleansing operations, comprising flushings with an antiseptic solution, thorough brushings so as to eliminate every particle of foreign matter, and finally six complete rinsings with pure water. Afterwards the bottles, sparklingly clean, are automatically "dumped" on to a travelling conveyor, which takes them to the beer-filling machine, operated by compressed air, and thence to the crowning machine, which 'caps' them with wonderful precision.

Through all these operations the bottles do not come in contact with the human hand. At the rate of about ninety a minute, the bottles glide smoothly from one machine to another, without a hitch of any kind, just as if they were equipped with a human sense of direction and intention.

After the bottles are "capped," they are subjected to the intense heat of a pasteurizing machine, to destroy all harmful germs and ensure the "keeping" quality of the beer. The final operation is by the labelling machine, where almost human devices take a pasted label, clamp it on the bottle, and then project the bottle through flexible rubber "gates," which securely press the label into proper position. Nothing is left undone to maintain the utmost possible objective of purity, and to substantiate the claim of the manufacturers that Yellowhead is "brewed and bottled as a beer should be."

We get to know some of the news, but not as much as we would like. Phone your news to 88, or write and address it to The Record.

An Empire Problem

Conditions throughout Canada have been steadily improving for several months past and present prospects are for a continuance of that most desirable state of affairs. Industrial activity is increasing and the number of unemployed is smaller than for some years, and the prospective harvest gives promise of requiring the labor of every available man, and that the railways will be busy and fully staffed throughout the Fall and Winter months in handling the resultant traffic. Merchandising is still rather slow because people have learned from past bitter experience not to count their chickens before they are hatched. Manufacturers are, however, gradually increasing their output in anticipation of substantially increased business.

The general upward trend is indicated by an increase of five million dollars in the first six months of the year in the construction of new residences and of four million dollars in industrial buildings. Private pay-rolls are also up and of mortgage loans, both as to principal and interest, are other signs of the betterment taking place.

There has been talk of Saskatchewan and advocacy of half-baked communistic ideas and a more general appreciation of the fact that in this age, as in all past ages, only by and through work on the part of each individual, and the community as a whole, can problems be solved and progress and prosperity be achieved.

The desire for a larger influx of immigrants, especially from the British Isles, is still heard in many quarters based on the now well accepted fallacy that one of Canada's greatest needs is population. But while the actual need is permanent in Canada, it is not so in Great Britain. Ordinarily, it would be thought that this would result in that larger immigration which is desired, but actually the reverse is true.

During the war when it became vital to the Empire's security and the winning of the war to speed up production to the maximum, notwithstanding the absence of millions of men under arms, improved machinery and labor saving devices and methods of all kinds came into practical use, with the result that production was enormously increased. Today a large volume of production can be maintained with a smaller number of workers than the last un-employed in the British Isles number 1,291,000, or more than a quarter of a million more than in June, 1914. When the families dependent on those men are taken into consideration, it will be realized what a large percentage of the people are without a fixed means of livelihood.

To meet this situation a system of doles was established and has been in effect for some years now. The unfortunate recipients has been that some of thousands of people are now content to live in idleness on what the doles rather than accept work when it is offered, while those who are working, and paying heavy taxes to provide these doles, are asking why they should labor hard to support those others in idleness. In a word, the dole system is breaking the morale of the people.

Observers and close students of conditions in Britain find that this dole system is discouraging thousands from immigrating. They prefer to accept the dole, and do nothing, rather than face the possibilities in a new land and the absolute necessity of hard work under new and untried conditions.

Several Britain is over-populated and becoming more so. There is not work for all and no present prospect of it. Industry is burdened in carrying large staffs of employees now than are actually needed, and, faced with fierce competition from other countries, and carrying a huge burden of war debt, the outlook is not bright. Unfortunately, too, owing to this lowered morale, a percentage of those who do immigrate do not display the necessary stamina to succeed here and write letters home picturing conditions here as worse than in Britain and stating they wished they had not emigrated.

And all the while Canada needs population and, in the desire of our people that it shall be, as far as possible, British-born, is imposing severe restrictions on the entry of people from other lands, while waiting and hoping for the British people who will not venture, but prefer to idle at home and live on doles which sooner or later must end or bankrupt the country.

It is a real Empire problem. Canada does not want idlers and will not welcome them. The Dominion requires workers, and to those able and willing to work a cordial reception will be extended and for them there is every prospect of success. In fact it is assured to the extent that nothing can be assured But this country will never establish a dole system. The unfortunate through sickness or accident will be cared for, but the I.W.W.s, no matter what their nationality, will not be tolerated and will have to shift for themselves if they come to this country.

England's Corn King Dead

Aged Auctioneer Had Handled Many Historic Relics

Mr Henry Stevens, of Stevens Auction Rooms, King Street, Covent Garden, London, who was probably the oldest practising auctioneer in England, died at Addlestone, Surrey, at the age of eighty-two.

President Kruger's hat and King Charles' waistcoat were among the many curiosities that came under his hammer

Mr Stevens had sold every commodity else thing in his time, from an elephant to an egg—a Roc's egg. He sold the late Lord Derby's great menagerie of more than 1,500 animals and birds, the death mask of Napoleon, a piece of Queen Victoria's wedding cake, the spear that killed General Gordon, and one or two Turpin's pistols.

He sold twenty-four out of the known seventy-five nuns' eggs in the world, one of which was a fossil egg. An all black cabbage butterfly was disposed of for £22

Mr Stevens saw the Duke of Wellington's funeral passing along the Strand on its way to St Paul's, and also saw the Jubilee and Thackeray, who would visit the auction rooms on their way to the Garrick Club

WORRIES IN THE HOME

It is These That Cause Many a Breakdown in Health

Almost every woman has had the dread of a home means daily with little worries for her household duties. They may be too small to excite an hour after hour, week in and week out, and at last they break down the health of so many women. Their effect may be noticed in nervous headaches, feble appetite, indigestion, pains in the side or back, and a sallow complexion. To those afflicted in this way Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, by improving and purifying the blood, bring speedy relief. Among thousands of such women who have tested and proved this truth is Mrs. Gustave Hutt, Mrs. Gustave Hutt, Bruzzile, Man., who says:—"It is with profound thanks that I write to tell you what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. For a number of years I felt that I was weak, and my blood thin and watery. I had frequent headaches and like a sickness. I was troubled with heartburn and indigestion, did not sleep well, and was terribly constipated. I wrote to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I soon found that they were just what I needed. Under their use I was rapidly improving and food digested properly, and I slept better at night, and felt that I was well in strength. The result is that now I am a perfectly healthy woman, and there is no doubt that it is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a supply of which I now always keep in the house, and I would advise other women to do the same."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An Interesting Ceremony

Unveil Calgary Cairn Commemorating Arrival of R.N.W.M.P. in 1875

The jubilee celebration of the founding of the city of Calgary on the arrival of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, was marked by the unveiling of a cairn in Central Park to commemorated the arrival of F Troop, of the Mounties, and Inspector Brisbois, in October, 1875. The cairn bears the Union Jack, and it was drawn aside by Sir Cecil Denney, only surviving member of the troop.

Judge Howay, New Westminster, B.C., represented the historic sites and monuments board of Canada at the ceremony. The board presented the cairn to the city.

"Good brick is as greatly to be desired by a community as by an individual, and no city has had a better birth than Calgary, founded by the Royal Northwest Mounted Police," he said.

Business and the Crops

With Good Prices For Wheat This Fall Conditions Should Improve

The likelihood of a large crop has given rise to an optimistic spirit in western Canada Recent reports on the crop have been generally favorable. The bumper crop of 1928, which produced some 453,000,000 bushels, was worth only $293,163,000, while the 1924 crop of 235,694,000 bushels was worth $282,831,000. It is some what difficult at this time to tell how the price of wheat will go this fall. Nothing definite has been known as yet regarding the crop of the United States or other exporting countries. but in the event of an average world supply, the price should be better than that of 1923

KING OSCAR SARDINES

Farmers Of Western Canada Should Give Attention To The Question Of Soil Conservation

In the vast fertile plains of western Canada a Munificent God has given us a glorious heritage, says the Moose Jaw Times So abundant is it, and so easy of access, its great importance and value to us is very often overlooked. Like so many other blessings, we fail to realize the fact that soon to all they have departed from us, leaving nothing but regrets at their loss and all the more bitter because we knew that for the most part their return is impossible.

If we will read about, or, better still if we could travel to other lands and see what the agriculturist has to do ere he can hope for returns, we might appreciate and realize what a wonderful mine of wealth we hold in our prairie soil Instead of being held responsible, as so many of our farmers are, taking all they can get and giving nothing in return, we would do all we possibly could to keep our re serve built up

The world is now pretty well discovered, and there are no more real areas to go in to possess, as that we must look to what we have to sustain us and contribute to the world's demands for future years. We cannot hope any longer to fold our tents to pitch them again on another fertile plain to be cultivated and exhausted of its fertility. No, we must conserve our soil values in order that we may continue to have fair returns for our labors, to supply mankind and save the race from famine

The United States, comparatively only a new country, is already barely an exporting country of grains The cause of this may be learned from one writer who says: "There is a steady march of abandoned farms from the Atlantic seaboard west. It is almost appalling to see the increasing number of abandoned farms that once produced good crops. The fertility of the soil is gone and it cannot now produce sufficient crops to pay for cultivation." This condition, says the writer, has become widespread in the east. In 1879 the Atlantic States, which produced some 152,000,000 bushels, was worth only $293,163,000, while the 1924 crop of 235,694,000 bushels was worth $282,831,000. It is some what difficult at this time to tell how the price of wheat will go this fall. Has Splendid Opportunity to Learn Value of Money

Out of 2,100 boxes in the year the average boys sleep 8,585, earn 600, school 1,000, works 300 and spends at church 100. The other 3,110 hours largely decide his character and make his life. Out on the farm a long time ago the boy had his own pig and calf and from their sale he got his clothes for winter and his spending money His work for these gave him an idea what money costs and what it is worth the boy who has no money accept what he is able to buy off the old man or wheedle out of mother is on the road to ruin Thrift has not been implanted in him the passion to accumulate nor the ability to save for. Until he shall develop these by many sad experiences he will have about as much chance in the Kindom of Heaven as a camel has to go through the eye of a needle. Farm boys are a bunch of hungry boys. The average boy in a city home has no responsibilities and no partnership The family income on an average of three a year and the needs of his affections never have a chance to get attached to any spot He has no place to play except the street and alley, and ended with pleces and pennies except the pool hall The neighbors above and below and on every side are strangers. He makes a new start and the result is that he comes to dislike the place called home and to every place called home he can help himself.—Brandon Sun.

With the Beekeepers

A Young Queen Bee Provides the Strongest Colonies for Winter

Commercial beekeeping, says the Dominion Apiarist, is best done during the latter part of July or early in August when honey will at that time, he points out, produce the largest force of juveniles in time for the fall flow without any danger of being superseded. In the surrounding spring she is still less than one year old and will be her prime, able to carry on through August at a rapid rate. Figures gathered from twenty colonies in 1922 and 24 show that ten colonies produced some 150 pounds less a year old were rather better producers than these containing older queens. The British Isle Fairy Beekeeping Hints the apiarist points out that a good queen in the fall gives strong colonies for winter which under conditions being equal, these colonies will be the strongest in the spring, and that strong colonies in the spring are those that build up best for the flow.

Sheep Will Eat Sow Thistle

Easy Way to Rid Land of Pernicious Weed

"Sheep relish sow thistle and eat it on closely that the plants are much more easily eradicated when the pasture is broken up," says Mr. R. M. F Tuttle, field crops commissioner for the province of Saskatchewan, in recent bulletin on "The Control of Sow Thistle."

"Cattle also will eat sow thistle and thrive on it," continues Mr. Tuttle. "Taking off a crop or two of hay from infested land and then pasturing it for a season, furnishes a good preliminary to summer fallowing the next system in cultivation methods. Planting a hay crop on land infested with sow thistle after applying the black fallow treatment has also proved useful in ridding the land of this pernicious weed."

The findings of Mr. Tuttle are confirmed by reports from Minnesota and North Dakota. U.S., where sheep have been found of value in controlling weeds

Flour Exports From Canada

Wheat flour exports from Canada during the ten months ended May 31st, 1925, totalled 8,784,384 barrels of a value of $42,252,147, as compared with 10,505,357 barrels, worth $54,163,547 in the corresponding period of the previous year. During the period just ended 16,856 barrels of wheat flour were shipped direct to the United States, 9,316,194 barrels to the United Kingdom and 6,455,334 barrels to other countries.

Sweet Sugar Pixel

Report from the districts growing sugar beets this year are to the effect that the stands are 90 per cent. perfect Steady progress is being made on the beet sugar plant at Raymond, and it is expected to be in operation in time to take care of the first shipments from the growers.

Color Important Factor in Hay

The Principal Consideration in Determining Quality for Market

No. 1 hay must be of good color, color being the principal guide in judging quality for the market. Dealing with this subject, Mr W. B. White, chief of the feed division of the Dominion seed branch, remarks that provided there is reasonable freedom from foreign matter, hay of any particular class that retains the largest percentage of its natural green color grades highest and commands the best price Conditions as regards maturity, curing, stor...g and pulse quality damage are as referred to the other

Time of cutting And methods of curing are important factors for consideration in the production of hay for market purposes Hay that has become over ripe or...ained before cutting or that has been...ed or weathered while curing is depreciated in both palatability and nutritive value

Mr White also points out that in order to have a...ed sample...ly representative of the bulk of the hay in the mow or stack, it is necessary to take a number of small samples from different parts of the mow or stack, where it is stowed or stacked. The scattering of leaves is especially important in every little sample of hay, as the leaves contain the most nutritive portion.

Lumber has...nanded from the mill that should be stored with the least possible delay after it is sufficiently cured.

Counsel To Hay Shippers

May For Shipment Must Be Put Up in An Acceptable Manner

If, says an authority, speaking of a document from New York, prepared by Mr Frederic Hurd, Canadian trade commissioner there, hay is shipped from an export hay must put it up in an acceptable manner Mr Hurd states that hay not coming up to hay standards should be established in this country. He has investigated complaints made in New York, Philadelphia, and Boston of the poor condition in which shipments of hay have been received and has found them well founded. He says, it would be impossible to exaggerate the condition in which some consignments have been received. As a result, the trade commissioner adds, Canadian hay has had to be sold for less than similar grades, which, although in many cases it can be considered as good in actual quality, some dealers have been reluctant to buy from this country on account of previous experience.

Last year we shipped to the United States 291,000 tons, but in the two preceding years the average was only 17,000 tons. It is plain that if Canadian shippers wish to meet the duty of 4 a ton imposed by our neighbors and other incidental expenses and retain or increase the former high...es they must pay more careful and diligent attention not alone to quality, but also to packing and shipping

Big Shipment Of Salmon

Since the beginning of the current year the Port of Vancouver has shipped 1,640,773 cases of canned salmon to all parts of the world, according to figures published by the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange. The movement of canned salmon is just about finished, and the packing season will start again this month for the fall and winter business.

Canada's Fish Culture Service Has Made Remarkable Strides In Development Of The Work

Cathery Fruit At Night

Searchlight Makes Work Easy On Ranch in New Westminster

An innovation in small fruit picking has been made in British Columbia that bids fair to...ome a feature in the Canadian fish culture; was the late Richard Nettle, of Quebec and Ottawa He was appointed superintendent at Saltrios for lever Canada in 1857 and was given permission to resort to artificial propagation as a means of restoring the salmon fisheries of that province His first experiments were with trout eggs secured in Jacques Cartier River and Lake Beauport, and these were the first artificially fertilized fish eggs successfully hatched in the western hemisphere

Fish cultural operations as a Dominion Government service began in 1867, the department of Marine and Fisheries assisting the late Samuel Wilmot in the work of collecting and hatching eggs of speckled trout at Newcastle Ontario. In 1868 Mr. Wilmot was appointed a fishery officer and the Dominion hatchery was built by the Dominion Government. This appears to have been the first regular hatchery in the new world built and equipped as government expense a fact of particular interest was taken in fish culture about this time and officials from new end of the Atlantic seaboard visited the Newcastle hatchery to study the methods followed and equipment used. Subsequently, it was not until 1872 that the United States Congress took the initial step towards a national fishery service by creating the office of commissioner of fish and game. The propagation of fish was undertaken during the commissioner the following year

In 1883 a complete working section of the system of hatching in vogue in Canada at that time was put on exhibition at the great international fisheries exhibition in London, where it carried off the gold medal and diploma, the highest award for the best and most complete fish breeding exhibit. Canada was represented by models, maps and charts, and a bronze medal with the accompanying diplomme were also won by Canada

The expansion with regard to the enlargement of the other hatcheries and the creation of new ones has been gradual and healthy. By 1892 there were seven hatcheries in active operation in Canada with a yearly output of about 50,000,000 fry. By 1900 the Dominion Government establishments operating in 1924 distributed approximately 400,000,000 fry and fish

While Canada took a leading place in fish culture in its pioneer days in the western provinces, she was soon outstripped by the United States in actual service in the number of hatcheries and the magnitude of distribution However, at the present time the Canadian service is second to that of the United States only in the number of hatcheries operated and in the volume of distribution

Butter Production

Substantial Increases in Output Is Shown By Reports

Butter production in the west continues to increase at a rapid rate Saskatchewan reports that the output in May this year increased by approximately 50 per cent. over the figures for May, 1924, complete returns being 1,216,813 pounds, as compared with 810,561 pounds in May last year Manitoba shows an even greater increase The provincial dairy commissioner estimates the increase in May at 62 per cent as compared with the May, 1924 output

"You are no longer that," she said and strove to smile.

"I think I owe no thanks to you that I am not," he answered. "I think there's no more to be said, unless it be to add the assurance that Lord Julian Wade has also nothing to apprehend from me. That, no doubt, will be the assurance that your peace of mind requires?"

"For your own sake—yes. But for your own sake only. I would not have you do anything mean or dishonoring."

"Thief and pirate though I be."

She clenched her hands, and made a little gesture of despair and impatience.

"Will you never forgive me those words?"

"In finding it a trifle hard, I confess. But what does it matter, when all is said?"

Her clear hazel eyes considered him a moment wistfully. Then she put out her hand again.

"I am going, Captain Blood. Since you are so generous to my uncle, I shall be returning to Barbadoes with him. We are not likely to meet again—ever. Is it impossible that we should part friends? Once I wronged you, I know. And I have said that I am sorry. Won't you . . . won't you say 'good bye'?"

He took the hand she proffered. Retaining it, he spoke his eyes somberly, wistfully considering her.

"You are returning to Barbadoes." he said slowly. "Will Lord Julian be going with you?"

"Why do you ask me that?" she confronted him quite fearlessly.

"Have, now, didn't he give you my message, or did he bungle it?"

"He. He didn't bungle it. He gave it me in your own words. It touched me very deeply. It made me see clearly my error and my injustice. I owe it to you that I should say this by way of amend. I judged you harshly when it was a presumption to judge at all."

He was still holding her hand "And Lord Julian, then?" he asked, his eyes watching her, bright as sapphires fr the copper coloured face.

"Julian will no doubt be going home to England. There is nothing more for him to do out here."

"But didn't he ask you to go with him?"

"He did. I forgive you the impertinence."

A wild hope leapt in his within him. "And you? Glory be, you'll not be telling me ye refused to become my lady, when . . ."

"Oh! You are insufferable!" She tore her hand free and bestod away from him. "I should not have come."

Good-bye!" She was speeding to the door.

"And you? Glory be, ye'll not be telling me ye refused to become 'My Lady.'"

He sprang after her, and caught her. Her face flamed, and her eyes stabbed him like daggers. "Those are pirate's ways, I think. Release me!"

"Arabella!" he cried on a note of pleading. "Are ye meaning it? Must I believe it? . . . Must I let ye go and never set eyes on ye again? Or will ye stay and make this exile endurable until we go home together? Oh, say you're crying now! What have I said to make ye cry, my dear?"

"I . . . I thought you'd never say it," she mocked him through her tears. "There was never, never anybody but you, Peter."

Governor Bishop forgot the duties of his office. He had reached home at last. His odyssey was ended.

They left, of course, a deal to say thereafter, as much, indeed, that they sat down to say it, whilst time stood on, and Governor Bishop forgot the duties of his office. He had reached home at last. His odyssey was ended.

And meanwhile Colonel Bishop's boat had come to anchor, and the Colonel had landed on the mole, a disgruntled man to be disgruntled further yet. He was accompanied ashore by Lord Julian Wade

A corporal's guard was drawn up to receive him, and in advance of this stood Major Mallard and two others who were unknown to the Deputy-Governor; one slight and elegant, the other big limb brawny.

Major Mallard advanced. "Colonel Bishop, I have orders to arrest you. Your sword, sir!"

Bishop stood, comparing. "What the devil? Arrest me, d'ye say? Arrest me?"

"By order of the Governor of Jamaica," said the elegant little man behind Major Mallard. Bishop swung to him.

"The Governor? You're mad!" He looked from one to the other. "I am the Governor."

"You was," said the little man dryly. "But we've changed that to 'not absence.' Your books for abandoning your post without sufficient cause and therefore imperiling the settlement over which you had charge. It's a serious matter, Colonel Bishop, as you may find." Considering that you had your office from the Government of King James, it is even possible that a charge of treason may lie against you. It rests with your successor entirely whether you're hanged or not."

Bishop swallowed and no oath, and then, shaken by a sudden fear: "Who the devil may you be?" he asked.

"I am Lord Willoughby, Governor General of His Majesty's Dominions in the West Indies You were informed, I think, of my coming."

The remainder of Bishop's anger fell from him like a cloak. He broke into a sweat of fear. Behind him Lord Julian was speaking. Bishop's ears perceived nothing else suddenly white and drawn.

"But, my Lord"—began the Colonel. "Sir, I am not responsible for your ransom," his Lordship interrupted harshly. "I am on the point of sailing and I have not the time. The Governor will hear you and no doubt deal justly by you." He waved to Major Mallard, and Bishop, a crumpled, broken man, shrewd himself to be led away.

To Lord Julian, who went with him, some more words were spoken when expressed himself when presently he had suffic-ently recovered

"This is not new from to the account of that scoundrel Blood." he said through his teeth. "My God, what a reckoning there will be when we meet!"

Major Mallard turned away his face that he might not see his smile, and, without further words led him a prisoner to the Governor's house that no long had been Colonel Bishop's own residence. Here he left to wait under guard in the hall, whilst Major Mallard went ahead to announce him

Miss Bishop was with the Governor when Major Mallard entered His announcement startled them both.

"You will be merciful with him. You will spare him all you can for my sake, Peter," she pleaded.

"To be sure I will," said Blood, "but I'm afraid the circumstances won't."

"The offence against the Crown—"

"Arabella!" he cried on a note of pleading. "Are ye meaning it? Must I believe it? . . . Must I let ye go and never set eyes on ye again? Or will ye stay and make this exile endurable until we go home together? Oh, say you're crying now! What have I said to make ye cry, my dear?"

Arngrior, Ontario.—"I must write and tell you my experience with your medicine. I was working at the factory for three years and because so run-down that I used to take weak spells and would be at home at least one day each week. I was treated by the doctors for nerves, but it didn't seem to do me any good. I was told to take a rest, but was unable to, and kept on getting worse. I was troubled mostly with dizzy spells. I would sometimes pass three months, and when it came it would last around seven weeks, and I would have such painful times in my right side that I could hardly walk. I am only 19 years of age and weigh 118 pounds now, and before taking Vegetable Compound I was only 105 pounds. I was sickly for two years and some of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken a bottle of it I felt a change. My mother has been taking it for a different ailment and has found it very satisfactory. I am willing to tell friends about the medicine and to answer letters asking about it."—Miss HAZEL BENNOT, Box 703, Arngrior, Ontario.

Settlers Build Their First Home

Remarkable Land Settlement Plan

Influential British Company to Assist Settlers and Promote Colonization

(By Vernon Hutchinson, Special Correspondent.)

London.—A remarkable scheme for the colonization of land settlement is undertaken [illegible] by the new British Dominions Land Settlement Corporation Limited a powerful financial organization formed in London, England, for the express purpose as its name implies, of promoting land colonization in the overseas British Dominions and particularly in this Dominion of Canada This company represents a new departure in the way of assisting agricultural families or small means who desire to establish themselves on the soil. Backed by millions of Old Country money, it provides the right kind of farmers with land and may come and aids them in equipping these farms and getting thoroughly established thereon.

The high character of the company is indicated by the personnel of its British directorate, which includes The Duke of Sutherland, chairman, the Right Hon Sir Newton Wigall, formerly prime minister of western Australia, the Right Hon Sir Arthur Griffith Boscawen, formerly minister of agriculture in the British cabinet, Sir Edward Manville, chairman of the great Dunlop Rubber organization, Sir Robert Hadfield M.P. Col. A. G. Counsins, O.B.E., and Mr Mervyn Bruce. These names in themselves, furnish a guarantee of the standing of an organization which has for its object the use of British capital and ability to develop and people the vacant spaces of the empire an ideal which has seized the mind of the British people especially during the years which have succeeded the war in the United Kingdom it is more than ever recognized that the future of the Mother Country lies in the growth of the outlying parts of the empire The executive board of the corporation is constituted as follows: Mr Mervyn Brown, chairman; Mr Robert McKay, of Alsa, Kilsan & McKay, Winnipeg; Mr. W. H. Carter, of Carter, Hall & Aldinger, Winnipeg; Mr W. P. Dutton, Winnipeg; and Mr Isaac Pitblado, K.C., as special counsel. Mr. W. T Brady is general manager

To be specific, the British Dominions Corporation sells its land at fair prices and on efforts fair terms, with no cash for three years except interest and taxes, the principal to be discharged during the remaining twelve years of the period Besides giving land on such reasonable conditions, the corporation advances in settlers, having no livestock and equipment, two dollars for every one dollar put up by the settler for these purposes. For the money thus advanced the corporation takes back a five-year chattel mortgage on which settlement is payable for two years, then being on principal to be discharged in the third, fourth and fifth years of the term To be accurate in its comparison, the farmer must have a family or at least be a married man The corporation is cutting and stacking logs for sale to settlers on five years' credit, thus making it easy for the newcomer to erect a shelter for his family without delay. Where it appears necessary, the corporation advances even food for the family and feed for the animals during the first months of occupation Supervisors, for the employment of the company, constantly circulate amongst the settlers, keeping in touch with their needs and offering advice and assistance wherever such is called for

It will thus be seen that the company offers an exceptional opportunity to (1) the married renter who possesses livestock and equipment and wishes to have a farm of his own; (2) to the married farm laborer who wishes to become a land owner and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Victoria's Unique Amusement Centre Officially Opened

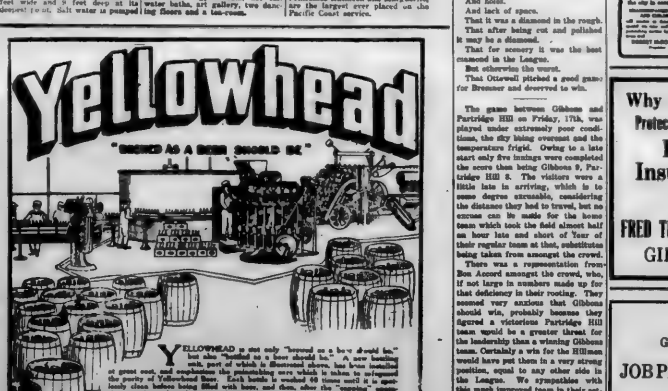
With appropriate pomp and ceremony the Hon. W. G. Nichol, Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia, and D. C. Coleman, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, opened Crystal Gardens, Victoria—the largest and finest salt water swimming pool and amusement centre in Canada—recently.

The building takes the form of a winter garden, sunlit by day and glittering by night with an atmosphere heavy with the scent of flowers and throbbing with music from a string orchestra. Built on a two-storey property, facing the fragrant gardens of the Empress Hotel, Crystal Gardens is of generous proportions, with lower portions in brick and concrete, and superstructure of steel and specially designed glass. The interior is a huge conservatory with vines and palms and plants growing in abundance, and in the centre the largest salt water swimming pool on the continent.

To give a Roman Bath effect, from the lesser alley promenades and dancing floors above, there are concrete steps down to the landing of the pool, which is 150 feet long, 60 feet wide and 9 feet deep at its deepest point. Salt water is pumped from Beacon Hill Beach, a distance of nearly a mile, and maintained at a temperature of 70 degrees, and kept in constant circulation. The water is, of course, sterilized, and bathers, before entering the pool, pass under showers of varying temperatures. Among other attractions there are a gymnasium, hot salt water baths, art gallery, two dancing floors and a tea-room.

Upper—The Rotunda and Lesser—A portion of the Promenade.

Anticipating that the present season will see the beginning of a large tourist movement toward Vancouver Island the Canadian Pacific Railway has considerably augmented its service between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle—The Triangular Route—and their two new steamships, the Princess Kathleen and Marguerite, are the largest ever placed on the Pacific Coast service.



BASEBALL NOTES

The game between Bon Accord and Bremner on July 18th was a well contested one, Bon Accord again emerging from the fray with a lucky win.

Going to bat in the second half of the eighth inning with the score 9-9 against them, Bon Accord were presented with the game, Bremner literally throwing it away.

At this critical period, Mert Reynolds, who was catching for Bremner, allowed a passed ball and a Bon Accord runner came home with the tieing run.

Reynolds, who had caught wonderfully well for a player whose proper position is the outfield, followed this up by a very bad error of judgment, making a throw to second base in an effort to head off a runner who was "stealing" and the ball went through the second baseman, the short-stop and the outfielder. It might have gone through the fence also, but it lost impetus before reaching there.

The throw should not have been made as two men were out and two strikes had been called on the batter Playing the batter was the proper play, but Reynold's inexperience was his undoing. Apart from this inning, he did splendid work behind the bat, as has been said.

Before the ball was retrieved, the winning run was across the plate This ended the scoring.

The Bon Accord fans are an enthusiastic bunch, cheering to the echo every good play—when made by one of their side.

The din they made when the home team got their two runs in the final inning described above, was akin to that made by the inhabitants of a besieged town which saw relief in sight after many weary months.

One would have thought the home side had done some wonderful playing in obtaining the winning run.

Lace edgings and narrow tucks elaborate the tailored blouses of today. One cannot have too many attractive blouses to wear with separate skirts, thus creating the smartest two-piece frocks The model pictured here was made of white crepe-de-chine with groups of narrow tucks in the front and back and opens all the way down the centre front. The round boyish collar is becoming and the full length sleeves are finished with a tailored cuff. The pattern is perforated for short sleeves and provides an attractive cuff. The high-band may be omitted and the blouse tucked under the skirt-band in regulation shirt-waist style. Sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 38 bust requires 2¼ yards of 36-inch, or 1¾ yards of 40-inch material. Price 20 cents.

Our Fashion Book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker Each copy includes one coupon good for five cents in the purchase of any pattern.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer. In most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child they will prevent vomiting or diarrhoea. They are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PIMPLES ITCHED ALL THE TIME

Face and Arms Covered, Could Not Sleep at Night. Cuticura Heals.

"My face and arms were covered with pimples and blackheads. The pimples were hard and red and small sore. They itched and burned all the time, and I could not sleep at night. My face looked so badly that people talked about it.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using it I got relief so purchased more and in two weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Muriel Jollyman, Lower Wentworth, Nova Scotia.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap with touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soothe and heal. Cuticura Talcum is fragrant and refreshing.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 28

THE COUNCIL AT JERUSALEM

Golden Text: We believe that we shall be saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus. Acts 15:11.

Lesson: Acts 15:1-29

Devotional Reading: Romans 3:1-9

The Text Explained and Illumined

Trouble at Antioch of Syria, verse 1—As our last lesson stated, Paul reported to the church at Antioch in Syria "all things that God had done with them," and gave as the great result of their work the fact that God had opened a door of faith unto the Gentiles" When the news reached the church at Jerusalem, they feared the door unto the Gentiles too wide to be well closed.

Until Paul took up the work, the Christian churches, like the Jewish synagogues, had been composed of Jews and proselytes, the proselyting being Gentiles who had received the Jewish rite of circumcision. In attendance at the services there were also the "God-fearing" or "devout" Gentiles, who, not having been circumcised, were not in "full fellowship" with the rest. That God was no respecter of persons Peter had learned at Joppa, and the Jerusalem church, after hearing all the circumstances in regard to the baptism of the Gentile Cornelius and his household, had glorified God, saying, Then to the Gentiles also hath God granted repentance unto life."

The truth, however, had been applied in only a few special cases, and the far-reaching consequences to the church had not been foreseen Now a crisis was reached. Certain members of the Jerusalem Church came to Antioch and declared that unless all were circumcised according to the custom of Moses, they could not be saved, thus insisting that Gentiles must first become proselytes before they could become Christians for both clubs and by losing it, Yorkville hammers the undisputed holders of the wooden spoon for the season. The decline in the showing of the side compared with last year is regrettable. Injuries, sickness and the inability of star players, notably Eddie Pollard, to play regularly, all contributed to the poorer showing. Under a cumulative handicap of this nature, only a club with extremely strong reserves could have done better. We expect a revival next season as the material is there if circumstances allows it to be used.

The game was very well contested for more than half its duration, there being play in all departments, two mighty hits by Bert Armstrong featuring. Yorkville did not have any of the good luck which was going around. With a share of it the result would have been much closer.

Some extremely good fielding by both teams was conspicuous, noticeably Bill Pearce and the Armstrong brothers for Yorkville, Grey, or, of the Pro-Cathedral, Edmonton, on Monday.

Rogers Wright has gone for a motor trip with his uncle, Dr. Rogers of Alexandria, N. Dakota. On their way they will visit his uncle Dr. Rogers at Forestburg. Rogers and his cousin expect to spend the summer holidays camping in the Dakota bad lands.

The one time Methodist congregation held a social evening in the Methodist church hall as a farewell to the former relations of Rev. M. L. and Mrs. Wright as pastor and wife of the church and presented them with an address of appreciation and a set of silverware. Master Rogers Wright who was organist for three years also received an address of appreciation and a Zenith bicycle.

Presentations seem to be the order of the day. Quite recently the United congregation of Partridge Hill bade congregation of Partridge Hill bade farewell to the old order in which they were members of two distinct denominations by holding a social evening and musical programme. They also took advantage of the gathering to present Miss Susie Smith with an address of appreciation and a purse as a token of her faithfulness and efficiency as organist for the Presbyterian and Methodist congregation and requested her to continue her services under the present arrangements.

Here and There

During July thousands of osteopaths and members of allied professions gathered in Toronto from all parts of the United States and Canada to attend the International Convention of Osteopaths. Several of the visitors toured the country in the interests of osteopathy.

Final figures showing the total live lobster catch on the Nova Scotia coasts, for the season ending June 1st., show a total of 5,883,000 lbs. valued at $1,254,141, an increase over the 1924 season of 2,027,000 lbs., in quantity and approximately half a million dollars in value.

During his tour of Western Canada over the Canadian Pacific lines, Field Marshal Earl Haig was received on all sides by cordial and enthusiastic crowds. At towns in northern Ontario and elsewhere he shook hands and exchanged reminiscences with local ex-service men, many of whom he recognized.

Having concluded his visit to the Pacific Coast, His Excellency Lord Byng, Governor-General of Canada, has returned East. Before leaving the West His Excellency stayed off for a few days at Banff to visit Earl Haig, and the two famous soldiers spent some time together taking over old times.

Considerable interest has been aroused in London, England, over the arrival there of 5,000 pansy blooms for exhibition in the Canadian Pacific pavilion at Wembley. The pansies were grown by W. Ormiston Roy of Montreal, and have been sent to England to dispel the belief that Canada's climate is uncomfortably cold.

A delegation of prominent newspaper proprietors and journalists from Great Britain passed through Canada recently on their way to attend the Third Imperial Press Conference to be held at Melbourne, Australia, during September. Besides the delegates from the British Isles, representatives of Canada and the other Dominions have been invited and will attend the conference.

Two automobile accidents occurred in Montreal over the week-end at railway crossings, in both of which it was proven that the car struck the train. In the first accident the car ran into the first car behind the engine and in the second struck the side of the engine itself. Public attention has been directed to these accidents as illustrative of the results of negligent driving.

Early in July a party of one hundred French-Canadians associated with the University of Montreal departed from Windsor station on a three-weeks educational tour of the country under the auspices of the University. Mayor Duquette of Montreal, Monsignor A. V. J. Piette, rector of the University and Professor E. Montpetit one of his associates accompanied the party. They were seen off at the station by E. W. Beatty, K.C., chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and other officials.

A similar excursion to the above left Toronto, July 20th, for the benefit of English speaking school-teachers. This tour, also lasting three weeks and covering all principal points of the Dominion was conducted by Dean Sinclair Laird of MacDonald College under the auspices of the Teachers' Federation of Canada.

"In the Canadian end falls of the Canadian Rockies there is enough hydro-electric power to supply the American west with all the electric energy it will need for ages to come," declared W. Paxton Little, treasurer of the Niagara Falls Power Company, who recently visited Banff with a party of distinguished American electrical magnates.

That the Province of Quebec abounds in historic and romantic material for the construction of popular novels, is the judgement of two popular writers—James Oliver Curwood, author of scores of best sellers, and Edwin Balmer, well-known short story writer—who have recently toured the province and Western Canada in quest of "local color."

Bruderheim

Mr and Mrs. H. J. Hare and daughter Georgina, of Tgronto, left today for their home after having spent the past ten days with Mr Hare's brother, Mr. John Hare, of Bruderheim district. Mr. Hare is inspector of air brakes of the city street cars of Toronto and expressed himself as greatly interested in all he saw of the west. This is his first visit to the Edmonton district since 1885, when he was a volunteer in the Royal Grenadiers of Toronto on active service in quelling the North West Rebellion. He recalled with interest his experiences while serving as a member of the Grenadiers, and was present when the rebel chief, Louis Riel, was executed. He was also present when the widows, Mrs. Germaine and Mrs. Delany, were rescued from Big Bear's camp, where they had been prisoners for two months. He was also with the party which accompanied the remains of the late Col. Williams, whose death occurred at Fort Pitt on the first leg of the journey, when the body was being forwarded to Ontario for interment.

RHUBARB

Nearly every home garden has a few roots of rhubarb. The crop requires but little work and care and yields generously.

Autumn planting is satisfactory and is preferred to spring planting if roots are brought from distant nurseries, as shoots commence to grow in very early spring. Red-stalked varieties are in favor. Some new varieties such as "Ruby" developed by the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and the Macdonald College rhubarb possess distinct advantages over many old-time commercial varieties.

Many people seek information upon the causes of plants sending forth many seedstalks, and what had best be done under the circumstances. Of course, it is the nature of plants to attempt to produce seeds but this production of seed stalks is stimulated when plants do not receive fair treatment. When stalks are harvested very closely and late in the season the plants become weakened.

To get pleasing results from the rhubarb plantation it is well to always leave a few leaf stalks on the plant, remove seed stalks as soon as they appear by cutting off near the stump; cease harvesting the crop by the end of June, and fertilize heavily in early July. This treatment will give the plants a chance to become, and remain sturdy and to store up much reserve food which will provide resources for the sending out of a heavy crop of sturdy stalks the next spring. Well rotted cow manure is excellent fertilizer and this may be supplemented with commercial fertilizers if even better results are desired.

RENEW ARRANGEMENTS

A removal of arrangements for the removal of settlers from the drought areas of south-eastern Alberta has been made by the Provincial Department of Agriculture with the railway companies and the federal government. This has been done owing to the requests received from a number of farmers in that area who have been faced with the prospect of another crop failure this year and desire to be removed to other locations in the province. The provincial government does not attempt to influence the settlers as to the locations to which they will move, but assists them in moving and getting located in an effort to interest these settlers in the irrigated lands of the Lethbridge Northern irrigation district, James Pike, colonization manager of the district, has canvassed the situation, and now has 100 applications for locations on the list.

NAMES ON MAIL BOXES

Every street who owns a rural mail box should have the name painted on it in bold letters. Several of the town folks like to occasionally make a short motor trip off the beaten paths and when they do they like to know who lives on many of the different farms en route. The majority of places are well kept and the owners thereof should not be ashamed to let the public know who lives upon the farm behind the mail box, and besides it would often save time and annoyance when one wishes to call upon a rural neighbor either on business or in a social way.

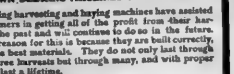
Was your harvest satisfactory last season?

Did you get all of the profit from it?

UNLESS YOU USED ONE OF THE WELL KNOWN DEERING MACHINES YOU DID NOT

Deering harvesting and haying machines have assisted many farmers in getting all of the profit from their harvests in the past and will continue to do so in the future. The reason for this is because they are built correctly, and of the best materials. They do not only last through two or three harvests but through many, and with proper care will last a lifetime.



If you are in the market for a harvesting machine and you want one that will bring you the largest returns don't forget the Deering. Call and look over our samples.

A Shortsighted Policy

The shortsightedness of some people is proverbial, but it is truly amazing to find a whole organization of men numbering tens, if not hundreds, of thousands so afflicted. Yet the coal miners of the United States, Canada and Great Britain seem to be not merely temporarily but permanently incapable of seeing that they are surely destroying their own means of livelihood.

Thousands of miners are on strike in Nova Scotia, and now there is talk of another great strike on the part of the anthracite miners in the United States and rumblings of another strike in the British mines. In no other industry has there been such continuous unrest and repeated strikes as among the coal miners. With what result? The miners themselves would be the last to say that their condition has been improved, while the concensus of opinion is that they are worse off than ever and their future prospects dim and bright.

The fact is, and other people realize it if the miners themselves do not, that a very radical change is taking place in the world of manufacturing and the transportation to the detriment of the coal mining industry, and the uncertainty, difficulties and losses created by these frequent and prolonged miners' strikes are only serving to accentuate the problems confronting the coal mining industry and hastening the day when the miners will find themselves in a much more serious predicament than now against which they are making such bitter complaint.

The cost of mining and transporting coal, due largely to the high rates of wages paid the miners and increased freight charges resulting from the increase in wages paid railway operatives during the war, and which have not been much reduced, together with the rapid improvements effected in oil-burning machinery and the development of hydro-electric power plants, has resulted in a veritable industrial revolution.

One of the most serious developments taking place in the three English-speaking countries, and one calling for the investment of hundreds of millions of new capital annually, is in connection with water powers and the erection of huge hydro-electric stations generating hundreds of thousands of horse power. Manufacturing plants, finding the cost of coal mounting and their supplies profoundly threatened through miners' strikes, are in the year increasing many fold, changing over from steam to hydro-electric power.

All over the continent, with cheap electric power, coupled with its convenience and absence of dirt, housewives are discarding the old kitchen range and installing electric ranges and electric appliances of all kinds.

Another and equally important change is being brought about through the conversion of coal-burning ocean and lake going vessels into oil burners, while many of the new vessels building are being equipped for burning oil rather than coal. The internal combustion engine being gasoline is displacing the many small coal-burning steam plants everywhere.

In the effort to reduce costs and thus meet the increasing competition of motor cars and trucks, the steam railways are electrifying sections of their systems and extending the same from year to year, while radial railways using electric power are spreading over the land.

These are significant happenings, but especially so to the coal operatives and miners. Yet the latter are apparently blind to a situation which threatens them, and instead of seeking co-operation with the mine owners in a determined effort to reduce the cost of coal to consumers, and guarantee a steady and assured supply at all times, they continue to make demands which the economic situation makes it impossible for the mine owners to concede, only by increasing present difficulties, jeopardizing the industry in which they are engaged, and speeding up the movement to substitute oil, oil products and electric energy as the motive power in manufacturing industry, transportation and in home economics.

The miners are shortsightedly adopting the attitude of killing the goose that lays the golden eggs for them. Mines everywhere are only operating part time. There are more miners than there is employment for them, and in view of the impetus already given to the movement to substitute other and cheaper forms of power for a haphazard and precarious supply of coal, the number of unemployed miners seems bound to increase further as other engineering advances, and insane Union rules, "Check-off" systems, and other arbitrary demands will only serve to further accentuate the miners' troubles, and cannot bring any permanent redress of grievances, imaginary or real.

Defens' of Empire

Closer Relations With Dominions Upon Naval Policies Are Favored

During a debate in the British House of Commons on the naval estimates Major L. Store Bellairs, Liberal, suggested, that there should be a more intimate relationship between the Member Country and the Dominions when the naval problems were settled.

The Dominions are not bearing their full share of responsibility in naval matters, Major Bellairs said, not because they are unwilling to do so, because the problems profoundly have not been appreciated by them from a truly imperial point of view.

Major Bellairs remarks subsequently were endorsed by other speakers, including Mr. Lloyd George. The latter declared that if it were a question of the Empire or ourselves, the whole empire might share the burden.—Times Toronto.

Prince George Will Stay

Changes In Chance In China Like Those Of Other Junior Officers

Those who have been expecting the recall of Prince George from China must be sadly ignorant of the traditions of our royal house. If the British naval forces are employed, the Prince will be with them, and will take the rough and tumble of it like any other junior officer. The King is quite alive to the dangers of the situation, but I should imagine that the recall of his son would be the last thought, as it would be the very last wish of the Prince himself. In our royal family, at all events, things are not just "not done."—Glasgow Herald.

Miller's Worm Powders seldom fail

They immediately attack the worms and expel them from the system. They are complete in themselves, not only as a worm destroyer, but as a highly beneficial medicine for children, correcting weak digestion and restoring the debilitated system to healthful tone, without which the growth of the child will be retarded and its constitution weakened.

How Should I Wean My Baby?

This is a serious problem to many mothers. Weaning should always be done gradually, beginning about the second month, giving baby one or two bottle feedings during the day increasing the number of bottle feedings gradually, until weaning is accomplished. Borden's Eagle Brand Milk is so like mother's milk in taste and ease of digestion that it can be given alternately with breast milk without causing abrupt weaning.

In this paper from time to time you will find an advertisement of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk, a food that has raised more healthy babies than all the prepared infant foods combined. Cut out the advertisement and mail it to The Borden Company Limited, Montreal, and they will send you, free of charge, instructive booklet on feeding your baby, and a Baby Welfare and a Baby Record Book. Or, just write the Company, mentioning this paper, and they will be sent.

Better Production Increases

Considerable Increase Shown in Saskatchewan Production For May

Butter production in Saskatchewan during the month of May totalled 1,541,323 lbs., as against that month's 946,041 lbs. In the same month last year, according to a report of the provincial dairy commissioner. Cumulative production for the first five months of the current year is 3,193,956 lbs., as against 1,321,051 lbs., in the corresponding period of 1923, an increase of 501,843 lbs.

Social Service

The call in social service is a call to self sacrifice, and, if anything is to serve this country's need for the direction to which certain principles, preached today with the greatest fervor, would commit it, it is in the generous service of those who reject the subtle temptation to devote themselves to a shibboleth more grandiloquently of their own special privileges.—London Daily Telegraph.

Germany Buys Canadian Wheat

German Consumption of Canadian Grains Is Many Says Report

The value of the German and continental markets with regard to the exportation of Canadian foodstuffs is being more than ever emphasized this season in the huge imports of grain and flour from the Dominion by the Old World countries. In addition to more than 12,000,000 bushels of grain shipped from Montreal since the opening of navigation Hamburg has received several cargoes of Canadian flour in the period between September and June and Antwerp also marks a record for 1923-24 season.

Figures show that Montreal not only led all world ports in grain shipments but also in flour exports although the threatened import tax on incoming flour by Germany an Belgium would seem designed to discourage the fact is nevertheless apparent that German consumption of Canadian flour is on the increase. The aforementioned tax is to go into effect August 15.

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

A Good Reason

Rose came down the stairs looking particularly ravishing in a lavender bustaite dress and lavender hat, and the girl who sat across the table opened her eyes.

"All dressed up in lavender! Wait until Mr Smith sees you in that!"

"Yes, just wait," was the lightly toned-off answer. "And he likes lavender, too."

"He that's the reason you wear it?"

"Oh, no!" replied Rose sweetly. "That's the reason he likes it!"—New York Sun.

Why He Did Not Gathe

I met a man who was just back from a recent resort, and asked him if he had enjoyed the sea bathing. He fired me with a slittering eye and said: "I'm not a bathe. Are you aware that the water in the sea has not been changed for fifty million years? And what sensible man wants to immerse himself in a weak solution of dowered men?" I wilted, but have some idea that these remarks were not original.—London Sunday Pictorial.

Earl Haig is Color Blind

Earl Haig, celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday on the day he sailed from Liverpool to Canada, to attend the conference of the British Empire Service League. It is not generally known that the great soldier is color blind. For that reason, it is alleged, he was refused entrance to the Staff College, and it was only after a great deal of common sense talk by Sir Reginald Buller and Major-General M'Calmont that he was at last admitted.

Increasing Demand For Wheat In Markets Of The World Should Keep Grain Prices Firm

Mr. J. Obed Smith, former immigration commissioner for Canada in London, refers, in a letter to "Canada," the London weekly, to the growing production of foodstuffs in this country and the increasing demand for them from other countries speaking of wheat, he says:

Canada sells her wheat to Belgium, France, Holland, Scandinavia, Italy and Germany, besides the Old Land and the United States. Russia has recently placed an order and paid for 16,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat. That is not all. The population of the states is rapidly increasing, despite the immigration quota, which previous to the war averaged 1,000,000 per annum. Canada could spare 100,000,000 bushels of wheat, for the next twelve months, and the world would be the better for it. The Orient has suddenly discovered a liking for wheaten bread, and shipments of Canadian wheat across the Pacific Ocean have shown a large and rapid increase. What will be the immensity of the market if the teeming millions of China and Japan should generously adopt wheaten bread as their staple food? Australia has received several cargoes of Canadian flour in the period between September and June and Antwerp also marks a record for 1923-24 season.

Figures show that Montreal not only led all world ports in grain shipments but also in flour exports although the threatened import tax on incoming flour by Germany an Belgium would seem designed to discourage the fact is nevertheless apparent that German consumption of Canadian flour is on the increase. The aforementioned tax is to go into effect August 15.

Canada's Apple Crop

Some Statistics in B.C. Show Reduction From Last Year

Commercial apple prospects indicate a total crop of 16 per cent. or 1924, when 2,187,544 barrels were harvested, or 642 per cent of a five years average of 2,045,504 barrels, according to a crop report just issued by the department of agriculture.

The prospective commercial apple crop for British Columbia compared with 1924 indicates 90 per cent., or 2,097,000 boxes, or 10.5 per cent of a five years average, the report states. The slight reduction is caused by winter injury and the hot weather during the past month.

The greatest reduction in the apple crop is reported from Creston Salmon Arm and the Okanagan Mainline districts where winter injury was most severe. Other districts such as the Southern Okanagan, Kamloops and Kootenay Lake, have prospects for increased yields or equal to last year's crop, which should balance the crop situation to the advantage of growers.

Mammoth Paper Mill May Be Erected if Power Rights Are Secured

Assurances that their most urgent requirements in the line of ... construction of a 50-tonne paper mill of 250 tons capacity in the central Winnipeg district were given to the Winnipeg Board of Trade by Colonel Carman, of the Beaman Paper Company, Chicago, and R. Wolf Habits and Importance

Interesting Booklet Which Can Be Obtained Free

Accounts of wild life and descriptive history of such animals are always interesting, but when the life of the animal is of importance to commercialism is involved. Of this nature is Mr. Norman Criddle's, "The Habits and Importance of Wolves in Canada," published by the department of agriculture at Ottawa, and which can be had free on application to the publications branch there. Last winter it will be remembered, wolves were particularly prominent in the public mind, partly owing to their boldness and partly due to the formation of large hunting parties to pursue them. Mr. Criddle tells of grey wolves, Arctic wolves, timber wolves and coyotes, describing their habits and the methods used to overcome same. He also tells what farmers and outlying settlers most want to know, how the animals can be trapped and poisoned, and how destroyed and how the skins can be preserved.

The Office Boy's Wish

"I'd like to go to a funeral this afternoon, sir," said the office boy, after an argument with the chief clerk.

"Oh, you would, would you?" the chief clerk replied frigidly. "Well you won't!"

"Aw, sir, I knew I would," the boy murmured. "But I would like to go all the same."

Something tragic and appealing in the youthful voice led the chief clerk to ask: "Whose funeral?"

"Yours, sir," said the boy gently

Livestock Markings In 1924

Fifth Annual Report to Issued At Ottawa

A vast deal of information is contained in the fifth annual report on the origin and quality of commercial livestock marketed in Canada recently published by the Dominion branch at Ottawa and which can be had of the publications branch there. An important feature is the inclusion of maps of each province, by which the most prolific sections of production can be identified. It is interesting to note that the finished hand weight steers, and steers of export weight and quality suitable for the British market were turned out in increasing numbers in 1924 and that all the five provinces dealt with, namely Quebec, Ontario, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, contributed to this desirable increase, being thus instrumental in improving Canada's position on a quality basis. Improvement was observable in the quality of the exceptionally heavy marketing of calves. There was a record output of lambs, and, as the report states, there is much satisfaction in the fact that the extensive movement was not, as is generally the case, accompanied by any deterioration in quality. "Fortunately," adds says the report, "under the grading policy there was little or no effort shipments of inferior parts sold as prime grades." A total of 6,611,000 animals, the number of early grade shipped to the plants during the year, by which it appears that the percentage of calves shipped by each province, first in packing plants and secondly to stockyards, were as follows: Alberta, 7.62 and 2.95; Saskatchewan, 5.24 and 2.26; Manitoba, 3.18 and 4.81; Ontario, 21.54 and 3.41; Quebec, 39.62 and 9.62.

Party Of American Visitors Are Greatly Impressed With Trip Through Western Canada

Livestock Markings In 1924

Fifth Annual Report to Issued At Ottawa

The prosperity of western Canada, regardless of growing crops and spleen did farming worthwhile followed through out Manitoba and Saskatchewan were an eye opener to the party of United States land agents, recently taken on a tour of parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, by Ian M. Johnson, secretary-manager of agriculture and colonization for the Canadian National Railways. On their return to Winnipeg the members of the party, numbering twenty two from across the border, were most enthusiastic in their praise of the country they had visited, and were loud in their expressions of appreciation for the hospitality shown them by re-deeds of the various districts visited.

The tour took them from Winnipeg through Dauphin, Melfort, Wadena, Prince Albert, Saskatoon, Eston, Kerlington and through the famous Lloyd Lake and Swan Lake districts. At Winnipeg they enjoyed a full day's drive through the surrounding country and were entertained at luncheon by the board of trade. At Saskatoon the party visited the forestry farm and the university and also enjoyed a five hours' drive as well as being entertained at luncheon. In the Lloyd Lake and Swan Lake districts they made a drive of 165 miles, while in the Kerlington and Marcus districts the party drove over 125 miles in their inspection of farms and recent lands, and were entertained by the Wadena and Kerlington boards of trade.

On their return to Winnipeg and their later departure for the United States, addresses were given and they were loaded down with samples of grain, vegetables, alsikle, etc., which they had gathered at different points. They reported having picked up fine specimens of strawberries at Dauphin and Eston and were surprised to find this product so far north. Many of the visitors Canada, Nebraska and Illinois were also particularly impressed with the possibilities of the Lloyd Lake district.

Before their departure for their homes the United States Legion members of the party presented a resolution of thanks to Mr. Johnson and to Mr. Frank J. Boyd, Canadian National representative at St. Paul, thanking them for the opportunities which had been afforded of visiting western Canada and expressing appreciation of what was offered here in the way of homes for prospective settlers. The resolution states: "We have seen much of western Canada, its broad, fertile and beautiful land. We have met many of our neighbors to the north. We have been on foreign soil for many days, but we have at no time on our trip had that feeling of a foreigner in a foreign land. We have felt that we have been at home and among friends throughout our journey. We have been royally entertained at all places where our party was scheduled to stop. We have been feasted and served and have had a most inviting but good fellowship and a glad hand."

Before their departure from Winnipeg, members of the party were interviewed and asked for a confirmation of their impressions of the west. The following summaries, will give western Canadians an impression of the feeling which their own country creates in the mind of the interested visitor.

M T Hillmer, western Nebraska, states: "I am convinced there is no place in north America that offers such wonderful opportunities to the young man to own his own farm home as do the fertile fields of western Canada." Richard Elstrom stated: "Western Canada's wheat crop is the best I ever saw or dreamed of, furthermore, opportunities for retail merchants in new prized but fertile lands with small capital are the best I know of in any country." J. T. Hanks of Fargo, N.D., reports "For a man with limited means to make a home to rhimself and his family, it is the best place in north America at the present time."

The Home Estate

Two Roses That Can Each Contribute to the Greatness of Canada

Little by little the number of people who own things as they really are grows greater, who recognize the advantage to Canada in having two great races attached to five adequate ones another, and to bring to the profit of their country the precious qualities which are the peculiar heritage of each. The "Home Estate" is now being established as rapidly as one could wish, but it is making progress. Years are required, perhaps centuries, to cement such unions; but that they are cemented in time is an undeniable fact.—L'Action Catholique (Quebec).

New Zealand Exhibition

Canada Hopes to Derive Considerable Benefit From Taking Part

Canada's participation in the New Zealand and South Seas exhibition which is to be held at Dunedin, New Zealand on November 1 1925 to April 30 1926, will show to advantage the productions of this country's resources and industries. The Canadian Government exhibition commission has contracted to take 24,000 square feet of space in the best location on the exhibition ground, and will erect a very attractive building which, showing the natural resources and products of the Dominion and the activities of this country in a place for tourists.

Plans for the design and lay-out of the Canadian exhibit have been prepared and will be carried out by J. O. Turcotte, architect of the Canadian Government exhibition commission, who will leave Ottawa for New Zealand about the end of the month. He is now returning from the British Empire exhibition, where he superintended the erection of the Canadian Pavilion and the elaborate designs and displays connected with the different exhibits in the pavilion

As Canada stands to derive considerable benefit from participation in this exhibition. When the international exhibition was held at Christchurch, New Zealand, in 1906, Canada took a prominent part and as a result trade with New Zealand was rapidly developed and a steamship subsidy was granted by the New Zealand Government which granted preferential rates on certain Canadian goods

The trade was negotiated in 1906 and has been in force ever since, but year the exports of Canadian goods to New Zealand totalled $12,116,000, as compared from New Zealand were $2,181, 929.

Accommodation will be available in the Canadian exhibits for between 80 and 90 Canadian manufacturers. An exhibit such as they intend, however, to possess or firms are advised to make their application at once to the Canadian Government Exhibition Commission at Ottawa.

Income From Candle Ends

Porquisite Stops Now That Dashing Sam Peters Is Equipped With Electricity

Burnt candle ends have provided a noble woman in London, and that, lamily, a considerable income. Over a century ago her grandfather acted as assistant to the lord steward of Buckingham Palace, and as the particular perquisite of his position he was granted all the candle ends from the state apartments. As candles were the only form of illumination used on those days, thousands of them were needed for every royal function. The half burnt candles and candle ends were handed to a tradesman or candlemaker where all the dwellers in his honour benefit their candles. Sometimes when the function had been a short one, the profit to the lord steward's assistant was very great, for it was a right that no candle in the royal apartments should be relighted after being put out. Though electric light has been used in Buckingham Palace for many years, the candlesticks were religiously filled afresh for every ceremony. But now, in the recent redecoration of Buckingham Palace, the candlesticks in the state apartments have been removed. And with them has gone the royal perquisite of candle ends.

Visiting the Future

Advance Conditions Magnified and Favorable Facts Ignored

There has been much talk about bad conditions in Canada. The "inferiority complex" has been the favorite malady for too many men for several decades. Sometimes it is the result of party feeling, as sometimes the fruit of bad conditions that "have away looks look green." In recent months the adverse conditions have been magnified and the favorable facts minimized by too many people. Something of the same condition exists in Great Britain, leading to the protest of an outsider like Ernest Marshall, as published in a recent London cable to The Globe. John Bull's troubles are real enough, but they are exaggerated by the constant complaint of some observers.—The Toronto Globe.

Lake Titicaca, on the top of the Andes Mountains, is 12,500 feet above sea level and is the highest navigable body of water in the world.

Immigration From Britain

Increased Movement of British Families for Dominion in 1923

Mr. H. Little, Canadian immigration commissioner in Great Britain, who has arrived in Ottawa, predicts a much increased movement of British families into Canada next year. The process that has been worked out this year, he says, will make next year's problem much simpler. The shortage, as the result of recent conferences, the duplication of effort by the government and the two railway systems is in large measure, being removed with beneficial results.

Tribute To Canadians

France to Honor Memory of Two Former Residents of Quebec

Dr. Victor Morin, president of the Montreal Historical Society, has left for France to represent Canada in honoring the memory of two famous Canadians. He will officiate at the unveiling of a monument at Brest to Louis Hennepin, author of "Marie Chevelenine" and other novels on French-Canadian life. At Nouville-sur-Vanne, in the Champagne district, Dr. Morin will arrange for the stationing of a memorial tablet in the village church to commemorate the birth of Paul Chomedey, Sieur de Maisonneuve, founder of Montreal.

Future of the Far North

Arctic Will Some Day Be Under Profitable Cultivation

Mr. Michael S. Grasen, F.R.G.S., a London mining engineer who is in Canada for mineralogical research work, and in his new book, "The Farthest North of Humanity," has this to say about the white man in the Arctic regions:

He denies "the fallacy of supposing that the farthest zone is the one the best favorable for the evolution of life becomes, asserting that the rarest cultures are not natives of such a zone as that by the pioneers from the civilization and the consequent ladies of transport."

Polish is made of the fact that much of the north Canadian territories still treated as "bank of beyond" are now occupied and under profitable cultivation

Mr. Mason says: "The world of to day is approaching in the north parts in a savage bed, while the new est country in all the globe holds out her arms to take in evolution, offering success for exploitation in manhood deaf or dead! Surely not, but how are they to know of these wonders if there be none to tell them? How could would go if they only knew

Noble Game of Golf

Toronto Claims to be Premier Golfing City in Canada

Toronto has a claim to being the premier golfing city in Canada Knox mous jumps in popularity for the ga ciest and royal game are recorded every year. It has reached a stage where it is one of the city's most thriving industries—the manufacture of golf clubs. Today there are 27 large clubs in the city. In 1913 there were approximately 3,000 golfers, but today there are nearly 14,000 active participants. It is said on authority that Toronto's annual golf bill now passes the two million dollars.

While Toronto is the leader, the rest of Ontario is quite in the golf line, there being 104 clubs in the province. The nearest rival to this city is Winnipeg with 14 clubs and Montreal with 13. Winnipeg has over 5,000 golfers per capita than any other city in the Dominion, although Calgary runs a close second.

Unique Advertising Idea

Reason Why Jokes Are Made About Aberdeen Stinginess

Aberdonians are spenders and not tight-trads as so often reported. One of the stock in trade jokes at Aberdeen's expense has pictured it as a city with only one lady inhabitant, and the jew remained there because he couldn't get enough money together to buy a ticket to some other place. A London investigator found that the barbers would take no tips, that a picture postcard of Aberdeen, valued at four cents, was given away, and that many shops in Aberdeen had signs in the windows, "A joke a day keeps the doctor away." It is now asserted that there is a band of jokesmiths at work in Aberdeen—for purposes of advertising—thinking up the snappy stories about the stinginess of Aberdonians which are disseminated at regular intervals.

Ancient Gates Returned

Taken From Chinese Village By Russia in 1894

Kamtin's ancient gates which had been removed by the British in 1894 were recently formally placed in their original positions. The ceremony was performed by the governor, in the presence of government officials and leading Chinese and European residents at the village of Kamtin, in the New Territories. The whole proceedings, and the speeches of this governor and of the Chinese, were marked by a wonderful cordiality and enthusiasm, and paid eloquent testimony to Anglo-Chinese friendship and the goodwill of the villagers.

(1) The Chateau Lake Louise. (2) The Patio and Sky Tobaggan. (3) A section of the Dining-room. (4) The Lounge leading to the Dining-room.

This new nine-storey hotel, occupying the ground space of an entire city block, was taken over from the contractors two weeks before its opening on June 1, by the Canadian Pacific Railway. It rises in the Chateau Lake Louise, built last winter at a cost of two million dollars on the banks of the famous Lake Louise, 6,500 feet up in the Canadian Rockies.

To equip this new hotel and stock it with food for guest occupancy on June 1, 800 beds, 800 barrows, 700 chairs, 225 pieces of upholstery, 300 desks for rooms, with sheets and pillow cases, box bed springs and other equipment to match, had to be transported three and a half miles up a narrow-gauge mountain railway. The perishable food, which had to be stocked in the hotel the day before opening, included 11,000 pounds of turkey, 5,000 pounds of roasting fowl, 18 whole lambs, 12 whole hogs, 1,000 pounds of new cabbage, 60 crates of green fruit, and 70 crates of fresh cucumbers. Approximately 7,500 eggs had to be rushed from the Canadian Pacific supply farms at Strathmore, Alberta, and placed in refrigerator cars.

Of the other foodstuffs, five tons of potatoes, 300 sacks of flour, 30 sacks of sugar, 2,000 pounds of butter, one ton of tea and a thousand pounds of fresh coffee had to be placed in the larders.

All told, a special train of eight cars, carrying 500 tons of foodstuffs, was required to open this remarkable edifice. And all of this had to be rushed in at the last moment, for at the opening banquet the new dining rooms were almost full.

A staff of 425 men and women, including three managers, had to be on hand a week before its opening. These employees have a building to themselves equipped with rooms with bath, hot and cold running water, a rotunda and a ballroom.

The new Chateau Lake Louise has 400 rooms with bath, all outside rooms, 210 of them with southern exposure facing the famous lake. There are telegraph and cable offices in the rotunda, and an 8-bed-room contains a phone which can be connected with long distance.

A resident doctor and trained nurse will have offices in the building to look after the health of its guests; and a special dining room has been built for the maids, nurses and younger children of the guests.

Chateau Lake Louise now said to be the largest and most modern equipped chateau in the world

FOR JOY OF GOOD HEALTH

Manitoba Woman Thanks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Crandall, Manitoba.—"When I was a young girl at home and working I had terrible pains, almost more than I could bear, and I was not regular. Those troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength and no ambition to join in with my friends and have a good time. I was just tired and miserable always and life just seemed as if it wasn't worth living. I saw so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it, so I got some. Every month after taking it I got stronger and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me other ways. Then when my babies were coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and must say it is made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. You see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I have told ever so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a letter from my old room in the East. Her baby was born fifteen days before mine and she told me she was not feeling very well, her back aches so much, and that she is going to take the same medicine I took. You can use my letter and I hope some one will be helped by it."—Mrs. Jos. H. Lane, Box 58, Crandall, Manitoba.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

CHAPTER I.

In Baree, for many days after he was born, the world was a vast gloomy cavern.

During these first days of his life his home was in the heart of a great windfall, where Gray Wolf his blind mother had found a safe nest for his baby-hood, and to which Kazan, his mate, came now and then with a roar, steaming like strange balls of greenish fire in the darkness.

Baree of course would never know that Gray Wolf his mother was a full blooded wolf, and that Kazan his father, was a dog. In his nature was at all already beginning its wonderful work from Gray Wolf's side.

A note of loneliness of gladness, of a great yearning "It is all right now," was saying to Kazan, and Kazan—pausing for a moment to make sure—replied with an answering note deep in his throat.

Still slowly, as if not quite sure of what he would find, Kazan came to the end and there snuggled close to his mother. He heard Kazan as he dropped down heavily on his belly close to Gray Wolf. He was startled and mightily curious. And Kazan, his companion, he sniffed the gloom his ears were alert. After a little Baree began to move. An instant he drew himself away at a time he dragged himself away

"He would have slunk back into the friendly gloom of the windfall, but at this moment Gray Wolf came around the end of a great log, followed by Kazan."

from Gray Wolf's side. Every muscle in her little body tensed. Again her wolf blood was warning her. There was danger for Baree. Her lips drew back, baring her fangs. Her throat trembled, but the note in it never came. Out of the darkness two yards away came a soft, puppyish whine, and the caressing sound of Kazan's tongue

Baree had felt the thrill of his first great adventure. He had discovered his father

This all happened in the third week of Baree's life. He was just eighteen days old when Gray Wolf allowed Kazan to make the acquaintance of his son. If it had not been for Gray Wolf's blindness and the memory of that day on the Sun Rock when the lynx had destroyed her sight, she would have given birth to Baree in the open, and his legs would have been quite strong. He would have known the sun and the moon and the stars; he would have realized who the thunder meant, and would have seen the lightning flashing in the sky. But as it was, there had been nothing for him to do in that black cavern under the windfall but stumble about a little in the darkness, and lick with his tiny red tongue the raw bones that were strewn about them.

The sun was straight above the forest when, an hour or two after Kazan's visit, Gray Wolf slipped away. Between Baree's nest and the top of the windfall were forty feet of jammed and broken timber through which not a ray of light could break. This blackness did not frighten him, for he had yet to learn the meaning of light. Day, and not night, was to fill him with his first great terror. So quite fearlessly, with a pulp for his mother to walk for him, he began to follow. If Gray Wolf heard him, she paid no attention to his call, and the scrape of her claws on the dead timber died swiftly away.

This time Baree did not stop at the eight-inch log which had always shut in his world in that particular direction. He clambered to the top of it and rolled over on the other side. Beyond this was vast adventure, and he plunged into it courageously.

It took him a long time to make the first twenty yards. Then he came to a log worn smooth by the feet of Gray Wolf and Kazan, and stopping every few feet to send out a whimpering call for his mother, he made his way further and further along it. As he went, there grew slowly a curious change in this world of his. He had known nothing but blackness. And now in his baby-eyes there began to dance a gladness, a sense of delight that was almost like happiness. Something was calling him, and Kazan—pausing for a moment now and then—replied with an answering note deep in his throat.

Still slowly, as if not quite sure of what he would find, Kazan came to the end and there snuggled close to his mother. He heard Kazan as he dropped down heavily on his belly close to Gray Wolf. He was startled and mightily curious. And Kazan, his companion, he sniffed the gloom his ears were alert. After a little Baree began to move. POISON IVY

Year after year as folks face forth to camp or summer outings interest in poison ivy revives. Many have yet to learn to recognize these low, bushy, slightly woody-stemmed plants, rising from long rootstocks at or just below ground level, and bearing the characteristic leaves of triple, smoothish, pointed leaflets, and frequently the odd clusters of round, whitish fruits (botanist Rhus).

Failing to recognize and avoid the plants, many people, susceptible to poisoning, find themselves presently interested in remedies. Few seem to be aware that on contact with the wood, or even with shoes, tools, etc., that have been in contact, they should promptly remove all traces of its virulent oil by freely lathering the skin with strong soap, and rinsing under hot running, or constantly changed water. Inflammation resulting from unsuspected exposure, or neglect of the above precautions, may be relieved by applying solutions of baking soda or Epsom salts, one or two teaspoonfuls to a cup of water, and bandaging. Various elaborate treatments are offered which are seldom any more helpful, or so readily available.

It is surprising how few efforts are made to clean up ivy from constantly frequented public and private grounds. Though eradication is found to be laborious, there are plenty of people who could work safely at it. In hard or rocky ground, wherever injury to the soil does not matter, dry salt or strong brine might be applied before growth becomes too dense, or after mowing it with a scythe. Caustic soda and other poisonous chemicals are also recommended. As a rule however, direct removal of the rootstocks from the soil, by means of grubbing hoe, potato hook, digging or ploughing, when possible, is preferable. Sometimes when growing in leaf mold or rich soil, astonishingly long strands of rootstocks can be dragged out intact. This is most safely and easily done before spring growth commences. Small patches have then been cleared up at one operation, which would have required repeated spraying.

According to the report of the Department of Agriculture, livestock marketings in Canada during the past year were the best experienced for many years. There were 978,398 cattle, 884,179 calves, 2,094,394 hogs and 455,886 sheep marketed in 1924, as compared with 823,921, 813,823, 2,262,662 and 512,260 respectively in the previous year.

According to J. H. Gibbon, secretary of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, who recently left Montreal for the West, the annual crossing ride and pow-wow under the auspices of that organization, is becoming so popular that lovers of the outdoors from England and America are attending this year, in addition to the members from the United States and Canada.

The "Beatty Boys," four British youngsters, brought out here by E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, to study Canadian farm methods, arrived in Canada on the "Montclair" this month. They are expert farmers selected by the Minister of Agriculture from the members of the Young Farmers' Club of Great Britain and will remain in Canada for two months as the guests of Mr. Beatty.

That elk, in the Pember River country, not far from Banff, are rapidly increasing in number and may possibly become a menace, is the opinion of Belmore Brown, an artist of New York who recently returned from a painting tour through the Rocky Mountains. Mr. Brown is regarded as an authority on wild animals and states that there will be, ten years from now, 10,000 elk in the district, unless steps are taken to decrease their numbers.

French-Canadian agricultural experts, theologians, students and others, touring the country under the auspices of the University of Montreal express unanimous amazement at the agricultural development of British Columbia, the scenery of Alberta, the prairies of Manitoba, the beauties of Northern Ontario and the vastness of the country in general. A similar excursion left Toronto recently under the auspices of the Teachers' Federation of Canada also over Canadian Pacific lines, and will return the middle of August.

Partridge Hill

Tuesday evening, July 28th, members of the Partridge Hill W.M.S. and their husbands went to Ardrossan to bid goodbye to Rev. Thomas Sneddon, Presbyterian minister at this point for the past two years, who, with his family will enter the service of the United church at Wayne, Alberta.

A social hour was pleasantly spent Miss Lilah Smith, on behalf of the W.M.S. presented a purse and read an address expressing regret at Mr. Sneddon's departure from this field, and emphasizing the fact of the harmonious relations existing between minister and people.

Mr Sneddon, in a brief reply, thanked the friends and assured them they would be remembered by him.

The Rev. Mr. L. Wright and Mrs. Wright of Fort Saskatchewan were present. Mr. Wright spoke in eulogistic terms of his association with Mr Sneddon and expressed the wish that all present that God's blessing would rest upon him in his new field

BON ACCORD HEADS FORT AND DISTRICT LEAGUE AFTER TUESDAY'S DISPLAY

By hiking out to Gibbons last Friday the Fort baseball team lowered their average so that it was on a par with that of Bon Accord, a position of affairs which appealed immensely to Bon Accordites and one which they have chosen to keep, one another's company. This meant a play-off between the Bon Accord and Fort teams for the premier position in the league. Fort Saskatchewan had defeated Bon Accord twice previously there remained an extra game to be played to decide the championship. The Fort team will have to play it on the score of 2 games to one meaning that Bon Accord, Several of the critical periods left the Fort supporters somewhat disappointed in the earlier stages of the game and appeared to weaken their ability to fight their way back to the lead. The unfortunate fortune was too strong for them to combat and overcome and their moments played with the vigour and confidence of a team possessing the knowledge of a winning streak.

The attitude was not noticeable in the earlier stages of the game. Up to the fourth inning, it was a nip and tuck battle, but in the fourth Bon Accord, at that time having three runs to their credit, ran in five more during the innings, the feature of which was Nadeau's homer.

From then on the Fort's efforts appeared to be futile before the confidence and jubilation the turn of events had given their opponents, and try as they would the score kept mounting higher and higher beyond the probability of catching up without some miracle happening, and it appeared the Fort players were carrying neither or miracles nor horse shoes.

Was your harvest satisfactory last season?

Did you get all of the profit from it?

UNLESS YOU USED ONE OF THE WELL KNOWN BINDING MACHINES YOU DID NOT

Deering harvesting and haying machines have assisted many farmers in getting all of the profit from their harvests in the past and will continue to do so in the future.

The reason for this is because they are built correctly, and of the best materials. They do not only last through two or three harvests but through many, and with proper care will last a lifetime.

If you are in the market for a harvesting machine and you want one that will bring you the largest returns don't forget the Deering. Call and look over our samples.

OBITUARY

The death took place early Saturday morning of Edward Dennis, aged 69 years, a resident of Fort Saskatchewan for the past thirteen years. Deceased was a member of the staff of the Provincial Gaol and had gone to spend his annual vacation with his daughter, Mrs. Knapp, of Winterburn. He was taken ill last Thursday and removed to the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton, where he was operated on for appendicitis, from which operation he failed to recover and died early Saturday morning.

He leaves to mourn his loss two daughters and three sons, these being Mrs. W. H. Turner, Waskatenau; Mrs. Henry Knapp, Winterburn; Walton Dennis, Glenella, Man.; Henry Dennis, Walwine, Sask., and Stanley Dennis, Fort Saskatchewan.

The funeral service was held at the United church, Fort Saskatchewan, on Monday afternoon, Rev. C. E. A. Pocock officiating. Officials of the gaol assisted very materially with the arrangements in connection with the ceremony, and the pallbearers were all members of the staff of that institution. They consisted of Messrs. Jack Aylesworth, Otto McLellan, Jack Coleman, Ben Pellard, Dave Adams and Herbert Holt, with Warden McLean in charge. Other members of the staff present were Messrs. T. Bullock, B. Abraham, H. Loess and H. Thom.

Wreaths were from "The Family," Staff of the Provincial Gaol, Katherine Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. D. Abraham and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glover and Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. E. Flintoff, and Mr. and Mrs. Ringsley and family.

Interment was made in the Fort Saskatchewan cemetery.

Gibbons

Mr. Mannings, accompanied by Mr. H. Gibbons, motored to Banff where they will spend a few days vacation.

Mr and Mrs. Chesley spent a few days visiting friends and relatives at Viking.

Mr. J. Bunag spent a few days among friends at Lac St. Anne.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Brandis have returned home again after spending a delightful trip to Vancouver.

Who said Gibbons could play ball? It sure proves we had the stuff on Friday, July 31, when the Fort Saskatchewan boys played the best game of the season but were defeated, the score being 17-12. Pretty large score but still well played

The Junior Ball team played a several game against the juniors of Fort Saskatchewan on Monday night. The juniors of Gibbons are something to be proud of.

We are all glad to see Mrs. Gibbons back again, and are to know that she had a comfortable trip through the mountains and quite a long visit in Vancouver.

A Hint To Our Towns

Town-people, says a Western farm paper, are notoriously ready to give advice to the farmer—and, it asks, why should not the farmer in his turn take pride in his farm and his home and be a little good adviser to his grocer and garage man and lumber dealer and hardware merchant. If thereupon proceeds, on behalf of his farmer subscribers, to tell the townspeople some home truths

Trees and flowers, beautiful homes, with attractive surroundings, are, says this paper, to be found in practically every farming district in the West, but the towns and villages are lagging far behind and most of them are becoming uglier and more hideous with the years. Unpainted stores, unattractive shacks in many cases to begin with, ramshackle outbuildings and sheds, down at the heels fences and weedy, neglected gardens—how many of the country towns in the West answer this description?

The word picture sketched by this farm paper is by no means overdrawn. While the city and farmers by the thousands have gone to extraordinary for the planning of trees and the beautifying of the surroundings in which the people pass their lives, very few towns and villages have made any effort to make them attractive. Most of them present the appearance of a group of squatters huts, occupied by trackmen, leaving the question of remaining permanently and establishing real homes, but expecting to move on. They give the impression of "boom" oil and mining towns where anything is good enough for the time being until the boom bursts and the town dies.

Country roads are frequently better than those town and village streets with their gutters overgrown with grass and weeds, and with backyards and lanes common dumping grounds for refuse and junk of all kinds. In such surroundings it is little wonder that very soon store windows remain unwashed and in a generally unkempt, untidy condition. A city store which pays mind the same indifference of slush would drive away rather than invite customers. Yet many town and village merchants wonder why people pass their doors to trade elsewhere.

Complaint is also voiced because of the difficulty of obtaining and retaining the services of qualified help in these smaller communities. But why should any self-respecting, ambitious young man or woman settle down to spend their lives in a town or village where the people lack even sufficient enterprise to paint their buildings, tidy up their premises, and generally make bad prairie streets into avenues of trees, and their private grounds into flower and small vegetable gardens?

Speaking for the farmers, the paper already quoted says: "A clean, bright, cheerful town certainly makes a better bid for business than a shabby and unkempt one, and when everybody has a car the progressive town will draw the trade." Absolutely true! Shakespeare said, "The apparel oft proclaims the man" and the world is progressively more or less of it. A shabby, neglected-looking collection of buildings is not apt to impress a prospective buyer or new citizen as being the home of up-to-date merchants where good value for his money can be obtained.

Western towns and villages should also appreciate the fact that the motor car and the rapid extension of systems of good roads are working a revolution in the tourist trade—and a lucrative trade it is. Motor tourists arriving at a neglected looking town quickly pass on, but a town of neat, nicely painted buildings, well treed streets, trimly kept gardens, and an attractive little square or park, invites a stop. It is in such towns tourists stop for the night and make their purchases; the other places get the go by.

Travelling across this country, either by train or motor, how often is the remark heard "I'd hate to live in a town like that." On the other hand, when one of our all too few little gardens town is reached, people are heard to comment on its attractiveness and to say: "Now there is a place I wouldn't mind living in."

Probably the reason why nothing is done to improve the appearance of most places is fear of the cost. But experience has demonstrated over and over again that the cost of planting trees, of laying out a small park, of keeping the town neat, is comparatively small, while the resulting benefits are large, yielding big dividends on the investment, for, after all, these things are practical, dividend-paying investments just as truly as is the provision of new fire-fighting equipment. And if the community as a whole improves the appearance of the streets and paints up, becomes becomes infectious and very quickly individual citizens put their private grounds and buildings into shape.

Certainly there is a grand opportunity open to a few public-spirited men and women in most of our Western towns and villages to render real community service by inaugurating Town Beautiful crusades.

English Teachers Visit Canada

His Majesty Conveys Message to Departing Pedagogues

The party of 100 school teachers from Britain who are visiting Canada, received the following message from His Majesty the King before their departure:

"His Majesty congratulates the leaders upon the happy conception of the undertaking which will give opportunities to study the educational system in Canada and to gain an insight into her history, development and general resources. The King feels sure that the results of this experience will be fraught with good and far-reaching effects, not only on the teachers themselves but also on those who will in the future come under their influence and instruction and upon the relations between the Motherland and the great Dominion.

"From his recollections of Canada and her warm hearted people, His Majesty can assure the teachers of the very hearty welcome which they will receive and wishes them God-speed and an enjoyable stay in that vast and fertile country."

The message was received with enthusiasm by the teachers aboard the steamer Empress of Scotland, on which they sailed for Canada.

To Chicago and back in forty two hours, which is exactly what the night air mail means to correspondents between the two cities, is hailed by Lester D. Gardner, editor of Aviation, in a congressional report to Postmaster-General New as "the fastest mail service in the world."

Actually the letter which Mr. Gard ner started for Chicago at five p.m. Wednesday and received on its return at eleven a.m. Friday was in the air only thirteen hours of the total elapsed time. So it is possible to bring about, ultimately, when the service is extended to day and night both, actual intercommunication over the hundreds of intervening miles within a single day.—New York Telegram.

NEW HEALTH FOR SUFFERING WOMEN

Aching Backs and Tired Limbs Need Not Be Endured

Too many women endure suffering that casts a shadow over half her existence. An aching back, tired limbs, attacks of faintness, splitting headaches need not be a part of woman's life. Such trials indicate plainly that the blood is thin and watery and that the sufferer needs the help of a real tonic such as Dr Williams' Pink Pills. Suffering women who have used this medicine speak of it in the highest terms. Among those who have been thus helped is Mrs. Ada L. Harman, Virden, Man., who writes:—"Following the birth of a stillborn child a few years ago, I had a very serious time. I was so weak for months that I could not walk across the room without a feeling of faintness. I had scarcely strength enough to stand up, so that when dressing would have to sit down two or three times. My face and lips were colorless, I had no appetite, and little did not seem worth living. A friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I got six boxes. Before they were all gone I felt better. My appetite was returning, color was coming into my face, and I was visibly stronger. I continued taking the pills and fully regained my former good health. I consider Dr Williams' Pink Pills a blessing to weak women, and hope my experience will induce some other sufferer to try them."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box direct from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

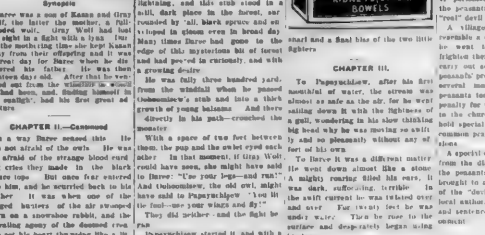
BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture. With Wolf, the War Dog in an Adaptation of This Story



"Papayschiwew started it, and with a single wild yelp Baree went back to a head, the owlet's back fastened like a red-hot wire in the soft flesh at the end of his nose."

This rabbit was the climax in the first chapter of Baree's education. It was as if Gray Wolf and Kazan had planned it all out, so that he might receive his first instruction in the art of killing

The fact that Oohoomisew, the big snow-owl, had made her nest in a broken stub not far from the windfall was destined to change the whole course of Baree's life, just as the blinding of Gray Wolf had changed that of Kazan's. The crash ran close past the stub, which had been shriven by lightning, and this stub stood in a cold, dark place in the forest, surrounded by tall, black spruce and set eyes on a dead elm. That one yelp of surprise and pain was Baree's first and last cry in the fight. The wolf-song ended in him; rage and desire to kill succeeded him. As Papayschiwew hung on, he made a furious blazing sound, and as Baree stabbed and gnashed his teeth and fought to free himself from that amazing grip on his nose, fierce little snarls came out of his throat.

For fully a minute Baree had no use of his jaws. Then, by accident, he bored his needle-like teeth in the bird's breast. It was like trying to bite through a pillow, the feathers were so close and thick. Deeper and deeper Baree sank his fangs, and just as they were beginning to prick the owlet's skin, Papayschiwew jabbing a little blindly with a beak that snapped sharply every time it closed—got him by the ear.

The pain of that held was excruciating to Baree, and he made a more desperate effort to get his teeth through his enemy's thick armour of feathers. In the struggle they rolled under the low balsams to the edge of the ravine through which ran the creek. Over the steep edge they plunged, and as they rolled and bumped to the bottom, Baree loosened his hold. Papayschiwew hung valiantly on, and when they reached the bottom he still had his grip on Baree's ear.

At this critical point, when the understanding of defeat was forming itself swiftly in Baree's mind, chance saved him. His fangs closed on one of the owlet's tender feet. Papayschiwew gave a sudden squeak. The ear was free at last—and with a snarl of triumph Baree gave a vicious jag at Papayschiwew's leg.

In the excitement of battle he had not heard the rushing remnit of the creek close under them, and over the edge of a rock Papayschiwew and he went together, the chill water of the rain-swollen stream muffling a final snarl and a final bite of the two little fighters

CHAPTER III.

To Papayschiwew, after his first mouthful of water, the stream was almost as safe as the air, for he went sailing down it with the lightness of a speck, wondering in his slow thinking big head why he was moving so swiftly and so pleasantly without any of his own efforts.

To Baree it was a different matter. He went down almost like a stone. A mighty rushing filled his ears, it was dark, suffocating, terrible. In the swift current he was rolled over and over for five or six feet before he was under water. Then he rose to the surface and desperately began using his legs.

Suddenly Dan found himself at the edge of a deep dark pool in which the water lay still as oil, and his head nearly jumped out of his body when a great, sleek, shining creature sprang out from almost under his nose and fell back with a mighty splash in the centre of it. It was Nekik, the otter.

The otter had not heard Baree, and in another moment Napanchik, his wife, came sailing out of a patch of yellow pond-lilies on the other side, the otters leaving behind them four shimmering wake, in the oily-looking water. Within a half-dozen strokes they made Baree forget for a few minutes that he was lost. Nekik had disappeared under the surface, and how he came by directly in front of Baree and Napanchik took after him fiercely.

It was about three o'clock in the afternoon, and the rain showed still as if it would never stop. But it was growing darker steadily, and the strangeness and fear of it all kept greater speed to Baree's legs. He stopped every little while to listen, and at one of these halts he heard a sound that drew from him a response and joyous whine. It was a distant howl—a wolf's howl straight from the throat. Many times in the howling of wolves but of Kazan, and as he ran through the gloom of the forest until he was winded, he stopped often and listened a long time. The wolf howl did not come again. Instead of it there came to him the wind's deep and thunderous rumble. Through the treetops there flashed a vivid streak of lightning, a menacing number of gold rods in advance of the storm; the thunder grew nearer, and a second flash of lightning seemed to strike Baree and where he stood shivering under a canopy of great spruces.

At first Baree could hardly stand, his legs were cramped; every bone in his body seemed out of joint; his ear was still wet with blood that was now out of it and hardened, and when he tried to wrinkle his wounded nose, he gave a thing little yap of pain. In such a thing were possible, he looked even worse than he felt. His hair had dried in muddy patches; he was dirty-stained from his nose to end, and where yesterday he had been plump and shiny, he was now so thin and wretched and forlorn-looking that he could hardly make him. And he was hungry. He had never before known what it meant to be really hungry.

Russian Peasants Are Superstitious

Believed Property Was Damaged As Penalty For Sins

An amazing trial illustrating the ignorance and superstition of the Russian peasantry recently was held in the Ukraine district. It came before the justices of the peace, and to strengthen his authority over the local peasantry a group of village patriarchs presided to frighten the peasantry with the pretense of a "real" devil in the village.

A village boy was dressed up to resemble a devil. During the night he went in the village dwellings in frightful form. He was instructed to carry out secretly slight damage to peasants' property. This went on for several months, and the innocent peasants took it all in earnest, as a penalty for their sins. They flocked in the church, induced the priest to hold a special service, and confessed common prayers and religious processions.

A special commission had to be sent from the district town to investigate the peasants' trouble, which were brought to an end only by the arrest of the "devil." The priest and the local authorities were placed on trial and sentenced to man; years imprisonment.

Indian Potentate Likes Golf

Says Few Score Gives Bigger Thrill Than Shooting Elephants

A rune turbanned potentate will hold sport shows to golfers to-day while he halt with various officials cross country walks through jungle, jungle rough, desert-like sand traps and velvety greens in Canada and the United States.

The Zamandar of Palampanti Pandukhanbas—take it from the passenger list—came to New York on the Aquitania recently.

"You Americans come to India to shoot tigers in our jungles," he remarked. "I come to America to shoot golf on your courses." He added that there was a bigger thrill in making a lower score on the links than in shooting an elephant.

He is going to Chicago and San Francisco and return to New York by way of Canada on the way home. And on the journey he will play his favorite game as much as he can.

Women Equal Men In Driving Test

In Fact They Slightly Surpass Them Says Automobile Association

Scientists and psychologists have determined after a series of tests that women automobile drivers are just as competent, if not more competent, than men, the American Automobile Association announced at Washington.

In the tests women were found more competent. They are, first, the speed with which the driver reacts to a danger signal and takes steps to avert it; second, the consistency with which the driver responds in such a situation.

In the first test, the experts found that men collapse were 56 seconds to react to danger, and men 29 seconds.

In the second test the variability of ten women was only 17 seconds, while that of ten men was 23 seconds.

Canada's New Headquarters

Building in London is Famous Union Club Remodelled

A good deal has been published recently about Canada's new headquarters in London, but, perhaps, many do not know that it is the famous Union Club remodelled. This was the club of the great Duke of Wellington, who overthrew Napoleon—mainly for the direction of the news

First Divorce in Far North

Edmonton.—Mr. Justice Judge Dunne, acting as stipendiary magistrate for the Northwest Territories, who resides at the city July 28 from Fort Smith, has granted the first divorce ever given in the Far North.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentry, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Alberta Tar Sands

Thirteen carloads of tar sands from the Draper lease at Waterways, were shipped east during the months of May and June, for the purpose of experimental road building at various points in the Dominion

It Testifies for Itself.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil needs no testimonial of its powers other than itself. Whenever tries it for coughs or colds, for cuts or contusions, for sprains or burns, for pain in the limbs or body, well know that the medicine proves itself and it vouches for its character. This shows why this Oil is in general use.

BRITISH NAVAL PROGRAM HAS PASSED HOUSE

London.—The House of Commons has put its stamp of approval on the government's program of building programme after the Liberals and Labourites had sought to have the appropriations for new warships reduced, on the ground that there was no naval war in sight, and, therefore, there was no need to burden the already heavily taxed country to additional expenditure of £48,000,000

Ramsay Macdonald, former Labor premier, moved a reduction of the shipbuilding vote, but the house rejected his proposal by a vote of 376 to 100

There was a great deal of talk about potential trouble in the Pacific, but Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, and the other government spokesmen steered clear of this subject in their contributions to the debate

The chancellor, in his official state ment respecting the new cruiser building programme, added there was only one menace that the fleet was wearing out

Mr Churchill took occasion to repeat one of his most persistent remarks, that, Britain having immensely modified its home fleet possibilities by agreeing to have a navy of the same size of that of another country, intended to maintain her sea forces not inferior to those of any country in the world.

Several speakers with no government position to tackle them in vagueness and generalities had much to say about possible trouble between the United States and Japan, and also about the tendency of the French to increase their submarine strength.

Press Delegates Have Left For Australia

Old Country Party Will Return Through Suez Canal

More than 50 delegates from Canada and Great Britain to the Empire Press Conference in Melbourne, September 19 and 20, embarked here on the liner Aorangi for Australia, July 20. The Old Country party, headed by Viscount and Viscountess Burnham, expect to return through the Suez Canal, thus completing a voyage around the world. It will be nearly Christmas when the majority of the party reach England. The sailing date from Freemantle is November 5. The Canadian party, for the most part, will return by way of Vancouver in October.

Annual Golden Rule Dinner

Paris.—Edouard Herriot, former French premier, has accepted the invitation of the New East Relief to its annual golden rule dinner in New York, Sept. 29, according to an announcement by the organization. Herriot has been closely associated with the organization's work for several years and for two years has been chairman of the Paris observance of Golden Rule Sunday.

Rebuild Minaki Inn

Winnipeg.—Minaki Inn, one of the Canadian National Railways' summer hotels, which was destroyed by fire last month, will be rebuilt on the bungalow style, similar to Jasper Park Lodge. Announcement to this effect was made following a conference of syst em officials with Sir Henry Thornton, who states that plans will be completed immediately for the erection of the new inn

Women Equal Men In Driving Test

In Fact They Slightly Surpass Them Says Automobile Association

Scientists and psychologists have determined after a series of tests that women automobile drivers are just as competent, if not more competent, than men, the American Automobile Association announced at Washington.

In the two tests women were found more competent. They are, first, the speed with which the driver reacts to a danger signal and takes steps to avert it; second, the consistency with which the driver responds in such a situation.

In the first test, the experts found that men collapse were 56 seconds to react to danger, and men 29 seconds.

Welcome Mount Logan Climbers

Conquerors of Canada's Highest Peak Return to Vancouver

Vancouver, Bronzed by the glare of the peaks of Mount Logan and lean as greyhounds from the hardships of their successful scaling of Canada's most formidable peak, Captain A. H. McCarthy, of Wilbur Hall, leader of the expedition Lieut Col W. W. Foster, D.S.O., of Vancouver, H. F. Lambert, of Ottawa and Henry Hall, Jr. of Boston, returned to Vancouver by boat from Victoria. They received from their friends and admirers a most hearty welcome.

Except for Mr Lambert, none of the mountaineers displays any physical evidences of hardships Mr Lambert, owing to the frost bitten feet, received with his feet still encased in moccasins. He is still under treatment

Col Foster, the local member of the expedition, declared "there is nothing more to be said about our trip than has been written already."

Declares Wheat Pool Success

Could Not Expect More For First Year Says Hon. Doherty

Regina.—The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool met with all the success it could reasonably expect in the first year of operation," stated Hon. Manning W. Doherty, M.L.A., for East Kent, ton, Ont., former minister of agriculture in the Drury Government who assisted in the organization of the pool, before leaving Regina and who is now for the big rally of the Saskatchewan Wheat Producers' Association at the Stadium in the exhibition grounds here. "Any criticism of the pool's methods or operations is unjustifiable and to say about possible trouble between the United States and Japan, and also about the tendency of the French to increase their submarine strength.

Refunding Of Loans

Government Must Finance to Extent of $165,000,000 This Year

Ottawa.—Hon. James A. Robb, acting minister of finance, who recently returned from a holiday, is turning his attention to the financing of loans maturing during the latter part of the year. Financing to the extent of $165,000,000 will be necessary this year, the government having to meet the first maturing obligation, amounting to five million pounds sterling, on August 12, will be met with cash. On the 15th of the following month, treasury bills to the amount of $90,000,000 fall due, and on the first of November, treasury notes to the amount of $1,000,000 mature. The first war loan of 1915, payable in ten years, falls due on December 1. The amount is $12 015,500.

Mr. Robb has gone to Toronto, and it is understood will discuss the question of refunding some of these loans with financial tobacco.

More Farmers For Alberta

One Hundred Young Britishers Coming Over This Fall

Edmonton, Alta.—Shadbolt Amory, manager for the overseas settlement board, and himself a member of the board, passed through Edmonton on Friday on his way to Canmore and Banff in Australia, and between trains, Hon. Geo. Hoadley talked over with him the chances for further British immigration to Alberta this year.

There will be 100 more young Britishers coming over this fall, said Mr. Amory, and applications are now being received at the board's offices in London.

Four Vacancies to Fill

Ottawa.—The resignation of Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, as member of Saint John, has necessitated by the resigning leader of the New Brunswick Conservative party, creates the fourth vacancy in the House of Commons. The other seats vacant are Compton, Quebec, held by a Liberal; East Hastings, by a Conservative, and west Middlesex, by a Progressive. If there is not a general election, by-elections in these constituencies will inevitably be necessary

Cost More To Harvest Crop

More Binder Twine Will Be Needed says Far Heavy Straw

Winnipeg.—It will cost Canadian farmers one-fourth more to harvest their crops this year as compared with last, according to T. J. Murray, of the operation," stated Hon. Manning W. Proposal To Tax Railways On A Mileage Basis

Winnipeg Suggesting that the Manitoba Government consider adopting a policy of taxing railways on a mileage basis instead of gross earnings, Sir Henry Thornton president of the Canadian National Railways, Major G. M. Bell, deputy minister of railways and Mr Gelley, member of the provincial railways board, conferred with Premier Bracken here.

Premier Bracken informs the proposed scheme does not take into consideration the great increase in mileage and long haul now made necessary by the recent settlement of the Canadian National Railways debt. The railway officials it was stated plan to submit the proposal to other provincial governments on their visit here, and confer with Premier Bracken on their return journey

Federal Election Speculation

No Announcement is Expected For Some Days Yet

Ottawa.—It is now stated here on good authority that there will be no more meetings of cabinet until after the New Brunswick election on August 10. In that case it is impossible that it re will be any announcement in regard to the holding of an election this autumn, for a couple of weeks. It has been taken for granted that the government will await the New Brunswick result before deciding whether or not to go to the country this autumn. If it should prove favorable to the government now in power it will be a factor in determining the federal premier to make his appeal. If it should be unfavorable, it will be an added argument for those who are counselling delay. For the present, apparently the question of holding an election before the snow flies must remain unchanged

New Grain Act

Revised Act With New Regulations Has Now Come Into Operation

Ottawa.—The Canada Grain Act as revised at the last session of parliament became effective August 1.

The order in council authorizing the application of the new regulations has been passed and the official proclamation will be made in The Canada Gazette this week

The Canada Grain Act was one of the most important measures before parliament last session, and a special committee gave several weeks to the consideration of its clauses.

The amendments to the old act were chiefly respecting the operation of elevators, the weighing and grading of grain, and the final elevators under the present act can be put under the control of a commission if the government so orders, though such action is regarded as unlikely

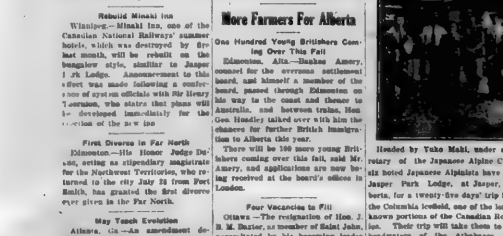
Duke of York is Not Expected Next Year

London—It is understood that while the Duke of York, younger brother of the Prince of Wales, has accepted the honorary presidency of the World Forum of Freedom at Jorktown, Va., he is not expected to go to Yorktown next year, as New York dispatches have stated he would do. Recently it was announced in New York that the World Forum expected the Duke to visit Yorktown next year The purpose of the forum is to restore and perpetuate the Yorktown field, where the British commander, Lord Cornwallis, surrendered to the armies fighting for American independence in October, 1781

Japanese Alpinists Climb at Jasper



Headed by Yuko Maki, under secretary of the Japanese Alpine Club, six noted Japanese Alpinists have left Jasper Park Lodge, Alberta, for Alberta, for a twenty-five days' trip into the Columbia Icefield, one of the loneliest known portions of the Canadian Rockies. Their trip will take them to the headwaters of the Athabasca and North Saskatchewan Rivers, and an endeavor will be made to climb Mount Alberta, a virgin peak which has so far defied all efforts to conquer its higher slopes. Members of the party state that if the territory lives up to their expectations it will attract hundreds of Japanese Alpinists annually. The expedition is elaborately equipped scientifically and the equipment includes still and motion picture cameras and a complete dark room with which pictures will be developed in the field. Three Swiss guides, Heinrich Fuhrer, Hans Kohler and Jean Webber, from Jasper Park Lodge, are accompanying the party and five guides and forty horses from the outfitting stables of Fred Brewster, are being employed on the trip. This is the largest party which has left the lodge this year, and the first party of Japanese Alpinists to tackle some of the untried fields of the Canadian Rockies

TREATY RELATING TO CHINA WILL NOW BE RATIFIED

Washington.—Arrangements are being made at the department of state for the formal exchange of ratifications of the nine-power treaty relating to China, which was signed at the time of the Washington arms conference

Notification has been received that the necessary documents from Paris through the French ambassador, relating the treaty would reach Washington within the next few days France was the last of the nine powers to ratify

The treaty is that providing for a commission to revise Chinese customs, to provide the Chinese Central Government with a five per cent ad valorem duty on imports The assembling of this commission is looked for as the first essential step in stabilization of conditions in China, in order to insure adequate protection of foreigners

Increase In Passport Issues

Unusual Number of Canadians Are Going Abroad This Year

Ottawa.—Canadians are travelling abroad this summer in greater numbers than usual, judging by the number of passports issued. The heaviest movement is always in the months of March, April and May, although the classes that are better-in do travel more in July and August Since the passing of the $5 passport regulations, the passport issue has averaged nearly 3,000 a month By the end of the year the total will approximate 36,000 As the fee has been raised $5, this becomes a rather substantial source of revenue

As British subjects coming to Canada do not require passports, repeated efforts have been made to secure the adoption of the system by Canada when going only to the British Isles. The Imperial Government, however, takes the stand that identification of all persons landing in that country is necessary, and that no method is less troublesome in the long run than the passport system

Alberta Rates Case

S. B. Woods, K.C., to Represent Province Before Railway Commission

Edmonton.—S. B. Woods, K.C., of Edmonton has been appointed by the Alberta Government as provincial freight rates counsel, and will represent the province before the railway commission when it holds its sittings into the freight rate question He will take the Alberta side of the case only, and will not be associated with any other interests over the commission

Two objectives, in particular will be sought in connection with the province's effort to get better rates, according to Premier Brownlee. One will be a through rate on coal and grain westward on the same basis as the Crow's Nest tariff. The movement of coal will be applicable on a matter of national importance, and the commission will be asked to establish a favorable rate that will make it commercially possible

Invents New War Weapon

Detroit Man Will Give Demonstration On U. S. Battleship

San Francisco, Cal.—Demonstration of a destructive force which he has invented will be carried out on a United States battleship off the coast of California, Dr. Edwin R. Scott, of Detroit, declared.

Dr. Scott, who is said to have sold the French Government the "Billalite" artillery shell during the world war, calls his new munition the "death stroke." He claims it will kill 800 with which it comes in contact with within a radius of 30 miles. The metal destruction will take place within two months, the Detroit inventor said

Blackfeet Party "All Well"

Washington.—The steamboat Dorothea and Percy, of the MacMillan Arctic expedition, left South Tyrmatit, Greenland, July 27, and proceeded south to Melville Bay, according to a radio message dated July 27, received by the National Geographical Society, via Seattle. The message adds "all well."

PROVINCE WILL PROVIDE INSULIN WHERE NEEDED

Clipped by request from the columns of The Ranna Herald

In a letter to the Herald, W. C. Laidlaw ,Deputy Minister of Public Health for this province, informs this paper that the Department has decided to hereafter provide insulin to all patients whose circumstances are such that it would be a hardship to require them to pay the full cost.

Several weeks ago the Herald took this matter up with the Department, and a personal interview with Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Public Health, was obtained. The Herald appealed to the Minister to furnish insulin to patients who could not afford its purchase, and gave the case of Ontario as an example. That province, shortly after the discovery of insulin, arranged for the free distribution of the serum to all diabetics who could not bear the cost themselves. Insulin, we pointed out, was a very expensive remedy, though its beneficial effects were unquestioned.

The Herald cited cases which had come to its attention, in which the sufferer faced the possibility pay for insulin. In one case, especially, a quantity had been provided to a sufferer, and this man had enjoyed a wonderful improvement. But, as the treatment must be continued as long as the patient lives, the financial drain perceptibly was proving too much.

After this explanation, Mr. Hoadley promised the Herald that he would take action at once, and announcement was received this week that the Department would hereafter arrange for the supply of insulin to all patients who could not pay for same.

As insulin is recognized throughout the world as being the one and only successful remedy for diabetes, the action of the Department means that all sufferers from this disease will be able to secure relief. Heretofore the cost of insulin has prohibited it to the poor.

Yorkville

Mr. A. Walker of Agricola gave a barn dance last Friday. A large number from the Fort and surrounding districts were present. All report a swell time.

We are pleased to report Ernest Bocker, who is at present ill in hospital, is improving. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. G. W. Armstrong and family, and Mr. G. W. and Miss E. Spallin spent a week holidaying at Alberta Beach recently. Bert Armstrong and Sid Jolliffe joined them on Sunday. The boys had fine success fishing; Guy was fortunate enough to hook an eight-pounder.

The monthly meeting of the Red Cross was held at the home of Mr. T. Johnston. The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. G. W. Armstrong, August 12.

J. R. Armstrong has had a new chicken house erected on his farm and is now busy making eaves troughs for his Bird

Miss Allen Kritas, of Lamont, is visiting with her grandmother, Mrs. H. A. Spallin.

G. W. Armstrong has had a verandah built on his home.

Master Clair Kelly, who has been visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Twiggs, returned home last Sunday.

Mr. A. Pierce, Lamont, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. K. Armstrong

Mrs. E. Wilmsroth, Mrs. C. Walther, Mrs. E. Plinkoff, Miss M. Simmons and little Gladys Wilmsroth, of the Fort, visited at Mrs. T. Johnston's Red Cross day. Mrs. Wilmsroth gave a very interesting talk on the good the Red Cross is doing, which was much appreciated. Mrs. W. Caine, Mrs. R. Rees, Misses I. and L. Ind, Misses G. and E. Robinson, of this district, were also visitors.

A short program was arranged for the social hour:

Instrumental—Miss I. Ind.

Reading—Miss G. Robinson.

Duet—Misses I. and L. Ind.

Recitation—Mrs. Caine.

Song—Miss L. Ind.

Recitation—Miss E. Robinson.

Batteries were: Bon Accord—Ken Crozier-Shorty Owens; Fort—Ellis Graham-Scotland and Scotland-Diamond.

A FEW REMARKS

Roy Stuckey and Don Blyth certainly picked off those two base stealers in fine style in the third innings.

George Cranston made a couple of good catches in centre field.

Nadeau's home run was a beauty, the second he has made in the league games played this season.

Ellis Graham's consistent hitting throughout the season is without parallel in the league, so they say.

EARL HAIG JOINS JASPER TRAIL RIDERS

WHEN Field Marshal Earl Haig visited Jasper National Park and learned of the organization known as the Jasper Squadron, Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, during his visit, he expressed a wish not only to visit the encampment but also to join the organization as a charter member of the baby squadron. The Field Marshal and Countess Haig now shortly have mounted, with a group of the Trail Riders around them and the tepees of the encampment behind them. Members of the Field Marshal's party, all of whom had ridden many miles of mountain trails since their arrival in the Canadian Rockies, were also enrolled as charter members of the new organization, which is under the presidency of Major Fred Brewster, M.C., outfitter at Jasper Park Lodge.—C.N.R. Printed crepe and white washable silk join forces in making these two attractive frocks. The buttoning from the right onto the left side of the front hold a plain panel in place, on the dress worn by the older girl. The tabs are omitted on the dress worn by the little tot and narrower bretelles have been used to finish the edges of the panel, trim the collar, and cuffs on the short sleeves Sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. Size 4 years requires 2 yards of 32 inch material. Price 20 cents.

Our new Fashion Book contains many styles showing how to dress boys and girls. Simplicity is the rule for well-dressed children. Clothes of character and individuality for the junior folks are hard to buy, but easy to make with our patterns. A little amount of money spent on good materials, cut on simple lines, will give children the privileges of wearing adorable things. Price of the book 10 cents the copy. Each copy includes one coupon good for five cents in the purchase of any pattern.

BEGINNING THE SECOND MID SUMMARY TOUR

Golden Text: He is not here, for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.—Matthew 28:6.

The Text Explained and Illumined

The second Galilean journey plan and route. After seeing the days' ministry, exposition, defending a controversy, speaking to the Pharisees, he harnesses the story, visit the twelve, finishes up, says good-bye, and we hear them as he starts. He would direct them that he might show himself with their eyes open. Make sure of this in such spiritual gifts as were suitable to the particular task, their life's training, path was that he was preparing. What is right for the perfecting of his cure, and the present ing of a subject? (Matthew Henry)

In that previous journey they had suffered much. They had been expelled from Antioch of Pisidia, they had been driven from Iconium with threats of stoning, and at Lystra Paul had been stoned and left for dead outside the city. Now Paul proposes returning the same route.

"Here was the courage that prevails. The steady faith that never fails" (Van Dyke)

World's Longest Railway

Road Completed In Australia is 3,433 Miles Long

The longest railway in the world is now complete by the recent laying of a connecting link, making a continuous line of track from Meekatharra, in west Australia, to Halberra, in Queensland, a distance of 2,412 miles. The line from Halifax to Vancouver, Canada, via Canadian National Railways, is 2,784.7 miles, and, by way of the Canadian Pacific Railway, 3,662. These two are direct lines, whereas the Australia distance is the result of a connecting up of two systems

Eczema On Hands For Two Years Cuticura Healed

"For about two years I suffered with eczema on my hands. It started with small pimples and then turned to a rash and was very sore and red. It baked terribly at times and kept spreading until my fingers were covered with it. I could not put my hands in water nor do any work. I did not get much sleep at night on account of the irritation.

"I used other remedies without much success. I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised and sent for a free sample. After using it I purchased more and in a month's time I was completely healed." (Signed) Lawrence Chenier, Wentworth, Chazy, N. Y., Sept. 27, 1926.

Ideal Cuticura Soap and Ointment prove every day toilet preparations and have a clear, pure and delicate scent smooth hands, and a healthy scalp with good hair. Cuticura Talcum is unrivalled to powder.

Universal Gloom in Russia

People Are Poor and Do Not Care What Happens

Gordon Selfridge, the London department store man, who has just returned from a tour of Soviet Russia, recording his impressions in the Weekly Dispatch, said:

I do not consider there is sufficient money in Russia to buy British goods. Nobody in Russia has money to spend. Highest paid Soviet officials receive a salary of only £30 a month, and goods of any value would not find a market among an almost penniless people.

The Russians have reached a stage of universal gloom which is almost incomprehensible to the western mind.

They are meticulously polite to strangers, and although everybody is very poor, nobody will accept a tip —not even a waiter. I offered one to a train official, and with dignity he refused it. M. Litvinoff told me it was Russian pride, and I cannot help admiring them for it.

Russia, he said, is a "land where nothing matters." Nobody cares much what happens.

Passed Through Town Bearing His Name

Field Marshal Planned That B.C. Town Was Named "Haig"

The Haig special train passed through Haig, B.C., Field Marshal Haig learned for the first time that a town along the transcontinental line of the Canadian Pacific Railway had been named after him.

The field marshal was sitting in his parlor compartment when a large red station boarding the name "Haig" bove into sight. When he leaned forward in his chair and looked at the name he was asked by a Canadian if he did not know that this town had been named after him several years ago. He said: No, it is the first I had heard of it," and he looked very pleased

FORT SASKATCHEWAN SCHOOL REPORT

The secretary was instructed to notify those parties that their children could attend school but the Board was not in a position to say for what length of time.

Inspector's report was read and the secretary instructed to request Mr. Markle to have all school children during school hours remain within bounds, said bounds to be the grounds enclosed by school fence, and the public square in rear of school.

The committee appointed to inspect the condition of the school building reported it to be in a bad condition. Some ceilings would require plastering, some windows leaked and needed fixing, some painting, varnishing and calcimining should be done, new black boards were required and others needed painting. The committee were authorized to use their own discretion and have the necessary repairs attended to.

According to the official records one hundred and thirty whales have been caught by the Victoria, B.C. whaling fleet so far this season. The sperm whale is the most plentiful this year.

It has been estimated that over one hundred and fifty thousand people attended the Calgary Stampede this year. A historical pageant more than five miles long was the opening feature of the jubilee.

With an estimated attendance of five thousand each, twenty conventions have been booked to take place in Montreal for August, September and October, according to figures from the Tourist and Convention Bureau of that city.

It is expected that when Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Lands and Forests, returns to Canada, a thorough organization of the conservation of lumber recognized in ancient Quebec to be present at the wonderfully impressive ceremonies attending the burial of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, late Cardinal Begin. The Basilica, which has only recently been reconstructed and opened to the public, presented a scene of splendid beauty and majestic dignity while the profoundly sorrowful services were being recited.

At this year's Cross-country Ride and Fore-wee of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies it is expected that approximately one hundred riders will serve a new trail which extends from Marble Canyon on the Banff-Windermere Road over the Wolverine Plateau and past Lake O'Hara to Hector, while between 250 and 300 are expected at the Fore-wee near the Wapta Bungalow Camp. While out west Field Marshal Earl Haig signed on as a member of the Trail Riders.

On the occasion of the departure from England of a party of one hundred school teachers on board the "Empress of Scotland" to visit Canada and study educational methods here, His Majesty the King sent the following message to the International Education League: "His Majesty congratulates the League upon the happy conception of the undertaking which will give opportunities to study the educational system in Canada and to gain an insight into her history, development and general resources.

That 80,000 harvesters would be required to handle this year's crop, of which the East would be expected to supply 50,000, was the estimate arrived at last week at a conference of various governments held in the Canadian Pacific offices at Winnipeg. In the meantime the Canadian Pacific Railway has taken all necessary steps to transport the army of harvesters. Their colonist cars and special equipment has been overhauled and the company is now fully prepared for its annual rush of harvesters.

George Morris Bosworth, Chairman of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, who died in London, England, on the morning of July 28th, from septic poisoning following an operation for appendicitis, was with the company almost from its inception. He was 61 years old when he died, joined the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1883 and was head of the steamship service for nearly seven years. When informed of Mr. Bosworth's death, E. W. Beatty, K.C., chairman and president of the company, stated that in his opinion Mr. Bosworth had had no equal in the country as a manager of railway traffic and added that "the company deeply regrets the passing of another of the old guard, whose ability and effort so largely contributed to the company's success."

ALBERTA'S FREIGHT RATE CASE

The Province of Alberta will present a united front to the Railway Commission on the question of freight rates when that body commences its general investigation into the question.

At a conference held in Edmonton last Wednesday at the instance of the Alberta government, at which representatives of the Boards of Trade of Edmonton and Calgary and of other interests were present, the following general points were decided upon for presentation to the Commission. Sir Henry Drayton's counsel in the enquiry will be S. B. Woods, K.C.

(1) That the standard of mileage freight tariff scale should as far as possible be on the same basis all over Canada.

(2) That the distributing tariffs should continue as at present, namely, 55 per cent of the standard mileage basis in the West.

(3) That the charge for any commodity to Calgary and Edmonton from eastern Canada should not be greater than that charged from the same points to Vancouver.

(4) That the basis of export rates on grain and flour applicable to Fort William should apply to the Pacific coast.

(5) Reduction in coal rates to develop markets east and west.

(6) Adjustment of export rates via both seaboards in order to develop further markets for the primary products of Alberta and for the necessary reductions in import rates to meet the requirements of the province.

(7) Adjustment of class rates on the shorter C.N.R. mileage.

(8) Adjustment of rates as between distributing centres.

The matter of details in regard to equalization of rates generally and the securing of corresponding rates available to the needs was left in the hands of a small committee consisting of the chairman, Mr. J. H. Hanna, Secretary Calgary Board of Trade; A. Chard, supervisor of traffic for the Alberta government and Mr. S. B. Woods, counsel for the province of Alberta.

A thorough discussion of the many points at issue took place and an amicable solution reached by the conferees in all cases. All interested expressed themselves as well pleased with the results of the meeting.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

Newspaper advertising is an accurate barometer of the progressiveness and enterprise of the community. The enterprise of the individual merchant may also be measured by the extensiveness and quality of his newspaper advertising. The prosperity of the community depends upon the prosperity of its business and the prosperity of any business depends in a great part upon its advertising. Merchants long ago learned the wisdom of inviting the buying public into their stores. From the merchant's experience communities have learned the value of inviting strangers to visit them. Through advertising the merchants and communities have succeeded in attracting buyers and visitors. To succeed in business one must have more than just something to sell. He must let the buying public know what he has for sale. Here again the community has learned something from the merchant and invites new citizens by apprising them of what it has to offer. But from the community the merchant has learned one of the secrets of advertising. The city and town seeking to expand its business and increase its population does not confine itself to praising one of its many civic achievements or industries. It advertises them all. So the business man knows that, while his small advertisement will be read and bring him its full share of customers, the large display advertisement will bring him many buyers.—Ex

COUNCILLOR SIMMONS TENDERS RESIGNATION

The council of the Town of Fort Saskatchewan met on Thursday, August 6, Deputy-Mayor Graham occupying the chair in the absence of Mayor Sutherland.

The report of Mr. J. W. Dons, civil engineer on the grading and draining of the town streets, and Mr. J. Derby, official valuator on the half-yearly audit of the town accounts, were submitted, and accepted and adopted as read.

The resignation of Councillor D. Simmons, his second appointed was regretfully accepted, a vote of thanks being tendered to the said councillor. Limited further time and work given great delay in connection with the local drainage.

The secretary was appointed by by-law to collect the arrears of taxes and penalties due to the town, and to advertise the same for sale by public auction.

The weed growth, roads and vacant property generally in the town was discussed, and it was decided to take immediate steps to have same cut down.

The next council meeting will be held Thursday, August 20

MAIN FEATURES OF NATURAL RESOURCES PACT

The following are the main features of the natural resources agreement:

1. All crown lands, mines, minerals and royalties formerly administered by the Dominion to be administered by the province of Alberta, the province to get the revenue therefrom.

2. In lieu of accounting, continuation of the Federal subsidy of $562,500 per annum for another three years this sum being considered sufficient to enable the province to meet the outlay necessary to carry out the terms of the agreement.

3. Transfer to the province of its share of the school land fund.

4. All fishery rights in provincial waters to be vested in the province, the crown to retain, however, its interest in the waters under the Northwest Irrigation Act of 1894.

5. Indian reserves to be retained in the jurisdiction of the Dominion government, the province to set aside from its crown land any additional lands required to enable the Dominion government to carry out its treaty obligations.

6. Soldier settlement lands upon which any advance has been made by the Dominion government under the Soldiers' Settlement Act to be retained by the Dominion government.

7. Cooking Lake forest reserve, including game, minerals and fishery rights, to be retained by the Dominion government. Other reserves as per schedule A to be retained by the Dominion government, including fishery rights, but not mines and minerals.

THE NATURAL RESOURCES

At the adjourned session Premier Greenfield gave the house the draft agreement between the Dominion and Provincial governments for the transfer of the natural resources to the province. He stated that he had received a promise from Premier King that the agreement would be introduced at the next session of the commons. The legislature pa. ped a resolution, first introduced by Premier Greenfield, but later modified at the request of Hon. C. R. Mitchell, to the effect that the Dominion government be urged to conclude negotiations as quickly as possible along the lines of the general principles of the draft agreement.

BILLS PASSED

Legislation providing that all gas and oil pipe lines built in the province shall be common carriers, was introduced at the adjourned session by Hon. Alex. Ross, minister of public works, who also introduced a bill giving him stronger powers with respect to granting consent to such pipe lines to cross road allowances. A number of other bills of lesser importance were dealt with.

Theorists: After the automobile, what? His wife (brightly): Dust! —Life.

THE PEACE RIVER RAILWAY

In the short adjourned session of the Legislature held last week, the matter of the bonding of the E.D. and B.C. railway was dealt with. Premier Greenfield explained that the Royal Bank, as holders of the common stock on the railway, had refused to consent to a lease of the line to any railway company before settlement of its claim against the road had been made, and that the bank asked $2,000,000 in settlement of these claims. He announced that the government would not recommend the payment of this amount. Later in the session it was announced that the bank had reduced its prize to $1,700,000, but the government still is opposed to accepting this

The Premier also tabled the offers for the leasing of the railway made by the C.P.R. and C.N.R. The C.P.R. offers to take a lease of seven years at a yearly rental of $40,000 and to put prairie passenger and freight rates into effect, but declares that if any competing line is built into the country, it desires the right to cancel the lease by six months' notice.

The C.N.R. asks a lease for twelve years at a rental of one dollar a year and half the net profits, and also agrees to put the prairie rates into effect. Regarding the building of a coast outlet, the C.P.R. president states this is to be left to the future, but that the directors might consider building the outlet when the export grain production along the line reaches 10,000,000 bushels for three years in succession.

The engineers of both roads have reported that the building of an outlet to the coast at the present time is too prohibitive in cost.

In the case of either company leasing the line, the province would continue to pay the fixed charges. Both railway companies make temporary offers to operate the road until the government can come to an agreement with the Royal Bank.

The provincial government is continuing its negotiations with the Royal Bank.

Governing Canada

Canada's first Premier was wont to say that the Dominion was a difficult country to govern. It he found this to be true in the years immediately following confederation, when Canada consisted chiefly of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, and the West was an unknown factor of small population and undeveloped territory, how much more difficult must the problem be today with the addition and needs of nearly three millions of people west of the Great Lakes, unable to be harmonized with those of the six millions east of that geographical boundary.

Forty years ago the problem was to effect a compromise between the conflicting views of the farming population of Ontario and Quebec on the one hand and the industrial interests of those Provinces on the other hand, and also to reconcile the then acute differences existing between French-speaking Roman Catholic Quebec and English-speaking Protestant Ontario. Coupled with these major difficulties was the task of uniting by a bond of common interest those two Provinces of huge Canada with the Maritime Provinces.

With the passage of time the old racial and religious animosities between Ontario and Quebec have largely disappeared, while the development of manufacturing in both Provinces, and the shifting of the main agricultural activity to the prairies in the newer Western Provinces, has served to create a dynamic unity of sentiment in regard to tariffs and national questions in the East although marked differences still exist between the central Provinces and the Maritimes.

But the old conflict of interest between agricultural producer and manufacturer which raged in the East in years gone by still prevails between East and West, but intensified by reason of sectional considerations, a more or less solid East against a solid West, which means normally it was merely a difference of view-points within a respect community.

Some good people despair of any solution of this national problem being found, but there is no reason for such gloomy forebodings. The statesmen of the world over has always demonstrated its ability to solve such problems, and what it has repeatedly accomplished in the past, it can succeed in doing in the future. If only complete patience, good-will and forbearance that these will not be found lacking in Canada is indicated by the growing realization, both East and West, that an understanding based on mutual compromise must be worked out.

In the government of Canada some earnest people also find cause for disquiet in the changes which, in the onward march of the world, are taking place in the relationships existing between Great Britain and the overseas Dominions of the Empire. In the development of a national consciousness in the several Dominions, and their growing autonomy in regard to matters of domestic concern, danger to the Empire is seen by those who are not far-sighted. Some years ago they were frightened by the hogey of annexation to the United States because of a proposal of mutual trade concessions between this Dominion and the Republic and adopted as their rallying cry "No truck nor trade with the Yankees." It is now universally recognized that the defeat of Reciprocity was a great national blunder, but, despite its defeat, trade goes on increasing year after year and Canada's independence and British connection is in no wise impaired.

The present Premier of Canada well stated the position the other day when he said that as Canada is true to herself, true to her own interests, true to Canada's highest interests, so will Canadian citizenship mean most for Empire citizenship, that the Empire is just what His Majesty the King has so often described it as "a community of free nations." The Premier added: "We have all that any nation could desire in the way of self-government, and more than most nations have by way of a much-to-be-envied political association with other nations of like ideals and aims." That is to say, Canada enjoys all the rights of self government—if there is anything that she desires—and, in addition, enjoys all the advantages and strength accruing from its Empire connection. Most countries would sacrifice a great deal to obtain the same position.

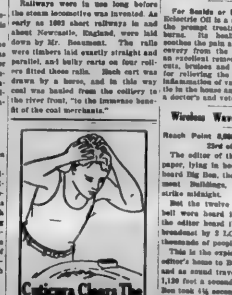
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Highly Praised By a Nova Scotia Lady

Among the well known and esteemed residents of Mainford, N.S., is Mrs. Angus Mr. Woodworth had the misfortune to lose her husband, and as a result of caring for him during his illness, and attending to his many duties she became terribly run-down. Mrs. Woodworth says she felt as though her blood had turned to water. The most carefully selected food never tired her and nourished her. She was often attacked by spells of weakness that left her almost speechless, and frequently suffered from severe headaches. The medicines she took did not help her, and she almost despaired of gaining her health. In this condition she one day read in a newspaper of a case very similar to her own, in which health was restored through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This made her decide to give these pills a trial. After using a few boxes she found the pills were helping her, and she continued their use until her old-time health and vitality were restored. Now Mrs. Woodworth looks after a small farm of fifteen acres, besides doing all her household work and says she never felt better or more energetic in her life. She strongly urges that her present splendid health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, as the best medicine she ever used, and is glad to have recommend the pills to all run-down people.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Railways in Early Years

Railways were in use long before the steam locomotive was invented. As early as 1602 short railways in and around Newcastle, England, were laid down by Mr. Beaumont. The rails were timbers laid exactly straight and parallel, and early carts on four rollers fitted these rails. Coal cart was drawn by a horse, and in this way coal was hauled from the colliery to the river Tyne in the immense benefit of the coal merchants."



Higher Education In Canada

Registration 30,373 At Canadian Universities

The assets of Canadian universities in 1921 amounted to $30,364,627 the revenue to $10,541,874 and the expenditure to $11,776,237. These figures are given in a preliminary report on higher education in Canada issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

The registration at the 23 universities in Canada for the academic year ending June 30, 1921, was 30,373, about the same as in 1922. Of this number about one-third were females.

Production And Export Of Pure Seed Is Becoming An Important Industry In Canada

Canada is making very marked progress in the production and export of pure seed, and the annual meeting of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association proved the past year to have been an outstanding one in this regard. Between the two meetings, according to the records presented, the association's crop registration service had increased almost one hundred per cent. In 1922 there were registered about one thousand fields and in 1924 about two thousand fields. In round figures the acreage of seed crops registered in 1924 were as follows: Wheat 17,000 acres, 255,500 bushels; oats, 11,000 acres, 662,000 bushels; barley 500 acres, 15,000 bushels; flax 900 acres, 9,200 bushels; alfalfa 4,000 acres, 600,000 pounds.

The year 1924 was a very active one for the association in which a great deal was accomplished. Outstanding were the organization and putting into operation of crop inspection and letters of membership for the assembling, cleaning, storing and selling of registered seed potatoes, one of these being located at Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, and the other at Sclkirk in Manitoba. The demand for the seed products of these plants was in excess of available supplies.

To meet the requirements of members desiring cleaning machinery which would be efficient for preparing seed grains for the grades "Registered" and "Extra No. 1," the association found it necessary to go abroad and import machinery from France. Seven units of the Mercl Rabot type were accordingly been delivered to private growers and Dominion and provincial stations at Lacombe, Alberta; Minot, Manitoba, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Indian Lakehead, Ontario; Kemptville, Ontario; Guelph, Ontario; and Fredericton, New Brunswick.

During 1924 nearly 70,000 bushels of pure seed grain were handled and marketed by the Canadian Pacific Railway Plant. in Southern Alberta, from the new plant established for alfalfa seed, some 6,000 pounds were sold during the 1924 crop. A feature of the year, according to the association secretary, was the marked interest shown in the registration of fodder and forage seed crops. Hilia stock seed of special strains of such crops as timothy, alsike, meadow fescue and meadow brome now being distributed for multiplication, principally in the prairie provinces and British Columbia, and it is quite apparent that in the course of a few years fodder and forage crop pro-

Great Variety Of Cheese

Thirty-three Different Kinds Are Made In British Isles

An official report shows over 200 varieties of cheese known at the present time. Of these, thirty-three varieties are made in the British Isles, where, it is pointed out, different districts have strikingly marked preferences in the matter of texture of color of cheese. The Lancashire folk are especially fond of "Manchester White" cheese, while Scottish people prefer a brick not unlike Cheddar. Cumberland, Leicester and York each produce what may be termed regional cheeses, and foreign competitors color their cheeses for them marketing accordingly. The well-known Roquefort cheese is made of sheep's milk, while Gruyere is made from the milk of goats. One of the queerest kinds is Schapsiegar, a Swiss green cheese, which is so strong in flavor that only a fragment is eaten at a time.

The Greatness Of Canada

Optimism Has Only Touched Outside Edge of Development

At such a moment as this we do well to recall that Canada is a land of big distances, and her great men have been great because of the largeness of their vision. Sheer vision are even less fitted in the circumstances of today than they were in the days of Macdonald, Tupper and Monti Stephen, Strathcona and Van Horne. Mr. Larkin does well, therefore, in estimating the future to remind Englishmen that there are the chiefs of the future era on the population of Canada has increased from just over five to about nine and a quarter millions; she has emerged as one of the great grain growing countries of the world, and a substantial producer of dairy produce, she has developed her man ufactures so that her industrial output has increased five-fold, and she has definitely entered the ranks as a great exporting nation. As for the future, what a tale is suggested by these two last words. It would require indeed a mental revolution to have this problem set as well as that of other grains soon attained in the west or in all Canada. The prairie west for many years will be in an economic position wider different from that of the present, and there are still considerable possibilities of engagement in the poultry industry in Canada. Properly entered upon and intelligently pursued there is unquestionably opportunity for the expansion of poultry farming in the Canadian west, and will require indeed no other advantages in this connection.

The number of poultry in Canada is shown as an increase, being returned at 42,400,000 of all kinds throughout the Dominion in 1924 as compared with 39,000,000 the previous year. According to the latest returns there are 9.6 per farm in British Columbia 19.9 in Alberta, Saskatchewan 29.1, Manitoba 41.7, Ontario 61.4 Edwards land 60.4, Quebec 49.7, New Brunswick 28.2 and Nova Scotia 31.9 The total poultry is felt that, with the removal of the duty, encouragement will be given to Canadian sheep breeders to improve and enlarge their flocks.

Owing to the increasing profitableness of the sheep raising business, the department took warranted in taking Hand, in south Africa, and American exports predict that one day gold will be found there in paying quantities.

Gold Mines in Britain

Big Reef Runs Under Forest of Dean Near London

Gold mines have been known and worked in Great Britain for centuries. One of queen Elizabeth's most prized possessions was a gobiet made entirely of gold taken from a mine in Wales.

The reason for this step is the fact that for the past two or three years there has been a gradual decline in the sheep breeding industry in the Dominion, and in 1924 amounting to 212,648,045 dozen worth $50,332,439 as against 215,545,554 dozen worth $44,770,756 in the previous year.

Teachers Favor Tree Planting

Good Object Lesson in Betterment of Home Life

An interesting and important development of the tree planting movement is the attitude which teachers and educational authorities, parties ierly in Saskatchewan, are manifesting to take towards it. Many school grounds have been planted with the assistance of the forestry branch, in Saskatchewan 202 schools were last spring supplied with 155,060 seedlings and cuttings, and in smaller number were similarly assisted in Manitoba and Alberta. This object lesson in the betterment of home life by the improvement of surroundings is viewed as very important by western educationists.

Says Artificial Rain Cannot Be Produced

No Method Successful is Opinion of Authority on Weather

Dr. W. J. Humphries, one of the foremost meteorologists in the country, described to the British Association at Toronto the many efforts that have been made to produce rain by artificial means, such as caustic discharges, explosions of gunpowder or shells, the use of chemicals, dusting the sky, spraying liquid air on the clouds, and sprinkling the clouds with electrified sand. He believes that not one of these methods of the slightest use in spite of much apparent success attending the efforts of certain "rain makers."

Increase in Paper Products

One hundred and fifteen mills in operation in Canada during the past year, produced pulp and paper products to the value of $187,174,702 as compared with an output of $188,642,100 for 1923, $155,483,877 for 1922, and $154,641,977 for 1921, according to a preliminary report of the bureau of statistics. There are little import able changes in the volume or value of wood pulp, pulpwood and kindred products, but there was an increase in the production of newsprint, which amounted to 1,388,981 tons in 1924 as against 1,361,841 tons in 1923.

Greater Interest Being Taken In Promoting And Fostering The Poultry Industry Here

Manufactures in the West

Western Provinces Still Depend Largely on Grain Production

The industrialization of the prairie west is referred to as a means of satisfying the western farmers and raising them of their desire for free trade by providing them with a home market. One of the advocates of the movement has raised the phrase, "Western workshops for western workers." The idea is a good one, but it would be unwise to expect that the establishment of factories will solve the western problem within the near future. The western wheat crop in 1923 was 462,000,000 bushels, and in 1924, 325,000,000 bushels. It would require industrial revolution to have this product as well as that of other grains consumed in the west or in all Canada. The prairie west for many years will be an economic position wider different from that of the present, and there are still considerable possibilities of engagement in the poultry industry in Canada. Properly entered upon and intelligently pursued there is unquestionably opportunity for the expansion of poultry farming in the Canadian west, and will require indeed no other advantages in this connection.

Canada's Production of Chemical Pulp

Exports of mechanical wood pulp from Canadian mills during 1924 amounted to 163,466 tons, as compared with 159,879 tons in 1923 and 98,924 tons in 1922. It is very significant that whereas the American chemical pulp mills in 1917 produced 83 per cent of the total chemical pulp consumption of that country, their proportion of the total tonnage in 1924 had fallen to 62 per cent. In the same period Canada's exports of chemical pulp increased 117 per cent, largely as a result of the increased demand from the United States.

"Darby and Joan"

Chief Far Away Cough and his friend Mrs. Mad Hood, of the Beach-foot Indians, attended the McLeod Indian Day celebration and recognized in each other old school mates. They were both well into their teens before the even loser of their lives was disheartened by the barrenness of the white man. For Far Away Cough saw his first Paleface at the age of 14, and they were both nearing their prime when the Palefaces were settling on their midst and they were already old before the first Pacific train passed over their beloved prairies. Their lives are wrapped up in the history of western Canada, and if they had literary inclinations they could write a history of their country with far greater claim to authority than any white historian who has told of the evolution of the west from second-hand information. Far Away Cough is 100 years old and Mrs Mad Hood is 98.

Since the summer which attended Canada's first overseas exhibition of her poultry at Wembley and at Barrow Isna Spale. In 1924, Canadian poultry breeders have come to attach a more genuine and wider importance to their industry and become more active and energetic in fostering it. Among other results adopted at the annual meeting of the Canadama Poultry Association was one to ask government assistance to the shipment of live poultry breeding stock to Great Britain and Europe generally with the object of building up a market for Canadian poultry overseas. Recently two hundred White Wyandottes from the ranch of the Hon J H Martin Ontario's minister of agriculture, left the Dominion consigned to the British Isles, Sweden, Holland Denmark and Ireland.

This official interest in the poultry industry corroborates with the estimation of a marked decree of interest in the poultry industry and indicates a possibility of engagement in the poultry industry in Canada. Properly entered upon and intelligently pursued there is unquestionably opportunity for the expansion of poultry farming in the Canadian west, and will require indeed no other advantages in this connection.

Dominions Should Aid Navy

Readjustment of Cost to Britain If Long Overdue

The Dominion joins other New Zealand newspapers in discussing the naval policy of the dominions and states that the time is at hand when the British dominions must either accept their full responsibilities in the matter of naval defence of the empire or dispense with the measure of protection on which they have hitherto relied.

The Wellington Post says that, some day, thankfully, the British dominions see the Mother Country facing her imperial obligations may inspire some of them to do likewise.

The Herald, Auckland, says a readjustment of the cost of the navy is long overdue.

"Britain has been very patient," the Herald adds, "and the dominions have taken full advantage of her patience. The time for minor disputes (in the British House of Commons) must be interpreted as a critical point in the wider question of empire naval defence.

Planning Great Air Liner

British Firm Will Build First Boat Airship

A grand engineering feat will be started by a well-known British firm in the early summer of next year, the building of the world's largest airship, the first steel air liner. It will be about 720 feet long, nearly twice the height of St. Paul's.

The airship will be able to carry a load of 150 tons, and seven engines, with a horse-power totalling 4,200, will drive the monster seventy miles an hour, at a height of 5,000 feet.

The island at Cardington, in which the R-101 will be built, is to be enlarged to a length of 812 feet, and will then be the largest building in the British empire.

It is estimated that the airship will be finished by the end of 1926, and will make her first trip to India in 1927.

Protect—Fur-Bearing Animals

Society in Springfield, Mass., Organized to Prevent Unnecessary Killing

In an effort to reduce unnecessary killing of fur-bearing animals, a campaign has been launched against extravagant use of furs for purposes of decoration. That the necessary slaying may be humanely accomplished, suggestions are welcomed by the organization promoting the movement, which may result in more humane methods of trapping, such as the invention of a trap which will kill instantly. Two associations in question is the American Bird Cross Society, with headquarters in Springfield, Mass., which for three years has been carrying on driven in connection with this work.

It is stated that the Blue Cross Society is not opposed to the wearing of furs as a protection against cold, but only to an excessive use of furs as embellishment.

The Flesh Against the Spirit

The power of love, verses 13-15. Brothers, wrote Paul, you are free from the law, but Christian liberty does not mean that men can do as they please. Do not use your freedom as a license for indulging your lower impulses, but live in accordance with the law of love. Christ is need to be "that element of man's nature which is opposed to goodness, and makes for evil. It signifies the entire perversity of sin." Through his love for others you "fulfil the whole divine law which is, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Moffatt's Commentary, Lev. 19:18. Then, remembering that the Galatians were people to regard he adds, But if ye bite and devour one another—act toward one another like dogs or wild beasts—beware lest ye be consumed one of another.

Will Abandon Island

Land Off North Wales Coast Is Too Isolated

Bardsey Island situated off the coast of North Wales is about to be abandoned by its inhabitants. The island is about two miles long and one mile wide and has its own bay. Thirty years ago Bardsey had a population of one hundred people, but the lure of the mainland has taken them. It has been living on also small holdings. King Lare Pritchard, the island's monarch, died in 1915 aged 101, and is now eighty three years of age. His predecessor, King John II, abdicated, and died in a Welsh workhouse. The youngest inhabitant is a child of five. No rates or taxes are paid by the islanders. The decision to abandon the island is the result of a conference of the islanders, the main reason being the difficulty of transport. Although only twenty miles from the mainland and the island is only two miles, currents and tides make the passage one of danger. Many boats are wrecked often been for six weeks without communication with the mainland. Most of the young men, being sailors, have left the island.

Germany Rejoices Over Evacuation of Ruhr

Occupied By French Forces Since January 11, 1923

French evacuation of the Ruhr is complete, that not a single French soldier remained in the mining and industrial basin after midnight July 31.

The entry of the French forces into the Ruhr took place January 11, 1923. It caused much ink to flow, and entire pages of the newspapers were devoted to the report of the operation designed to bring about payment by Germany of her reparations obligations.

The occupation, which has been going on for the past seven months, has been totally ignored by the French press and remains by the general public.

At 12 o'clock all couriers and the passes were chimed to observe the official termination of the occupation of the Ruhr by allied troops. Flags were flown throughout the city, and the inhabitants rejoiced.

Innkeeper Had To Pay

Fined £30 By English Judge For Not Admitting Traveller

A traveller in the lake district of England who found himself stranded, owing to a mishap at 5.45 one morning, went to an hotel and rang the bell.

No one opened the door, and, although he rang again and again, he was unable to gain admission for over an hour, while he stood in the cold and rain.

He brought an action against the hotelkeeper, because he wished to show that innkeepers have a duty to the travelling public which they are legally bound to carry out, and the judge, agreeing with him, awarded him £30 damages.

Secured Franchise For Canadian Women

Dr. Augusta Gullen Believes In Enlarging Opportunities

Canadian women who enjoy the suffrage, owe a debt of gratitude to Augusta Stowe Gullen, M.D., C.M., who in a large measure was responsible for securing this right to her country women. Dr. Stowe, says the London Free Press, was born at Norwich, Oxford county. She is the daughter of two doctors, a doctor herself, and the wife of a doctor. So that her heritage is a rightful one.

In all matters pertaining to enlarged opportunities for women education, ality, medicinally, legally and politically Dr. Stowe Gullen has ever been an exponent and advocate unswerving in her loyalty to the cause of women. She is a woman of brilliant mental and social attainments; a convincing speaker, both progressive and aggressive

British Plan Naval Construction

Total Estimated Cost of Ships Will Be $200,000,000

W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, supplied parliament with official details of the proposed new naval construction up to and including the year 1929-30. During the current year four cruisers would be laid down. They will belong to class A. The following year two cruisers of class A and one of class B will be built. The three succeeding years will have one of class A and two of class B each.

The programme provides for a total of 37 destroyers, 23 submarines of the O type and one of the fleet type, five floating cranes and a number of other auxiliaries. The total estimated cost is £14,000,000

What Canada Produces

Though Canada has but a small percentage of the world's population, she produces:

92 per cent. of its asbestos.
85 per cent. of its nickel.
33 per cent. of its pulpwood.
30 per cent. of its furbish.
30 per cent. of its cured fish.
15 per cent. of its oats.
15 per cent. of its potatoes.
11½ per cent. of its wheat.
11 per cent. of its barley.

A stock that spends the time every 16 minutes has been invented.

Polish Police Have Seized Red Literature

Three-quarters of a Ton Discovered At Warsaw

A huge store of Communist propaganda literature, weighing, in the aggregate, three-quarters of a ton, was discovered by the police at Warsaw. It consisted of pamphlets printed in several languages, and apparently formed the main stock of the literature of the Communists in Poland.

The minister of the interior said the Communist party in Poland was not increasing in power. On the contrary, the recent activity of the police against Communist activities had had a distinct effect in decreasing them.

Nations Contributing To League's Expenses

Heaviest Contributor is Great Britain With France Second

The expense of the League of Nations for the present year will total $4,371,365, according to the secretary-general of the league. Fifty-five nations are contributing to this year's expense, with Great Britain the largest contributor, to the amount of $411,478, and France second, with $364,710. Other large contributors will be China with $283,794; India with $200,563; Italy and Japan, $255,329 each; Argentine and Canada, $183,656 each; Spain, $197,026; and Czecho-Slovakia, $154,391.

RAILWAYS OFFER NORTH COUNTRY PRAIRIE RATES

Edmonton—Both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways have agreed to amend their offers in respect to operation of the Peace River Route, by undertaking to give the benefit of a prairie rate basis for a temporary period, pending the conclusion of satisfactory terms with the Royal Bank.

Premier Greenfield made a statement to this effect in the legislature

He said he had received advices from both railways since his statement in the house on Aug. 1, but that this constituted the only new development in the situation, nothing having been heard from the bank

The effect of the new undertaking by either railway will be that for at least one season, and perhaps for more, a temporary arrangement will be in force by which the wheat country will be given a one-line haul into the meeting one of the strongest objections to the proposed agreement with the C.P.R. continues, thus amended, until the complications with the Royal Bank are straightened out.

May Be President Of League Assembly

Name of Senator Dandurand, Canadian Delegate, Is Mentioned

Geneva.—Senator Raoul Dandurand, chief Canadian delegate, is being prominently mentioned for the presidency of the assembly of the League of Nations, which will begin its session here September 1.

Denmark has registered the secretariat of the league to place on the agenda the establishment of a draft project for the creation of a commission of conciliation at the permanent court of international justice at The Hague.

The first reaction in League of Nations circles to the Danish proposal is that it represents an attempt by neutral states to remove from the council of the League of Nations the exercise of conciliation, which hitherto has formed a notable feature of the council's activities, and place it under the jurisdiction of the world court, which would appoint conciliators in any dispute.

New Air Record Set

Message From Illinois Answered In Fifteen Minutes From Arctic

Arlington Heights, Ills.—For the first time in history, the successful direct transmission and reception of messages to and from the Arctic Polar area was recorded when the MacMillan Arctic expedition answered a query of newspapermen from a local radio station.

The expedition, located at Etah, Greenland, approximately 3,700 miles north of Chicago, clearly heard the message, and within 15 minutes the answer came back, correctly misdirected by static and adverse weather conditions.

Chicago's Crime Increases

Chicago.—Persons are being murdered in Chicago at a rate of more than one each day. A total of 227 have been murdered to date this year. If that pace of the last 211 days continues for the next 154 days, the Chicago murders at the end of 1925 will number 391.

Support Legion Idea

North Bay, Ont.—A mass meeting of ex-service men, attending the "Soldiers' Day" of the North Bay Old Home Week activities, unanimously gave assurance of the whole-hearted support in making the proposed Red Ink Legion of Canada an accomplished fact.

To Reduce Staffs

Quebec—Immigration officials here are expecting a general reduction of immigration staffs throughout Canada, but declare that the slash will not be made until after the federal elections. A reduction by as much as 25 per cent. of the personnel is anticipated.

Press Delegates Have Reached Honolulu

Canadian Will Leave On Return Trip October 8

Honolulu.—Delegates from Great Britain, Canada and other British Dominions on their way to the 22nd imperial press conference in Australia arrived here on the liner Aorangi and were warmly welcomed by the representatives of the Government of Hawaii and the people of Honolulu.

Today, the British press party is being entertained by the chamber of commerce to a sightseeing tour culminating in an official luncheon.

Among the visitors from Vancouver, the Canadian delegates organized their section with J. H. Woods, of Calgary, president of the Canadian Press, as chairman. The conference opens in Melbourne, September 28, and closes on a substantial basis for any other settlement.

Canadians announced that a permanent exchange of views had taken place with Lord Jellicoe concerning Empire naval defence and that the proposals on the subject he recently made were not at all unfavorable to which the recent British note was addressed had replied he had no grounds to suppose any change would raise any difficulty with regard to the pan Islam organization in that it was a substantial basis for any other settlement.

Test Flights Successful

MacMillan Expedition Intends to Establish Base on Ellesmere Island

Washington.—With all three of its aeroplanes re-assembled, test flights successfully conducted at Etah, Greenland, by the MacMillan Arctic expedition, preparing to establish an Arctic base and explorations Lieut. Commander Byrd commanding the navy section of the expedition, has received word relayed to the navy department that despite the unusually unfavorable conditions encountered during the assembling of the planes, all three are in perfect flying order.

It is understood to be the intention of the expedition to establish a flying base on Ellesmere Island, across from Greenland, about half way on the journey through the polar regions. Arthur was taken against the company under the Dominion Combines and Investigation Act, and the heads of the various company branches seized by the Royal Canadian Mounted police. The books are now being audited under supervision of government agents.

Will Keep Government House

Edmonton.—By a vote of 32 to 7, the Alberta Legislature, on motion of Dr. R. B. Bennett, Conservative, Leth bridge, seconded by Premier Greenfield, rescinded the Dawidson McKeen act of March last, calling upon the government to sell or otherwise dispose of Government House.

ALLIED DEBTS DISCUSSED BY BRITISH HOUSE

London.—The question of the allied debts came before the house of commons today when Sir Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in answering a question, said he was in touch with the French government regarding the matter, but could not say when a statement would be made.

Sir Austen also said that the negotiations had resulted in an agreement with the United States government that the British debt to the United States should be funded on the same terms and conditions as those granted to France and Italy.

Sir Austen announced that a preliminary exchange of views had taken place with the Italian government regarding Italy's debt to Great Britain. He did not disclose the terms of the proposals on the subject. He concluded by saying that all the agreements to which the recent British note was addressed had replied he had no grounds to suppose any change would raise any difficulty with regard to the pan Islam organization in that it was a substantial basis for any other settlement.

British Women Gain Victory

Admitted to Royal College of Surgeons On Equality With Men

London.—British women have gain ed another victory in their fight for equal rights with men when the Royal College of Surgeons decided to admit women on the same terms and under the same conditions as men. Here tofore women have been admitted to the college as fellows and members but without the right to vote or to membership at the college for the council which is the executive body of the college.

In the future women also will be eligible for seats on the council which by right hereafter has been decided them. There are at present 13 women fellows and members who are affected by the decision

Honor Memory Of Canadian Author

Admirers of Louis Hemon Place Tablet in House at Brest, France

Paris.—The memory of Louis Hemon, famous Canadian author, has been honored, thanks to his Canadian admirers, when a bronze tablet was placed in his natal house at Brest. The town of Quimper already has named one of its principal streets after the author, who has been said to be more celebrated throughout the world than in his own country.

The tablet bears this inscription

"In this house was born Louis Hemon, author of Maria Chapdelaine. This tablet was placed by his admirers in Canada."

GOLD STANDARD WORKING WELL SAYS CHURCHILL

London.—Britain's return to the gold standard which, during several weeks, has drawn forth a willing, though discordant chorus of adverse criticism from various sources, was staunchly defended in the house of Lords by Winston Spencer Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer.

Unquestionably, Mr. Churchill declared, the gold standard affected everything to a certain degree, and anyone could argue the fact that everything disagreeable which had happened since the gold standard was restored was due to its restoration. But disagreeable things always were happening, he remarked. He then asked that the government action be judged not by fluctuations occurring over short periods but by its value in the long run.

If Capitol had not taken the action she did," the chancellor contended, "the British empire would have been in trouble to and come out in a gold standard, not of the pound sterling but of the dollar.

The chancellor said he was regardant of the growing tide of criticism and propaganda against the gold standard, but he pointed out that the critics disagreed among themselves and that no political party had challenged the government to action. The gold standard was working successfully."

Saskatchewan Residents Ask Indemnity From Germany

Regina.—Twenty-two war claims amounting to over $100,000 have been filed by Saskatchewan residents against her among as a result of her activities during the war. The majority of the claims are for loss of personal effects and in some cases the loss of relatives aboard ships which were torpedoed by the Germans, according to James F. C. Ottawa, war claims commissioner.

Inglis Malcolm Williams, of the city, had the most interesting claim to present to the commission. His claim is for $4,000 for drawings and paintings lost at sea through enemy action.

Mrs. Gertrude Alice E. Bunney, now of Winnipeg, has a claim for $20,000 for the loss of her husband on the H.M.S. Lusitania. Mrs Martha Ellen Matthews, of 19 Hogarth Block, Moose Jaw, also claims $40,000 for the loss of her husband on the Lusitania.

Difference Over Security Pact

Matter Not Ready For Discussion Between Foreign Ministers

London.—While Briand has created an awkward situation for the first Locarno council, it is understood that he is coming to London to talk with Austen Chamberlain on the security pact and not to withdraw from united Mr. Chamberlain stays the date.

A serious difference of opinion has arisen between the French and the British over the drafting of a note replying to the latest German communication on security, and there is still much to be threshed out before the matter is ready for discussion between the two statesmen. The situation is not helped by the air agreement on a draft settlement. The French offer is considered by no means acceptable, and the comments of the French press on the British refusal to accept it, show there is no real desire of the French to meet the obligations.

Minister Wins Bard's Crown

Pellhell, Wales.—The bard's crown at the Welsh eisteddfod, national festival for the encouragement of music and literature, has been won for the third time by Rev William S Evans, of Bridgend, Wales, who was winner in 1913 and again in 1917. Ten thousand persons attended the festival, delegations coming from the British colonies and Dominions and from the United States There were more than 3,000 entrants in the competitions in music, drama and poetry.

EARL HAIG AS ENGINE DRIVER

When Field Marshal Earl Haig crossed the Canadian Rockies on his special Canadian National Railways train, he expressed a wish to view the scenery from the cab of the engine rather than from the observation car which was attached to his train. He therefore took the throttle of the locomotive at Blue River and drove his own engine for several miles. Upper photograph shows him aboard the engine of his special, while below he is shown with Dominion Hall, looking out toward Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies

REST AND CHANGE

Edison once said that a change of employment was as good as a vacation. Women doing housework know that this must be so, else they could not keep going all day long, from 6 a.m. till 10 or 11 at night, as so many mothers with no "inside help" have to do to keep a family fed, clothed, mended, and otherwise comfortable and happy.

It is a wise woman, therefore, who plans her work for the day, so that the things that require her to be on her feet are alternated with those which permit her to sit down.

Another way to get an almost unbelievable amount of refreshment, is to change shoes, or sit a few minutes

FILLING

There are in the prairie provinces three general types of silo, the above-ground, the pit, and the trench, all three of which have been in use for several years at the Dominion Experimental Station at Roethem. The above-ground type is generally round or square and built of lumber or concrete; the pit is round, ten to twenty feet deep but not down to the water level, and walled with cement; and the trench is what its name implies, simply a trench scooped with horse and scraper. The above-ground and the pit silos are expensive, costing upwards of three hundred dollars, besides labor, whereas the cost of the trench is simply the horse and manual labor of digging.

The above-ground type has the one advantage over the other two of having the ensilage in a place where it can be easily delivered to the cattle. The ensilage from the pit has to be lifted and that from the trench hauled or carried. The ensilage in the above-ground type freezes from the outside to as much as three feet leaving, in a fourteen-foot round silo, and a core of an eight-foot diameter of unfrozen silage. This frozen ensilage has to be chopped out and fed frozen or allowed to thaw in the spring when most of it is almost sure to be wasted.

A trench ten feet wide at the top, seven feet wide at the bottom and seven feet deep and as long as necessary to hold the supply of ensilage, can be easily dug by two men and a team in two or three days. If the excavated material is piled along the edge of the trench it prevents water from running in and adds to the depth and capacity of the trench. If the sides are thus built up to make the trench two feet deeper, the capacity of a silo of this width and depth is approximately one and one-half tons per foot of length. Thus, if the silo is forty feet long it will hold sixty tons of ensilage.

During filling, the ensilage should be kept spread evenly and well trampled. After filling, freezing can be prevented by putting palm screen and covering with straw.

JUST R'ARIN' TO GO

At a filling station along one of the lower California highways a large Locomobile car drove up and the driver asked, "How far to Santa Ana?" The attendant answered, "One hundred and ten miles."

"Put in ten gallons of gas and a quart of oil," said the driver.

Next car was a Cadillac, and the same conversation took place. He wanted twenty gallons of gas and two quarts of oil. Next car was a Pierce-Arrow. Same conversation, only driver wanted twenty-five gallons of gas and four quarts of oil.

The next car was a Ford. The driver hopped out, asked the same question, received the same answer, and said: "All right. Give me a pack of Camels, (cigarettes) fill her up with water and hold 'er till I get in."

If your rent is strong oak water (while darning a pair of stockings or putting in a needed patch, perhaps). A steel made of a wooden box covered with denim or carpet, on which you can put your feet, is sometimes given a change to your muscles that rests them.

But even all these taken together are not really enough to keep one "up and coming." Every woman needs to get outside the four walls of the home sometimes, to see other places and people, to get the interest and stimulation of new things to think about. Being "neighbourly" is one way to do it.

Britain Celebrates Hundred Years of Railroading

Upper—Stephenson's first engine on the starting of Darlington Railway. Inset—The interior of the observation car on the Locomotive "Darlington" at Trans-Canada Limited—The Trans-Canada hurried Montreal.

The old Stockton and Darlington Railway, in England, is a matter of history now. Its board of directors is no more; its investor has passed to his reward; its rolling stock, or what survives of it, rests in peace in museums; its track served its day and been left behind in the march of progress.

But this year a century since the time when the Stockton and Darlington Railway was regarded as a marvelous engineering achievement and threatened the supremacy of the stage coach as a means of long-distance transportation—the ancient engines have been taken down from their pedestals, the wheels oiled, the rust removed and once again high hatted presidents and bonnetted maidens have been bumped along from Stockton to Darlington behind the first railroad locomotive England ever had.

Thus the people of Great Britain celebrated its railway centenary. Processions of defunct rolling stock, and rolling stock that is almost defunct illustrated the evolution of railway transportation and gave to the rising generation an insight into the agonies our grandparents had to endure if they wished to go from one place to another by train. The Duke and Duchess of York attended the celebrations and, watching the parades, became thoroughly infected with the spirit of the occasion. All those who took part in the processions, and some of those who didn't, dressed in the costumes of the period, giving to the celebrations an atmosphere altogether in keeping with the nature of the celebration.

By way of showing the wonderful development that has taken place in railroading since the first engine painfully puffed its way from Darlington to Stockton there is shown above one of the engines used in the centenary celebrations pulling a replica of the original train footrasted with the ultra-modern Trans-Canada, the all-steel Canadian Pacific Train, which nowadays conveys its passengers from one part of the Dominion to another three thousand miles away, at a speed considered unattainable by our forefathers, and in greater comfort and security than many of them enjoyed at home.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

Synopsis

Baree, son of Kazan and Gray Wolf, reached the climax in the first chapter of his education when he saw an owl swoop down and kill a snowshoe rabbit. Then the gray owl attacked Baree. The dog buried his teeth in the bird's breast but the owl fastened its beak on Baree's ear. Before things closed on one of the owl's yellow feet and the dog's ear was saved Baree had learned the law of life—a creek and the owl flew away.

When he went on, continuing in the direction he had been following yesterday, he slunk along in a different manner. He was not only stomach-hungry, another hunger rose above his physical yearning for something to eat. He wanted his mother as he had never wanted her before in his life. He wanted to snuggle his shivering little body close up to her and feel the warm curving of her tongue as she licked away the last vestige of the old wallow and made him ready for sleep. And he wanted Kazan, and there were times, important times, when he could whimper for him. But he did not whimper. He was afraid. He was afraid of the night and of the big blue eyes in the sky right over it. While he followed again along the edge of the creek he whimpered for them as a child might grieve.

The forest grew more open after a time, and this the wind blew up a little. Also the warmth of the sun had begun to ache out of his bed. He grew hungrier and hungrier. He had decided that Kazan and Gray Wolf for food. His parents had, in some ways made a great habit of him. Gray Wolf's kindness, arranging for this for since his birth she had not taken up her hunting with Kazan, ague and it was quite natural that Baree should stick close to her, though more than once he had been filled with a great yearning to follow his father Nature was hard at work trying to overcome its handicap now. It was struggling to impress on Baree that the time had now come when he must look his own food.

With the thinning out of the forest the creek grew more shallow. It ran again over a bed of sand and stones, and Baree began to nose along the edge of those. For a long time he had no success. The few crabs that he saw were exceedingly lively and elusive, and all the crawfish's were shut so tight that even Kazan's paw-trial love would have had difficulty in smashing them. It was almost noon when he caught his first crayfish, about as big a man's forefinger. He devoured it ravenously. The taste of food gave him fresh courage. He caught two more crayfish during the afternoon.

With the approach of night Baree's fears and great loneliness returned. Before the day had quite gone he found himself a shelter under a big rock, where there was a warm, soft bed of sand. Since the fight with old Pagan neither he had travelled a long distance, and the rock under which he made his bed this night was at least a foot or more taller than the windfall. It was in the open of the creek bottom, with the dark forest of spruce and cedars close on either side; and when the moon rose, and the stars filled the sky Baree could look out and see the water of the stream shimmering like a glow almost as bright as day directly in front of him, running to the water's edge, was a broad carpet of white sand. Across this sand half an hour later came a huge black bear.

Until Baree had seen the otters at play in the trees, his conceptions of the forests had not gone beyond his own kind and such creatures as were rabbits and small feathered things. The otters had frightened him because he still associated all strangers with Kazan, and Kazan was the monster beside which Baree would be a mere pigmy. It was not in nature was taking this way of introducing Baree to the fact that there were more important creatures in the forests than dogs and wolves, and owls and rabbits, and that the big blue eyes in the sky right over it was the one thing that ever upon the face of the earth which whimpered for Kazan. Baree, weighed six hundred pounds if he weighed an ounce. He was fat and sleek from a month's gorging on fish. His shiny coat was like black velvet in the moonlight, and he walked with a curious rolling motion that was a heritage from his father. Gray Wolf had long low. The horror grew when he stopped broadside in the carpet of sand not more than four from the rock under which Baree was shivering as if he had the

CHAPTER IV.

When Baree ventured forth from under his rock at the beginning of the next day, he was a much older puppy than when he met Pagan brother, the young owl, in his path near the old windfall. If experience can be made to take the place of age, he had aged

It was quite evident that Wakayon had rendered aid to him in the affair. Baree could hear him sniff—could hear his breathing caught the starlight flashing in his reddish-brown eyes as he turned slowly toward the big boulder. If Baree could have known then that he—his insignificant self—was making that monster actually nervous and uneasy, he would have given a yelp of joy. For Wakayon, in spite of his size, was accustomed of a reward when it came to wolves. And Baree carried the wolf-coast. It grew stronger in Wakayon's nose; and just then, as if to increase whatever nervousness was growing in him, there came from out of the forest behind him a long and wailing howl.

With an audible grunt, Wakayon moved on. Wolves were pests, to be driven out of the way quicker than a wink when one turned on them. What was the use of hanging around where there were wolves, on a beautiful night like this? He lumbered on decisively. Baree could hear him splashing heavily through the water at the creek. Not until then did the wolf-dog draw a full breath. It was almost a gasp.

A first death in the first forty-eight hours in fact he had gained almost one of puppyhood. He awoke with a new and much broader conception of the world. It was a big place. It was filled with many things of which Kazan and Gray Wolf were not the least important. The sweetest part of it was the fragrant smell of food, and he had learned by him a new kind of fear that, and the one great—instinct of beasts—the primal understanding that it is the strong that prey upon the weak was wakening swiftly in him.

If he could only find something to eat! That was the master thought that possessed Baree. Instinct had not yet impressed upon him that this was the time to be still, to lie low and wait. He went on, seeking hungrily for food. But at last, as the hours passed hope began to die out of him. The sun sank westwards. The sky grew to a blue; a low wind began to ride over the tops of the stubs, and now and then one of them fell with a startling crash.

Baree could go no farther. An hour before dusk he lay down in the open, weak and starved. The sun disappeared behind the forest. The moon rolled up from the east. The stars glittered with stars and all through the night Baree lay as if dead. When morning came, he dragged himself to the stream for a drink. With his last strength he went on. It was the wolf urging him compelling him to strug gle to the last for life. The dog in him wanted to lie down and die. But the wolf-spark in him burned stronger. In the end it was. Half a mile farther on he came again to the green timber

ONTARIO WOMAN REGAINS HEALTH

Wants Other Women to Know About Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mount Forest, Ont.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt weak and miserable, and has pains all through me. I was living in Allan Craig at the time, and one day a friend came in and told me her experience of using the Vegetable Compound and advised me to take a bottle which I finally did. I began to get stronger and those pains left me. I am glad I found out about this medicine as I think there is some good in it for women who have troubles of this kind. I cannot praise the Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. Whenever I know of a woman suffering I am glad to tell her of it."—Mrs. Wm. Ridsdale, R.R. Explorer Tells How Lizard Rejected Its Admirer

In "Adventures in Exploration at the World's End," William Beebe, the explorer says:

No snooper had I passed beyond the open sandy beach of Galapagos Island, thus little lizards began to dart along her path

I crept up to the first one I saw, anxious to get a photograph, and while looking into my camera almost trod upon it, so tame was it. While waiting for it to turn sideways, a big male crawled between my feet and nodded insistently to a scarlet throated female sunning herself on a bit of lava. He crept a little nearer, nodded again, whereupon the lady lizard rose as high as possible upon all four legs, making them look like straight little sticks, arched her body, bent herself up with air until she lost all resemblance to a lizard, and, turning her head slowly, spat upon her admirer. He turned, most indignantly caught a fly, and sadly made his way elsewhere. Never have I seen such a sudden transformation and more unmistakable indication of disposition

Last But Twelve Hours

Flowers of Night Blooming Cereus Widen At Dawn

Of the many beautiful flowers of the Hawaiian Islands, the night-blooming cereus stands out by itself. It comes of the cactus family and is without competition, as it is the owl of the flower kingdom. The life of the flower is about twelve hours. The buds begin to open as the shades of night gather, and by the time darkness settles the flower is fully open. But with the coming of the morning it begins to close and wither, never to open again.

Those flowers—come in countless numbers and are nine inches in length and from six to eight inches across. The petals are snow-white, while the deep calyx is a rich yellow.

June, July and August is the blooming season, but there is only one night when the buds come forth in all their glory. On that night the people of Honolulu turn out to pay homage to this queen of flowers.

Teaching Bread Shown Main Principle Accounting For Heat at Equator

Every time we toast a piece of bread we are illustrating the main principle which chiefly accounts for the earth being hotter at the equator than at the poles. If we held the bread parallel with the fire, it gets the full heat, but if we tilt it slantwise, it takes longer to toast. The equator is the part of the earth's globe that gets the most direct rays from the sun, the poles the parts that get the most slanting rays. In the one case, we get a sun directly overhead at some part of the day; in the other, the sun at its very best only "rises" to a point low down on the horizon, and so gives off rays extremely on the slant. These slantwise rays, too, have to pass through much more atmosphere than the straight rays, and as our atmosphere acts as a sort of blanket, with its mists and fogs, it follows that the heat of the slanting rays is still further reduced in power. Other considerations also have their bearing upon the question, but the straight versus slantwise rays are the main factor in the comparative heat of the equator over the poles

Here and There

Since the first of April up to the present time approximately seven million pounds of various fish have been landed at North Sydney, N.S., by local fishermen. The catch made so far this season is far in excess of any previous year's catch in the history of this port.

All tourist and motorists records are being broken at Banff this year. There are three times as many campers as in any other year and 2,000 more bathers than in 1924. The Canadian Pacific hotel here and at Lake Louise reports bookings as being enormously heavy.

More Alberta provincial savings certificates were sold in the first six months of this year than in the full year previously, even including the big record year of 1923. Since the beginning of the current year up to the end of June, the total sales amounted to $1,661,000. There is now close to $7,000,000 outstanding in savings certificates.

Radio receiving licenses held in Canada at the end of last month numbered 56,062, according to a statement issued by the Federal Government. Ontario leads all provinces with a total of 22,507 Quebec occupied second place with 7,332 licenses, followed by Saskatchewan with 4,561; Manitoba, 4,443; British Columbia, 3,803; Alberta, 3,504; Nova Scotia, 1,425; New Brunswick, 736; Prince Edward Island, 87; Yukon, 38; and Northwest Territories, 5.

A consignment of 51 fat hounds from the Moodig Hunt Club, Fush, in Somerset, England, was brought to Canada early in August by the Dominion Express Company for the Toronto Hunt Club. The English papers published photographs of these splendid animals, and expressed gratification that good British hounds were being used on the hunting fields of Ontario. This is the third such consignment brought out by the Dominion Express within recent weeks.

The delegates to the Empire Press Conference at Australia who came from Britain and passed through Canada recently spent several days in the Canadian Pacific Rockies and enjoyed themselves trail-riding and hiking among the beauty spots that surround Banff and Lake Louise. Lord Burnham and several other distinguished British journalists established new working records in covering the distance between Wapita and Emerald Lake in two hours, while it took the bell-riders on ponies two hours and a quarter to cover the same ground.

Representing education authorities and the public and secondary schools of Great Britain, about one hundred teachers from the United Kingdom arrived recently at Montreal on the "Empress of Scotland" and are now touring the country. Before their departure they received a congratulatory message from King George and on their arrival were tendered an official reception by representatives of the Quebec provincial government, prominent educationists and were entertained to dinner at the Chateau Frontenac by E. W. Beatty.

As was to be expected Bon Accord went down to defeat in the game tonight with the all-stars chosen from the ball players in the Fort Saskatchewan club next Saturday afternoon and evening. Bon Accord beat the local club some weeks ago at Bon Accord and some close and interesting games are anticipated at their next meeting.

The road to Edmonton at the present time is not so good and is liable to be worse before it is better. The road is to be improved and gravelled right from the Fort to the city limits, a distance of 12.3 miles. The variation in the efficiency of the brakes when on a long trip is due to several things, but the condition of the brake lining is perhaps most important. Sometimes the lining will become polished, in which case the brakes will not be very efficient. In other instances the lining may be "roughened up," in which case the brakes will suddenly begin to be more effective. Generally speaking, the dragging of the brakes or long application of them down long grades will cause the lining to become polished, whereas a few sudden applications of the brakes will roughen up the linings. Road dust and water will alter these conditions.

That no engine will sometimes, best up on a hill for lack of oil, depending largely upon the position of the pump, the type of oiling system and the condition of the oil. The pressure on the bearings during a pull uphill makes a greater demand upon the oiling system, and if the bearings donot receive [illegible] oil they will heat up, and perhaps stop the engine.

That the flickering of the oil pressure gauge when descending a steep hill is simply due to oil inthe crank case flowing away from the oil pump in cases where it is situated at the rear of the engine. There is no particular danger if the pressure is affected in this way, since the engine is usually under its own power in descending such hills, and therefore, does not need a constant high pressure of oil to fit bearings.

To clean spark plugs, soak them in a mixture of alcohol and kerosene over night. Then in the morning the carbon can be wiped off with a clean rag. Because of the highly glazed surface of the plugs, emery cloth or sand paper should never be used. When the glazed surface becomes roughened the plug quickly fouls and stops firing.

Governor-General of Dominion Visits Fort

Baron Byng of Vimy, Governor-General of the Dominion, visited Fort Saskatchewan Tuesday, arriving from the capital city by special train at about 10.00 a.m.

His Excellency was accompanied by Lady Byng, Premier Greenfield, Mr. John Bliss, Mr. Howard Stuckbury, and Mr. J. E. Nelson, superintendent Western division Canadian National Railways. The party was greeted by the deputy-mayor, Mr. W. A. Dunne and a number of leading citizens, the local troop of Boy Scouts being on the platform in charge of Scoutmaster Lamoureux.

On behalf of the Women's Institute little Muriel O'Brien presented Lady Byng with a gorgeous bouquet of flowers and was kissed as a reward, an incident which will probably be remembered by that young lady as long as she lives. The Boy Scouts also presented a bouquet from their own garden, which fact pleased His Excellency so much he insisted on having a look at the garden later, and was by no means disappointed at its appearance.

The scouts were inspected and the party then proceeded to the Memorial square and the monument was inspected by His Excellency. He expressed himself as being pleased with the monument and ground [illegible] to be a credit to the [illegible] of Fort Saskatchewan, and that it was appropriate it should [illegible] Memorial hall. He also expressed a hope it would not be needed as time went on.

A group of veterans were introduced and with each the Governor-General had a short conversation, revealing thereby a remarkable memory for names of officers in command of various units and the whereabouts of regiments at different periods during the great war.

To Memorial hall [illegible] and an informal reception was held. His Excellency [illegible] and [illegible] several prominent farmers of the district were introduced, among whom were Andy Thorsbrick, C. H. Flintoft, A. Stetson, John Robinson, John Mohr, sr., Rudolph Hannig, Simpson Langlois, Alphonse Lamoureux and Camille Villeneuve.

Presentations of St. John Ambulance certificates were made to a team of Boy Scouts who were successful in passing their examination in Edmonton last April, namely Ramsay Thorne, Asa Rogers, Lawrence Abraham and Robert Tercier.

CO-OPERATION

The U.F.A. takes delivery of large consignment of twine

Thursday, August 13th was a busy day in the Fort when the U.F.A. Locals unloaded approximately thirty-seven thousand pounds of twine. The farmers began arriving on the scene about 9 a.m., all eager for twine to bind the bounteous crop Providence has given them this year. A. Lunan, who supervised the taking of orders and the unloading, was early on the scene with his assistants and a goodly supply of blank cheques. Some delay in getting started to unload was caused by the car of twine having arrived ahead of the bill of lading, the C.N.R. agent being unable to release the car without instructions to do so, and hereon hangs a tale which will be referred to later.

Upon Mr. Augustine, the local representative of the U.G.G., through which company the twine was ordered, becoming aware of the difficulty, he at once took it up with the head office of the company and about 10.30 a.m. the necessary instructions arrived and the car was released to the consignee. In the meantime the crowd of farmers had been growing until about thirty were patiently or otherwise awaiting delivery of their orders, while the office staff, Messrs. Lunan and Miles, were taking settlement and issuing twine checks for delivery to the unloading staff, Messrs. Moyer, Moore, Flintoff and Stetson. Those four husky sons of toil were given a strenuous hour or two taking the checks and passing out the bales of twine when the car door was finally rolled open, and were glad of the respite offered by the noon hour.

The twine in this car was all 400 ft. per pound and was manufactured by the Plymouth Cordage Co. While the car was being unloaded a number of farmers who had neglected to get their orders placed in time were hovering in the background in hopes that there might be a surplus from which they could supply their needs, but instead of a surplus the car was oversold and eight hundred pounds had to be brought from the U.G.G. warehouse in Edmonton to fill the orders.

BON ACCORD TENNIS STARS TROUNCE THE LOCAL CLUB

The heavy rains of Saturday put the tennis courts in very poor shape for the Bon Accord-Fort Saskatchewan tennis tournament arranged to take place on that day, but notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions play was finally commenced about five o'clock. As was predicted some very close games were played off during the afternoon and evening and all were interesting. So close had been the see-saw during the day the final game gave to the visiting team advantage in the total score of 78-75.

Afterwards adjournment was made to the Memorial hall where a hearty supper was inhaled by the victors and the vanquished. Acting president Dr Corbett, of Bon Accord, and president Rogers of the Fort club both spoke briefly as soon as they were able and each voiced the sentiment of the remainder of the company by expressing the hope of an early return of "next time."

RED ROSE COFFEE "is good coffee"

"There Is No Argument Against Safety"

One of the hardest sections of the world today, if, indeed, not the hardest, are those grain growing districts of Canada. From early morning until late at night men and women, too, not by tens of thousands alone but hundreds of thousands will be engaged in harvesting the great grain crops of the West. Those thousands so lodged from Eastern Canada and the Pacific coast are here to help in the huge task. Thousands of horses and millions of dollars worth of machinery are being employed. It is a time of hard work but it is also a time of satisfaction as the results of a year's toil are garnered.

The very magnitude of the task, and the large numbers of people engaged make for the taking of precautions against accidents. "Safety First" should be the motto of all. As a writer in the American Red Cross Courier says, there is no argument against safety. No one ever heard of safety killing human beings or maimes or destroying property, or resulting in loss of any kind. It is the failure to exercise due caution, that causes these disasters.

Not a year passes but the annual Western harvest takes its toll of life, and others crippled and maimed for life, of property destroyed. The practice of "Safety First" will prevent most of these calamities.

Millions and acres of ripened grains and grasses present unsafe possibilities no less hostile care is not exercised to prevent fires from starting. Once started there is no telling to what awful dimensions they may spread, result ing in loss not only of crop, but of homes and other possessions and, worst of all, life itself. It may require a little extra time and labor to take proper precautions but it is the cheapest possible form of insurance.

Binder mowers, threshing machine outfits are powerful agents not only for harvest operations, but for cutting off arms and legs if care is not exercised to keep out of the way of such moving machinery. Wherever possible roadsides leaving belts, knives and gears should be protected, not that they do not protect, but because the workers need to be protected from them. It should be borne in mind by the employing farmer that many of his harvest help may be e had no previous experience about, or in the handling of machinery.

The scratch; thinking man regards safety; he knows its real value. Down through the ages this has been revealed over and over again. It is the tool who thinks he knows simple fear is timid, who ignores almost a certainty of consequences to himself or his fellowmen. Speed is all right in its place, but its place is not in attempting a level crossing in front of an approaching express train. Nor is it in eating the time necessary to plough a furrowed.

The farmer who is great labor and expense plantedof his fields, sowed seeds, has seen his crop pass safely through all the vicissitudes of weather, insured it against hail, and provided the machinery and help to harvest it, will not save in the final rush of harvest operations, if he is wise, neglect any precaution that can be taken to protect it, or the men harvesting it, from disaster.

This is not the farmer alone who should give heed to the fact that there is no argument against safety. Several thousand harvester's employed this year to take in the grain. They will be worked at high pressure, and under such conditions there is always the danger of a lessening of vigilance. It is better to be safe than sorry.

And as the grain is marketed the busy time for the railways and their army of employees is reached. Weeks have been spent in position readied, many months getting stock into first-class shape and in working order. The number of trains moving day and night will be largely increased. Railway management quite fully recognize the importance of always applying Safety First principles to their business. But at no time is it more important that all principles be rigidly adhere to an. enforced through the voluntary co-operation of each individual than when all are working at high pressure and carrying a peak load.

An old Chinese proverb says: "To save one man's life is better than to build a seven story pagoda."

Remarkable Fire Extinguisher

Tanks Loaded With Carbon Dioxide Gas Literally Freeze Flames

Fire extinguishers that will literally freeze a fire to death, while covering the burning area with a dense gas, which bars all air and oxygen on which the flames might feed, have been devised for fighting switchboard fires, and also for oil tankers and other ships where fires in the cargo hold or engine room present a serious problem. The extinguishers, which are merely tanks loaded with the carbon dioxide gas used in soda fountains to carbonate the water) eliminate the water damage which forms one of the greatest losses in ordinary fire fighting.

Trans-Atlantic Air Service

London to New York in 30 Hours in Plan

Plans for a trans-Atlantic aeroplane service, using double decker planes with accommodation for 150 passengers and capable of making the run from London to New York in 30 hours, have been announced by Joseph Navarro, veteran British aircraft designer.

According to the designer, the planes will have a wing spread of 185 feet. They will be equipped with eight 1,000 horsepower engines each, and will provide spacious accommodation for passengers.

The fare for a single trip will be about 16 pounds sterling per passenger.

Court in Potsdam Fined Guide For Overcharging Tourist

Six millions is too much for any guide to charge for taking tourists through Sans Souci Castle and other sights of Potsdam, in the opinion of the court of appeals. Guides for tour lists are not a luxury as held by the lower court whose decision was reversed, but a daily necessity and therefore cannot command fancy prices.

The case arose out of a difference some months ago between a party of Englishmen and a Potsdam guide named Max Stenger. The guide had charged 25 marks for taking the party around, whereupon the Englishmen refused to pay more than the lower court believed they anybody who can afford a guide is rich enough to pay whatever the guide may charge. The state's attorney held however, that Germany, and especially Potsdam have ever reason to encourage the tourist traffic. The lower court's charges like those were calculated to make people shun Potsdam, thereby ruining its business.

The higher court agreed with the state's attorney, reversed the decision and assessed a fine of 20 marks.

Great misery prevails among the unfortunate Germans, men, women and children, most of whom are in dire distress and impoverished by reason of the fact that all their possessions have vanished.

Added to their misery is the fact that the refugees' camp is already overcrowded. A second camp must be erected somewhere else if Polish hatred is made good her threat of forcible eviction.

It will be almost impossible to provide homes for the repatriated as there already is a dearth of dwelling buildings throughout the country.

Indian Race Not Dying Out

Forty-three Thousand Live on Their Own Farms

Lovers of the Indian—and the number of them increases as we study him diligently—may rest easy over the history of our dealings with him—will be glad to know that he is not vanishing but gaining. The full bloods are holding their own, and those of mixed blood are increasing at the rate of a thousand a year. Forty-three thousand live on their own farms, and western banks hold $35,000,000 of Indian money. Of eighty thousand Indian children of school age, sixty-five thousand are in school—a larger proportion than among white children. So the outlook for the boy who goes west to exterminate the redskins is most unpromising.—Tonth's Companion

BLEMISHES OF THE SKIN

Are Proof the Blood is in a Weak and Watery Condition

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order are the pimples and unsightly eruptions that break out on the face or body. The same condition is indicated by an attack of eczema or scrofula. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of purgative medicines, as so many people try to do. Purgatives merely gallop through the system and leave it still worse off. What is needed when the blood is shown to be out of order is a tonic which will restore the missing elements and make the blood rich and red. For this purpose there is no other tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, every dose of which helps enrich the blood, drives out impurities, and brings a new feeling of health and energy. Mrs. H. E. Bishop, Hawthorne Ave., Hamilton, Ont., tells for the benefit of others what those pills did for her. She says:—"I was suffering terribly from scrofula. I doctored with several doctors, but without success. My complexion was sallow, I had no strength, feeling very weak and languid. My neck was full of lumps called scrofula, and at times they were very painful. After trying several so-called blood medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I got half a dozen boxes. After taking them I found a decided improvement in my appearance, and to my joy the lumps were disappearing from my neck. I persevered in the treatment, and finally the only sign left of the trouble was a scar on my neck where one of the swellings broke. Since that time I have been in robust health and heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any suffering from impure blood."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Making Paper From Straw May Ultimately Become An Important Industry in the West

The future of the paper industry, and, indeed, the future of the whole trade of printing, has often caused anxiety for those closely connected with either, owing to the diminishing supply of paper material from wood. The United States has become the greatest consumer of paper in the world, and as its own soft-wood supplies have neared exhaustion, the Canadian forest have been more and more drawn upon. This has created an immense export trade in pulp and paper, which is at present of vital importance in maintaining Canada's favorable balance of trade. The report of the commission which recently investigated the pulpwood resources in Canada showed that the visible supply of wood was in danger of exhaustion within some thirty to fifty years, according to conditions in different provinces After that, what? That was the question.

Recently The London Morning Post published an issue on paper made from straw, and the information gives in that connection is of the greatest importance. The paper was made by Dr. Valko's straw-pulp process, which seems to be the most successful at once from theory to practice. The trouble in the past with straw paper has been its brittleness, but two years of experimental work overcome this difficulty, using as chemicals only common salt and lime. This has been carried out in French factories, and according to The Post, it is to be continued on a large scale in Canada.

If straw becomes the raw material for paper, Canada's position will be entirely satisfactory, as it will mean the use of an enormous by product of farming which is now wasted. It is estimated that seven million tons of straw are burned annually in Canada alone. In Eastern Canada there is no for straw in connection with the livestock industry, but in the west the burning of the straw after harvest and threshing every autumn, making a trail of fire night by night from the Canadian boundary to the Pacific, is a sad feature of unbalanced industry. The advent of straw-paper making will bring additional revenue, more employment, preserve a great industry for the world, and retain an export trade for Canada of first importance.

The Post does not supply comparative figures of cost, nor suggest that straw may be a competitor of wood while the latter remains plentiful The paper industry has been one of the most prosperous in the whole realm of manufacturing in the past few years, and it may be assumed that the new sources of raw material will be used with the keenest intelligence.

Reported Damage By Wheat Rust Not

Matter Being Investigated By Dominion Plant Pathologist

Reports of damage to wheat by rust rot, a fungus disease which first became evident in Saskatchewan two years ago, are being investigated by the Dominion plant pathologist, W. P Fraser, Saskatoon. While sufficient data are lacking as yet to form conclusions, it is believed will be confined to the park country in Northeastern Saskatchewan. One farmer north of Hamboldt is reported to have evaluated 75 per cent. damage to a crop which had promised 35 to 40 bushels to the acre. The disease causes the straw to yellow and ripen before the heads fill. It is believed that it is at its worst two or three years after ground is first broken, gradually dying out with continued cultivation. Two field men are covering a large area, at present, in the investigation.

In the salt mines of Galicia, tunnels and great chambers have been dug aggregating a total length of thirty miles. Many of the miners live on the lower levels, where they have lost and rarely come to the surface.

Billion and Half is Invested in Various Plants

A preliminary report prepared in the mining, metallurgical and chemical branch of the Dominion bureau of statistics, shows that Canada's mineral industries and the manufacturing industries dependent thereon, number ing 16,719 plants in all in 1924, represented an actual money investment of 1,856 million dollars, as compared with a reported investment of 1,231 million dollars in the preceding year. Included in this sum were the cost of lands, buildings and plant equipment, the cost of materials and products on hand and the actual working capital of the companies reporting. Those 1 duties employed on the average 38 342 persons to whom salaries and wages amounting to $159,297,514 were paid

An invention which makes sheep's wool grow faster was described by Professor Barker, of Leeds University, at the international conference of sheep breeders at Chester, Eng.

Growth in Manitoba

Some Facts Concerning Agricultural and Dairy Products of Province

In a recent address to Lee St. Bond Isaac Riverside Clerk, J. H. Evans, deputy minister of agriculture for Manitoba, gave some facts concerning the agricultural and dairy products of the province during the past 50 years.

"In 1876 Manitoba made her first export of wheat, a number of 43 bushels," said Mr. Evans. "Today the province has 6,000 000 acres under cultivation, and in the year has produced 96,000,000 bushels of wheat."

Fifty years ago people were trying to work out a programme of farm practice in the province which would enable them to make a living. To day Manitoba had a population of 612, 667, while 2,200 schools in which are 2,357 classrooms. There are today 27,000 miles of good roads in Manitoba, 2,500 of which are under the Good Roads Act."

Tracing the rise of the dairy industry in the province, Mr. Evans point ed out that in 1912 [illegible] [illegible] of butter valued at $2,... At present Manitoba is exporting butter in large quantities.

Apples are the outstanding commercial fruit of Canada, according to a recent report of the Dominion department of agriculture.

While a large portion of the British Columbia crop is absorbed by the three prairie provinces which took 2,138,000 boxes last year, shipments of apples from British Columbia to Europe are steadily increasing. In 1924, 563 carloads of British Columbia apples were exported, of which 267 went to Great Britain. Apple exports out of Vancouver last year totalled 106,- 587 boxes compared with 64,230 the previous year. Of these 61,934 went to Great Britain.

British Cattle Breeders Are Convinced Treatment Is Sound

Attention is drawn by an English paper to the claims which are made for the research work on tuberculosis which is being carried out by a Mr. Spahlinger at Geneva. Field Marshal Earl Haig, having travelled through Canada to the coast on a special Canadian Pacific train has now returned to England. The fascinating soldier, as grand president of the British Empire Service League, came to Canada in June to attend the annual biennial conference of the league at Ottawa and brought with him an imposing list of ex-service men's representatives from all parts of the British Empire.

At his journeyed across the country Earl Haig was greeted at all points by ex-service men and veterans, and wherever he could do so, remained in the Major Course along the route long enough to shake hands with the veterans and address a few words to them. At Chapleau, when he stepped off short half an hour, he was tendered a civic reception and an address of welcome by the mayor, an ex-member of parliament and an ex-Canadian cagbacon.

At Banff, Canada's most popular summer and winter resort, the Field Marshal met Lord Byng, who was at the time returning, also over Canadian Pacific lines, from a ten-day visit to Victoria and Vancouver. At Calgary, Earl Haig addressed 1,200 ex-service men in the G.W.V.A. Memorial Hall, and attended the Calgary Stampede. At the coast he was entertained to official dinners and reception by the provincial government of British Columbia at Victoria, and by the civic board in Vancouver.

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN" is a Paragraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, as an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, son of Kazan, a dog, and Gray Wolf, was nearly three weeks old when first he wandered away from home. His first adventure was a fight with an owl, in which both were badly torn and mauled. Growing hungry, he succeeded finally in catching a grayling in a creek. Soon he came upon Wakayon, a huge black bear, which pounded him but which dumped scraps of fish upon the ground. Wandering through the forest Baree grew hungrier. The dog in him wanted to do but the cat spirit burned strong er

In the forests as well as in the great cities there plays Its changing and whimsical hand. If Baree had died good fortune lit in the timber half an hour later he would have died. He was too far game now to hunt for crayfish or kill the weaker bird But he came just at the moment, the crowning of the most bloodthirsty little pirate of all the wild—was making a kill

As Baree lay under his tree, Nature was creeping on his prey. His game was a big fat spruce hen stand ing under a thicket of black currant bushes Ten cats of no living think could have heard Sekoosee's mate's approach. He was like a shadow—a gray dot here, a flash there, now hidden behind a stick no larger than a man's wrist appearing for a moment, the next instant gone as completely as if he had not existed. Thus he approached from fifty feet to within three feet of the spruce hen. That was his favorite striking distance Unerringly he hunched himself at the drowsy partridge's throat, and his needle like teeth sank through feathers into flesh

Sekoosee was prepared for what happened then. It always happened when he stretched Nagnasee, the wood partridge Her wings were powerful, and her first instinct when she struck was always that of flight She rose straight up now with a great thunder of wings. Sekoosee hung tight, his teeth buried deep in her throat, and his tiny, sharp claws sinking far to her thighs. Through the air he whirled with her, hitting deeply and deeper, until a hundred yards from where their terrible death thing had fastened to her throat. Nagnasee crashed again to earth.

Where she fell was not ten feet from Baree For a few moments he looked at the struggling mass of feathers in a daze, not quite comprehending that it all had come from a simple wish in his reach. Nagnasee was dying, but she still struggled completely with her wings. Baree rose stealthily, and after a moment in which he gathered all his remaining strength, he made a rush for her. His teeth sank into her breast just as the end then did he see Sekoosee The re mains had raised his head from the death grip at the partridge's throat, and his savage little red eyes glared a single instant into Baree's. Here was something too big to kill, and with an angry squeak the ramble was gone. Nagnasee's wings re laxed, and the throb went out of her body. She was dead. Baree hung on until he was sure. Then he began his feast

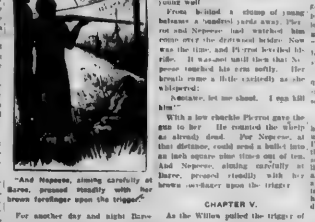
Baree ate a third of the partridge, and the remaining two thirds he cached very carefully at the foot of the big spruce Then he turned to the creek for a drink The world looked very different to him now After all, one's capacity for happiness depends largely on how one looks at it It is a hard life a wolf Tomorrow its dangers—but then—the mourning over future misfortune is absurd

So it was with Baree. Forty-eight hours ago a full stomach would not have made him happy. But now it was as he was now. Then his greatest longing was for his mother Since then a still greater yearning had come into his life—for food In a way it was fortunate for him that he had at most died of exhaustion and starvation, for his experience had helped to make a man of him—or a wolf dog. Without it he would have thrown away the gift that had been given him. That was to the point Just beyond the dividing line of his world was open, and to the edge of this Baree paused to enjoy the last of the setting sun. As it sank out of sight and it online, his tail drooping low, his ears alert, his sharp point of nose sniffing the new country to the north, there was not a pair of eyes in the forest that would not have taken him for a young wolf

From behind a stump of young balsams a hundred yards away Pierre and Nepeese watched. Pierre had come over the divide behind Nepeese's mother was dead. Pierre had killed her. Nepeese knew that. Pierre had killed her, and he was going to kill Baree. Nepeese knew that, too. Pierre had killed her with his rifle. It was not until then that Nepeese began to understand the power of fire. Her breath came a little excitedly as she whispered:

"Because, let me shoot. I can kill him!"

With a low chuckle Pierre gave the gun to her. He remained where he already dead. For Nepeese, at that distance, could send a bullet into the square heart-beat of a bird. And Nepeese, aiming carefully at Baree, pressed steadily with her brown forefinger upon the trigger.



"And Nepeese, aiming carefully at Baree, pressed steadily with her brown forefinger upon the trigger."

CHAPTER V.

For another day and night Baree remained in the thick of the balsams. When the last hour was picked he moved on. He now entered a country where white-throat was no longer peerless prey for him. It was a hunting country, and where there are lynx there are also a great many rab bits. When the rabbits thin out, the lynx emigrate to better hunting grounds. As a snowshoe rabbit breeds all the summer through, Baree found himself in a land of plenty

And this was straight into the trapping country of Pierre, the half-breed.

Pierre, until two years ago, had believed himself to be one of the most fortunate men in the big wilderness. That was before La Mort Rouge—the Red Death—came. He was half French, and he had married a Cree chief's daughter, and in their log cabin on the Gray Loon they had lived for many years in great prosperity and happiness. Pierre was proud of three things in the wild world of his: he was proud of Wynn, his royal-blooded wife; he was proud of his daughter; and he was proud of his reputation as a hunter. Until the Red Death came, life was quite complete for him. It was then—two years ago—that the smallpox killed his princess-wife. He still lived in the little cabin on the Gray Loon, but he was a different Pierre. The heart was sick in him It would have died, had it not been for Nepeese, his daughter His wife had named her Nepeese, which means the Willow Nepeese had grown up like the willow, slender as a reed, with all her mother's wild beauty, and with a little of the French thrown in. She was

Toronto Mother Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Toronto, Ontario.—"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a splendid medicine to take before and after confinement. A small bout was put in my door one day advertising Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines, and as I did not feel at all well at the time I went and got a bottle of Vegetable Compound right away. I soon began to notice a difference in my general health. I was full of aches and pains at the time and thought I had every complaint going, but I can truthfully say your medicine certainly did me good. I am and will speak highly of it, and I know it will do others as much good who are sick and ailing if they will only give it a fair trial. Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills are splendid for constipation. You are welcome to use my letter if you think it will help any one."—Mrs. HARRY WOODHOUSE, 548 Quebec Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The expectant mother is wise if she considers carefully this statement of Mrs. Woodhouse. It is but one of a great many, all telling the same story—beneficial results.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for use during this period. The experience of other women who have found this medicine a blessing is proof of its great merit. Why not try it now yourself? C

Colonel Pesh Says He Is Always Making Breaks

This month he ratified the choice of Field-Marshal Earl Haig as successor to Cyrus Peck or both The well known and kind commander-in-chief is to be raised to the rank of field-marshal, and it is understood that the British forces in the field will be divided into two armies, the first under the command of General Sir Henry Horne, and the second under General Sir Julian Byng.

When Haig was first appointed to the command in France he was a comparatively unknown soldier, and his selection was a surprise to many people. Now he is the most famous soldier in the British Empire, and the end of his splendid career is hardly in sight.

And there's one more thing I want you all to be on hand to say still is—and that is about Haig's personal character. Is he a man to be admired, to be loved? Will he go down to posterity as a great leader, but a cold, unsympathetic man, or will he be a great leader, and a man whom we can love?

Earl Haig will be the greatest hero of the war, and shall be the daughter.

I am also a bachelor bread, like myself, and I am sure you will be glad to know, soon-one telephoned me to ask if I would be a pallbearer at the funeral of a friend he died the day before yesterday that I would be delighted.

Strange Instinct Of Cattle

Why Cows Are Panic Stricken When Attacked by Bulls

Perhaps you have noticed how frightened cows become when the bellow of a bull is heard in the distance. Now that why do these big creatures become panic stricken and scatter in every direction when one of their number could easily put the dog to flight?

Because at one time all horned cattle lived wild and often attacked by ferocious wolves. Although it has been so many hundreds of years cows still have an instinctive dread of any creature that looks like their ancient enemy.

Japs Like Singing Insects

Crickets and Grasshoppers Sold On Streets of Tokio

Singing insects are now on sale in street venders along the Ginza, the gay "Main Street" of Tokio The pretty little warblers of the insect variety are crickets and long-horned grasshoppers. To the Japanese the "song" of the cricket and the grasshopper bends a peculiar charm to the summer evening.

The classical insects are sold in quaint bamboo cages, decorated with silk ribbons Prices range from fifty sen to as high as twenty-five yen each

The Many-Purpose Oil.—Both in the ancient and visible there are scores of uses for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. For it for cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, all pains of rheumatism and sciatica, sore throat and chest Horses are liable very largely to similar ailments and mishaps as afflict mankind, and are equally benefited by the application—one of this fine old remedy which has made thousands of farm friends during the past fifty years

Ethics Code For Motorists

Washington Association Endeavors to Establish Honor System on Roads

A nation-wide canvass of all inter ests concerned with motoring safety for hints as to the development of a code of motoring ethics, will be conducted by the American Automobile Association, Washington, preparatory to the appointment of a national committee to draw up such a code.

The purpose of such a code was described by its sponsors as the "establishment of an honor system on the roads," whereby the motorist himself can test the "extent to which he measures up to the rapon-ibility de volving on all users of the common highway"

A Remedy for Earache.—To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil offers a simple remedy A few drops upon a piece of lint or medicated cotton and placed in the ear will do much in relieving pain

Very Ancient Cloak

Archaeologists are of the opinion that a woollen cloak, discovered by post cutters in Gorton Fen, near Stark, Sweden, is one of the oldest ever found in Europe. It was found a few feet under the surface of the peat, but the preserving qualities of the fen water have kept it intact for some 2,000 years. The British Museum possesses fragments of cloth of even earlier date.

Surgeon's Clever Invention

A Swedish surgeon, Dr. Lundgren, has invented an apparatus, called the spirator, that will enable medical students to do an abdominal operation on every detail of an operation without distressing either the operating surgeon or the patient. The apparatus, which can be built by students and nurses, produces an artificial respiration, the operation being a bodily movement of the entire contents of the surgeon

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house need not feel that the lives of their little ones are needlessly risked during the hot weather. Stomach trouble, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets is the best medicine in the world for preventing as the well-child then will not become ill. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analysis to be absolutely harmless and to the new born babe They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HAVE REACHED AGREEMENT ON SECURITY PACT

London Another step toward the security pact which Western Europe likely will put its hope upon for peace in the future was taken when the French and British foreign ministers reached a common agreement on the reply France is to make to the last German note concerning treaties of mutual guarantee and arbitration

Having settled these points, Foreign Ministry Briand and Austin Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, took advantage of their conference in London to exchange views on the security pact Exactly what their views are on this subject only they know but the foreign office issued a statement saying their meeting had "satisfied mutual prospects for concerted actions taking place in the near future which will lead to a final result"

The conference, however, of course, are to be between the statesmen of the allied nations and those of Germany, and a beginning may be made next month at the German ambassador to the British isles calls on Mr Chamberlain in Downing Street

Australia Benefits From Preference

British Government Pursuing Policy Of Assistance to Producers

London Australia is reaping the harvest of the imperial preference granted by the Baldwin Government as was generally predicted when the new preference was put into effect

The London Times cable from Adelaide quotes the Australian minister for customs as stating that according to the latest estimate, Australia is benefiting under the imperial preference scheme to the extent of £350,000 in the current year on sultanas, sugar, wines and currants. Efforts are also being made to arrange a preference with New Zealand while the Canadian preference will come into operation shortly

The government is vigorously pursuing a policy of assistance to producers in the effective marketing overseas of their products and already over £300,000 has already been advanced to help them with their present crops. The general sentiment for producers is more hopeful for many years to come.

Troops Removed From Nova Scotia

Sent to Colliery Districts After Riot Last June

Halifax, N.S.—The thousand or more troops which have been stationed in Cape Breton, from various parts of Canada since the middle of June, have been removed. The troops were sent to the colliery districts after the Glace Waterford riot of June 11, when one man was killed and numbers injured. Martial law was declared by reason of the burning of British Empire Steel Corporation stores.

The cost of transporting the troops and maintaining them from June 12 to August 8, was $235,000, according to figures furnished by the department of national defence, given to the attorney-general at his request, by Major-General Thacker, officer in command of district number six. The figures are an estimate based on an average daily cost of $4,324, plus $80,000 for transportation to and from Cape Breton.

Cut Alberta Coal Order

Toronto.—It is reported the experimental shipment of 25,000 tons of coal from Alberta mines to Ontario will be reduced by 5,000 tons. The time limit for the special rate allowed by the railways on this coal expired August 15. Hon. Charles McRae, minister of mines, stated that half the shipment had been received and loadings now in the west or enroute would increase the total to 20,000 tons.

COMMITTEE HAS REPORTED ON CATTLE POOL

Ottawa A federation of livestock associations rather than a cattle pool among the items of a grain pool is the recommendation for Saskatchewan by the special committee of enquiry appointed by the agricultural interests of the province to probe this subject some months ago.

That a cattle pool for Saskatchewan in the sense that plan is pooled is not possible and that any attempt to organize on that plan could only lead to disappointment is the unanimous opinion of the committee, as set forth in its report made public by George H. Edwards, president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association and chairman of the investigation into the cattle industry committee was a sub committee.

The committee of enquiry came into existence by reason of a resolution passed at the last convention of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association calling upon the central executive to enquire into the whole question of a cattle pool. Under this authority, the executive of the association, last March, called a meeting of agricultural interests, which meeting formed the investigation board and appointed a sub-committee to investigate the feasibility of a cattle pool. Composed of the following well known agriculturalists and cattle men Hon George Langley, vice president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association Edward Evans, general manager of the South Saskatchewan Elevator Co., died in Hong Jaw; R. A. Wright, president of the Saskatchewan Livestock board, with H. Waldron, acting president, the hotels commissioner, department of agriculture, as secretary.

No Foundation For Report

Government Not Bringing 10,000 Ukrainian Soldiers Into Canada

Ottawa.—Absolutely no foundation for the report that the Dominion Government contemplates bringing 10,000 Ukrainian soldiers into Canada, was contained in a letter from T. J. Egan, assistant minister of immigration at Ottawa, and read at a meeting of the Vancouver police commissioners.

The letter was in reply to a resolution passed by police commissioners of Canada, which the Vancouver branch of the mission was asked to endorse, protesting against wholesale importation of Ukrainian soldiers.

The report had no foundation in fact, and may have arisen, said the letter, from the fact that the immigration department is planning to place a number of Ukrainians on the land in different parts of Canada.

Investigating Rust Resisting Wheat

Find of Dakota Men Only Results Certain Strains

Regina.—Commenting upon the report that R. S. McFadden, of Aberdeen, S.D., has produced a wheat that is rust resistant, Hon. C. M. Hamilton, minister of agriculture, says "Saskatchewan University, under the direction of Dr. Thompson, has been experimenting in crossing hard red spring wheat with Emmer or Spelts and the only crossings were found to be resistant against certain strains of rust but did not stand up against certain other strains of rust. The investigation is going on and no doubt information from Mr. McFadden will be carefully inquired into. Fortunately there is reciprocity in these matters."

Cattle Awards At Vancouver

Saskatchewan Man Walk Up With Exhibit of Ayrshires

Vancouver J. B. McGregor, of Brandon, Man., had things pretty much his own way in the various classes of Aberdeen Angus cattle judged at the Vancouver fair, winning the senior and grand championship in the beef class with Pernell 8th. Queen Qual earned off the senior female and grand championship, and Miss Lady of Glencarnoch was awarded the junior reserve female championship Besides these honors, the McGregor entries captured seven first and seven second and third place ribbons

W. H. Mouton and Sons, of Fallsight, Sask., while not capturing a first, had 21 entries which finished second or third in the Aberdeen Blossom

Amos and Black, of Moffat, Ont captured the female championship for Shorthorns with Marvellous Rosemary, and five firsts, five seconds and five third place ribbons in this class

Japanese Captain Flouts B.C. Officers

Informed Vessel Was Under Seizure But Puts to Sea

Victoria —Ignoring the demands of Marshal W. H. Goggin of the British Columbia police, the captain evidently count that she was under seizure in connection with sinking of the tug Hattie of Vancouver harbor by the Japanese freighter Kaibyu Maru put to sea

Acting on instructions from Vancouver, the marshal awaited the arrival of the vessel off Victoria where the Japanese pilot came aboard. The Japanese captain, after some discussion, promised to bring his vessel into the Royal Roads, but refused to per mit Goggin to go aboard. When the pilot was dropped, the Japanese freighter headed out to sea, leaving the marshal standing on the quarter in an open boat in a stiff breeze off shore

Canadian Official Dies In Hong Kong

Commissioner of Immigration Has Been In China Since 1923

Ottawa.—James H. Featherston, Canadian commissioner of Chinese immigration at Hong Kong and former Ottawa civil servant died in Hong Kong, aged 48, according to word received by the department of immigration. He was born at Peterboro, Ont. Mr. Featherston left for China in 1922. He entered the civil service in 1905 and was at various times secretary to Hon Frank Oliver, Hon. J. A. Calder and Hon Charles Stewart.

Canada Pays Large Loan

Is Only One of Four Coming Due This Year

Ottawa.—Canada has paid off a loan of £5,000,000 due in London on Aug 15.

Three further loans are due by Canada within the next few months. On the fifteenth of next month a loan for $90,000,000 will fall due in New York, while an additional loan is payable here and in New York for $8,000,000 on November 15 next. The sum of $42,000,000 of the first war loan floated by Sir Thomas White is due in December.

No Advance News About Wheat Pool

Ontario Minister of Agriculture Just Guessing Said MacPhail

Whitby.—A formal intention given out in the east by Hon Manning Doherty was attached by A. J. MacPhail, president of the central selling agency of the prairie wheat pools, who was here attending the regular monthly meeting of the organization.

He learned Mr Doherty's statements with regard to the amount the wheat pool would pay the western farmer in the 1924 crop as "pure guess work

"Up to date," he said, "no one has been informed by us in advance of any of our proposed payments Personally, I do not think that I will be in a position to make a statement on the matter before I return in Regina"

Manning Doherty, former minister of agriculture in Ontario in an interview at Toronto made mention of last year's wheat pool in Western Canada would be able to defray a good part of their financing costs this year by means of a further 10 cent payment on the 1924 crop, to be made probably in September. Mr. Doherty had just returned from a tour of the west

Mr Doherty, in his interview, also predicted a wheat crop for the west this year of between 350,000,000 and 400,000,000 bushels, which in some 23,000,000 bushels in excess of the official estimate of the Dominion bureau of statistics

Passes New Tariff Act

German Duties Will Restrict United States Exports to Country

Berlin.—The new tariff act, which the Reichstag has passed and which the Reichstag provides for comparatively high rates on foodstuffs and various classes of industrial products, including automobiles

The new duties are intended to cut off United States exports to Germany to be indicated in official quarters, however, that the new rate represents maximums which are to constitute the basis for subsequent negotiations, and that in the case of the food duties, for instance, the ministry of agriculture is empowered to admit them by decree to secure reciprocal treatment with nations with which Germany has not yet concluded treaties

STRIKE IN PEKIN MAY BE EXTENDED TO BRITISH BANKS

Public Chinese Christians are trying to concentrate in one institution all the British mission schools in Peking under native teachers and lay clergy. The Anglican and London missions probably will not be able to consent to September similar efforts in the provinces are affecting other foreign missions. The British legation strike is serious as the water supply is cut off Fewer than a third of the staff of 300 remain at their posts The British Chicago Alliance has visited the foreign office. He consulted the police but the police were not able to stop the picketing The students are preparing to extend the strike to British banks, business, etc.

The Chinese are reported to be contemplating direct appeal to the signatory powers to request a tariff conference to authorize the utilization of additional revenues for the improvement of certain taxes and for construction work owing to a report that the powers insist on the redemption of unsecured foreign loans. Opposition to the conference is increasing unless treaty revision is included

Large Sum Needed To Complete B.C. Road

Would Take $1,790,000 to Extend Railway to Prince George

Victoria If the provincial legislature decides to complete the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to Prince George it will be required to spend about $1,790,000 on the project, according to estimates completed a short time ago Premier Oliver announced on his return here from an inspection of the government-owned railway

The railway itself is in pretty good condition, although it needs a good deal of ballasting work and the trestles generally will be nearly the year-mint said

He refused to discuss the government's attitude on the proposal that the legislature authorize the completion of the railway into Prince George and the work started at once. It seemed, however, that the cabinet will consider it carefully before the house meets

Aviators Have Narrow Escape

Flying Over English Bay When Plane Took Fire

Vancouver—Smouldering a fire which burst out while they were flying at a height of several thousand feet, Captain Leslie J. H. Tudhope, Dr. Frederick L. Hodman, of Newark, N.J., and Sergt Perry had a narrow escape from serious injury and possible death

The flight had been specially arranged for Dr. Hodman, who is touring the United States and Canada investigating aviation in quarantine conditions

Fire started when the connecting rod of the engine broke. Perry immediately set in motion the fire fighting apparatus, and Major Tudhope toppled to the floor of the cockpit

Little damage was done to the plane

THE RECORD

H. Oxley, Editor and Publisher

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, AUG. 20, 1930

Any person or corporation conducting a business should see that the public is able to reach their place of business with as little discomfort as possible. The approach to the C.N.R. station platform is at the present time a disgrace to the town and is especially in a poor mush as this week the indications are that there will be a heavy crop, as there is a danger of a further shortage and an advance in price later in the season. The total value of the twine handled was $6,347.81, and was distributed to eighty farmers.

In reference to the tale before-mentioned, at the time this twine was ordered the indication were that it would not be needed until August 15, and the U.G.G. were notified to this effect. Their supply of twine at Port Arthur becoming low from filling earlier orders, it was decided to ship this car direct from the Plymouth Cordage Co.'s warehouse in Minneapolis. It was later discovered that the hot weather and the drouth was ripening the grain faster than was expected and on August 3rd Mr. Lemon wired the U.G.G. to expedite delivery of the twine. They were apparently some delay by the Plymouth Cordage Co. in making shipment but it eventually left Minneapolis early on August 5th, passed through Duluth at 9:30 p.m. the same day and arrived in Fort Saskatchewan early in the morning of August 12, six days from time of shipment at Minneapolis until delivery at Fort Rouge. They appear to be a record for railway service, efficiency and expedition, and much credit is due the C.N.R. for its efficient service on this occasion, as it usually requires ten days to bring a shipment from Port Arthur or Duluth to Fort Saskatchewan.

The foregoing is evidence of what can be accomplished by co-operation. Co-operation between the farmers themselves, co-operation between the farmers and the U.G.G., and co-operation between the farmers, the U.G.G., and the railways.

The U.F.A. members desire to thank all those who helped in making the undertaking a success, with special reference to the telephone central who for over two hours patiently and good-naturedly put through the calls necessarily to notify the farmers that their twine had arrived; to the officials of the Union bank who kindly opened the doors of the bank after six o'clock so that the proceeds of the day's business, amounting to over $6,000 could be safely deposited in the vault; to W. T. Lane, the genial C.N.R. agent; and to L. B. Augustine, U.G.G. representative who so kindly tendered the use of his office and who gave such valuable assistance in securing the release of the car in record time. Co-operation was the magic which made this event a success. Co-operation is the key that will solve most, if not all, the farmer's problems.

Mr. Lemon takes this opportunity of advising the farmers to get their orders in early in June in the future, especially in a year such as this one, if the indications are that there will be a heavy crop, as there is a danger of a further shortage and an advance in price later in the season. The total value of the twine handled was $6,347.81, and was distributed to eighty farmers.

NINTH CROP REPORT

Monday, August 17, 1925

Harvesting of wheat became general in Southern Alberta about August 10, and commenced in several districts in the Central and Northern parts during the past week. Wheat in the south is about 50 per cent. harvested and in the central districts about 25 per cent. is cut. Cutting of barley and oats has also begun in many districts

Harvesting operations, however, have been seriously interrupted by rains which visited almost every district in the province, commencing August 14. In many districts these rains were torrential, and the total precipitation throughout the province was quite heavy. The weather is still showery.

In the south the rain, of course, has been of practically no value to the grain crops, since it has come too late to have any beneficial effect save to lend in the filling out of what wheat is not yet harvested. In the central and northern districts where the grain crops were still in process of maturing, the rain was of benefit in completing the filling process. Much of the wheat, however, had matured rapidly during the previous intense heat, and the percentage of the wheat crop benefitting from the rains therefore will be proportionately small.

The heavy precipitation will be of greatest value to the late oats crop and the late crops. These crops should be considerably improved by the rains, and the consequent yields increased.

Results from what little threshing has already been done in southern Alberta bear out the statements contained in recent crop reports that the yields of wheat would be disappointing. Even in fields where yields were expected to be heavy, it has been found that the heads have not properly filled, and the yields are consequently much lower than anticipated.

In the south the new sugar crop has been greatly benefitted by the late rains. Harvesting of this crop will commence about September 15, and the total yield of beets will be larger than at first estimated. The crop is expected to yield from 8 to 12 tons per acre, with some fields going as high as 20 tons.

The corn crop will be very satisfactory also this year. There is a considerable acreage in corn again although the increase has not been what had been earlier anticipated.

Harvest labor is available in sufficient number to meet present needs.

Complete data as to results of what threshing is now being done is being gathered by the Department.

Has Model Lifeboat

Dutch Engineer Claims His Invention Cannot Capsize

Henry Scheiterven, of Rotterdam, a Dutch naval engineer, has invented a lifeboat which he claims cannot capsize and gives the occupants the full benefit of normal exposure to the weather. The first experiments on a small scale were entirely successful and Scheiterven with six friends plans to sail the latest model of his lifeboat from Rotterdam to London, and thence to New York as the final test. The ships should be considerably improved by the ruins, and the consequent yields increased.

Results from what little threshing has already been done in southern Alberta bear out the statements contained in recent crop reports that the yields of wheat would be disappointing. Even in fields where yields were expected to be heavy, it has been found that the heads have not properly filled, and the yields are consequently much lower than anticipated.

MOTORIST INJURED

John Weihs, manager of the Alberta Pacific elevator at Bruderheim, was seriously hurt in an automobile accident last Saturday afternoon. Driving a coupe on route to Edmonton and having with him O. Crotty and J. Hannah, Mr. Weihs, not giving sufficient consideration to the greasy condition of the road, failed to allow himself enough room to turn at the approach to the railway bridge, with the result the body of the coupe struck one of the girders, wrecking the car. The driver was severely cut beneath the eye, necessitating the cutting out of a piece of bone, and his nose was broken. He is now under a specialist's care at the General hospital, Edmonton. The other two occupants of the car were uninjured.

SANITARY ASPECTS OF FARM WATER SUPPLY

(Experimental Farms Note)

It is a well known fact that with the introduction of public water supplies in cities and towns where had previously been dependent on deep cattle wells, the death rate from typhoid fever, the most serious of water-borne diseases, has decreased to a remarkable extent.

In our country districts, however, where the scattered population makes the establishment of a public water supply system impossible, the farmer is forced to depend upon his own dug or deep wells, which is, in most cases, the shallow well. That such a well can be of positive danger from typhoid, dysentery, diarrhoea and other disorders has been amply proven, but still many farmers do not realize the importance of a pure unpolluted water supply, or the danger to their families and their stock lurking in contaminated water.

The location of the farm well is frequently faulty and denotes a lack of knowledge of the danger to health from, water when there is a chance of drainage or leaking from such sources of pollution as barnyards, cesspools, privy, manured fields, sink drains, etc. Not only should the well be placed at a reasonable distance from such sources of filth, (say 40 or 50 yards) but also, if possible, on higher ground. The more porous the ground, the greater should be the distance from any contaminating source.

Even when the well is removed from any source of pollution, the ground water should be made to filter through at least 12 to 15 feet of soil before entering the well. Soil tends to remove germs and impurities from surface washings. The water, however, should be made to really filter through the soil by insuring that the sides of the well, for a depth of 12 to 15 feet are tight and impervious to water. The top naturally, should be so constructed that no contamination can possibly enter.

Water may be seriously polluted without showing this by its taste or appearance. A bright, sparkling water is by no means a guarantee of a pure supply. When however, water from a well becomes cloudy or turbid after a heavy rain, there is evidently some defect, for this condition indicates that surface washings are entering without proper filtration.

The Divisions of Bacteriology and Chemistry at the Central Experimental Farm will analyze water samples submitted by farmers living within a reasonable distance. Application for instructions as to taking the sample should first be made.

PUBLIC MEETING TO BE HELD

To arrange for the visit of American Agricultural Editors Association

Representatives of one hundred agricultural weeklies in the United States travelling under the auspices of the American Agricultural Editors' Association will be in Edmonton on September 4th in the course of a trans-Canadian tour.

Arrangements are being made to afford the visiting editors an opportunity of seeing the farming district east of Fort Saskatchewan and some good pubicity for the Fort Saskatchewan district may result.

With this object in view a public meeting of the citizens of the town and of the farmers of the district is to be held on the Town hall at Fort Saskatchewan on Friday, August 28, at 8 p.m. to discuss a suitable date for the reception of the visiting editors, to arrange for them to meet some of the representative farmers of the district and to make plans to enable them to view the district.

All citizens and all farmers who can possibly arrange to attend are earnestly requested to be present at above meeting.

SHEEP JUDGING DEMONSTRATION SHOW

The Central Alberta Wool Growers' Association held a very successful sheep sale at Lacombe in October, 1924. Twelve hundred and seventy one pure bred rams, and pure bred and grade ewes were sold for $16,101.50. These sheep have made such good returns to their owners that very numerous requests have been made to the Association for another sheep sale this fall, and it has been decided to hold a combined judging demonstration, show and sale at Lacombe on Wednesday, October 7th. In the forenoon a demonstration will be given on how to judge and select breeding rams and ewes, tall egos, etc., and a show will be held of rams, ewes and lambs entered in the sale. The sheep will be sold in the afternoon.

Farmers wishing to buy sheep and farmers having sheep for sale should watch the Press or write the Secretary, Mr. Jame Fraser, Lacombe, Alberta, for further announcements.

"Didn't you plant any?" asked the stranger.

"Nope," said the cracker; "'fraid o' boll weevils."

"Well," said the stranger, "how is your corn?"

"Didn't plant none," said the cracker, "'fraid it 'ew wa'nt goin' to be no rain."

The stranger was abashed, but still cheerful.

"Well, how are your potatoes?" he asked.

"Ain't got none," said the cracker; "smirt o' potato bugs."

"Well, what did you plant?" said the stranger

"Nothin'," said the cracker, "I just played safe."—The Recorder.

Stop! Look! Listen!

Within the short space of less than the life of a generation the automobile has worked a complete revolution in modes of transportation and in the lives of people. But owing to the recklessness of so many drivers of cars it has become a veritable nightmare to locomotive engineers. To a greater extent than anything else it is the cause of nervous breakdowns among trainmen.

This is the age of speed, and thousands of motorists delight in tearing along road and over railway crossings at top speed although there is no need or basis. They ignore the fact that there is more real pleasure to be derived from leisurely driving, and that a moment's stop at a level railway crossing to allow an approaching train to pass is not lost time. They seem to think the throttle was run, and every year hundreds pay the full penalty of their folly, while other hundreds have cause to remember in pain and a permanently crippled condition the terrible price they are paying on account of their recklessness.

But there is another side to the picture, and a locomotive engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad has written an article, appearing in The Outlook, in which he describes just what the reckless motorist, who tries to "beat" an express train to the crossing, costs the engineer in nerve stability, and the consequent danger to every passenger on the train. This article is an illuminating and timely one that it is worthy of repetition. The locomotive engineer's narration writes:

"Come and take a ride with me in the cab of my engine. I am going to drive it at the rate of sixty miles an hour, which means that sometimes she will go considerably faster than that. There will be thrills. Perhaps I should tell you in advance of some of the things you will see and feel.

"There are grade-crossings, you know. The crossings are not danger one, but the automobile creates a danger at them. That is, it does many trips when I did not have from one to three close calls. At practically every grade crossing at least grand automobile driver goes over after the whistle has been sounded. And where there are guard gates, they sometimes crowd their down and go over just the same. Perhaps you will understand the nature of the thrills better if I give you one or two specific instances.

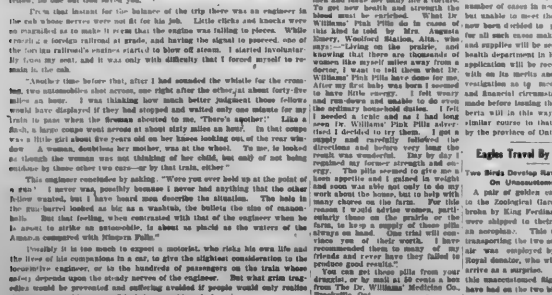
"On the fifteenth of last January I took my run out at 1:45 a.m. An hour later, I was driving along at reduced speed, probably forty miles an hour. I whistled long and loud for a particularly bad crossing. When within about 150 feet of the crossing I saw lights bobbing around on the planks. That indicated a motor-vehicle—an auto. My fireman, as I afterwards learned, was looking directly at the car. It did not occur to him at first that the driver would try to get across. Then he saw him give his car the gas.' 'They both knew how to drive, but I smiled me to drive the driver's intentions.

"I put my instant for the balance of the trip there was no engineer in the cab whose nerves were not all for his job. Little effort was made to keep on engaged as to make it seem that the engine was talking to pieces. While I could, a foreign railroad at grade, and having the signal to proceed, one of the fast limited railroad's crack trains started to blow off steam. I was startled by it from my mind, and it was only with difficulty that I forced myself to remain in the cab.

"Another time—before that, after I had sounded the whistle for the crossing, two automobiles shot across, one right after the other, at about forty five miles an hour. I was thinking how much better judgment those fellows would have displayed if they had stopped and waited only one minute for my train to pass when the fireman shouted to me, 'There's a girl!' Like a flash, a large coupe went across at about sixty miles an hour. In that coupe was a little girl about five years old on her knees looking out of the rear window. A woman, doubtless her mother, was at the wheel. Of course, I cannot tell the woman was not thinking of her child, but only of not being outdone by those other two cars—or by that train, either."

This engineer concludes by asking: "Were you ever held up at the point of a gun? If so, you know what it was, possibly because I never had anything that the highwayman wanted, but I have heard men describe the situation. The hole in the gun-barrel looked as big as a washtub, the bullets the size of cannon-balls. But that feeling, when contrasted with that of the engineer who has to assist in strike an automobile, is about as placid as the waters of the Amazon compared with Niagara Falls."

Possibly it is too much to expect a motorist, who risks his own life and the lives of his companions in a car, to give the slightest consideration to the locomotive engineer, or to the hundreds of passengers on the train whose safety depends upon the steady nerves of the engineer. But what grim tragedies would be prevented and suffering avoided if people would only realize that there is nothing "smart" in being a reckless fool.



Canada May Benefit

Englishman Left Fortune For Charity in United Kingdom

Nearly $20,000 pounds sterling for charity has been bequeathed by the late J Barlow, a magnificent supporter, in his lifetime, of Bisley.

Col. Barlow made many visits to Canada in connection with rifle shoot ing. Canada may benefit under his will, as he left the residuary estate "to be applied, within 21 years of his decease, for such charitable purposes within the United Kingdom, Ireland, India, or any British state, colony, or dependency, as the trustees, in their wisdom, think fit."

The will adds that Col Barlow desires that no money left by him shall be used for sectarian or political party purposes.

Building Great Cathedral

A further stage in the building of Liverpool Cathedral in the past few months is reported upon, in the ceremony of "breaking of ground" for the foundations of the great tower, and tower, and of the western transepts.

When completed Liverpool Cathedral, which was begun in 1902, will be the second largest in the world. It is the only Anglican Cathedral in England to be built from the foundations since the reformation.

THE ONE SURE WAY TO GOOD HEALTH

Is Keeping the Blood Pure By Using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Impure weak blood is the cause of most of the troubles that afflict people. This is the cause of the wretched feeling of languor and faintness, pains in the back and side, headaches and bowel troubles that afflict so many and make her daily life a torture. The pills seemed to give her strength, her blood must be enriched. What Dr Williams' Pink Pills do in cases of this kind is shown in the case of Mrs Emery, Woolford Station, Alta., who says:—"Before I got married, and knowing that there are thousands of women like myself who are away from a doctor, I want to tell them what Dr Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. After my first baby was born I seemed to have little energy. I felt worry all the time, unable to do even the ordinary home-hold duties. I felt that I would be glad as I had been given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertisement I decided to try them. I got a supply and carefully followed the directions and very long the result was wonderful. Day by day I regained my former strength and energy. The pills seemed to give me an appetite and I gained in weight and soon was able to resume my work about the house, but to help with many chores on the farm. For this reason I would advise women, particularly those who are run down, to get

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, as an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Pierrot, the half-breed trapper, and Nepeese, his daughter, were hunting when they saw Baree. Baree was half dog, half wolf, but it was the wolf in him that Nepeese saw and fired at, but her aim was bad. Baree had just seen Nobenosee, the cougar, all but kill a partridge, and he himself finished the bird and feasted upon it after he had frightened the cougar away. The dog was only a few weeks old and was having his first exciting adventures.

"Ubi Monste!" gasped Nepeese, in her Cree.

Pierrot caught the rifle from her. "Diable! A dog—suffering puppy!" he cried.

He started on a run for Baree. But in their amazement they had lost a few seconds and Baree's dazed senses were returning. He saw them coming at last and with a low growl he came across the open—a new kind of monster of the forests! With a final roll he darted back into the deep shadows of the trees. It was almost sunset, and he ran for the thick gloom of the heavy spruce near the creek. He had shivered at the sight of the bear and the moose, but for the first time he now sensed the real meaning of danger. And it was alone after him. He could hear the crashing of the two-legged beasts in pursuit, strange cries grew almost at his heels—and then suddenly he plunged without warning into a hole.

It was a shock to have the earth go out from under his feet like that, but Baree did not yelp. The wolf was dominant in him again. It urged him to remain where he was, making no move, no sound—scarcely breathing. The voices were over him, the strange feet almost crushed in the hole where he lay. Looking out of his dark hiding place, he could see one of his enemies. It was Nepeese, the Willow. She was standing so that a last glow of the day fell upon her face. Baree did not take his eyes from her. Above his pain there rose in him a strangest and thrilling fascination. The girl put her two hands to her mouth, and in a voice that was soft and plaintive, and amazingly comforting to his terrified little heart, cried:

Uchimus — Uchimus — Ouchi mus!"

And then he heard another voice, and this voice, too, was far less terrible than many sounds he had listened to in the forests.

"We cannot find him, Nepeese," the voice was saying. "He has crawled off to die. It is too-bad, Cama."

Where Baree had stood in the edge of the open, Pierrot paused and pointed to a birch sapling that had been cut clean off by the Willow's bullet. Nepeese understood. The sapling, no longer than her thumb, had turned her shot a trifle and had saved Baree from instant death.

She turned again and called:

"Uchimus — Uchimus — Ouchimus!"

Her cries were no longer filled with the thrill of slaughter.

"He would not understand that," said Pierrot leading the way across the open. "He is wild—born of the wolves. Perhaps he will die of his head hitch, who ran away to hunt with the parka hunt winter."

"And he will die—"

"Perhaps," he will die."

But Baree had no idea of dying. He was too tough a youngster to be shocked to death by a bullet plowing through the soft flesh of his fore-leg. That was what had happened. His leg was numb to the bone, but the bone itself was untouched. He waited until the moon had risen before he crawled out of his hole.

"Baree had not killed, but he had conquered."

In this hunger Baree rame, an hour later, out of the heavy timber of the creek bottom into the more open spaces of a small plain that ran along the foot of a ridge. It was in this plain that Ooboomkeow hunted. Oobomkeow was a huge snow-owl. He was the patriarch among all the owls of Pierrot's trapping domain. He was so old that he was almost blind, and therefore he never hunted as other owls hunted. He did not hide himself in the black shadows of spruce and balsam tops, or float softly through the night, ready in an instant to sweep down upon his prey. His eyesight was no poor that from a spruce top he could not have seen a rabbit at all, and he might have mistaken a fox for a mouse.

Even if Baree could have seen under the dead brush, and had discovered Oobookeow ready to dart from his ambush, it is not likely that he would have gone very far aside. His own fighting blood was up. He, too, was ready for war.

Very indistinctly Oobomkeow saw him at last coming across the open in a open which he was watching. He squatted down. His feathers ruffled up until he was like a ball. His almost sightless eyes glowed like two bluish pools of fire. Ten feet away, Baree stopped for a moment and licked his wound. Oobomkeow waited cautiously. Again Baree advanced, pausing within six feet of the hole. With a swift leap and a sudden thunder of his mammoth wings the great owl was upon him.

In the stillness of night there rose a still greater thunder of wings, and for a few moments Bloom rained his eyes in lump from being blinded by Oobomkeow's furious blows. But he hung on grimly, and as his teeth met through the flesh of the old night pirate's leg, his angry snarl carried defiance to Oobomkeow's ears. Rare good fortune had given him that grip on the leg, and Baree knew that triumph or defeat depended on his ability to hold it.

Suddenly Oobomkeow ceased his beating and launched himself upward. Like huge fans his powerful wings churned the air, and Baree felt himself lifted suddenly from the earth. Still he held on—and in a moment both bird and beast fell back with a thud.

Under these wings Baree's mind worked with the swift instinct of the killer. Suddenly he changed his hold, burying his fangs into the under part of Oobomkeow's body. They sank into three inches of feathers. Swift as Baree had been, Oobomkeow was equally swift to take advantage of his opportunity. In an instant he had swooped upward. There was a jerk, a rending of feathers from flesh—and Baree was alone on the bald of hillock. Baree had not killed, but he had conquered.

CHAPTER VI.

Baree's fight with Oobomkeow was good medicine for him. It not only gave him great confidence in himself, but it also cleared the trail of enemies from his blood. He no longer snapped and snarled at things as he went on through the night.

He was still a wander-r pupsmoo too, the Indians call it. It is the "wander spirit" that inspires for a time nearly every creature of the wild as soon as it is able to care for itself. Nature's scheme, perhaps, for doing away with too close family relations, and possibly dangerous interbreeding. Baree, like the young wolf seeking new hunting grounds, or the young bull discovering a new world, had no reason or method in his wanderings. He was simply "trav-lling" going on. He wanted something which he could not find. The wolf note brought it to him.

The stars and the moon filled Baree with a yearning for this something. The distant sounds impinged upon him as great stonenoss. And instinct, told him that only by questing could he find it. It was not so much lonely and tired Wolf that he missed now as not so much motherhood and kinship. It was comprehensively.

Baree did not know that one night like that the cry would had come with dusk, and his Father was Oobomkeow still later killed him with caution. Experience had taught him that the dark shadow—and he was prone to the former—was possibly an ancestor of danger. He was afraid, as he had once been before, and had fighting enough for a time, and so he accepted circumstances. He hotter part of valor and some time half about from the pack of wolves. It was a strange instinct, for such him sent his bed on the top of a huge rock up which he had some difficulty in climbing.

South African Native Ancient Human Type

Anatomists Greatly Interested in Find At Capetown

South Africa has yielded another ornaial curiosity which is attracting attention among anatomists and anthropologists. Word to that around-ed by the discovery early this year of a fossilized skull at Taung Bechuanaland, described by the discoverer as pesting something midway between man and the great apes.

When the body of a native was discovered at the ancient school at Capetown Dr. Raymond Dart was found to have a typical Bechuan skull, essentially identical with that discovered in the Transvaal in two forms in 1921 and traced to the age of probably 25,000 years back.

Anatomists emphasize the importance of this discovery, as it is the first specimen of the kind ever found in South Africa. Hitherto skeletons have been found in Europe, Asia and America, but never in Africa. It is almost impossible to find a fossilized skull in Africa, as the bones of natives are quickly destroyed by white ants. There is an absolute necessity for quick burial to prevent the destruction of the dead by these insects. Dr. Dart has always been good to Patients are small by medical standards, he finds at 27 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BETTER IN EVERY WAY

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ingomar, N. S.—"I took your medicine for a run-down condition and it cured troubles. I had pains in my right side so bad at times that I could not walk any distance. I now shout Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and have taken five bottles of it. I am better in every way and you can use my name to help some women." — Mrs. ALVIRA M. PERRY, Ingomar, N. S.

Nervous Breakdown Relieved

Toronto, Ontario.—"It is pretty hard to explain your feelings to nervous troubles. I felt low spirited, had pains in my head and eyes, always crying, and did not want to go anywhere. I do knitting and fancy work, and I would get irritable after a few minutes of work. I have been in Canada five years and have been this way ever since I came. I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sleep better and it seems to take me out, and I must say I am feeling more jolly. I have great faith in m your medicine because of what it has done for my husband's sister and she recommended it to me." — Mrs. A. SMITH, 10 Bright Avenue, Toronto-ten, Toronto, Ontario.

All druggists sell this dependable medicine, and women suffering from these troubles so common to their sex should give it a trial now.

NORTH COUNTRY RAILWAY NEEDS TO BE CONSIDERED

Calgary.—"There is a large pendulous fat country that is north country, which includes not only the Peace River district proper but the district north of the Peace, whose traffic possibilities are enormous and will not be more," said Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, in replying to a question regarding the lightening Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway.

In connection with the negotiations now pending for the running of the line either by the Canadian Pacific or the Canadian National Sir Henry stated another railroad was to be called by the premier.

Asked what foundation there was for the persistent rumors in the west that there is a possibility of the Canadian Pacific and the Government Railways being amalgamated Sir Henry remarked that had been talked about, but there was nothing yet of a tangible character.

It is a very large and many sided question and it should be viewed solely with respect to the welfare of the Dominion as a whole, he said.

He added that personally he was not in a position to express any opinion at all.

"The latest information is that you will remain in Canada?" it was suggested.

"There has been no discussion at all with respect to the continuance of my work here," said the president, "and it is naturally a matter that is in the hands of the higher powers."

Asked who the latter were, Sir Henry said he supposed that in the last analysis they were the people of Canada.

Leaves Cares Of Office

Officialdom of Britain Off on Autumn Holiday

London.—If a rival power should open war on Britain the greatest measures of defense would have to be organized by junior officials. The British government has gone grouse shooting, motoring and general holidaying

King George and Queen Mary are visiting Princess Mary at Coulsdon; Mr Baldwin has left for his country-seat Hall, Yorkshire. Prime Minister Worcestershire, Winston Churchill has gone to Surrey, where he is painting pictures. Lord Birkenhead is cruising in Scotland, where are also Admiral Lord Beatty, Field Marshal Earl Haig and other chiefs of the fighting services. The home secretary, Sir William Joynson Hicks, is giving the Communists a rest for a while while he shoots grouse, and the war minister has gone to the seaside to recuperate.

Most of the chiefs of the permanent staffs of the government offices are also taking holidays in the last half of August and most of September.

To Check Rum Running

Conference Between Officials Dominion and U.S. Government

Washington.—Canada represented by five officials attended conference between officials of the Dominion and United States Governments to draw up regulations in force to effect to the recent treaty to suppress smuggling across the border, arrived here today.

The chief purpose so far as the United States is concerned, is to tighten the border restrictions against rum smuggling and narcotic smuggling, and for this reason Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, now head of the prohibition enforcement, will be prominent in making the regulations.

Wage Board To Meet

Saskatoon.—A meeting of the Saskatchewan fair wage board will be held in Regina in September, at a date not yet decided, John A. Mather, chairman of the board, announces. Mr. Mather had not yet received any notice of conference of unusual moment. He expected that routine matters would largely occupy the attention of the board.

A day of fog in London is estimated to have cost the county council transways £4,000.

Ready To Argue Claims

British Columbia Has Completed New Case in Freight Rates

Victoria, B.C.—British Columbia has completed preparation of its new freight rates case, based on recent parliamentary legislation it has been announced by Premier John Oliver after G. G. McGeer, government counsel, had telegraphed to the railway board, urging an immediate ruling as to immediate argument on this proposed change in manner governing freight rates.

"We are ready now to argue our case any time," Mr. Oliver stated. "On account of the rate legislation passed by parliament at its recent session, we will hold the railway board actually have no alternative but to give us the same rates on westbound grain on those prevailing on our local grain. We assert we are entitled to Crow's Nest rates and want them to apply on the movement of this year's crop."

Edmonton.—A saving of about five cents per bushel to Peace River farmers in the event of the Dunvegan and British Columbia railway commission given an order making the Crow's Nest freight rates applicable to grain on the B. C. and N. C. and Central Canada Railways. Request to the board for such an order has been made by Clark, commercial freight supervisor, and it is expected the redirected scale will be effective by the time for the movement of this season's crop.

Worried Over Polish German Trade War

Danzig Business Men Do Not Profit By Hostilities

Danzig.—The Polish-Soviet war between Poland and Germany now in progress may have one beneficent result in the Danzig business world, namely, that if it will mean the deflection of Upper Silesian coal to the countries bordering on the Baltic Sea which have formerly a part of the Russian Empire. Such a deflection would, in their opinion, be to the advantage of the United States; the Poles would have a promising new market in exchange for the German; Danzig would gain much new business as the shipping port; the Baltic countries could obtain the coal more cheaply than they can now buy English coal; Germany could dispose of her Ruhr coal without the interference of Upper Silesian coal competition.

The people of Danzig are the most content victims of another phase of the mad war between Germany and Poland. Goods of purely Danzig origin may go to Germany unmolested in the return Senderlich and other articles intended purely for Danzig are permitted to come into the Free City carriage.

As a matter of fact there are practically no "goods of purely Danzig origin," consequently exempting that port from merchandise difficulties and comfort to the Danzig business man.

Miners Accept Terms

London.—A conference of delegates of the Miners' Federation decided to accept the terms of the truce in the coal industry on which the mine owners' notices for the termination of the 1914-25 wage scale were withdrawn, the truce terms being three months of strike. The conference instructed the executive of the federation to take such steps as might be necessary to present the miners' case before the proposed government commission of inquiry.

Painleve Cabinet Doomed

Paris.—Premier Painleve's cabinet was doomed when the Socialist Congress, representing 164 direct votes in the Chamber of Deputies, decided overwhelmingly against giving any support to the present cabinet.

The resolutions of Leon Blum and Paul Faure, declaring war on Painleve, were carried by 710 votes against 455, for a motion urging a benevolent attitude toward the present government.

Low Water in Lake Ontario

Rochester, N.Y.—Owners has been caused here by the fact that Lake Ontario is smaller and shallower than it has been in the last quarter century. Government experts here declare that the Chicago drainage canal, completed six best year, which diverts water from Lake Michigan through the city of Chicago and into the Mississippi Valley, for sanitary purposes, is responsible.

FUNDING OF THE BELGIAN DEBT TO UNITED STATES

Brussels Belgium Government reacts as shown by the Belgian press in comments on the news from Washington of the agreement reached there for funding the Belgian debt to the United States.

Viscount Short emphasizes the considerable character of the business arrangement and reveals the manner in which the American mission succeeded to honor the signature of President Wilson to the peace treaty.

The paper questions whether Belgium is to be compensated on the purchase reimbursed.

London.—Official announcement of the debt settlement between the United States and Belgium was made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer.

The ingenuable was given, however, that the favorable nature of the terms was to be expected and a similar opinion already revealed new rights at present unknown. By the agreement would not depart from its previous policy of refraining from pressing for payments in connection with international obligations to this country.

Criticizes Canada's Navy

Sarcastic Article Appears in Weekly Paper in London

London.—A writer in Truth the weekly newspaper, comments upon the paucity of Canada's contribution to the British navy, says the Toronto Globe tonight. He was very much displeased with me for quoting the precise figures of the local contribution to the sea pay of the empire. I think it right to tell the world that one-half of the entire Canadian navy has now put before the Canadian people by the Captoven of the North American squadron. In other words, the destroyer Patriciau has just been commissioned at Esquimalt and will not return till the beginning of October

"What the value of the active Canadian navy is doing I have no information at the present moment, but I believe she is assuring the safety of Halifax."

Lost Their One Laundryman

Hawaiian Citizens Greatly Resented Arrest of Only Chinaman

Honolulu.—The laundry business in Wailuku, island of Maui, Hawaii Territory, has been paralyzed, and irate calling a protest meeting, all on account of chinese, deported of dash shirts, collars, etc., have been on the verge of count of the Harrison narcotic law. Such was the story told by J. A. Hamilton, federal prohibition director, here on his return from Maui, where he arrested, among others, the town's only Caucasian, Chow Wing.

"One hotel had no linen, and every one in the village seemed to have a dress or a shirt in the hands of Wing Chow," Manning said. "To hear the grief and protests, you would have thought the patron saint of the town had just expired."

England Plans New Air Service

Passengers Would Be Landed At Air Stations Thames

London.—A new development in air service between the continent and London is being planned for the near future. Experiments are being carried out with a view to the establishment of an airport on the River Thames at Hammersmith, just below Putney, where French amphibian planes will alight and not down passengers on an ornamental floating landing stage. The authorities stipulate that mere hostlians shall occur before alien arrivals in the country and that dislocation of river traffic may be avoided

Curtain Exploration For The Year

Washington.—The MacMillan Arctic expedition has abandoned hope of carrying out its full exploration programme over the Polar Sea this year

Curtailment of the expedition's activities was forced by adverse weather, which has locked the Northland in ice and fog, well ahead of the usual winter season.

Return Russian Warships

French Government Decides to Hand Ships Over to Soviets

Paris.—The French Government has decided to hand over the Russian warships now at Bizerta in accordance with the terms of an agreement drawn up by Ambassador Herriot and Leonid Ulianoff Bakhmetieff. It will declare recognize the Czarist debts of the Provisional Government and the Soviet Government, but will not recognize the Soviet Government.

The Russian warships now at Bizerta, formerly the Russian Black Sea fleet, are to be turned over to the Russian Soviet Government, which will be represented by a commissioner to receive the ships. The Russian warships in Bizerta include the battleship Volia, the cruiser Pamiat Merkuria, the destroyer Derzki and the submarine Krab.

Predicts War Between States and Japan

British Author Says Conflict Will Start March 1, 1921

London.—Japan will declare war on America on March 1, 1921, by completely blocking the Panama Canal, Japan will then capture the Philippines and, stripping the Pacific coast of Asiatic fleet, Japanese army fleet landing troops will proceed to invade the United States and Canada and Los Angeles.

After a tremendous loss of life, money and territory, the American fleet will win the war by annihilating the Japanese grand fleet in mid Pacific and the latter will conclude peace on terms of the greatest battle in naval history.

This prediction of conflict between America and Japan is made in a book entitled "The Great Pacific War," by Hector Bywater, noted naval architect and strategist. The book, just published here, is causing keen interest in military and naval circles.

Explorers Ordered To Leave Mongolia

Government Alleges Leader of Expedition Has Violated Agreement

Urga, Mongolia.—The Mongolian Government has ordered the American expedition of the American Museum of Natural History under the leadership of Dr. Andrews, to leave its exploration and research work in Mongolia at once, deported of dash shirts, collars, etc., have been on the verge of terms of his agreement with the Mongolian scientific organization.

The Mongolian Government further alleges that besides carrying on his scientific work in the domains of paleontology, geology and zoology, Mr. Andrews' expedition has been engaged in topographical work and has employed a number of engineers in a military sense—persons.

Mr. Andrews also is accused of carrying on political propaganda activities during the Mongolians against the Red Bolsheviki.

Shipping Flowers To England

Canadian Blooms Are a Surprise to English People

Ottawa, Ont.—Reports indicative the success of cut flower blooms now being shipped to England from Canada. From Montreal a landscape gardener has sent over several hundred blooms, which were sent by express, to England to greenhouse office of the C N R and C P R exhibit. In the customary fast flower service from Canada to England to be kept in cold storage, arriving with the fresh blooms and the Maple Leaf's fertile English people are noted for their fondness of flowers, but the Canadian blooms have been a surprise. The Canadian premises have proven to be a far more flourishing bloom than the peony grown in the Old Country.

PROPOSE UNITING VETERANS IN ONE ORGANIZATION

Toronto.—As the result of a proposal now under consideration by the executive of the Canadian Legion, it is likely that the next annual convention will be held in the city of Toronto, in October, 1921, instead of in Montreal, as was originally intended. The proposal to hold a convention in Toronto was made by Col. Ernest Hardy, president of the Ontario command of the Canadian Legion, and it is understood that the executive of the Canadian Legion is favorably considering the proposal. The gathering would be of 150 accredited delegates from all parts of Ontario, and under the title of the convention it is understood that all veterans of the late war will be welcomed. The proposal to hold a convention in Toronto was made at the meeting of the provincial executive of the Canadian Legion in Toronto on Monday, August 2, 1921, when it was decided to hold the next annual convention in Toronto. The proposal to hold a convention in Toronto was made at the meeting of the provincial executive of the Canadian Legion in Toronto on Monday, August 2, 1921, when it was decided to hold the next annual convention in Toronto.

Saskatchewan Lignite

Briquetting of Saskatchewan Lignite Technically Successful

Regina.—Saskatchewan lignite, which has recently been successfully used in Germany, has been technically briquetted, and it is now ready for commercial use, according to an announcement made by Hon. J. A. Lawson, who has been in charge of the government's experimental work in connection with the matter.

The tests have been carried out during the past two months at the mines of the Saskatchewan Fuel Co., at Estevan, and at the plant of the Western Canada Briquetting Co., at Bienfait. Fifty tons of lignite from the mines of the Western Canada Briquetting Co., at Bienfait were used in the tests.

Wheat Board Surplus

Saskatchewan's Share To Be Paid At Once

Ottawa.—Confirmation of the arrangement for the immediate payment of Saskatchewan's share of the wheat board surplus was made here by Hon. J. A. Lawson, minister of agriculture.

The sum in question totalling approximately $264,000, will be forwarded to the Saskatchewan government in the course of the next two or three weeks, and it is understood, the proceeds of the surplus due in that province, $7 clause now held at school to the board for sale and distribution, at the time the Canada wheat board gave up office to the Province of the Province of Saskatchewan. Alberta claims and Quebec have already been made in regard.

Heavy frost was reported at Bruderheim and other points Sunday night, but as far as we can learn no damage by frost has occurred in this district. Cutting is being done with all speed after the slight check occasioned by the rain of the latter part of the week.

Once more the town has been circularized by a city printer seeking more grist for his mill. We happen to have worked in the same office in Calgary a matter of thirteen years ago with the superintendent of this particular printing firm, and we have a high regard for his abilities as a printer. We must observe, however, in fairness to ourselves, that were he approached and questioned upon the matter, we believe he would submit the publisher of The Record is no slouch either.

An estate valued at nearly five million dollars was left by a Chicago editor and publisher who died recently, which fact inspires us to mention the reader to be kind to the editor. You might some day be a beneficiary. Who knows? We have a long memory for those who are good to us and the storehouse of such memories is far from being crammed.

We would urge that all who can possibly do so attend the meeting to be held Friday evening to discuss arrangements for the reception of the visiting members of the American Agricultural Editors' Association. It has been a great district to be chosen as one of the best and worthy of being shown to these distinguished visitors as an example of what can be grown in the Canadian West. Canadians have a reputation for hospitality. Let us by our exhilaration and cordiality maintain that reputation, which the folks south of the line attribute to us.

The office of The Record will be closed Friday and Saturday of this week to enable ye editor to attend the convention of the Alberta and B.C. Press Associations which is being held at the Macdonald hotel, Edmonton, on these days. After adjournment the Associations will spend the week end at Jasper. Circumstances, however, force us to forego the pleasure of the trip.

SILAGE SUBSTITUTES ON SMALL FARMS

(Experimental Farms Note)

On many small farms, on account of the comparatively small number of animals kept, it is not advisable or economical to construct and fill a silo with suitable silage crops. In such cases, provision should be made for a supply of succulent food other than silage. While under average conditions, food value is lost when roots are grown and stored as economically as in a silage crop such as corn, due to the labor of growing, harvesting and cost of storing, immediately, under the conditions mentioned above, roots form the most satisfactory substitute for a succulent crop such as silage. They are to be recommended particularly for the fall and early winter feeding, the difficulty of keeping them throughout the late winter and early spring prohibiting their use at these times.

Where roots are not available and for late winter feeding, dried beet pulp is well worth considering as a substitute. This by-product of the sugar-beet industry is available in considerable quantities in the late fall and early winter, and may be

It is estimated that sixty-nine thousand harvesters will be needed to garner the crops in Western Canada this year. Of this number probably nineteen thousand will be supplied by the Western provinces leaving fifty thousand to be recruited in the East.

This is an unusually large number. It means that from all parts of Eastern Canada a great army of Canadian men must be mobilized to harvest the grain upon which the general prosperity of the country depends. The famous gold rush of ninety-eight had no greater touch of glamour and romance than this annual exodus to the wheat fields of the west. Professor, factory and college are young men and old men, and some of our women too, are preparing to exhibit the great adventure from which all hope to return hardy, bronzed and with a goodly savings account.

The railway companies are fully prepared for the rush. Their Colonist cars of the newest, most serviceable and comfortable type, of which they have a greater supply on hand than ever before, are in use and there is more than enough motive power available for handling the service.

The Colonist car has kept pace with the remainder of railway equipment in the march of progress. In the olden days many prospective harvesters remained at home because of the stories they heard of chain-

King Presents Colors To Welsh Guards

These Bear Record of War History of Regiment

New colors were recently presented to the Welsh Guards. For the ten years since the formation of the regiment the Welsh Guards have carried colors on which no name of a battle has been emblazoned, but at a ceremony at Windsor Castle, the King presented them with new colors that are a record of their glorious war history. The King said: "Ten years ago, when your regiment was raised, I presented its first colors at Buckingham Palace. Shortly after that period the regiment was called upon to fight for its country, and today its noble deeds in the Great War are inscribed upon your colors."

66,000 Auto Licenses Issued in Saskatchewan This Year

Up to Aug. 12 66,000 private auto licenses had been issued in Saskatchewan this year, according to report of W. Kerr, provincial license inspector. This is an increase of approximately 4,000 over the record number issued in 1924. Truck licenses issued this year to date number 5,000. Mr. Kerr estimated that livery and dealer licenses issued so far would total approximately 1,500 each.

Transferring of licenses from one car to another is another matter which is giving considerable trouble, he said. In changing cars, the owner must secure a transfer of license through the department. The mere transfer of the license plates from one car to another is not sufficient. Persons who do not see to the proper transfer of the license are actually driving the new car without a license Mr Kerr pointed out.

Many people are under a false impression as to the issuing of half price licenses, Mr Kerr said. These are not issued on and after July 1, but any person purchasing a car after October 1 may secure a license at half price, but must furnish an affidavit that the car had not been used in the province prior to that date.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 27

PAUL AND THE PHILIPPIAN JAILOR

Golden Text: Believe on the Lord Jesus, and thou shalt be saved. Acts 16:31.

Lesson: Acts 16:16-34.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 42:1-5, 11:12.

The Text Explained and Illustrated

The unbelieving mood of Philippi, verses 16-18, some time after coming to Philippi, as Paul and his companions went to the place of prayer where he was wont to preach he was followed by a fortune-telling slave girl who kept crying out after them: "These men are servants of the Most High God, who proclaimed unto you the way of salvation." In the margin of the Revised Version the alternative translation for "soothsaying maid" given is "a maid having a spirit, a Python." The great prophecy on at Delphi which Apollo was raised a Python, and according to Plutarch so also at this time was a "divining girl." Dr. Ramsay says that "God the Highest" was a widespread pagan expression, and "salvation" was the object of much vows and prayers to the gods. He further says that the slave girl's mind became distorted and diseased by her belief in her super-natural possession, but it became all the more acute in certain perceptions and intuitions, and she became at once alive to the moral influence which the intense faith of the strangers gave them.

Paul in the name of Jesus Christ bade the spirit leave her. And she was freed. "Paul's power over her was not necessarily miraculous; it was that of a good man over a spiritual nature. This slave girl became the second Christian convert in Philippi and led up to another conversion equally strange."

Venice May Lose Isolation

Automobile's Road Will Connect Island With Rest of Italy

Loss of the isolation which made the city of Venice, as an island, has enjoyed for centuries is threatened by the arrangements which have been completed for the construction of an automobile road connecting Venice with Padua. Later, it is planned to join this road to the Padua-Milan road.

The importance of this project arises from the fact that hitherto the city of Venice has never been joined by road to the rest of Italy, the only communication being by boat or by train crossing by means of a pontoon bridge.

In Mourning For Sir William Peterson

Ship Will Display Broad Ribbon Mark For Six Months

Montreal has, for the first time, been a ship in mourning.

It was the Rio Dorado, of the Peterson Line. As she steamed up the St. Lawrence, the new famous "corrugated ship" was conspicuous for a broad blue band painted all about the hull about four feet below the top deck rail. This ribbon mark formerly was white, and it will remain blue for six months as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Sir William Peterson, head of the line, who died suddenly in Ottawa some time ago while on a visit to the capital with the proposed ship nobody plan.

Captain R. Hockin, who gave evidence before the ocean rate committee in the House of Commons in praise of the "corrugated" ship experiment, is in command. He reported his vessel continues to live up to her record for speed on a 60 per cent. consumption of fuel.

Canada Interested in Radio

Saskatchewan Stands Second to Ontario in Number of Licenses

Canada spent $5,614,790 on radio sets and parts in 1932.

Public interest in radio broadcasting, and the consequent demand for apparatus has created a new industry.

A report issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics shows that production of radio sets and parts in Canada last year amounted to $3,201,183.

Radio licenses were issued by the department of marine and fisheries during the 12 months ending March, 1933, to 82,006 persons. Ontario led all provinces with a total of 41,847 Saskatchewan took 9,262, Manitoba 6,553, British Columbia 6,109, and Alberta 5,813.

stored indefinitely, provided it is kept dry. It should always be soaked before feeding, as it will take up about three times its own weight of water, and swells proportionately. The addition of a little feeding molasses while soaking improves the palatability of bran pulp. Experiments conducted in the Division of Animal Husbandry have shown that dried beet pulp gives the best and most economical results when used to replace the usual mixture or roots of an already well-balanced ration, rather than when used as a substitute for other succulents, such as silage, in the ration. Nevertheless, where silage is not available, dried beet pulp in small quantities, four to five pounds dry weight daily, should yield profitable returns. Dried beet pulp should be procurable at approximately the ruling price of wheat bran.

Here and There

The popularity of the Nova Scotia apple is rapidly growing in Europe. 1,185,860 barrels and 5,693 boxes were shipped in 1924-25 to ports in England, Scotland and Germany. Shipments also went to Newfoundland, West Indies, Central Canada and the United States.

Production of sugar beets in Canada during 1925 amounted to 116,000 tons, valued at $1,262,000, and grown on 17,941 acres, according to the Bureau of Statistics. 6,000 acres have been planted to beets this year in Southern Alberta, due to the establishment of a sugar beet factory.

Milton Sills, the well-known movie actor, with a company of 32 other screen artists, arrived on the Mackenzie River recently to take scenes in "The Call of the North" in which he is featured. The party went to Aklavik, Mackenzie, in Northern Quebec. Travelling by another train was a mother skunk and five kittens of the latter which will also figure in the picture.

The 266 passengers on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France completed their 9,000-mile tour of the world on August 20, when they left the vessel docked at New York. At their last stop at Havana, President Machado of Cuba invited the passengers to attend his official inauguration and be witness the unveiling of a statue to the preceding one.

Another aristocratic rancher recently passed through Montreal on a return visit to the ancestral estates in Transylvania, Hungary. This was Baron Josef Conrossy who, with his brother Andre, took over a 1,600-acre ranch last March near Cochrane, Alberta, on the Bow River. Incidentally the Baron was a passenger on the Trans-Canada on its first return trip of the season from Vancouver.

The Indian Day Celebration at Banff, it is announced, will take place an annual this year on the third Thursday and Friday in July. Edward G. Taylor, one of the best known game fishermen on the continent is authority for the statement that New Brunswick is back in some of its lure as a fisherman's paradise. Just back from a trip to the Caine River, M.R., Mr. Taylor said salmon were steadily increasing in numbers and also in the province. He added that he caught on this trip a salmon 42 inches long and weighing 24 lbs. In the autumn such a fish would likely weigh up to fifty pounds.

The following story is told of Sir William Van Horne, first president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and a Major Rogers, who was in charge of the supplies for men working along the track. Van Horne said: "Look here, Major, I hear your men won't stay with you, they say you starve them." "Taint so, Van." "Well, I'm told you feed 'em on soup made out of water flavored with old ham canvas covers." "Taint so, Van, I didn't never have no hams."—From "Canada's Great Highway," by J. B. E. Secretan.

The Western railways of the United States comprising 97 roads serving Chicago and the West, have petitioned the Inter-State Commerce Commission for permission to advance rates. They state that for the years 1921 to 1925 inclusive, the average rate of return on capital was 3.56 per cent., which they claim is so small as to render it impossible for them to secure working capital for extensions and improvement of service by the sale of stock or issue of bonds at reasonable terms. They ask for rates that would give them a net return of 5½ per cent., which it is generally admitted is what railways should have.

PRINCE MAY COME IN 1926

TOWN AND COUNTRY MEET TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS AMERICAN EDITORS VISIT

A large and representative gathering from town and country met in the town hall Tuesday evening to discuss arrangements to be made in connection with the visit of the American Agricultural Editors' Association, which will take place on Friday. Mr. Sutherland occupied the chair. The American visitors will number about sixty-five, ladies and gentlemen, and the party will be augmented by about twenty-five members of the Edmonton Board of Trade and others.

Donations were freely volunteered, chickens, pies and cakes promised and the sum of $60.00 taken up by collection. Offers to have some of the necessary cooking done was made by some bold spirits, others waited to see what the cook would say about it before making any promises. No great trouble is anticipated in this direction, however, the spirit of the better half of the population being too well known.

Arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors upon arrival were put in hands of a capable committee consisting of D. Roberts, Dr. deBeaupre, E. LeRicle, D. Harper, W. A. Graham and J. Wright.

Sturgeonville

Mrs. Ernestine Bouvjoli returned home last Wednesday from Victoria, B.C., where she has been attending homecomings.

Mr. Frank Yanch, of Tweed, Ont., arrived here last week and is visiting his brother, Mr. Amos Yanch.

Mrs. Steve Smith and son Cleo, of Edmonton, are holidaying at the home of Mrs. A. C. Moore.

Mrs. Eric Le Page has gone to Castor to visit for a while with her sister.

Mr. Young, the principal for the coming year for the St Eugene school, has arrived and is at present staying with Mr. J Holmes.

Harry Clarke had the misfortune to be thrown off his horse last week and was quite badly shaken up.

Mrs. Walter Miller received word last Friday that her aunt, Mrs. M Phillips, of Denver, Colorado, was killed in an automobile accident.

The route planned for observations and farmers to be called upon in the limited time the editors can devote to this trip has been arranged by R. G. Fraser, who will also act as guide.

Lunch will be served at the Memorial hall about noon.

LOCAL YOUTH INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Returning homeward from the city about 2 o'clock last Thursday morning D'Arcy Aylen had a bad smash-up with his car directly opposite the residence of W. F. Byers, which is between the bridge and the "big hill." It is presumed he got into the ditch with the two front wheels of the car and failing to negotiate the roadway, dashed into the bank of earth which is to the left of the cow path down to the river. He received a serious cut over the left eye, was bruised in several places and naturally is suffering from the shock.

Mr. Byers heard the crash and the next time he passed the bedroom window, called out and was answered by D'Arcy, who said he was hurt. By this time Mr. Byers had hurriedly dressed and opened the door, the injured man was put into the car and running against the fence. Medical aid was summoned and was also Fred Slater, who was privately asked to keep mum. Dr. Allan arrived and was given his instructions. He was accompanied by Constable Alexandra Hospital, Edmonton, where he is now said to be progressing as well as can be expected.

The car is an almost hopeless wreck.

Pleasant View

Harvesting is in full swing in this district. The wheat is cut and this week will see practically all oats cut.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Robbins and family returned last Friday from a two month's visit in Ontario.

School re-opened on Monday for the fall term. At the grade eight departmental exams Leonard Thorne, Beatrice Whitson and Hector Simmons were successful in passing.

Miss Rene Berg and Miss Hilda Berg are visiting with their sister, Mrs. Wilton, at Athabasca.

Mr. Clifford Magee returned home recently from the United States.

Miss Charlotte Thorne has been on the sick list with tonsilitis.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lowes were visitors in the district over the week end.

"The two things Alberta needs most to get a 100 per cent increase in tourist traffic are better roads and better tourist roads," declared F. Morrison when suggestion that such an organization should be formed. The name "Boosters' Club" was suggested and for lack

SUGGESTION TO FORM BOOSTERS CLUB ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED

After adjournment of the meeting held in the town hall to discuss arrangements for the reception for the American editors on Friday, Mr. Sutherland announced he had another subject to deal with while he had so representative an audience. It was a proposal to form a body akin to a Board of Trade, under another name but serving the same purpose as a Board of Trade. The title "Board of Trade" savors too much of town to the exclusion of country, and it was the universal desire to have town and country work and function together in all matters pertaining to the development of the district. The reason for the meeting just concluded was referred to as a case in point

His suggestion was met with enthusiasm and upon being put to the vote the result was an unanimous opinion that such an organization should be formed. The name "Boosters' Club" was suggested and for lack

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF CLOVER BAR, NO. 517

The council of the municipal district of Clover Bar, No. 517, held their regular monthly meeting on Saturday, August 29.

The construction of a roadway along the north-west side of river lots 15, 17, 19 and 21, Fort Saskatchewan settlement was left in abeyance pending further investigation by the committee.

Authorization for the commencement of the work of constructing the roadway into Ardrossan from the east was passed.

Tenders for the work of constructing the Yorkville drainage ditch were opened and the contract was awarded to the lowest tenderer, Mr. J. R. Kinsey.

Mr. A. Gillies was unanimously re-elected deputy reeve for the ensuing six months.

The secretary was instructed to call for tenders for the work of deepening and cleaning out the Hanlan Lake ditch. Copies of the specifications of this work will be available at a very early date.

With the passing of paysheet and accounts and the reading of correspondence the meeting adjourned to meet again September 8.

ALBERTA, B.C. AND YUKON PRESS ASSOCIATIONS

The press associations of Alberta, British Columbia and Yukon held their annual joint convention at the Macdonald hotel, Edmonton, last Friday and Saturday. The associations were addressed on Friday by Premier Greenfield and Mr. John Imrie, managing director of the Edmonton Journal. On Saturday Dr. H. M. Tory, University of Alberta, gave an address, his subject being "How the press may aid in promoting provincial and national development through scientific research."

In the afternoon Mr. Ball, editor of the Vernon (B.C.) News, acknowledged the best weekly newspaper in the Dominion, gave criticisms on samples of weekly newspapers submitted by their editors. His summing up of The Record, Fort Saskatchewan, was—"tonal, and well printed."

Hot weather wouldn't be so bad if you could blame it on your wife.

Beware Of Dust

Once upon a time, says the Literary Digest, there was a small boy who was made to dust the family carpets each spring at the annual house-cleaning upheaval. In later years, grown to manhood, he marveled that he had escaped death from inhaling cloud- at germ laden dust. He thinks that the best of youthful indignation may have proved providential, and he dwells lovingly vowed that there would be no carpets in his home of the future.

Nor was the vow forgotten: the home of Dr. Allen Rogers, of Pratt Institute, is carpetless, and the potential himself is able to note with satisfaction that today a carpeted house is the rare exception rather than the rule. He grounds the change has come about "not because that boy disliked to beat carpets, but because people have come to realize their danger from a sanitary standpoint." In an address delivered before a conference of tuberculosis workers under the auspices of the Society of Chemical Industry, as reported in the Weekly Scotsman and Medical Digest (Philadelphia), Dr. Rogers elaborates the theory that dust and germs go hand in hand. The bulk of consumptive fatalities, where the disease, supposedly "in the blood" was in reality lurking in rag carpets and plush furniture. And in particular he makes indictment of that modern refuge of the disease germs, the upholstered automobile cushion. He presents specimens secured with vacuum cleaner and with naphtha to prove that the fabrics from closed cars retain not only the fabrics from furniture, drapfabrics from closed cars retain not only the fabrics from furniture, drapfabrics from closed cars are repositories of dust. Moreover—

"Cultures of the dirt removed from automobile cushions, furniture, and rugs give us positive proof that they are not sterile, as colonies of active germs develop while you wait. Gauges are not particular about their lodging-place, and you may rest assured that all kinds have gathered here.

"If what interest is it to you and me to know that carpets, rugs, furniture and automobile cushions are full of dust and germs? It is simply this! We are living in a progressive and scientific age. One of the problems of existence, and among the most important is our war against germs. Those of you who are listening may enlist in the army by taking every opportunity to kill the germs. The slogan 'clear the fly' does not apply to us. If you have carpets in your home, clean with a vacuum or sweep with an antiseptic mail. Put your rugs occasionally in the sun, and give them an antiseptic cleaning. Do not be satisfied with the 'cream or brown, but give them a naphtha sponge bath. Vacuum clean your furniture and over the fabrics wipe with naphtha or an antiseptic cleaner. Spray your rooms now and then, and in case of a contagious disease always disinfect.

"If your automobile happens to be upholstered in fabric, give it a good cleaning from time to time. Vacuum cleaning followed by a good sponging with naphtha will remove dust and kill germs, but on a step further and apply an antiseptic wash. If your car is upholstered in leather or leather substitute, a soft rag dampened with naphtha will remove the grease and make it look like new.

"Help those who are fighting the great white plague by doing your bit to kill disease germs, and do this by eliminating dust receptacles. Or, if you cannot eliminate them, see that they are not made into incubators."

Will Reduce Building Expenses

Platform To Do Away With Semi-Detached Houses In Near Future

In building operations, a great deal of time and labor is expended in building and moving scaffolds. As a means of reducing this labor and expense, and to enable work to be done at an inaccessible elevation without the building of a scaffold, a vehicular extension support has been patented in America. It consists of a platform on wheels which may be easily raised or lowered. Even when extended to its greatest height, it may be propelled by hand or electric power, and stowed to any position. Collapsible when not in use, it occupies little space.

WHEN THE NERVES ARE OUT OF GEAR

They Need New, Rich Blood to Restore Their Tone

Men and women who suffer from out of gear become irritable and fretful and are blamed for it—temper, knowing the fault is not theirs. Their poor health is the cause. Tired, over-busy wife or mother, whose nerves have worn her out; the breadwinner whose anxiety for his family has wrecked him until he is tiptoeing on the brink of nervous prostration; some run down. Their nerves, like all bodily organs, need healthy red blood; worry tells on their digestion and their nerves are ill-fed. In such cases a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is necessary, for these pills make new, rich blood and tone up the nerve system. The patient becomes full of energy, and happiness returns to home and others returns. Mrs. Wm. Hughes, Coldwater, Ont., has proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and does not hesitate to say so. She says:—"Two years ago I suffered untold agonies with my nerves. The pains in my head and the backs of my neck were unbearable. I was depressed and worried all the time. I took to bed. I took and best of medical attention did me no good. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking them for a time felt much better. I continued their use with some benefit, and after my baby was born they were the only tonic that helped my nerves her. I found them a splendid blood enricher, and those of my work

THUNDER

Nepomo, the Willow, while hunting with her father, Pierrot, shot at Baree, the dog wolf, inflicting only a trifling wound. When she found Baree was not a full blooded wolf she greatly regretted having fired. She pursued Baree to pay him but he disappeared. Baree encountered Chokeonwater a huge snow owl, and the two had a terrible fight, in which Baree conquered but did not kill. This fight was good medicine for the young Baree, giving him confidence in himself.

Baree's rock, instead of rising for a hundred feet or more straight up, was possibly as high as a man's head. It was in the edge of the creek-bottom, with the spruce forest close at its back. For many hours he did not sleep, but by twenty short, his ears tuned to catch every sound that came out of the dark world about him. There was more than curiosity in his alertness tonight. His education had broadened immensely in one way; he had learned that he was a very small part of this wonderful earth that lay under the stars and the moon, and he was ready after with the desire to become better acquainted with it without any more fighting or hurt. Tonight he knew what it meant when his nose new and then gray shadows float silently out of the forest into the moonlight—the owls, monsters of the breed with which he had fought. He heard the crackling of hoofed feet and the moaning of heavy bodies in the underbrush. He heard again the mooing of the moose. Voices came to him that he had not heard before—the sharp yap-yap-yap of a fox, the unearthly laughing cry of a great Northern loon on a lake half a mile away, the sorrow of a lynx that range floating through miles of forest, the low, soft croaks of the nighthawks between himself and the stars.

All these sounds held their new meaning for Baree. Swiftly he was coming into his knowledge of the wilderness. His eyes gleamed; his blood thrilled. For many minutes at a time he scarcely moved. But of all the sounds that came to him, the wolf-cry thrilled him most. Again and again he listened to it. At times it was far away, so far that it was like a whisper; then it came nearer, until it reached him; and then again it would cease to him till-thrusted, but with the breath of the chase, calling him to the red thrill of the hunt, to the wild cry of torn flesh and running blood—call, calling, calling.

Next morning Baree found many crayfish along the creek, and he feasted on their succulent flesh until he felt that he would never be hungry again. Nothing had tasted quite so good since he had eaten the partridge of which he had robbed Nekmouse the ermine.

"Down there, on a clear strip of the shore that rose out of the soft mud of the pond, waddled the little Umish and three of his playmates."

In the middle of the afternoon Baree came into a part of the forest that was very quiet and peaceful. The creek had deepened. In places its bank was cut out until they formed small ponds. Twice he made considerable detours to get around these ponds. He could very quietly. He kept swimming and watching. Not since the hill fated day he had left the old wind-fall had he felt quite so much at home as now. It seemed to him that at last he was treading country which he knew, and where he was filled with friends. Perhaps this was another miracle-mystery of instinct—of nature. For he was in old Beaver-tooth's domain. It was here that his father and mother had hunted in the days before he was born. It was not far from here that Kazan and Beaver-tooth had fought that mighty duel under the water, from which Kazan had escaped with his life without another breath to lose.

Baree would never know these things. He would never know that he was trailing over old trails that something deep in him gripped at him strangely. He sniffed the air as if in it he found the scent of familiar things. It was only a faint breath—an indefinable promise that brought him to the point of a mystery-ous anticipation.

There had been few changes in Beaver-tooth's colony since the days of his feud with Kazan and the otters. Old Beaver-tooth was still older. He was fatter. He slept a good deal, and perhaps he was less cautious. He was dozing on the great mud-and-brush-wood dam of which he had been engineer-in-chief when Baree came out softly on a high bank thirty or forty feet away. He bolstered had Beaver been that home of the beavers had been or heard him. He squatted himself on his big haunches behind a tuft of grass, and with eager interest watched every movement. Beaver-tooth was rousing himself. He stood on his short legs for a moment, then he lifted himself up on his broad, flat tail like a soldier at attention, and with a sudden slap of his head dived into the pond with a great splash.

In another moment it seemed to Baree that the pond was alive with beavers. Heads and bodies appeared and disappeared, rushing this way and that through the water in a manner that amazed and puzzled him.

The beavers lost no time in getting at their labor, and Baree watched and listened without so much as rustling a blade of the grass in which he was concealed. He was trying to understand. He was striving to place these curious and comfortable looking creatures in his knowledge of things. They did not attack him. He felt no resentment at their number or size. His silliness was not the quietness of disinterestedness. There was a strangely growing desire to get better acquainted with this curious, fuzzy-legged brotherhood of the pond. Already of which he had robbed Nekmouse the ermine!

"Down there, on a clear strip of the shore that rose out of the soft mud of the pond, waddled the little Umish and three of his playmates."

Scarcely had the signal gone forth when Baree was crashing in all directions—in the pond, in the hidden canals, in the thick willows and alders. The Umish and his companions they said:

"Run for your lives!"

Then came quiet and motionless now. In amazement he watched the four little beavers plunge into the pond and disappear. He heard their splashes and heavier bodies striking the water. And then there followed a strange and disquieting silence. Not a leaf rustled. Not a whine was almost a sobbing cry. Why had Umish and his little mates run away from him? What had he done that they didn't want to make friends with him. A great loneliness swept over him—loneliness greater even than that of his first night away from his mother. The hurt of the sun faded out of the sky and the forest. There Darker shadows crept over the pond. He looked into the forest, where night was gathering and with another whining cry Baree was left into it. He had not found friendship. He had not found companionship. And his heart was very sad.

CHAPTER VII.

For two or three days Baree's experiences after Umish took him farther and farther away from the pond. But each afternoon he returned to it—until the last day, when he discovered

Business Stability In Canada

The Canadian dollar, in rising above par in the United States has, according to the South Bend, Ind. Tribune, done something so notable that Canadians may well take great pride in it. "It is not often," the Tribune says, "that the money of any other country goes above the American dollar. In this case it evidences, says the Tribune, "the soundness of business conditions in Canada and the increase of export trade."

An Interesting Discovery

South American Plain Seed is Found in Saskatchewan

An object regarded as an oddly shaped stone resembling a horse chestnut was found by Alfred Brandhorst, of Court, Sask., in 1913, while he was digging a well.

Through the agency of Miss Kath leen Hassell, teacher of a school near Court, Dean W. J. Rutherford, of the College of Agriculture, University of Saskatchewan, has identified it as the seed of a palm tree found growing only in tropical climes.

Professor B. T. Dickson, professor of Biology of Macdougall College, Regina, has confirmed this report identifying the nut as fruit of a palm actually a native of South America and known commonly as the "cocoanut palm." Evidently the nut was carried with a thin shell or husk. This alone was petrified, giving the impression that the object was a stone. The kernel of the nut was in a good state of preservation and it was found 26 feet below the surface, the conjecture is as to how and when it got there.

Oldest Printed Book in Canada

Bible Owned By Toronto Doctor is 400 Years Old

Dr. J. D. Tyrrell, 376 Bloor Street East, Toronto, Ont., is the owner of probably the oldest printed book there is in Canada. It is a Bible. On its back it its title "Biblia Nurinberg" —the Nuriaberg Bible which was printed in Nuremberg, Germany in 1477.

This book, which is 648 years old, but which looks fresh enough for a Christmas gift, is in his original binding of leather, hand-tooled with quaint designs, whose imprints are very brightly gold lines. Its pages are linen paper, made by hand, are 15 to 11 inches, bearing two columns each page. The letters themselves are in a remarkably well-preserved condition, and show not the slightest sign of deterioration, being but slightly discolored in places by moisture.

Consider Building Glass Houses

Would Hardly Ever Need Repairs Say American Experts

American glass experts are considering plans for building houses of opaque glass which they claim can be produced in great quantities at a reasonable cost. "The advantage for the proposed glass house can be made in slabs one-eighth of an inch thick, twenty inches wide, and nine feet long. These slabs of opaque glass can be made in any shade or color the builder wants." The glass houses must be constructed on a concrete foundation and a wood framework. There will be an air-pocket between the outside and the inside walls which will keep out both heat and cold. It is claimed that the first cost of the house would also prove to be practically the last, as the need for repairs would be almost non-existent.

GREAT HELP TO YOUNG MOTHERS
Baby's Own Tablets Have Many Uses and Are Absolutely Harmless
To have in the house a simple harmless remedy for the minor ills of babies and little children is a great boon to young mothers and this is exactly why Baby's Own Tablets have been found in many households. They relieve Teething Troubles, Colds, cutting-teeth and regulate the bowels, and they have no drug taint and children like them.
Mrs. Mary L. Daniel, Central Falls, R.I., says: "Baby's Own Tablets are just what they are recommended to be. My little girl was badly troubled with pin worms, was feverish and restless and would be awake all night. I got a box of Baby's Own Tablets and they helped her at once. She is not nervous now and sleeps well at night. I have never used any medicine for this trouble. I have also found Baby's Own Tablets good at teething time and find they do recommendation to other mothers."
Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all druggists or will be mailed on receipt of price, 25 cents per box, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. A little booklet, "Care of the Baby in Health and Sickness," will be sent free to any mother on request.

In addition to the plan of giving of railway stations the city's policy will be advertised in prairie newspapers.

Oppose One Big Union

A. J. Cook As Sponsor Severely Criticized in Britain
Ottawa.—A division of opinion has arisen among British trade unionists over the proposal to be submitted to the forthcoming Trades Union Congress, providing for the formation of a world-wide alliance of all the unions, representing 1,000,000 workers. A. J. Cook, general secretary of the Miners' Federation, is the main sponsor of the proposal, which is represented by some as an attempt to capture the unions by the "Reds." The scheme is already meeting with opposition.

GERMANY INVITED TO JOIN FRANCE IN SECURITY PACT

London France and her allies have invited Germany to enter into negotiations for a defensive treaty intended to guarantee an endless era of peace in Western Europe.

The invitation was extended in a note handed to the German charge d'affaires by the French ambassador at Berlin. It is in reply to Germany's note of July 20, on the subject of reparations.

In their reply, the French, in common with their allies, confine themselves to observations on only three points.

The points on which the French would postulate all future efforts to guarantee security are that the treaty of Versailles must be modified that Germany should enter the league now with the reservations, as Germany has suggested, and that provision should be made for compulsory arbitration of future disputes.

M. Herriot's conference between the German foreign minister and the allied foreign ministers is already in progress. Word came from Berlin tonight that the French, British and Belgian ambassadors had joined in a statement that the allies think advisable that the partial allied experts should meet German experts as soon as possible to draw up technical suggestions and put the way for a meeting of the foreign ministers. It is expected that the experts will get down to "round table business" in London this week.

Britain Giving Farm Training To Unemployed

Men Sent to Canada or Australia After Completion of Course

London The ministry of labor in conjunction with the overseas settlement committee, in establishing certain training farms in different localities, course will be open to a limited number of unemployed young men to enable them to engage in farm work in Canada or Australia. The first one to be opened will be at Chaldon, near Ipswich.

Applications from eligible young men from all parts of the country are invited. Those selected will be given free railway passage to Canada but they must undertake to remain in training there for the full six months course and proceed direct to either of the two Dominions mentioned at the end of their trips.

The applicants must be single men between the ages of 19 and 25 but suitable exceptions may be made. All will be required to be physically fit men who have no trade need apply.

Before any of the young men may be selected for Australia they must first be approved by a representative of the Dominion to which they will go.

Delegates Clash Over Opium Question

Woman Envoy From U. S. Asked To Prove Her Charge

Geneva.—Sensation arising into the Philippines brought the United States delegate, Mrs Maslin Williams, into conflict with the British delegate to the League of Nations opium commission. She charged that a large amount of opium was sent from British India to the Philippines and stated in how why the British could not stop the shipments as India had done.

Both Sir Malcolm Delevingne, British, and Sir J Campbell, India, quoted Mrs Wright's accuracy and she was asked to prove figures.

The Indian Government informed the commission that India had stopped selling opium to China and that the Portuguese colony of Macao near Hong Kong, because consignments shipped to these places have been used illegally.

The Indian Government stated it would follow the same policy toward the Philippines when there was evidence of the improper use of opium

Europe Paying Up

Toronto Assisting the prospect that Canada was on the eve of the best year for business ever experienced Hon. P. C. Larkin, high commissioner for Canada at London, who has just arrived home for a brief visit, said here that the debt was gradually being reduced. The amount owed to Canada by European countries was still large, but not nearly so large as three years ago when $2,000,000,000 was owing. The $1,000,000,000 that had been collected in three months during the year, Mr. Larkin said.

What were the prospects of collecting the balance of $10,000,000" he was asked.

"Well, literally the balance is $27,000,000, and I think we have good hope of getting that in, too," he replied. "But at any rate, we are getting interest on it something which we did not get for three years after the war."

The high commissioner was asked concerning the amount to be received by Canada under the Dawes reparation plan.

We are gradually getting our allotted share," he replied. "And we collected in reparation this year $1,250,000. I think that plan will be carried out each year, giving us a certain amount for many years to come." Great Britain received her payments largely in kind, but, Mr. Larkin explained that the commodities so paid to the government were immediately sold and might be sold without ever being taken to Britain for sale.

Report Canadian Banks In Good Condition

Have Plenty of Money on Hand For All Purposes

Toronto The Globe in a news item says that the statement of Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, that there is plenty of money available this year for moving the western crop, was corroborated by the general managers of many Canadian banks interviewed. Those whom said the banks were in splendid shape for the financing of the coming harvest

The Globe adds:

"They also stated that the same condition prevailed as regards all legitimate business enterprises throughout the Dominion, the banks having plenty of funds on hand. While in recent years there has not shown much change in recent month and as about the same as they were a year ago, the fact that the money is available, not only for the crop movement but for all sound business undertakings, is an encouraging one."

JUSTICE SHOULD BE FOR THE RICH AND POOR ALIKE

Winnipeg Declaring that justice should be swift, certain and open alike to rich and poor, Right Hon Lord Buckmaster, of Cheddington, formerly Lord Chief Justice of England, told the annual convention of the Canadian Bar Association that in his opinion, the people of Canada would not approach that while the poor man was sure of even justice from the bench, he was not sure to get it from the bar.

Lord Buckmaster advanced a possible explanation for this condition when he suggested that every lawyer take a certain number of poor men's cases gratis.

The law, Lord Buckmaster believed, should extend "not only from man to man, but to angry and warring nations, and to justice operating over the earth."

Lord Buckmaster's address was followed by tributes to the late Chief Justice, the audience rising to its feet and on the motion of Chief Justice Anglin, the association's president was made a life member of the Canadian Bar Association

In speaking his remarks, Lord Buckmaster declared that the world was "still in the morning of time" and the forces which threaten society, were among those which the lawyers could control as the guardians of liberty.

No lawyer, he continued, should entirely separate himself from the arena of making law to be combined in his work to the administration of law by

Rain Causes Lots to Millers

Edmonton.—Recent rains and cold weather in Northern and Central Alberta have set back local millers in turnover at the rate of $20,000 per week, according to the estimate of one Edmonton miller. It is also estimated that the period of delayed milling operations has been two weeks, so that total loss in turnover is around $40,000, all due to interruption of harvesting and the longer period necessitated for grain to dry out sufficiently for milling purposes.

Snow in Foothills

Edmonton.—Two feet of snow fell west of Rocky Mountain House in the foothills of the Rockies last week, according to word which reached Edmonton. The crops south and west were flattened to the ground. Roads were impossible for a day or two.

Australia Will Soon Approve Trade Treaty

Government Corresponding With Canada Over New Regulations

Ottawa.—Correspondence, it is understood, is passing between the Canadian and Australian governments in regard to the Australian regulations which, with exceptions, provides that before import entering Australia are entitled to the British preferential tariff they must be made of 75 per cent British material and labor. The old regulation, which applied generally throughout the empire, including Canada was 25 per cent.

It was the adoption of this new 75 per cent regulation which is said to be a hitch in the negotiations between Canada and Australia over a trade treaty. The treaty had been concluded with the Commonwealth of Australia when by order in council the Australian government adopted the new regulation.

To Be Deported

Vancouver.—Sixteen Chinese members of the crew of the steamship City of Victoria, who went on a sympathetic strike following, it is declared, orders from Shanghai, were sentenced to serve six weeks each in Oakalla Prison, after which they will be deported.

Explosives As Rain Maker

Greenville, B.C.—High explosives are to be used in rain making experiments here. The idea originated with a war veteran, who believes the artillery bombardment caused the heavy rainfall in France during the war.

NEW AGREEMENT FOR SETTLING OF THE FRENCH DEBT

London A tentative agreement for settling the French debt of 62 annual payments of £12,500,000 each was reached by Winston Churchill, British chancellor of the exchequer, and M Caillaux, French finance minister The total payments would thus be £775,000,000, the original debt being £672,000,000 The whole agreement hinges, however, on what terms the French debt to the United States is settled and on whether the French Government approves

Mr Churchill made it plain in a statement that the British Government is to go through with the bargain he and M Caillaux have arrived at in the event that the United States revises no more from France in proportion to the size of the two loans than Britain

On the face of this agreement, it would seem that Britain is willing to forego receiving quite 50 per cent of the sums she lent France provided that France pay slightly more than two per cent on their loan each year for 62 years—the time in which it will take the British to pay their debt to the United States under the existing agreement

Austrian Chief Of Staff Dead

Commanded Forces On Russian Front a During First Months of War

Vienna Field Marshal Baron Von Conrad Hoetzendorf, chief of staff of the Austrian armies in the World War, and late commander in-chief on the Italian front, died Aug. 26, at Mergentheim, in Wurtemberg, Germany

Franz Conrad Von Hoetzendorf, born in Penzing, a suburb of Vienna, Nov 11, 1852, was chief of staff of the Austrian armies when the World War began

In the first months of the war he commanded the Austrian forces on the Russian front, but lost prestige because of his failure to check the Russian advance in Galicia in the early months of the conflict. In 1915 he was credited with having planned the strategic preparations for the successful German attack in the Carpathians, virtually clear of the Russian forces. He was promoted in rank for the recapture of Lemberg in that campaign. When Italy entered the conflict, he was given command of Austria's forces on the Italian front. He served on that front until July, 1918, when successive failure led to his replacement by Field Marshal Von Kovess.

Make Good Nurses

Canadian Girls Are in Demand in United States Hospitals

Ottawa Colonel William A. McHardy, head of the Salvation Army activities in New England, with its studies the operation of a number of large hospitals and similar institutions, has discovered that Canadian girls, especially those coming direct from rural communities make the finest kind of nurses.

Col McIntyre states that Canadian girls are much sought for in the training schools because they seem especially fitted for the work, and have powers in most instances to be more adaptable to the requirements of the rotation than girls born in the United States

U Boat Blown Up

Copenhagen Another drama of the great War ended at Vedlby Beach, on the West Zealand coast, when the German submarine U 26, credited with the destruction of the Lusitania, torpedoed and sunk off the Irish coast May 7, 1915, with a loss of 1,256 persons, was blown up Aug 25 by order of the Danish admiralty.

Britain's Unemployment Increases

THE RECORD

H. Caley, Editor and Publisher

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 2, 1925

We have on two or three occasions in this column advocated the formation of a Board of Trade in Fort Saskatchewan. We did not harp on the subject sufficiently to become tiresome to our readers, but put the suggestion before them for their consideration. It was pooh-poohed here and there, but now that an occasion has arisen whereby an organization of this or a similar kind is required, the suggestion to form such a body is hailed with unanimous acclaim.

It is a forward step in the right direction and it will no doubt prove to be of value to the district in more ways than one. It must be a source of gratification to the number of individuals who in the past discovered the need of such an organization, and if we have assisted ever so slightly in keeping the thought smouldering until the need of concerted action fanned it into flame, we feel we are rewarded.

Partridge Hill

Wednesday afternoon, August 19, Mrs. Attewell, sr. was a charming hostess to about thirty guests who had gathered to honor Miss Mildred Sander, a bride of the month.

A beaming contest was announced when handsome hand lotions were won by Miss Mary Lomas and Mrs. Dish McKay were joint prizewinners.

The result of the sewing went into the dainty basket—a fine hand of tea towels.

The hostess then presented the guests with a really fine original cross-word puzzle. Misses Susie Smith and Clara Sander came first in this contest, receiving as prize, a dainty china bowl, which also went into the gift basket.

Following this little Gladys Osboldeston and Beryl McKay presented Miss Sander with a clothes basket well laden with a lovely collection of articles for home keeping.

Miss Mary Lomas, on behalf of the True Blue club, of which Miss Sander was a member, read an address and Miss Lilah Smith presented a set of stainless steel dinner knives.

Miss Sander in a few words thanked the friends for their good wishes and their gifts.

After the pretty presents had been duly admired the hostess assisted by a bevy of fair maidens, served a dainty tea, the party then adjourning to the lawn where snapshots of the group were taken.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Osboldeston, Vermilion, paid a flying visit to relatives in the district last Sunday.

Mr. Carter and family are domiciled in the "tenchenge." Mr. Carter assumes his duties on the (Tuesday) morning. We bid them welcome to our district.

Messrs. Storms and Rice and the Misses Storms, of Ardrossan, were Partridge Hill visitors last Sunday.

Mrs. Martin (nee Miss Esther Armitage) is visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lawrence. Mr. Martin, Edmonton, also spent Sunday in Partridge Hill.

Her many friends are pleased to welcome Miss Ethel Summerton home following her recent illness.

Mrs. Latimer and little son returned home from the Fort last Saturday. We understand that as a result of Norman's good fortune he had acquired a half section of land. Attaboy Norman!

Miss Ellen Smith has returned to the Fort to resume her studies in grade XI.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. and Red Allen, Edmonton, spent the week-end with their family here.

Miss Mary Lomas will entertain the W.M.S. of the United church Thursday of this week at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. M. L. Wright will give an address.

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

The frequency with which small town newspapers in Ontario have been suspending publication simply because the proprietors could not make a decent living is to say the least, alarming. The local weekly paper is the last line of defence which the small town merchant has at his command to tell his weekly story news to his customers, present or prospective. When from any circumstances, the local paper is forced to close up shop, there is no other weapon with which the small town merchant can continue to fight his battle, unless he resort to bills, and that is much more expensive. Probably the most educative illustration of the consequence ensuing from the cessation of the local weekly was supplied recently in the town of Thorold. Owing to Thorold's proximity to St. Catharines, the daily press of that city formed it a fruitful source of business, which was largely obtained at the expense of the Post. So much so that the editor decided that the town needed a lesson which he very effectively taught. He discontinued the Post and devoted his whole attention to job work. In less than a year so anxious did the Thorold board of trade become to have the paper published again, that they secured for him more advertising than he could carry in an eight page and three-column sheet, and paid up at a rate almost double that pre-

CITY OF TORONTO DIVIDED INTO POSTAL DISTRICTS

Owing to the enormous quantity of letters and other mail received for delivery and with the object of speeding up the sortation and delivery of mail addressed to Toronto, the post office department has divided the city of Toronto into ten postal districts.

A discovery which it is anticipated will be of immense value to Canadian farmers, especially to the wheat farmers of the west, is reported in the finding of a bacillus, which with bonus chemicals and moisture converts straw into what is practically the same as barnyard manure and its equal as a fertilizer The discovery was made by F. H. Gray, a young English chemist.

It is claimed that the discovery can be applied in big scale operations and that the large Canadian farms will be able to use it to great advantage.

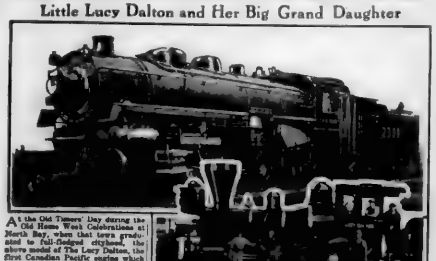
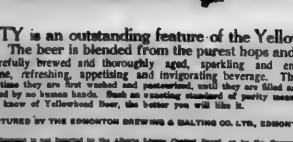
Little Lucy Dalton and Her Big Grand Daughter



At the Old Timers' Day during the Old Home Week Celebrations at North Bay, when that town gradated to full-fledged city hood, the above model of The Lucy Dalton, the first Canadian Pacific engine which passed through North Bay, took part in the principal procession and finally posed for her photograph by the side of one of her gigantic grandaughters, who nowadays performs the duties once carried out so lustrously by Lucy herself. The model was constructed in the Canadian Pacific shops in North Bay and pulled her way along the streets of the new city on her own motive power. Thousands of old-time railroad men gathered in the Baby City of Ontario for the Old Timers' celebrations, and many were the hair-raising stories told of the days when, half a century ago, the railroad was literally pushing its way through the barren wilderness which was then North Bay.

Yellowhead

"BREWED AS A BEER SHOULD BE"



PURITY is an outstanding feature of the Yellowhead Plant. The beer is blended from the purest hops and barley malt, carefully brewed and thoroughly aged, sparkling and enticing—a wholesome, refreshing, appetising and invigorating beverage. The bottles, from the time they are first washed and pasteurized, until they are filled and capped, are touched by no human hands. Such an exacting standard of purity means that the more you know of Yellowhead Beer, the better you will like it.

PAUL WRITES TO THE PHILIPPIANS

Golden Text: I can do all things in him that strengtheneth me. Philippians 4:13.

Lesson: Philippians 1 to 4.

Devotional Reading: Philippians 3.5-15.

The Text Explained and Illustrated

Facts of which God of Tarsus was proud, verses 5, 6.—There were seven points which made Saul of Tarsus feel superior to most Jews.

Five of them were Ghesar: He had been circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of the Hebrews; as touching the law, a Pharisee.

Dr. Cleora B. Davis remarks that the items of which a man today would be proud are quite different and he translates Paul's into the corresponding terms of our own time: "I became a member of a Christian church at an early age; my ancestry came to America at the very beginning of the settlement: they were descended from very good blood of England, and I have belonged to a family that has given statesmen, teachers and professional men to the service of the country from the beginning. Intending successors in all the great wars that have been fought for freedom in America."

Furthermore, Paul had been zealous in persecuting the church; and had been scrupulously kept the law that he was blameless. These were facts that had given him great reputation among his compatriots. In his letter to the Galatians he writes: "Ye have heard of my manner of life in time past in the Jews' religion, how that beyond measure I persecuted the church of God, and made havoc of it; and I advanced in the Jews' religion beyond many of mine own age among my countrymen, being more exceedingly for the traditions of my fathers

The Chinese Point of View

Charge More For Articles Supplied in Large Quantities

The Chinese find it difficult to understand the British point of view as has been evidenced in recent events, and perhaps, illustrated by the experience of a gentleman visiting Canton a short time ago who saw some Mah-Jongg sets being sold at $5.00 each. He inquired what he would be charged if he ordered 250 sets, and was told $4.00 each. "Too soo," was the explanation, "It is so much more trouble to make 250 sets than it is to make one, so we have to charge more!"

Here and There

More than 100 persons joined the ride of the Trail Riders of the Rockies on their horseback journey from Banff to Wasta Camp, via Marble Canyon and Lake O'Hara. The ride started on August 6.

Grain figures issued by the Harbor Commission of Montreal show that on August 1st all grain shipment records were broken by one day's summary of 2,877,712 bushels of grain to outgoing ships. Harbor officials state that this is the first time that grain shipments in one day have topped the two million bushel mark.

Installation of machinery at the new annex of the Dominion Textile Mill at Montmorency Falls, Quebec, will be started by January first next. About 300 additional employees will be required to operate the plant. At present there are about 1,500 employed at the mills.

A prophecy that the Orient would become in the very near future a really large import of Canadian wheat was made recently by Hon. W. H. King, Minister of Public Works. In predicting increased Orient trade in grain, Dr. King pointed out that imports of wheat from Canada for 1923-1924 increased by 600 per cent.

Over fifteen thousand men left the land on the Hoof Exposition's extension from the east to the wheat fields in the middle of August. Four other excursions are to follow from Toronto later in August and September, when it is expected that the majority of the remainder of the 50,000 men required for the harvest will transit east.

British teachers touring Canada under the auspices of the Overseas Educational League are now enjoying all the various forms of entertainment to be found in the Canadian Pacific Rockies. They have been riding trails, hiking, fishing, motoring, bathing in the sulphur springs at the Banff Springs Hotel and were the guests at a dinner there given by J. M. Gibbon, secretary of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies.

Confidence of United States capital in the Dominion, optimistic preparations for the new Canadian financing, prospects of a good crop, large United States purchasing in Canada, and heavy expenditures of American tourists in the Dominion, were some of the reasons offered by New York financial experts for the consistent above par stand of the Canadian dollar on the New York exchange. The Canadian dollar is now at a premium on the New York exchange.

The total number of students in Canadian universities and colleges in 1924 was 52,830, or nearly one in eighteen of the total population, according to a bulletin issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Under the category of colleges, the total number in 1924 was 51. Of this total six are agricultural, two technical, two law, one dental, one for pharmacy, one for veterinary science, 16 theological, 20 affiliated, one school for higher commercial studies, one college of art and one military college.

During the coming winter Canada will see the debut of a new transportation device known as the Snowmotor. This consists of two hollow cigar shaped cylinders or drums to which flanges, resembling cork screws, are attached. These drums are fixed to an automobile or tractor in the place of the wheels and, by rotating actually float the machine over the snow. The snowmotor is regarded as especially valuable in the transportation of lumber; it can negotiate snow of any depth and can operate in countries where other methods of transportation are impossible or too costly and can also tackle roads which other vehicles can use. It is manufactured in Detroit and will be on the market in Montreal during the coming winter.

BOOSTERS ELECT OFFICERS FOR THEIR ORGANIZATION

A meeting of the Booster's club was held in the town hall Tuesday evening for the purpose of electing officers. A. M. Sutherland was elected to occupy the chair.

Following the reading and adoption of the minutes of last meeting the subject of the name to be given the club was brought up and discussed at length. The result was a motion, duly carried, that the name should be "Fort Saskatchewan and District Boosters' Club."

It was suggested by various members that the club advertise, and by that and other ways of publicity attract parties from other countries who might be visiting with the intention of settling or of investing money.

S. O. Jones, chairman of the Fort Saskatchewan and District School Fair association suggested that one way to boost the district was for each member to attend the school fair and spend his twenty-five cent admission fee would help the district.

The following officers were elected: President—A. M. Sutherland.
Vice-President—Dr. R. M. Baron
Sec.-Treas. W. H. Thorne-Collinson
Executive—Fort—Dr. de Beaupre, R. G. Fraser, D. Harper, A. H. Rogers,

AMERICAN AGRICULTURAL EDITORS IMPRESSED WITH DISTRICT'S PRODUCTIVITY

Many expressions of praise of bunch-rush—Surprised at our yields of grain—Marvel at our vegetables—Astounded at our flowers and fruit

During the rain that fell throughout the whole of the morning which followed the elaborate programme of entertainment arranged for the visiting editors was considerably curtailed, but the afternoon was ideal and the sunlight which followed the rain brought out the gardens in all their glory. Even the last of the visitors was impressed and felt all the gardeners we visited would have had to be selected prepared for open house following—it still must be admitted that the weeds there, and that would make a splendid impression on their minds with our hospitality, our exhibit of fruits, vegetables and grain. And so came a number of hurried trips in cars to get showing us our field grain. The visit was an outstanding one with the editors in as much as the Fort was the only small town included in their itinerary. As the party, which numbered seventy-five in all, fifteen being from Edmonton, included representatives of thirty-five agricultural newspapers, having a grand total of over ten million subscribers, this district has reason to be proud of the privilege and honor of having entertained them and the opportunity of showing them our excellent farming country.

Amateur Bus Drivers

The special train from Edmonton was met by about twenty cars and these delegates had little soliciting to do to secure them. The procession was transported to the Memorial hall where luncheon had been prepared for them by ladies of the town and provided by voluntary contribution from the country and town. The excellence of the luncheon was commented upon by president Cobb of the association in his reply to the short address of welcome by Mayor Sutherland. It was also commented upon dozens of times by the visitors during the afternoon. The beautiful floral table decorations also received a great deal of well-deserved praise.

Much comment and admiration was inspired by the displays of vegetables, fruits, honey and flowers of W. Casey and G. T. Montgomery, and a basket of strawberries contributed by

PREMIER KING ANNOUNCES PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED

General Election on October 29.

In a speech which heralded a short but lively campaign on the issues of transportation, immigration, tariff and senate reform, Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, last Saturday officially announced the dissolution by the governor-general, Lord Byng, of the fourteenth parliament of Canada, with nominations in the majority of constituencies through the Dominion on October 22, and general elections on October 29.

The house of commons, the elected house of government of Canada, which passed into history Saturday, was returned on December 4, 1921. Returns from the balloting of that date showed 117 Liberals elected, 50 Conservatives, 64 Progressives and four Laborites and Independents. The Liberals, having the biggest group, were called to power under the leadership of Mackenzie King.

PUBLICITY COMMISSIONER EXPRESSES GRATITUDE

In behalf of the government, Colin G. Groff, provincial publicity commissioner, expressed his thanks to the mayor and citizens of Fort Saskatchewan for the splendid manner in which they co-operated with the government and the Edmonton board of trade during the American editors' visit.

SIXTH ANNUAL SCHOOL FAIR BEST EVER HELD

The fair held today under the direction of the Fort Saskatchewan District School Fair association was the largest and best yet. The attendance was good considering the bleakness of the weather and the heavy rain of last evening. The entries were also more numerous and afford considerable encouragement to those ladies and gentlemen who devote so much time to the work of the association. Entries were particularly heavy in flowers, vegetables, poultry and bags. The judges of garden stuff say they have not seen anywhere the equal in quality of the specimens which they judged today. The number of bird houses exhibited was disappointing and the boys are getting interested and this important item will receive more attention next year.

Schools included in this association are Josephburg, Partridge Hill, Yorkville, Castle, Pleasant View, Beaver Hills, Ypres Valley, Bolton, Good Hope and Fort Saskatchewan.

AMERICAN EDITORS GET EYE OPENER AT PROV. GAOL

A number of the editors representing U.S. farm journals who were the guests of the town and district last Friday chose to make an inspection of the provincial gool instead of having a fast drive to view a few of the farms in the vicinity. They were surprised at the efficiency of the staff of the institution and in no uncertain terms declared themselves impressed with the cleanliness, general appearance and systematic management displayed. A C'heago editor said it was conducted in a manner superior to any institution of its kind in Chicago.

The compliment, coming from a body of men of such high intelligence and experience as these editors are, is a feather in the caps of acting warden McLean and his staff, and coming from such a source is, without a doubt, convincing.

The Cow Behind The Wagon

Painful things are said and written these days about the present generation of youths and maidens, and share contrasts to their disadvantages are drawn with their parents and grandparents. We hear and read much to the effect that the young men and women of this age are going to the dogs, that they lack the morals, the stamina, the strength of character of, long ago questions. Much the same kind of thing was said of mankind in general prior to the recent War; but the race had lost its virility, its power of endurance its courage and willingness to sacrifice and suffer. But the war demonstrated the falsity of such statements.

Note the lesson. It is true that we have lost some of the things that made our fathers and mothers the salt of the earth. In recent years we have heard a good deal about hard times, but contrasted with what the early pioneers of this country had to endure these years were times of plenty and ease.

The world progresses and it is only right and what should be that our growing generations should not be called upon to undergo the trials and struggles of bygone days. But our modern civilization, with all its manifold conflicts and reservations, has caused the young men and women of today to expect too much for what they are willing to give; to assume the attitude that the world owes them a living and that they are going to collect it in the easiest and quickest possible way.

Our attention was recently directed to a little local item appearing in a United States paper about a couple that was taking a belated honeymoon, a honeymoon that took place twenty five years after marriage. In that item it was stated that this couple, which has achieved a substantial success in the quarter century since marriage, had taken the original wedding trip in a hamber wagon with a cow behind the wagon, a gift of the bride's parents to the happy and hopeful couple

This little reminder of a quarter century ago struck a popular chord in many homes, for within two days after the article appeared in print a dozen people dropped in at the newspaper office to tell the editor that they, too had had a cow home behind the wagon after the wedding ceremony, and that their early wedding journey was from the home of the bride to the new home where the couple was to start housekeeping. Most of those who came to see were people to whom the years have given good things, many of them being able to buy cows today by the herd, if they wanted the critters. All of them gave credit for their success to their willingness to start with little and work hard for advancement.

The cow behind the wagon, says this newspaper, is symbolic of a generation of real workers, men and women who faced the world with little but with earnest ambition, willing to give for what they wanted. Armed with youth, determination, health and strength, the world was theirs for the taking

The pioneers of fifty, even twenty-five years ago, first required a home But the ambition of a large percentage of young people today is to own an automobile, which means, as a rule, a long mortgage and too little money for present gratification. Forgetful, or perhaps ignorant, that "it is not the original cost but the upkeep," they blithely sign a bunch of promises to pay, fill up the tank with gas and are off. Off to where?

Despite all the talk of hard times, there are more advantages for the ordinary man and woman today than there have ever been before, but the man and women who wish to attain success must be prepared to pay the same price as our fathers and mothers and those before them paid—they must give before they get

Word, hard work, And lots of it is one of the fine things life has to offer There is nothing quite so satisfying as to begin at the bottom and climb, to start with little and accumulate for yourself. The boy or girl who does not have to strive for themselves, but who have everything found for them by their parents, are not the really fortunate ones, as we are sometimes led to believe. The young couple starting out in life where they must perforce left off miss the joy of achievement which their fathers and mothers experienced, and they never know that close and sympathetic companionship which is realized by those who plan and work together shoulder to shoulder

Peanuts and Almonds

Mr. Jack Pront, an enterprising young farmer near Portage la Prairie, has made a venture this year by attempting to grow peanuts and almonds. So far he has succeeded, and prospects to have a satisfactory crop. Although he sowed his initial crop but early in the season, he has already marked on a larger scale this season, and hopes it may prove a remunerative investment

Hyoata New Method of Weaving

Cutting of cotton imports into Germany by half may result from a new method of weaving cloth with hemp, invented by the German textile expert, Dr Gmünder. The hemp is injected, will replace in part the cotton formerly used in the cloth. There last year was about 1,600,000 acres of mustard in Germany adapted to the raising of hemp.

When the machine, carrying a full complement of passengers, had risen to a height of 1,500 ft., an altar was erected in the cabin, before which a Swedish clergyman performed the marriage ceremony, with a lawyer and his wife as witnesses. A wedding breakfast was then served, and the health of the couple drunk in champagne by all the passengers. TONIC TREATMENT FOR INDIGESTION

The Surest Way to Relieve Stomach Trouble is Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

When the stomach is feeble and food lies in it undigested, the poisonous gases distend the walls of the stomach and press upon the interference with the other organs, especially the heart and lungs. The poisonous gases have other ill effects. They are absorbed by the blood and so weaken and corrupt the blood that every tissue and organ of the body and the formation of new blood is poisoned. All the symptoms of indigestion, too, are present. The sufferer has a sallow complexion, is easily tired, has a coated tongue, is troubled with bad breath, has a feeling of fullness after eating, and is made miserable by sick headache. Dizziness is common with them; he is troubled with pimples which very frequently appear on the face. Constipation sometimes complicates the trouble. All these symptoms, which are but the Christ in their stomachs, have been fulfilled these prophecies, and upon second or seventh most terrible Christ. Arnot explains Paul's reasoning by this illustration: "The Jews were like little children who had a tree in their garden for which they hungered. The children had gathered the nuts as they grew, and laid them up with the rubbish in a close house but they knew not how to crack the shell and get the kernel out of the nuts. Paul broke the shell opened out the kernel [illegible] food to the hungry."

Miller's Worm Powders prove their value. They do not cause any violent purgative action, but simply act by mild or gripping, but do their work quietly and painlessly, in that the destruction of the worms is accomplished. That they are palatable and from the first dose there is improvement in the condition of the sufferer and a cessation of manifestations of internal trouble

James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyrighted, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Baree, the young wolf-dog, wandering in the wilderness, came upon a colony of beavers. He tried to make friends with Musk, their leader, but the little animals ran away from him, leaving Baree lonely and unhappy. He was attracted by the moaning of the moose, and the cry aroused a love but thrilled through the wolf-dog. It was the call of his own, summoning him to the chase, the hunt, the wild days of lone flesh and running blood.

For a quarter of an hour Baree watched him while he knocked fish out of the pool. When at last he stopped, there were twenty or thirty fish among the stones, some of them dead and others still flopping. From where he fluttered out between the two rocks, Baree could hear the crunching of flesh and bones as the bear devoured his dinner. It seemed good, and the little shell of fat that filled him with a craving that had never been roused by crayfish or even porcupine.

Twenty seconds after the last of Wakayoo had disappeared in a turn of the creek, Baree was under the broken balsam. He dragged out a fish that was still alive. He ate the whole of it, and a second.

Baree now found that Wakayoo had spoiled the food probably for him, and this day he did not return to the beaver pond, nor the nest. The big bear was inveterately fishing up and down the creek, and day after day Baree continued his feasts.

For a week life continued to be exceedingly pleasant. And then came the break in the chain that was destined to mean as much for Baree as that other day, long ago, had meant for Kazan, his father, when he killed the man bruin in the edge of the wild dermess.

This change came on the day when in trotting around a great rock near the watercraft Baree found himself face to face with Musk, the beaver, and Nepoose, the star-eyed girl who had shot him in the edge of the clearing.

If was Nepoose whom he saw first. If it had been Pierrot he would have turned back quickly. But again the blood of his forebear was tensing strange troublings within him. Who is it like this that the first woman had looked at Kazan?

Baree stood still.

Nepoose was not more than twenty feet from him. She was on a log that reached out into the pool, and was brushing out her wonderful hair. Her lips parted. Her eyes shone in an instant like two stars. One hand remained poised, weighted with the jet treasure. She recognized him. It was the white spot on his breast and the white tip on his tail and under her breath she whispered the name of Baree. "The dog-pup!" It was the wild dog she had shot—and thought had died!

The evening before Pierrot and Nepoose had built a shelter of balsams behind the big rock, and on a small white spot of sand it's rust was kneeling over a fire. Nepoose had just filled him with a craving that had never been roused by crayfish or even porcupine.

Twenty seconds after the last of Wakayoo had disappeared in a turn of the creek, Baree was under the broken balsam. He dragged out a fish that was still alive. He ate the whole of it, and a second.

"Nepoose was not more than twenty feet from him."

Scarcely swifter was he than Nepoose.

"Depechez vous, mon gars!" she cried. "It is the bon-dogue. Quick!"

In the floating cloud of her hair she aped after Baree like the wind. Pierrot followed, and in going he caught up his rifle. It was difficult for him to catch up with the Willow. She was like a wild spirit, her little moccasined feet scarcely touching the sand as she ran up the long bar. It was wonderful to see the lithe swiftness of her, and that wonderful hair streaming out in the sun. Even now, in this moment's excitement, it made Pierrot think of McTaggart, the Hudson's Bay Company factor over at Lac Isals, and what he had said yesterday. Half the night Pierrot had lain awake, gritting his teeth as he thought of it; and this morning, before Baree ran upon them, he had looked at Nepoose more closely than ever before in his life. She was beautiful. She was lovelier even than Lydia, her princess mother, who was dead.

Floating back to him there came an exalted cry.

"Hurry, Nootaye! She had turned into the blind canyon. He cannot escape us now."

She was panting when he came up to her. The French blood in her glowed a vivid crimson in her cheeks and lips. Her white teeth gleamed like milk.

"In there!" And she pointed.

They went in.

Ahead of them Baree was running full in his path stood Wakayoo. A huge black bear!

Baree darted to one side and fled for the open meadow. Wakayoo did not stir as Baree sped past him no more than if he had been a bird or rab bit. His eyes never left the dog. At last, put like this him. He stood and de-gan lumbering after Baree. Musk the monster trap Baree looking back, saw him coming and thought it was parents. Nepoose and Pierrot came over the slope. And at the same instant they saw both Wakayoo and Baree.

Where they entered into the great slip under the rock walls. Baree turned sharply to the right. Here was a great boulder, one end of it tilted up off the earth. It looked like a open did hiding place, and Baree crawled under it.

But Wakayoo kept straight ahead into the meadow.

A Canadian Explorer

Major Burwash Starts On a Long Patrol of Northern Points in Canada

When Amundsen made his spectacular flight to the North Pole or to some point in its vicinity—the whole world was interested. When the Mackillan expedition was organized and equipped in every way for it work of Arctic exploration set out, very little of news about the trip is featured in the press of the world.

Less is found about the trip a Canadian is making in the far north. The magazine published by the interior department at Ottawa gives particulars of the trip. It is an advertised adventure on which Major T. Burwash, of the government service has embarked. Major Burwash has started on a long journey from the mouth of the Mackenzie River to Hudson's Bay. He goes alone on his two dogs, expects to be two years on the journey, and to live with the Eskimos he encounters on the way. He will study the geology, animal and floral life, occupats at the end of two years to come out either at Repulse Bay or Chesterfield Inlet, as convenience at the end of the trip may determine.

There is no great publicity about this adventure as that of Stefansson Burwash. Nor is it unusual for men in the Canadian service to make these long and arduous northern journeys. Men of the department of the interior are forever doing it, as are men of the Mounted Police. There is scarcely an annual report of the Mounted Police issued that does not contain a brief but graphic report of a trip covering long months and thousands of miles on foot, by canoe, dog-sled and snowshoes. These trips are often made by men of action, not writers, or some wonderful books of travel would appear.—Regina Leader.

London Zoo Loses Old Exhibit

White Bear Has Been Entertaining Feature For 22 Years

Sam, the great white bear which has been one of the most entertaining features of the London zoo for 22 years, was recently sentenced to die a natural death and was formally shot.

For six months he steadfastly refused to take a bath, although when in his prime, scrupulous attention to his appearance was one of his many amusing characteristics.

The rumor for Sam's loss of interest in life is domestic. For 19 of his 14 years he was the henpecked husband of a wife even more famous than himself. She died and efforts to find Sam a new wife failed.

Lizzie, three years old and decidedly flapper in her ways, was introduced, but Sam resisted all her charms, treating her with rude coldness until one day Lizzie angered him beyond endurance and he ducked her in the pool and left on her head. That ended Lizzie's career as Sam's wife, and nearly ended Lizzie's life.

Fine Record of Imperial Airways

Britain's air transportation company, The Imperial Airways, which came into existence May, 1924, recently completed 1,000,000 miles of flying. During the past 12 months aeroplanes carrying 10,000,000 worth of bullion, 15,000 passengers and 1,000 tons of freight have flown across the channel at 100 miles an hour.

English Oaks Becoming Rare

Not Good For Use Until Tree Is 400 Years Old

England's famed oak, an object appearing May, is rapidly disappearing the war and the wood was greatly needed. Said a botanist, "The wood of an oak is not fit to use for until the tree is 400 years old, and people today cannot afford to grow oaks for posterity. Originally large parts of England were covered with oaks. The tree is almost a rarity now in some places. It is said that an oak tree 400 years is grow to full size, is mature for another 400 years, and takes 400 years more to decay in some cases I should say this is true

COULD NOT SLEEP NIGHTS

Pains and Headaches Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dublin, Ontario.—"I was weak and irregular, with pains and headaches and could not sleep nights. I learned about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by reading the letters in the newspapers and tried it because I wanted to get better. I have got good results from it as I feel a lot stronger and am not troubled with such bad headaches as I used to be and am more regular. I am gaining in weight all the time and I tell my friends what kind of medicine I am taking. You may use my letter as a help to others."—Mrs. JAMES KAINS, Box 17, Dublin, Ontario.

Halifax Nurse Says

Halifax, N. S.—"I am a maternity nurse and have recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to many women who were childless, also to women who need a good tonic. I am English and my husband is American, and he told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's while in England. I would appreciate a copy or two of your little books on women's ailments. I have one which I keep to lend. I will willingly answer letters from any woman asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. B. M. COLEMAN, 24 Uniacke Street, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

NO PLAN WAS MADE TO FORM WESTERN PARTY

Winnipeg "Nothing was ever said or suggested by me at the inter-provincial Conference conversation at Regina on the that merger, at any other time or place, making a plea for union of Liberal and Progressive forces in the west," said Hon. T. A. Crerar, when interviewed in connection with a story published here. Knowledge of a move to form any such coalition was also denied by Robert Forke, Progressive leader, and Hon. A. B. Hudson, South Winnipeg member.

"You may say for me," he said, "that I never heard anything about such a move. When the report results are with having made a speech at the Regina convention pairing for a Liberal-Labor party for the Dominion and a Liberal forces in the west, with the object of making certain, if possible, defeat of the Conservatives, it is absolutely and positively untrue. For Hon. Crerar or myself to say anything such a statement, I never even suggested it, directly or indirectly."

"It's all moonshine to me," said Mr. Forke, over the long distance phone. "So far as the Progressives are concerned there is not a move made. We would have nothing to do with any such union."

Hon. Mr. Hudson said no one had ever asked him anything on such a question, and no such idea had ever been suggested to him.

British Wait Decision On Mosul Boundary

Secretary of Foreign Affairs Says Question Contains War Menace

London.—Austen Chamberlain, British secretary of foreign affairs, has gone to Geneva to attend to the League of Nations council assembly, which is faced with the principal problems—the Mosul question and European security.

The league's decision on the report of the Mosul boundary commission is awaited with keen interest in official British circles.

Rome is Insolvent

Once Ruled World, Cannot Pay Costs Of Administration Now

Rome—The Eternal City, which for centuries ruled the world, now even loses its rights to city administration. Its insolvent financial condition compelled the government to take action and the cabinet decided to adopt the sky, so the taxpayers throughout the country would contribute to the support of the capital. Although taxed in Rome have been higher than in any city in Italy, it has been unable to pay the costs of administration. The Rome administration is now under the minister of the interior, who appoints a governor.

Favor Ban On Narcotics

Trades and Labor Council Would Prohibit Manufacture Except For Medicine

Ottawa.—The trades and labor congress went on record favoring the complete prohibition of the sale and manufacture of narcotic drugs except for medical purposes

The motion was the occasion for a brief criticism of the British customs department. T. Bach, of Toronto, declared that the British Government was largely responsible for the opium traffic of the world today because of its fostering of the industry in India and should be subject to severe resolutions.

James Macdonald, Toronto, said if one country more than another was responsible for the opium trade, it was the British empire. There was no such thing as a British common wealth or nations, he said.

Dr. Malcolm Toronto, a member of the British labor party, assured the congress that the British Labor party was opposed to the opium traffic and to the speedy suppression of the industry. He would make Germany and other countries responsible to ensure the manufacture of deadly substitutes if Britain was opposed to restrictions as were other other nations, and the congress should be prepared to take action in the matter, which was one of the greatest menaces to public health

Sports were held during the afternoon under the direction of Rev J. Hoffman. A list of prizewinners of races and exhibits will be published next week, the work of preparing the list at such short notice being too heavy for all concerned.

The committee in charge of arrangements in connection with the visit of the agricultural editors and all those who assisted in the mass of work entailed by the luncheon and other matters are to be congratulated upon the success of their endeavors and the smooth functioning of every detail.

Lady Rodney and another by Mrs. J. A. Larsen were marveled and tasted. Mr. Casey's display in Graham Bros. store window consisted of samples of vegetables and flowers, the vegetables including squash, (2 varieties) [one Hubbard squash weighing 56 pounds,] pumpkins, watermelon, citron, vegetable marrow, red cabbage, flat Dutch cabbage, kale, green and ripe tomatoes, cucumbers, (2 varieties) potatoes (3 varieties) carrots (2 varieties) golden wax beans, broad beans, beets, corn, turnips; Flowers: Queen of the Market and Ostrich Plume asters, hollyhocks, roses, (2 varieties) dahlias.

Mr. Montgomery had a smaller though no less wonderful display including hybrid black currants and gooseberries, raspberries, honey, (one jar 18 years old, and in first class condition), cabbage, cauliflower, potatoes, corn, beets, turnips, pumpkins, and farmers.

Among the Edmonton people accompanying the visitors were President Archibald, Mayor Blatchford, J. D. O. Motherwell, John Blue, Colin G. Groff, Howard Hutchbury, Major Miller, Dean Howes, R. C. W. Lade, H. McGuire, James Ramsay, C. Marker, D. W. Warner, M.P., Fred Doherty, Prof. Bowstead.

MOUNTAIN MAGIC

Secluded, silent, is awe you sleep,
Between the massive rock,
Where the mounts of years still vigil keep,
And hold you in their lock.
Banff.

Majestic, towering, untamed,
A priceless heritage;
Natural unsculptured pyramids,
Key to an unread page.
Great guardians bravely standing there,
Of earth and hardy stone;
When and once stray from their kindred far,
With you, they're not alone.
Greatest comfort are your upbearing arms,
And how your beauty thrills;
Once having felt your luring charms,
I cry, "Back to the hills!"
When the sun tops the peaks in the morning,
Chasing grey mists of dawn;
Making fantastic pictures, but when you
Look again, they are gone.
Twilight when the shades of night are falling,
The mountains purple hue;
Gently floats down from a world unknown,
Enfolds and plays with you.
Memories of you are haunting ever,
And something seems to call;
'Tis no wonder the mountaineer goes back,
He'll go where'er he'sfolls.
Yes, one can horde volumes of pictures,
Look at them every day;
'Tis scenes fair, in shades so rare, still they're not
Like the real thing, I say,
Banff.

Bells Shipped From London to New York

Large Carillon For Church Weighs Nearly Ten Tons

A large carillon of bells was recently shipped from London for Park Avenue Baptist Church, New York, weighing 9½ tons. Such an unusual shipment necessitated special transport arrangements. Permission had to be obtained from the authorities to convey the biggest bell through the streets, as owing to its size it contravened traffic regulations. The bells were taken from the foundry by lorry to the Thames, where they were transferred to lighters and towed to the ship's side in King George V dock. Their actual floating cradle was "on" almost one hour, while the final hoisting aboard the liner was accomplished. The bells are now being installed in the church tower, where they will remain for the duration of the present war.

Supplied Prince With Meat

During the stay of the Prince of Wales at the Rand Club in Johannesburg S.A., an Aberdeen Angus steer was presented by the Aberdeen-Angus Cattle Society of South Africa for the supply of meat for the royal table. This animal was specially selected from a consignment of Aberdeen-Angus cattle bred and fed by Captain Harold Phillips.

Death of Butterfat Champion

Meda Lick of Onchaiza, the Ayrshire Shorthorn, which held the world's record for butterfat production, with 1,614 pounds in 365 days, is dead as the result of an accident. She was close to breaking her own record at the time of her death, and may, indeed, have done so, as the final report has not yet been received. In 230 days of her last lactation she gave 20,251 pounds of milk.

Canadian bank sales during the week ending August 16th amounted to $260,579, which brings the total for the year up to $367,060,168. Of this sum $182,525,527 represents the value of bonds sold in Canada; $67,970,833 in the United Kingdom and $115,743,000 in the United States.

The port of Montreal is well on the way this season to beat all previous records for tonnage received as statistics, obtained from the Harbor Commissioners' office, show that there is a big increase in the number of ships berthed in the port to date, as compared with the number for the same date last year. Up to August 9, 696 boats had docked here and their total tonnage was 1,268,466, while up to August 13, 1924, only 537 vessels had tied up here since the opening of navigation of the 1924 season, and their tonnage was 1,291,367.

One notable feature of the tourist season in the Canadian Rockies this summer has been the demand for saddle horses, according to J. M. Gibbon, secretary of the Trail Riders, who recently returned to Montreal from the west. The practice is growing of needing the horses in advance to points where the trail resumes a motor road and these concessions one's ride at a point thirty or forty miles from one's headquarters. Thus the great cavalcade of over one hundred riders who participated in the recent three-day cross country ride between Marble Canyon on the Banff-Windermere highway, to Wapta Bungalow Camp on the Canadian Pacific Railway, was made possible and convenient as it took only two hours to convey the riders from Banff and Lake Louise by motor bus to the points of departure.

Twelve British newspapermen representing some of the most important dailies in Great Britain, are now making a six weeks' tour of the country over Canadian Pacific lines. The party will arrive from Halifax to the Pacific Coast taking in all the important industrial and scenic points of interest. They will also spend a day at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, and will visit the Kraus Bungalow Camps in Ontario, as well as the beauty spots in the Rockies. They arrived at Quebec on August the 22nd, on the Montclare, the object of the tour being to correct in the minds of representative British journalists the erroneous impressions recently made in England regarding Canada by certain sections of the press.

Under the heading, "The Inconsistencies of Men," C. B. Fletcher contributes the following interesting remarks on freight rates to the August "Railway Review":

"Man's progress is measured by his adaptability to his surroundings and his opportunity to trade with his fellow men by exchanging products. Transportation is the essential instrumentality for trade, commerce or business of any kind.

"The phenomenal prosperity of the United States today is the direct result of the most efficient transportation facilities in the world — railroads.

"Railroad transportation is worth ten times what it costs today to every person in this nation. The railroads haul your meat 500 miles for 36 cents a hundred pounds, you pay from 20 cents for cheap cuts to 60 cents for special cuts of meat or from 60 to 150 times the cost of transportation.

"The railroads haul flour 400 miles for 73½ cents a hundred, 7 pounds for one cent. You pay 10 cents a pound for bread or 70 times the cost of transportation.

"You pay one dollar for a meal at a first class hotel on which the freight charges were less than two cents, including everything served, and the coal to cook it, and then tip the waiter ten cents or five times what the railroad received for hauling it 400 miles or more.

"The same man who tips the waiter ten cents will go out and make a speech and complain of high freight rates which are not one-fifth of the amount of his tip.

"Consistency, thou art a jewel!"

Half the world's gold is in the United States now and dentists are trying to put it into teeth.

JUDGED BY ITS NEWSPAPER

Most people look at a newspaper as the business of a single individual. If it thrives, that is the owner's or the editor's business. If it fails, that also is the owner's or editor's business.

As a matter of fact, the success or failure of a paper is a matter of grave concern to an entire town.

MONTHLY MEETING OF FORT SCHOOL BOARD

The monthly meeting of the Fort Saskatchewan School Board was held Monday, Mr. Jones in the chair. Also present were Mrs. Rogers and Dr. Turner.

Mrs. Rogers reported that Latin is being taught in the school this year.

Tenders for coal were received from Alberta Pacific Grain Co., Hunter Lumber Co. and McKay Coal Co. The tender of McKay Coal Co., $4.85 per ton, f.o.b., was accepted, and the tender of R. Buchanan for delivery of coal at the same rate also accepted.

The secretary was instructed to write to the principal requesting him to inform the teachers, especially the new teachers, of the regulation made by the School Board—"In cases where a teacher suspects any infectious disease or skin disease, said teacher will send case so suspected home and the party as sent home must bring a note from a qualified doctor stating that they are well before they can return to school."

Chairman requested that some trustee visit the school each month.

Following the passing of accounts and the arranging for several minor repair jobs the meeting adjourned.

Pleasant View

Threshing in general in this district this week. Wheat is reported to be going about 40 bushels per acre.

A number from the district attended a Wheat Pool meeting in Edmonton on Saturday.

A U.F.A. meeting was held on Friday evening. G. Cranston and H. Hemrig were appointed delegates to attend the Vegreville Constituency convention to be held at Mundare on September 25th.

Surveyors made a survey last week of the convention line and the road going north from the school for the purpose of making the route improved.

The secretary was instructed to write to the principal requesting him to inform the teachers, especially the new teachers, of the regulation made by the School Board—"In cases where a teacher suspects any infectious disease or skin disease, said teacher will send case so suspected home and the party as sent home must bring a note from a qualified doctor stating that they are well before they can return to school."

Chairman requested that some trustee visit the school each month.

Following the passing of accounts and the arranging for several minor repair jobs the meeting adjourned.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor,
The Record.
Dear Sir,

The editorial reference to the Vegreville U.F.A. Federal Constituency Association published in the Vegreville Observer, September 9th issue will be classed by all intimidated readers as pure "rot" and deliberate falsification. It is beneath contempt, does the editor [illegible] to [illegible], only how in the past year called a Sixty Inch [illegible] of your column.

The farmers are not in politics because they want, to be, but because they were forced into politics in order to preserve their economic existence. Politics, with the farmers, is not a game, but a life and death struggle to secure our economic rights which there was no hope of securing from either of the old political parties who were bound hand and foot by the big eastern financial, manufacturing, and transportation interests. This condition is recognized by a large number of the [illegible] business men of western Canada who realize that the success of their own business depends largely on the success of the farming industry which is the basic industry of Canada and was being throttled by the legislation enacted in the interests of the eastern magnates by which ever of the old political parties was in power. In fact there is only one party—the Big Interests party — acting under two names.

Clothed in the spotless robes He gives His own.
Until we know even as we are known,
Good Night!

Inserted by the family.

The Princess Rebekah lodge put on a dance in the Memorial hall Friday. The attendance was not very good and a small financial loss is the result. The orchestra gave a disappointing performance and at least one dissatisfied member will resign on account of it. The favorite indoor sport of the Fort has got away to a bad start but there is lots of time befo e next spring for it to regain its popularity.

The Coming General Election

The outstanding event of the week to which this article is written was the opening of Parliament and the calling of a general election to take place next month to choose a new House of Commons. This is a matter in which every citizen of Canada is vitally interested regardless of individual party views and affiliations or position occupied in the economic life of the Dominion.

The fortunes of political parties are not the concern of this particular column but we are concerned about are the fortunes of the Dominion of Canada and in particular of Western Canada because of a prominent conviction that it will only be through the settlement, the development, the prosperity of this vast western land that permanent growth and prosperity will come to the Dominion as a whole. Support given, in the opposition ranks, to this column to any given policy in the past, or that may be given or voiced in the future, is not because such policy may originate with any particular political party but because of its bearing on Canada's progress and prosperity.

In the coming election, as in all elections, many considerations voters will find themselves in some what at a quandary just how to mark their ballot paper They just only will be called upon to choose from among the candidates offering for election the man or woman to be their representative at Ottawa, but while making that choice, they must also render a verdict on the larger national issue of the policies and group of men they desire to rule at Ottawa.

In the assumed this double responsibility many voters find themselves in difficulties. If it was merely a case of selecting their local representative, the task would be comparatively simple, namely, voting for the candidate who in their judgment was the most upright, the ablest, best informed and most intelligent, and therefore likely to prove the most capable representative. But it has infrequently happens that this particular candidate is standing in support of policies and leaders which the individual voter cannot conscientiously support, while a less capable man is the candidate supporting policies and leaders in which he has confidence The problem is there, but in the final analysis it must be decided by the voter.

One thing the individual voter can do and that is to use all his influence to secure the selection of a candidate in whom he has every confidence as a local representative by the party whose policies he supports and in whom he has confidence. Such action on his part is one of the duties of citizenship which the individual voter owes to his country.

Another point of action on the part of the individual voter is to refrain pledging his support to any one candidate until all the candidates are in the field and the opposing points of the contending parties are clearly outlined and understood School should please such a valuable thing as that voter "flying the track" without full knowledge of all the facts which have a bearing in the election.

In the approaching election there is another and grave consideration which must influence the voter in the marking of his ballot. Since Confederation, with the exception of the last four years, the party in power at Ottawa, whether Liberal, Conservative or Unionist, has always commanded a substantial and working majority In was able to govern, and if in any party or neglect and failure to grapple and deal with national problems, the responsibility rested squarely on its shoulders.

During the past four years the Government of the day did not possess such a majority. The House of Commons was divided into three distinct groups, each with policies of their own. The outstanding feature of Conservative policy was absolutely unacceptable to the Progressive group and to the vast majority of the Government following, the principles of many members of the Progressive policy were equally unacceptable to it. Conservatives and to a certain section of the Liberals Inasmuch as the Government of the day had to depend upon the support of one group or the other, a deadlock usually resulted, and party considerations and manoeuvrings became paramount to the national welfare and progress.

As a result, Canada has drifted at a time when decisive action was urgently needed Everybody recognizes the situation The opposition make it a charge against the Government; the Government admits the situation but pointed out behind itself bigger less in view of the conditions which confronted it.

Great Britain suffered from exactly the same situation until an election became imperative. Then the people put an end to an impossible situation by returning one party with an overwhelming majority and a clear mandate to govern. In the last United States election the voters were faced with a similar problem, and they, too, decided in the interests of good government to give one group a clear and substantial working majority.

In the election next month the voters of Canada must face this issue and decide it Regardless of the outcome of the voting, it is important that decisive action one way or the other be taken, and an end put to present indecision and drifting leading to worse than-nonsense to the development and to carrying into effect of policies and reforms embodied to promote the national welfare.

NEARING A BREAKDOWN

A Condition That Calls For a Reliable Tonic

Many women give so much of their time to the needs of their household that they neglect their own health and sometimes reach the verge of a breakdown before they realize that their health is shattered. Any apparent palpitation slightly at night, dizziness, stomach pain in digest food and discomfort follows. The appetite fails, weak and headaches grow more frequent, the nerves become weak and they are always depressed. This condition requires immediate treatment with such a reliable tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which enrich and build up the blood, carrying new health and strength to every part of the body. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a run-down condition is proved by the following statement from Mrs. Alex. McInnes, Bowman ville, Ont., who says:—"About a year ago I had a serious illness which left me very weak. I was not able to get around to do my work; in fact I could scarcely walk. I was troubled with palpitation of the heart with the least exertion. One day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they had done her much good. I followed this advice and took the pills for some weeks when I felt as well as ever. I have since been able to attend to all my household duties. The dizziness and palpitation have left me and I bless the day I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are just the medicine for those who are weak and rundown.

You can get these pills from any dealer or by mail at 50c a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rifians Are Good Fighters

Are Holding Their Own Against France and Spain

The Riffian tribesmen in Morocco will be able to maintain their independence against the French and Spaniards for some time, in the opinion of Sir Charles Hobhouse, former British navy officer, and ex-postmaster-general, who has returned to London from inspecting the condition of the Riffian refugees at Tangier, on behalf of the League of Nations.

"Despite grandiose stories, the Riffians are holding their own against France and Spain," he told the newspapermen. "It will undoubtedly be a case of Europe against Africa, if the war is carried on, and it looks as if Africa will hold her own, and a little more.

"The Riffs are great fighters. They have up-to-date equipment, and their leader, Abd-el-Krim, is a man of remarkable military capacity."

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog.
Is an Adaptation of This Story

BY NORMAN

Baree wandering in the music came upon Wakayon, the black bear, and, fascinated, watched him kneel fish out of the pool. He learned why the Wakayon carried his providence, a discovery that solved the food problem for the young wolf dog (the day he suddenly found himself face to face with Pierrot, the trapper and his daughter, Nepeese. The Wilder who is a dog Baree had shot and slightly wounded Baree thinking him a wolf. Nepeese now pursued Baree, who renovated himself a great bother

From here he lay Baree could see what happened. Scarcely had he crawled out of the cavern, the island into which hey had driven Wakayon and Baree, Pierrot looked up again from his vicinity of the bid bear, and he uttered something that no one but himself could have heard—"Now, it is not possible," he had said a moment before, but to Nepeese it was possible—the thought that was in her mind. It was a wonderful thought.

It thrilled her to the depth of her wild, beautiful soul. It sent a glow into her eyes and a deeper flush of excitement into her cheeks and lips.

As she greeted the ragged edges of the little meadow for glimpse of Wakayon, they thoughts flashed back swiftly. Two years ago they had buried her mother in a pit under the tall spruce near their cabin. That day Pierrot's sun was set for all time, and he gave His wife Mahiga with a vast loneliness. There had been a time after that when Nepeese had wished with a vast loneliness that she might die, the night of the day they buried her, the dog had disappeared. He had gone as quietly and as completely as though he had spirit. It was two days before he returned. It was stiff, and to Pierrot it was a miracle Deep in his heart he was filled with the wonderful conviction that the dog had gone with his beloved Wyota into heaven.

But Nepeese had spent three winters at the Missioner's settlist at Nelson Home She had learned a great deal about white people and the real God, and she knew that Pierrot's thought was impossible. She believed that her mother's body was either dead or had gained the waters Probably he had gone in the wolves. So was it not possible that this young she she and her father had pursued was of the flesh and blood of her mother's pet? It was more than possible.

Baree had not moved an inch from under cover. In his fifty s thing stunned, his eyes fixed steadily on the scene of the tragedy out in the meadow.

Baree wanted to approach. It was like an instinct driving ragging at his very heart. It was Kazan, and not Gray Wolf, who was there. Kazan, through the centuries, a wolf that was as old as the Labrador peninsula—and perhaps older—and Gray Wolf. Out instinct that drove Gray Wolf was pulling from out the black eyes of the stranger. The had held him quiet and motionless.

Nepeese was looking about her. She was smiling. For a moment her eyes rested on the dog with him and he saw the white shine of her teeth and her beautiful eyes seemed glowing straight at him.

And then, suddenly, she dropped on her knees and peered under the rock.

Their eyes met. For at least half a minute Baree looked into hers. Nepeese did not move, and her breath came so softly that Baree could not hear it.

Then she said, almost in a whisper "Baree. Baree. Oh! Baree—!"

It was the first time Baree had heard his name, and there was something so soft and s...ering in the sound of it that in spite of himself the dog in him responded to it in a way that almost reached the Willow's ears. Slowly she stretched in an arm. It was here and there and there and still he might have darted forward the length of his body and held it like fangs in it easily. But something held him back. He knew that it was not an enemy, he knew that the dark eyes shining at him so close to his own were filled with the desire to harm—and the voice that came to him softly was like a strange and fascinating music.

"Baree. Baree. Up! Baree!"

Over and over again the Willow called to him like that, while on her face she tried to draw herself a few inches farther under the rock. She could not reach him. There was still a foot between her hand and Baree, and she could not edge herself in any more. And then she saw where on the other side of the rock there was a hollow. Into this she crawled, and removed the stone, and came in that way.

She drew her self out and stood once more in the sunshine. Her heart thrilled. Pierrot was busy over his bear—and she would not call him like

Here and There

All tourists' records, motor and train, are being broken at Banff, Alberta, this year. More than 13,000 cars were registered by the first of August with the big rush yet to come. An many as 2,000 cars under canvas at one time in the Government auto camp ground.

Maple sugar and maple syrup production in Canada during the season of 1925 amounted to 9,791,359 pounds and 1,572,802 gallons, respectively, with an aggregate value of $6,825,416. This compares with an output of 9,283,416 pounds of maple sugar and 1,270,000 gallons of maple syrup during 1924. Quebec province accounted for over 90 per cent. of the production of maple sugar and over half of the output of maple syrup.

Production of the four basic industries of British Columbia during 1924 aggregated in value $210,682,790, as compared with $207,304,941 in the previous year, according to a statement issued by the Provincial Government. The 1924 production was made up as follows, with 1923 comparative figures in brackets: Forest products, $80,702,000 ($86,674,071); agriculture, $60,029,234 ($53,410,798); mines, $48,704,004 ($41,294,320); and fisheries, $21,256,963 ($25,795,752).

Canada's ordinary revenue for the four months of the present fiscal year ended July 31 last, shows an increase of $2,342,163 over the same four-month period last year, according to a statement made by the Department of Finance. Ordinary revenue for the four months of 1925 amounted to $141,732,416. Ordinary expenditures during the four-month period show a decrease from $95,-546,541 in 1924 to $90,658,022 this year.

George H. Hees, known throughout Canada as the Grand Old Man of the Canadian Pacific, celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday on Sunday, August 23rd, and was the recipient of a deluge of congratulatory messages from all parts of the country. Col. Hees has been with the Canadian Pacific since 1881 and by his social activities and powers as an orator has made for himself and the company a wonderful army of staunch and faithful friends.

Butter exported from Canada during the twelve months ending June, 1925, amounted to 25,096,120 pounds, valued at $9,384,794, a decided increase over the figures of the previous year when exports amounted to 12,060,379 pounds, valued at $5,081,-054, according to a report issued by the Federal Department of Agriculture. Shipments were made to the United Kingdom, the United States, South America, South Africa, West Indies, Alaska, China, Japan, Germany, Bermuda, Cuba, Holland, New Zealand and many other countries.

James Oliver Curwood, the well-known American novelist, who created not long ago to Europe on the "Empress of France" and returned a few weeks later to Canada on the "Empress of Scotland," wireless the following message from the "Scotland" to the Canadian Pacific headquarters in Montreal: "Can never fully express my appreciation of the splendid treatment accorded me by Captain Gillies and Captain Griffiths, and the staffs aboard the "Empress of France" and the "Empress of Scotland.""

BULB BULBS FOR FALL PLANTING

Flowers are, no doubt, enjoyed more in the spring than at any other period of the growing season. After a long winter the first flowers are eagerly sought for and if bulbs have been planted in the autumn one has not long to wait for flowers for Snowdrops bloom as soon as the snow has gone. Then came in rapid succession, and some at the same time, the Scillas or Squills, Glory of the Snow or Chionodoxa, Crocus, Grape Hyacinth, Dutch Hyacinth, Narcissus in great variety, and early, cottage and Darwin Tulips. These give a succession of bloom from early in April until well on in June.

While the bulbs are growing in Holland, the flowers for next year are being formed in the bulb. Later the bulbs are dug, cured and shipped to Canada. Knowing that the flowers are already formed in the bulbs before planting, he who proposes either to grow them in the garden or put them for the house will readily understand that large, well-developed bulbs are likely to give better flowers than small ones. In ordering this should be remembered. No amount of care can add more blooms to a hyacinth, spike than were formed when the bulb was growing in Holland.

Unless the bulbs are well rooted in the soil outside or in the pots in the house, the results will not be satisfactory, hence the desirability of obtaining them as soon as they are offered for sale in the stores, which will be during the month of September. Tulips, Narcissus and Hya cinths should be planted from four to six inches deep to the bottom of the bulb, and about the same distance apart, while the smaller bulbs, such as Snowdrops, Crocuses, and Squills may be planted about two inches apart and from two to three inches deep.

Some of the most satisfactory varieties of the more important bulbs for the garden are:

Narcissus—Emperor, Sir Watkin, Madame de Graaff, Madame Plemp P'ericus

Hyacinth—LaGrandesse, Grand Lilas, King of the Blues, Gigantea, Rosea Beiges

Early Single Tulips Duchesse de Parma, Gold Finch, Keizerskroon, Rorael, Mans, Cottage Maid, Sir Thos Lipton, Proserpine, Golden Queen

Early Double Tulips Couronne d'Or, Imperator Rubrorum Murillo

Cottage Tulips Macrospilus, Gold en Star Pieries and many their Darwin Tulips Bartigon, Clara Butt, Farncombe Sanders, Isis, Edmee, Franz Hals, Millet, Wm. Pitt, Gretchen

Fanny Fleetfoot Helps Herself

DO YOU MIND MAY HEAD.

"LATHER TO YOUR HUBS WHILE TO MAY."

The Story of Fanny Fleetfoot was told to us by a member of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies during the recent trail ride and Pow-wow, according to the stockyarder's version of the story the deer walked deliberately up to the sign-board read the notice and, after exerting contemptuous proceeded to feast himself upon the forbidden flowers with all the gusto of a lumber-jack attacking a plate of ham-and-eggs. Then, he said, a willful piece of law-breaking, committed in cold blood and with malice aforethought, lately touched a chord a disgraceful disrespect for constituted authority and like person of the deer family.

Another onlooker, however, is willing to take a saloon with that the deer was a doe and that she was browsing gu...lously among the boulders when the pretty flowers attracted her attention. She started to collect a few to take to her dear old grandmother who was sick in bed at home. After she had innocently gathered a mouthful of the tempting blossoms, declares this witness, the doe suddenly came across the notice board, studied it for a moment and then daintily returned the flowers to where she had picked them.

Although it is understood that the local police are investigating, it is doubtful if the truth of the matter will ever be fully known. In the meantime, however, we hope that all right thinking Christian people will give the dear little deer or doe or whatever it is, the benefit of the doubt. We are incidentally no truth in the rumour that a collection is being taken up at Banff to cover the costs of her, his or its defence.

Old Military Ceremonial Celebrated In London

"Trooping the Colors" on King's Birthday Reaffirms Allegiance

London King George celebrated his sixtieth birthday. The court moved to London from Windsor for the occasion which was marked by the customary congratulations from relatives, friends, foreign rulers and visiting state princes in the newspapers.

The chief public celebration in London centred around the old military ceremonial, "Trooping the Colors," the annual parade and reviewing by the Brigade of Guards in St. James' Park.

The yearly military pageant of trooping the colors has no counterpart in any other army in the world, and it really constitutes a re-affirmation by the brigade of timeds of their allegiance to the sovereign and the privilege of mounting guards in special ceremonial duty at the royal palaces on particular ceremony.

At the trooping of the colors the mounted officers of the three brigade guards used the saddlery presented by the great Duke of Wellington to the Coldstream and the Life Guards appeared with the kettle-drums given by William IV. and also with the bugle which formed their charge in the battle of Waterloo.

The King's birthday honours list, made public, included a list of "safety and respectability" which was definitely instituted a few years back.

Unemployment and Crime

Average Criminal of Today Belongs to the Younger Generation

Winnipeg. Marked increase of crime among the young and the younger generations of Winnipeg during the past year was indicated in the annual report of Chief Constable Newton.

The average criminal of today, the report states, is the boy of 17 to 18, at most 19 to 21 years of age. These juvenile male factors, the report declares, are "hardened criminals at heart" although just boys in years, boasting to their friends and parading themselves in an effort to show how close they can stick to their criminal associates.

Unemployment is blamed for much of the crime.

THE INVESTIGATION OF CRIME

by Leonard N. Ellis, Criminologist

Operating Director for the Northwestern Intelligence Bureau of Spokane, Washington, U.S.A.

The origin of crime, the suppression of crime and the correct method of dealing with criminals in order to effect a greater reformation among this element and lessen it to a considerable degree the number of criminal discussions which arise from day to day has been widely discussed by students of crime and every civic welfare and governmental law enforcement organization in existence. The subject has also been propounded from the public.

But let us approach this important question from another angle and see if we cannot touch accurately upon the fundamental tendencies of crime for, if we can treat intelligently with these tendencies in their infancy, we can save the city far less work on the part of police officers, courts and prisons.

The origin of crime can be properly classified in three ways, viz.: A person may possess criminal tendencies by heritage. He may cultivate and nurture a liberal education in this direction by committing overt acts as a result of improper environment and rearing in youth. Again, a person having the advantage of a clean and healthy heritage and wholesome harmonious home surroundings during the period of adolescence may in later years under the strain of severe mental or financial stress commit a criminal act and if this stress is not immediately and properly dealt with may very easily and often soon develop a chronic criminal. All three of the foregoing classifications are closely allied.

A child brought into this world lacking proper heritage if promptly and constantly placed in contact with influences of good and wholesome quality, given the stimulation and vocational training which public and high schools afford, still with little difficulty becomes conscious of his duties in life and guard against the evil influences, thus being "taken out" as it were, of that unfortunate state that threatened his future at birth. Space will not permit a more thorough discussion of the philosophy of criminal heritage if we are to cover this subject in such a way as to deal promptly with corrective measures for the suppression of crime.

A discordant home; an atmosphere rife with pessimism and quarreling. Possibly both parents develop impulsiveness, sometimes followed by police interference. Later, action may be taken in the courts of domestic relations. Conditions of this kind indelibly register in the brain of the child, as yet not matured and unanswerable for abnormal disturbance in later life. The home may be broken up, the child placed into the custody of either the father or mother or under the protection of a specially appointed guardian. Under any circumstances the situation is bad and in the event home ties are severed the child innocently becomes a victim of circumstances. If conditions are favorable he "comes through" and develops into strong manhood, if otherwise, he may break down under the strain. RIGHT AT THIS POINT IS "THE CRISIS AND TURNING POINT IN THAT PERSON'S LIFE. The intelligent or unintelligent handling of that person before the legal machinery begins to move will make him or break him in the vast majority of cases.

It is generally conceded in psychiatrical circles that a person who has committed a crime and cannot be properly categorized under either of the two preceding classifications is not a criminal at heart and his case (homicide, assault and premeditated crime excepted) may be dealt with outside of legal and police circles in such a manner that these suffering a loss may recover same or adequately be regulated to such an extent that the guilty is given his CHANCE. This applies particularly to theft, extortion, fraud, graft, embezzlement, bankruptcy and forgery cases. The prescription for cure is simple. By no means we shall call it "corrective disciplinary law" and it is the duty of every citizen to decide in his or her own mind the value of this remedy and apply it accordingly should occasion arise. Your conscience will be your reward.

In a recent report prepared by James E. Baum, manager of the protective department of the American Bankers' Association, he estimates a total financial loss this year from the operations of criminals of more than $8,500,000,000.00.

Nearly half of that stupendous loss is in check frauds, estimated at $1,700,000,000. Insurance frauds take the next heaviest toll, $1,000,000,000. Losses through credit frauds are estimated at $600,000,000, and the embezzlement item is $200,000,000.

Burglars, thieves and forgers, are "laborers" in the criminal world today. Total losses from burglary, larceny and petty thefts are estimated at $250,000,000, which is about one-seventh of the great sums filched from law abiding investors by the rascals who carry on stock frauds.

Other estimated minor items are $25,000,000 for railroad thefts, $60,000,000 lost through arson and $75,000,000 from miscellaneous crimes.

A similar report issued by the American institute of accountants through the Bankers' Monthly Bulletin places the actual cost levied against business ranks.

The total losses from financial crimes are estimated at $9,000,000,000. The items, as treated, are as follows:

Losses from embezzlements and forgeries, $200,000,000; losses from credit frauds, $400,000,000; losses from check frauds, $1,000,000,000; total, $1,600,000,000.

Irrespective of the kind of crimes committed, both of these associations direct attention to the rising tide of crime. Truthfully, the prevailing conditions are alarming and do explanation is asked.

Is the law an inadequate restraint? If there are two correct answers to this question, "yes" and "no." The code of criminal law as written in the municipal, state and federal statutes of America and the legal machinery in itself are very good as they function generally. Legal measures and law enforcement in America are steadily improving and aside from the inadequate inducement that honest the system is commendable. The time in time there is little room for criticism. With the filing of information with the district attorney and the ultimate judgment of the court all means are employed to give the defendant a fair and impartial trial and punishment is meted in keeping with the seriousness of the offense. However, this method of dealing with the criminal has no significance to the attack on the fundamental motives for crime better known as the cause. In this connection is where the real trouble exists and the benefits of constructive discipline lose.

Constructive disciplinarian law can be best defined as a method of analyzing the criminal tendencies of an individual. The study of heredity to institute the segregation of C. B. Davenport, 1911, chap. 8, sec. 38) makes it possible for us to arrive at a sound working basis for effectively dealing with matters for crime and thus classify the characteristic tendencies of each individual as a reason thereof, and thus research of this kind disclose the causes for crime. Consequently, if we are to adopt practical measures for the repression of crime we must effectively begin in a scientific way there is little help to be had from the manufacturer of "crookproof" appliances and efficiency experts who conceive modern business methods designed to be "foolproof" against manipulation. In fact that matter little can be expected from the law-enforcement authorities nor the environment of the city, county and state institutions of confinements are far from conducive to the building of character and manhood although every effort is being made to bring about such a condition particularly within the confines of our state and federal prisons.

In view of this condition the law is an inadequate restraint under the present jail and prison system in that it is not suitable, constructive and educative in substance to the cause. With every arrest mental and physical distress is visited upon the person arrested. This reflects into the home and hearts of the loved ones as well and is a serious handicap to the future process of rehabilitation. By careful inquiry into the cause as a specific case comes to our attention it is very easy to diagnose the symptoms and in many instances treat with them in the entire benefit and satisfaction of all concerned before the wheels of legal justice begin to turn.

It being an established fact that the origin of crime is a matter of heredity, it must necessarily follow that the application of the laws of eugenics are entirely responsible for the development of criminal traits in an individual.

Eugenics is also the science of the improvement of the human race by better breeding. It has reference to offspring. It would be a huge task if not entirely impossible, to attempt the rehabilitation of the present race and the future generations by process of concerted administrative effort.

Knowing that science enables us to search out the symptoms of criminal tendencies and classify them, it is possible by close examination and observation to determine the better method of dealing with the individual guilty of offense. Assume a specific case for illustration. A person has committed a financial crime. He is quickly apprehended. Examination discloses the organic and euthenic conditions of his past life. We decide that he can be released from the custody of the law without penal confinement, but subservient to strict discipline and regulation. He may surrender all of what he has only make provision for a financial restitution, but we regenerate a human life and a substantial citizen and incorporate in a large way the lives of his children and antecedents. The theory is sound and it is practical—entirely. Science proves it. The laws of nature in reality dominate the human race and we must deal with those and not with actual conditions. Any law that is taken from the tenure of humanity. The Legal maxim that "Ignorance of the law is no excuse" should be repealed and let the law deal with him!" To be sure! We do pay taxes for protection. It is necessary that we do so. Otherwise, we would be lost without the law. But we and the laws of humanity do not provide for and pay for protection for the purpose of persecuting and avenging the acts of others when there is a much better way out.

The most effective co-ordinated movement of the character prescribed for the betterment of the criminal classes is the organization of evening classes in the court in conditions. That penal systems as it operates today does not make it possible for the criminal population to be studied under social and biological conditions. To the contrary they live in a world, isolated as it were, from society under abnormal biological and social conditions. It is there conditions acting upon the offender independently or in combinations which makes him what he is.

Our penal laws pay exceedingly little attention to this method and demanding fact. Those laws assume that the criminal is existing under the same conditions as is the ordinary man. They are framed and administered on this hypothesis and they fail in their operation because this hypothesis is fundamentally wrong. It is quite evident that a legislative and administrative system which is drawn up will not be recognized in practice if it is called upon to cope with a totally different set.

Criminal codes to be effective must be constructed with a view upon as to cope with the social and individual conditions which distinguish those of the criminal population. The importance of criminal administration is also due to the fallacious principle of meting out the same kind of penal treatment to all classes of offenders, juveniles excepted. What is the result? A steady and uninterrupted increase of recidivism; a failure of penal law and penal administration as instruments of social defense, a constant drain on the resources of the nation for expenditure in connection with the repression of crime which but then can be applied to the unsavory state of affairs! Penal establishments should be classified and administered with a view to dealing with the conditions which produce the offenders.

Uniformity of penal establishments and uniformity of penal discipline rest upon the assumption that all offenders are of the same type and are produced by exactly the same combinations. That constantly this is not the case. The criminal population is composed of many types; casual offenders, well-minded offenders, domestic jokers, cure (illusionist) types, drunkards and hardened criminals—forgers, yeggmen, murderers, etc.; offenders against property, etc. To apply the same method of penal treatment to all these classes is useless. The treatment must be differentiated and determined as far as practicable by the kind of criminal type to which the offender belongs. In order to effect this object, penal establishments should be classified and offenders confined with the type to which they belong and not left to a regime adapted to their class. If these principles of penal treatment were applied to the criminal population it is certain that many of public concern, that the habitual criminal would become a greater rarity and, most important of all, it is certain that society would enjoy a greater immunity from crime.

In all probability there is no branch of criminal investigation more interesting than the juvenile court that has such potentiality for civic usefulness as the municipal court possesses. The municipal court is the avenue of the law in touch with groups of people who are, in the majority of cases, mentally deficient, misdirected and unsound with no control or direction in the examination of defendants and dispensation of justice that certain that the juvenile court surpass the higher courts in the punitive observance of proportion even and tendencies.

The ideal municipal court should present an atmosphere of wholesomeness; of fairness and clean in its procedure of business. This is an important observation in that this is the point of contact in which each year scores of offense in the making have their contact in a lifetime with a court directly. Their first impressions should register respect for the law and its officers, but what impresses them here is likely to symbolize the tribunal of justice in their minds and intelligent as an observer go some way toward fixing their attitude towards the courts. If the symptoms of the child be the city must assume the consequent responsibilities with them.

A large proportion of our dissemblance and criminals who find their way into the municipal court have feeble minds—are persons suffering from an abnormal mental deficiency, possibly starting from very early life by reason of which they are unable to adjust themselves to the ordinary social and biological conditions of life. There is also a group of folk who suffer from inability of character, personality and mentality and because of their instability are peculiarly liable to break down during times of stress They are the victims of their social environments. It is these conditions acting upon the offender independently or in combinations which makes him what he is.

Our penal laws pay exceedingly little attention to this method and demanding fact. Those laws assume that the criminal is existing under the same conditions as the ordinary man. They are framed and administered on this hypothesis and they fail in their operation because this hypothesis is fundamentally wrong. You will find that the men in charge of this branch are well posted and dealers are thoroughly conversant with every feature of the business and you will also find they can give, and will gave, you splendid advice concerning the selection of implements and supplies suited to your needs.

McTAVISH BUSINESS COLLEGE, LTD.

This Well Known Institution, Which Is Located at 9030 Jasper Ave., in Edmonton, Offers The Most Complete Course of Commercial Training That Is Cassellled in Any City. Students from This School May Be Found Successfully Located All Over the Country. They Teach Shorthand, Typewriting, Bookkeeping and Penmanship Under Direction of J. C. McTavish, Principal.

Perhaps no institution, whether local or foreign, that operates in this section, is more worthy of favorable mention that this well known business college.

Since the day of its foundation to the present time there has been but one idea in the manner in which it has been conducted, and that is the improvement of living conditions and the broadening of all who are brought in contact with it, in an intellectual way.

For years past the importance of special training for a successful business career has been impressed upon the minds of the public. The large employers are constantly giving preference to the applicant who trained himself for some line of work connected with the business in which he is about to engage, and as a result the person who is untrained watches the new man or woman go past him to some higher position that carries not only an increase in salary, but responsibility.

A business course for the child is the aspiration of every modern parent, and with such an institution as this one in our midst, the desired can be secured.

All the modern methods of instruction in these courses have been introduced, and the instructors themselves have been selected with the view of making this college one of the best of its kind in this section; in this review we take great pleasure in complimenting the McTavish Business College. This modern institution has added much to the growth and improvement of this section.

WOODLAND DAIRY, LIMITED

Located at 9616 108th Ave., in Edmonton, Is One of the Most Modern Institutions of the Business Life of This Section of Canada That Is Aiding in the Progress of Diversified Farming and the Development of the Surrounding Territory. They Operate a Modern Buttermaking Plant and Buy Cream From Local Farmers. They Make and Export in Large Quantities the Woodland Brand of Butter and Are Also Extensive Exporters of Poultry.

The plant of this company is a model sanitary institution equipped with the very best modern machinery and under the direction of a first class creamery man. They have always taken an active interest in the development of this community and their institution is one of the most valued industrial assets We wish to give them its prominent place which their business connections merit as they are among the foremost concerns in this line of endeavor. They are a go-ahead institution and typical of the principles of the community.

This well known institution probably is often better than any other material progress for this community, the fact is that this section of Canada is organized along co-operative lines as regards the continued development of commerce and agriculture. Years ago there were small creameries in every community in which the producer sent his cream to market and to which the other looked for his supply of butter for his customers. And many of those concerns turned out a very high grade of cream-ery butter which met with favor with the general public. But as modern methods and twentieth century efficiency came to be applied to all commercial institutions gradually passed and the business has been done by larger concerns.

Popularity with both the producer and the consumer is evidenced by the large number of farmers selling to them and the fame their brand of butter has attained. By reason of the fact that they handle volumes of business through numerous channels they are not only able to pay the farmer a higher price for his cream, but by the same token can manufacture and sell their own product at a price that will be readily seen that this twentieth century organization also enables them to produce butter of unusually high quality

They have built up a very large export business in both their butter making and poultry departments, shipping to the East and Europe every year.

Last week 8,000 boxes of Woodland butter were shipped to the Orient, London, Liverpool and Glasgow. This week, 8,000 boxes will be shipped to London and Liverpool and next week 2,000 boxes are on order for these ports.

At the offices of this company the producers encounter the most courteous treatment and receive more for cream than would be paid if they had to depend on a smaller creamery for a market.

The production of cream is a proposition that ought to appeal to every owner, even of a small farm, as it is a well-known fact that this mode of farming builds up the land, at the same time making the producer more money than he can make by straight farming, and then he gets pay right along in cash.

This plant under the direction of E. T. Love is thus adding much as a valuable market at our doors for the product of the farm.

ORANGE CRUSH BOTTLING CO., LTD.

Whose Plant Is Located at 10011 103rd Ave., in Edmonton, Have a Modern and Up-to-Date Concern that Supplies the People of This Section with a Complete Line of Soft Drinks. Under the Direction of W. G. E. Thomas. Bottlers of Orange Crush and Buckingham Dry Ginger Ale.

This firm, which has been in operation for some time has a feature of their business that does much to increase the popularity of their establishment.

They have a large and up-to-date plant which is one of the most sanitary institutions of this section and much of the machinery has been installed as soon as it was developed that they may take care of the ever increasing business with all dispatch. every bottle they buy

To any person who has never had the opportunity of visiting such an up-to-date establishment as they maintain, it is very interesting, for here will be found scientific methods and a business policy that ensures absolutely pure beverages. Only the best ingredients are used in the manufacture and a thorough system of sterilization is employed.

They are at this time showing their customers and all those in the community an up-to-date and novel that it is their line at reasonable prices. With really a pleasure to visit the store and look over the many attractions being given Look it over You are made to feel that you are welcome whether you desire to make a purchase or not.

This is a time when everyone is paying a great deal of attention to sports of all kinds and it is a real convenience to have a store of this kind in your midst where it is possible to obtain anything in the line and get expert advice on what is best

Special prices are made to schools and organizations for complete team outfits and we suggest that a visit to the store will result in a consultation with them will be both pleasant and profitable and will prove a revelation in the selection of sporting goods

They are featuring at this time boat and supplies and would be glad to have you call and any time and look over this line.

CLEGG & CASE, Bicycles and Sporting Goods

Located at 10126 101st St., in Edmonton, Is the Leading Sporting Goods Establishment of the City and Is Headquarters for a Full Line of Bicycles and Sporting Goods of All Kinds. Country Orders Given Special Attention. Now Featuring Hunters' Equipment and Full Line of Sport Headwear. They Also Maintain a Complete Repair and Locksmith Department for Repairing Guns, Locks, etc.

This store has a reputation that has been won by the genuine effort to serve the public and to furnish the best in their line at reasonable prices. With

Hunters, fishermen, football, basketball players and in fact every kind of sportsman will find here the equipment they need at a price they want to pay. By buying in quantities and in the right market they are able to offer a better class of merchandise at reasonable prices than most establishments are able to offer.

In connection with their retail department they maintain a repair service where hunters and bicyclists may have broken parts mended or, if you have a wheel repaired or new bar made

SALVAGE PIT
New and Used Auto Parts

With Plant Located at 10346 96th St., in Edmonton, Is a Firm That Is Furnishing An Excellent Service in a Business Everyone Should Support. They Offer An Economic Way to Make Great Savings On Used Parts for Automobiles and Trucks. Dealers in Auto Accessories and Supplies.

"Conservation of our resources" was the great cry during the war and it is now less important now that we are striving to get back on a peace basis at we should conserve and make use of all that is materials, as that is what may be created as soon as possible There have sprung up over night, as it were, various concerns who make a business of making use of waste material This is applied to a great many articles, but to no greater degree than in the automobile.

They tear down and utilize the parts in various ways By doing so, they save the cost of producing these parts again, which releases material and labor for the production of new parts and for new cars. There are many parts of an automobile that show but little wear after years of service and while they can be broken and are in many cases, they scarcely ever wear out. This places on the market these parts, practically as good as new at prices that are much under those of new ones. This accrues to the benefit of the motorist, and this fact alone is running wrecking companies, such as it is one, to increase in popularity each year.

They have a large stock of parts for all cars, and if you need parts it will pay you to call and in all probability they will be able to supply your demand and in turn you in the best of shape at prices much under those of new parts

Because of the ready sale for these parts when salvaged, this company will surprise you at the price they will give you for the automobile or truck that you thought was good only to junk Give them a chance regardless of the condition of the machine, and are sure you will be satisfied

They realize that only by giving the best service can they hope to succeed, and thus they have insisted on carrying this idea into every transaction they make. We are pleased in this review to compliment the Salvage Pit on the nature of their business and to assure our readers that whenever they have anything to dispose of, in their line, they can do no better than to get in touch with this firm.

HEINTZMAN & CO., LTD., Pianos "Ye Olde Firme"

Located at 10139 Jasper Ave., in Edmonton, Feature the Heintzman Pianos, Which Have Been Endorsed by the World's Greatest Artists. Easy Terms. They Also Carry a Complete Line of Phonographs and Records.

By reason of the wide range of quality and price it is very difficult for the uninitiated these day to select a piano or player piano and get full values unless they are dealing with some one in whom they can place confidence. For this reason there is a general satisfaction with this admirable and efficient house Mr Davies, in charge and his associates know pianos values and our readers know that when they make a price it denotes real true value

Heintzman & Co. also carry a full line of phonographs, records and accessories

The staff are very courteous and will be very glad to show you whether you desire to purchase just at this time or not. They are thoroughly conversant with all features of the business over which they have direction and will be pleased to take up the matter with you.

Ye Olde Firme operates an institution that adds much to the efficiency of the community as a trading center and in this edition we are pleased to point with pride to the great success they are making and to assure our readers that at this establishment they always will receive a square deal

GRAHAM & REID, LTD., Furniture

Located at 10115 Jasper Ave., in Edmonton, Are Dealers in Quality Furniture, Rugs, Carpets, Draperies and Linoleum. They Offer a Wide Range of Merchandise at Prices Within the Reach of All.

This establishment is one of the firms that is not satisfied with a stock of a few chairs, tables and bedroom sets. When they set out to sell furniture to the people of this part of the country they determined to keep in stock just about everything that there is in the furniture line. Anyone who has ever purchased from them or even been in their store, will have to acknowledge that they have succeeded.

We venture that there are few stores in the larger cities that have a more complete stock of furniture.

And when we say furniture we do not mean merely chairs, tables, bedroom sets both. We mean rugs, carpets, draperies, linoleums and such articles that should be kept in a modern and up-to-date store When it comes to quality we will wager that their stock will compare in quality favorably with the best in the nation. Whether you want furniture of moderate price or the most expensive kind on the market, you will find that this firm will give you value received for your money They sell on a very reasonable payment plan which enables one to enjoy the furniture while paying for it Call on them and have them explain how it is handled.

Taken all in all, Graham & Reid, Ltd. is just about one of the most important in the province and serves the people from morning till night in the most efficient manner. The management and in the hands of competent business men whose fair dealing has won for them the prominent places in the life of the community.

KRANT, THE FURRIER, LTD.

Located at 10030 Jasper Ave., in Edmonton, Are the Leading Furriers in the Province, Which Is Due to the Reason That They Always Treat Their Fast Increasing Patrons Fair and Alike. Under the Management of Mr. H. Wiese.

By reason of the wider range of quality and price it is very difficult for the uninitiated to select a fur coat or any fur article of any description and get value received unless they are dealing with some one in whom they can place confidence. For this reason there is a general satisfaction in doing business with these well known furriers.

Krant, the furrier and his associates know fur values and customers know that when they make a price it denotes real and true value. This insures the customer of getting fur articles of the highest quality and their policy of one price to all insures you of receiving full value for your money.

In addition to this they conduct a modern repairing and remodeling department and are equipped to remodel your last winter's coat if you so desire.

They handle buffalo coats and robes, Hudson seal, fox, otter, beaver, raccoon, mink and in fact it would be impossible to give a concrete idea of the immense variety of furs carried, but let no office to say that they are able to make to order anything in their line that you may desire.

Krant, the furriers are very courteous and will be pleased to show you whether you desire to purchase just at present or not. They are thoroughly conversant with all features of their business and will be pleased to take up the matter with you. They operate an institution that adds much to the efficiency of the community as a trading center and in this edition we are glad to point with pride to their success they are making and to assure our readers that at this establishment they will receive the highest grade furs at the lowest prices possible.

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN

With Offices at 332 Taylor Bldg., in Edmonton, Is Among the Prominent Professional Persons in This Section Enjoying an Extensive Clientele in the City and Surrounding Territory.

Science has perhaps progressed more rapidly during the last decade than in any previous period in the world's history, and one of the sciences that has been brought to a high degree of perfection is that science and art of osteopathy.

We are fortunately represented in this section by men in this profession by this well known physician who is a close student of the times and during the term of his service in the profession has kept thoroughly abreast of the times by reading, study, personal research and post graduate work.

Dr. Roe has an excellent standing, wide professional ability and is considered by members of the profession as the most expert in the country, and as a consequence he enjoys a practice that is ever increasing

Diseased conditions of the body are seldom due to abnormalities of body tissue, whether muscle, bone, nerve or vascular. Under normal conditions the resistance of the body to disease and diseased conditions enables it to defeat the action of germs or other organisms, but when any part of the body fail to function correctly the disease immediately gains a foothold. It is then that the services of Dr. Roe are much good. With his knowledge of the body, he can adjust these abnormalities, and restore the body to health only, and soon have the diseased part functioning normally again. Then nature takes her course and defeats the action of whatever caused the disease, for osteopathy only adjusts—nature cures.

Any people who suffer from sundry ills, and bear them with commendable fortitude, could be well and happy if they would take advantage of treatment in some cases people are ill because they want to be ill, strange as it may seem. This is because they have never heard of a specialist who knows how those diseases which come under the heading of his vocation. After a few treatments, a favorable change is noted frequently, and people wonder why they didn't go sooner to the osteopath.

People from all parts of this section come weekly to consult Dr. Roe and take osteopathic treatments that invariably result in a very beneficial manner. He enjoys high standing in the community in which he lives and in this review we are glad to compliment him upon the excellent success that he has attained in his profession and upon the high character of his work in the confidence in keeping with the rest of your friends and they are offered at very reasonable figures, the quality and market conditions considered. If you are going to have any electrical work done or need any new fixtures see and talk the matter over with them

They have a most complete stock of fixtures and appliances and have a line that has been chosen with a view to furnish anything one may want in this line. Here it is possible to select fixtures that are in keeping with the rest of your furnishings and they are offered at very reasonable figures, the quality and market conditions considered. If you are going to have any electrical work done or need any new fixtures see and talk the matter over with them

Their large stock consists of cashes, harness, castorea, tents, blankets, rain coats, groceries, soups, shoes, suits, underwear, and hosiery and in fact a large stock of useful articles. It is impossible to give a concrete idea of the immense stock that this firm carries, but let it suffice to say that everything in their line is of first class quality.

We are pleased in this edition to compliment John Christie for the service he is rendering and to recommend him to all our readers.

JOHN CHRISTIE, Military Supplies

Located at 10184 101st St., in Edmonton, Is a Firm That is Doing a Great Service to the People. They are the Largest Army Goods Store in the Province and Have Won This Distinction Because They Have Always Offered the Best Goods at Lowest Price.

In these days when prices are so high it behooves everyone to see that he receives the greatest return for his money. That is why we are glad to refer to a firm that has been a great help towards keeping prices at a reasonable level. Everything used in the army is for sale at this store and are offered at prices far below what it costs the Canadian government, and many times below the manufacturing price.

This is due to the more than ordinary ability in the conduct of the institution. When the world war was over and the armistice signed, Mr. Christie the manager of this firm realized that the army would have a large stock of blankets, tents, saddles, harness, soup, saddlems, etc., on hand that the army would be forced to dispose of. He was on the job and purchased a large stock at the bottom prices and has given the public the benefit of these savings by offering these articles at a greatly reduced price.

Their large stock consists of saddles, harness, castorea, tents, blankets, rain coats, groceries, soups, shoes, suits, underwear, and hosiery and in fact a large stock of useful articles. It is impossible to give a concrete idea of the immense stock that this firm carries, but let it suffice to say that everything in their line is of first class quality.

We are pleased in this edition to compliment John Christie for the service he is rendering and to recommend him to all our readers.

FLETCHER AUTO TOP & PAINTING CO.

Whose Shop Is Located at 10216 102nd St., in Edmonton, Is the Leading Auto Paint and Top Establishment in the City and Is Prepared to Execute All Classes of Work in the Best Manner. Many Smart John Haws Been Turned Out and Satisfied Customers Speak for the Quality of the Work Done. Car Painted or Top Repainted New. They are Authorized "Duco" Agents.

Throughout this section the Fletcher Auto Top and Painting Co., has the foremost concern engaged in the business of automobile painting. They have attained a position in their line that brings them an ever-increasing patronage, and as a consequence their place is the scene of continued activity.

The many jobs that they have turned out for auto owners in this section of the province have been the admiration of everyone. They have their place fitted with the necessary equipment and are experts in this line.

The valuable lasting the paint on a car in good shape can not be too emphatically stated. A good-looking car always make a good impression, and the quality to sell or trade, a good paint will add many times the cost of the job as a selling or trading feature, to say nothing of the satisfaction of driving a nice-appearing car.

In connection with their auto top department it is a fact beyond question that a modern establishment of this kind is a great asset to a community such as ours. The workmen are experts when it comes to re-upholstering your car, and there you can get it done when you want it, and when they tell you they will have it done for you the shop fulfills its promise. If you want any special kind of upholstering or any original ideas carried out for you, this is the place to go, for anything there is to do in this line they can do.

They have the all sort of autos body work such as interior trim, upholstering, cabinet work and repairs, and removing dents and bent fenders. They Law you well merited commendation through their modern methods and the excellent work turned out. There is also a line that adds so much to the appearance of a motor car as a neat and attractive top. The top wears out quickly than any other part of the car, and after a year or two of service it is necessary to replace it with a new one. Some people think that it necessitate the purchase of an absolutely new one, but with a concern such as this one in your midst they can completely rebuild the old one and turn it out in as good shape as the day that you bought it.

The Fletcher Auto Top and Painting Co, and their assistants are men who take an interest in the city and surrounding territory and are at all times connected with propositions that will add to the growth and expansion of this part of the province. Therefore, we are pleased to compliment them in this review and advise all our readers to call on them when in need of anything in this line

This is the most complete and efficient welding plant in this section of the country and enjoys a large patronage on account of the fact that they turn out work of class, get it done when promised and that their charges are reasonable

Mr Cramer realized that it was necessary to equip his place in the most complete modern style and has installed the latest of scientific machinery for the welding of steel and other metals of any size and shape This service is a great accommodation to people such as autoists, manufacturers and farmers, in fact everybody has found the work will and can be executed correctly, but that the part will be as strong if not stronger than originally, and be welded at much less cost than the getting of a new part and that it can be done in a short time, thus saving the public endless delay in ordering new parts.

In charge are welding craftsmen of unusual skill and ability and the work has the commendation of everyone No matter what may be broken you should take it to them and they will tell you what can be done If for any reason it can not be repaired or is not worth the cost of repair they will tell you.

In arranging for your seasonal work if you find any of your machinery broken take it to them and you will find that you can repair it quickly and at a reasonable price.

In this establishment will be found the latest machinery and the most expert men, for this firm is one of the largest job welding concerns in this part of the country. It is known throughout much less cost than the getting of a new part and that it can be done in a short time, thus saving the public endless delay in ordering new parts.

DUGUID'S BATTERY SERVICE

Located at 10187 103rd St., in Edmonton, Under the Direction of Mr. Duguid, is an Automobile Electrical Establishment of Recognized Ability, Featuring the Famous "U.S.L." Battery, Being a Completely Equipped Establishment.

With the steady improvement in automobiles the auto electrical engineer has become a necessity rather than a convenience. With practically every car equipped with a self-starter and up-to-date lighting system it requires the work of men who are well versed in this feature of repair work to keep your batteries in proper running order.

Mr. Duguid, the proprietor of this well-known house realized this fact when he started in business and as a result, equipped his plant with the latest machinery so that he could turn out work that would pass the closest inspection. He searched the market thoroughly for a battery that would give the people complete satisfaction and at last decided on the "U.S.L." This battery is so well known to automobile users that it is hardly necessary to go into details as to its construction; for we all know it is sturdily built and gives the users the best satisfaction.

While this expert battery service station specializes on the U. S. L., they ignore the work of men who are well versed in this feature of repair work and render efficient service in the inspection and repair of ignition troubles arising from defective wiring and generators, on all makes of cars. Many people from all the surrounding territory turn all this work over to them.

We are pleased in this review to give Mr. Duguid and his associates the prominent place they deserve in the business life of this section and we wish to compliment them on the high quality of work executed by them.

DUNCAN'S, Ladywear

Located at 10207 Jasper Ave., in Edmonton, Is a Very Modern Shop Which Has One of the Largest and Best Lines of Ladies' Coats, Suits, Accessories and Furnishings to Be Found in the City. Established 14 Years.

Prominent among the concerns that have aided in the expansion and the growth of their home city and vicinity by giving the public metropolitan service and quality is this up-to-date shop.

Though many miles removed from New York, which is known as the style center of America, this efficient establishment is thoroughly up to date and its many departments are replete with the modes of the hour in the various materials and shades which have been approved by the world's leaders of fashions. At this time they have a new and complete fall showing of 1,500 ladies' coats, the largest assortment in Edmonton at prices ranging from $19.50 to $95.00.

In this shop are found not only the materials most popular in vogue today among society's leaders, but the most conservative models garments that have not with universal approval. As regards price, you will find that these garments which hang in graceful and becoming lines are offered at most popular prices, for while this shop enjoys the patronage of the conservative, it is the most popular shop within easy motion among people of every walk of life.

You have at your service many little accessories of dress which characterize the attire of the progressive women of today and one must look for and wide to find a store more complete and attractive.

In charge is Mr. Duncan whose keen business judgment and wise foresight have been responsible for the growth of this large business and has increased in no small measure the prosperity and prosperity of this section and we predict in this review that the future will see even greater strides in the progress of their business.

NORTHERN RADIO SUPPLY CO.

Located at 10086 Jasper Ave., in Edmonton, Are Distributors of Quality Radio Sets, Parts, Batteries, Phones, Tubes, Etc., Specializing in the Freshman Masterpiece 8-Tube Radio Frequency Set. Country Orders and Enquiries Solicited.

Radio is perhaps the greatest invention that has been made in the last decade. While it is only in its infancy, its usefulness is proven to an every day. From a standpoint of entertainment it is unexcelled. The biggest concerts, addresses, operas, music of all kinds, baseball and football games, all contests of international importance, are reported as they happen to the radio fans. There is not a night but that the radio fan can get any and all kinds of entertainment that he desires.

In the way of usefulness it has proven a big impetus to aeronautics, shipping, etc. It lets the farmer have the latest market reports and the weather conditions and it is to him that it has proven the most useful, as it brings the cities' amusement into his home. The best thing about it is that it is inexpensive and sets can be had that are within the reach of everybody.

This firm is one of the foremost in this section and they have secured the best class of merchandise to offer the public. They are authorized distributors of the Freshman Masterpiece 8-tube tune radio frequency radio and can supply you with sets from the most reasonable priced to the most expensive kind on the market. No matter what priced set you buy you get value received for your money. They also have at most complete stock of parts and supplies for all sets and anything there is to be had in the radio line they can get from agreed under the direction of its founder and his three sons and is conducted along progressive lines and we are glad to say that this company is a credit to the community.

They do a large export business in Ontario and Great Britain and to the Dominion of Canada ship as far East as Montreal and west to the Coast in any way. We assure the public in a definite capacity, for many farmers and stock raisers ship their live stock to this well-known and reliable concern. Whether it is cattle, sheep and stock-raisers ship their cattle, sheep and hogs alive, as they receive a better price than when they are killed and the meat before shipping. The plant has complete facilities for properly cooling and storing meat of all kinds. This firm has certified the reputation which they have established for and wide for paying the top prices at all times. Fair and straightforward in their dealings it is not strange that so many producers are shipping to them daily and receiving the highest market prices.

The plant, a popular efficiently-managed concern, is a modern sanitary institution in every detail and one that has met the universal approval of the people. This company has probably made greater strides than any other industry in this section in this part of the Dominion. The demand for their meat is daily increasing and so is becoming constant by name and fame in the entire region.

If the public could only comprehend how these products are handled by this company, could only understand how absolutely pure and healthgiving they are—there would not be a person in the whole public would not be a patron of the concern.

With that business acumen and foresight which has won such wide popularity and patronage for the company in the past, the management has anticipated the needs and demands of the people of this section of Canada and thus the establishment is one of the busiest spots in this section and the business has grown to large proportions. The demand for their products is far surpassing even their largest expectations, as this firm specializes in rendering individual service to every patron. Courteous and efficient to a marked degree the Messrs. Gainer have surrounded themselves with employees and executives who are thoroughly conversant with every feature of the business, and as a result the work moves along at a most rapid and highly satisfactory rate.

GAINER'S, LIMITED
Meat Packers

With Modern Quarters at 80th Ave. and 99th St., South Side in Edmonton, is one of the Most Substantial Contributors to the Continued Progress and Prosperity Of The Community, Operating a Modern Packing Industry. Paying the Top of the Market to the Stock Raisers and Farmers. Renders a Dual Service. For They Also Supply Superior Hams, Bacon, Sausage, Lard and Other Products, Including Fresh Meats to The Wholesale Trade.

This well-known concern which was established in 1891 by John Gainer, is one of the most prominent in this part of Canada. Its growth has been rapid up-to-date in every particular; clean and sanitary throughout. Through a period of thirty-four years this renovable

We could sell you cheap printing as well as any other printing—perhaps cheaper. But we don't rather not. We know that low priced printing, like all other low priced commodities, is in the end the most expensive when we sell you printing, we want to sell you satisfaction with it

Our roof system fixes the price. In other words we have a standard commodity which we sell at a standard price

We have skilled employees, use modern type, buy the latest labor-saving machinery, try in every other way to cut down expense without decreasing the quality, and give you the utmost possible value for your money We keep a large output and, therefore, operate under a low overhead rout, and can afford to be content with a moderate profit. The economics of quantity production apply to printing just the same as to any other industry

QUALITY

You know as well as we do when quality has been instilled into a piece of printing. Maybe, in some instances, you might prove to be the better judge—not because we do not know our business, but because you know what you want. But the question is, do you let your judgment rule? Are you sure your better sense? Sad to say, many business men do not—they let price dictate; they submerge their artistic feeling in a sea of commercialism then wonder why their printing is not attractive. They are dominated by low prices to such an extent that they are unable to discern real value. On their booklets, Stationery, Folders, Catalogues and other printing they sacrifice quality upon the altar of "cheapness." For the sake of a dollar or two, they lose all the selling power that goes with good printing. The life of your business is dependent upon the kind of stationery you send out, and the sort of printing you use. Clothes may not make the man, but, except his hands and face, they are all we see of him during his business hours. They reveal a good many things about his habits and character. Does your business stationery reflect the character of your firm as you seem it? Though business life is supported by the fruit of the printing press, men—one after another—will endeavour to defeat this support by paying no attention to their printing. Whether it weakens or strengthens their business they never enquire. "What's the price?" they ask. And that is all they care about. If they would take the pains to mark the results of different kinds of advertising, they would soon discover that the best is the cheapest.

When you want the best in printing or lithographing get in touch with the Western Printing & Lithographing Company, Limited, Calgary, either by phone, M 6140 or M 6320, or by letter, and we will give you the best of service.

a wide territory. No work is too difficult to handle and they make a specialty of ladies' garments, while they also have a list of men for whom they do work that includes persons who realize that proper cleaning of suits and overcoats will mean longer life in addition to better appearing garments.

It is an established fact that a properly cleaned garment will wear longer for the process and livens the woolens and makes them wear-resisting—thus a garment kept clean will not come back with a disagreeable odor

If it is not possible for you to take your work in personally, we suggest that you take advantage of the parcel post service and you will be surprised to see how quickly and satisfactorily it will be taken care of.

The Western Printing and Lithographing Co., Ltd.

is the outcome of a consolidation of "The Herald Job Printing Department" and a lithographing concern started in Calgary about 1905. We may, therefore claim to be the oldest industrial establishment in the city, tracing our activities back to the time when the railway city was located east of the Elbow River We still have in our keeping the printing press upon which the first Calgary newspaper was printed

Our large and ever increasing business is because of satisfied customers who know the class of work turned out from our plant, and who realize that they are getting full value for every dollar paid us. Our policy is not only to manufacture product of value estimated in dollars and cents as represented in the cost of material and labor, but our customers receive the advantage of our many years of manufacturing experience

Consulting with us about your printing problems does not place you under any obligation.

A FEW WORDS ABOUT THE COST OF PRINTING

Labor and equipment cost about the same in all printshops. There is no such thing as getting 1cent cent paper for ten cents, nor forty-five dollar workmen for twenty-five dollars. Labor and material are not so variable. You know that in your own business

You can buy a pair of shoes for five dollars or ten dollars—it depends upon the kind of shoes you want If you want a pair that will give good service, that can be depended upon, you pay ten dollars. You know positively that you cannot get a ten-dollar pair for five dollars

It's the same way in printing Don't be misled into believing you are buying ten dollars' worth of printing for five dollars. It can't be done and no one tries to do it

A five-dollar pair of shoes walks around in a five dollar crowd, so does five dollar printing If you want to reach the people with money to buy your higher priced goods you must come up to their standard, and you will not get there by using so called "cheap" printing

APPOINT BOARD FOR ADJUSTING LABOR DISPUTES

Ottawa.—The establishment of a board of adjustment on the Canadian National Railways to deal with grievances or disputes that collectively or individually arising from the application of wages and working conditions, including all existing rules, shops, and conditions, and classes of employees was made public by representatives of the employees The new board is similar in constitution to board of adjustment No 1, which has been functioning for a number of years in connection with principles of conducting engineers, firemen, trainmen, maintenance of way employees and others

Under the agreement just signed by representatives of the railways and the employees, the new board will be composed of eight members, four from the railways management and four from the employees The chairman and vice-chairman will hold office six months and will be selected alternately from the management and the employees. To the board will be brought all matters of disputes arising from the application, non-application or interpretation of the schedules, and which have failed in settlement between the officers of the railway and the representatives of the employees. Decisions of the board will be final and binding upon both parties

Dease Lake Promise Was Not Fulfilled

Disappointed Miners Start Trek Back From Cassiar Field

Telegraph Creek, B.C.—The out-trail from the Cassiar is being trodden by day by a host of disappointed miners whose hopes of quick wealth in the placer fields of Dease Lake have been blasted by the cruel reality of life in the inhospitable northland.

A few small claims have been made, but there is little to show for all the excitement that was stirred up last winter by the announcement of the rediscovery of free gold in the ancient windy camp which was abandoned in the late nineties with the dawn of the Klondyke glory.

Has Denounced Bolsheviks

Premier of Australia Takes Stand Against Communists

Melbourne.—Industrial conditions in Australia have caused Premier Hughes to take a definite stand against the Communists.

In a public address here the premier denounced the local spounder of Bolshevism, and asserted he would not hesitate to appeal to the people for endorsement of his action. If necessary, he would seek a mandate for further action to insure peace and good government.

Warrants have been issued for four hundred Melbourne men for whom that has met the universal approval of the people. This company has probably made greater strides than any other industry in this part of the Dominion. The demand for their meat is daily increasing and so is becoming constant by name and fame in the entire region.

Heads Grain Exchange

Officers Elected at Winnipeg For the Ensuing Year

Winnipeg.—P. C. MacCarthian, manager of the Western Elevator Company, was elected president of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange for the term of 1925-26, at the annual meeting of the exchange members. A. Thompson, manager of the International Elevator Company, and W. J. Breen, western manager of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, were chosen vice-presidents. Dr. Reade was returned as secretary by acclamation

The executive council of committees were also selected

Bessarabian Peasants On Trial

Vienna.—The Abende says it learns that 800 Bessarabian peasants are now on trial at Kishinev, Rumania, by a military tribunal They were arrested by a Rumanian punitive expedition following discovery of an alleged plot to deliver Bessarabia over to Soviet Russia.

Japan Fighting "Red" Propaganda

Country Fears Effect of Intercourse With Soviet Russia

Tokio.—It is believed in political circles in Japan to-day that the recognition of Russia by Great Britain and it was generally reported that the home department is planning to introduce a bill at the next session of the legislature providing for a general publication of the Communistic activities in Japan, according to a bulletin received by the Japanese Board of trade from Hon. H. A. McKenzie, chairman of the board of railway commissioners for Canada.

Mr. McKenzie takes the position that the seasonal movement of export grain and the movement of manufactured goods from the eastern to the western provinces are two separate and distinct movements, and that the latter is not dependent upon the former. The same applies to express rates, which under the board has been refused a reduction.

Victoria.—That the railway commission's decision to refuse equalizing export rates will not be affected by the

Escutcheon Taken From Quebec is Presented to City After Long Sojourn in England

Quebec.—Coincident with the one hundred and sixty-fifth anniversary of the battle of the Plains of Abraham, this battle and the subsequent capitulation of Quebec to the British troops were revived to the world's view by the presentation of the historic city by a king of France, taken from the walls of Quebec by General Murray and the formation of the city, and afterwards handed to the town of Hastings for safekeeping, was officially returned to the city of Quebec with a graceful offering from King Land to French Canadians

Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commission in London, handed over the shield to Quebec as the official representative of the town of Hastings, England, after the unveiling ceremony by Hon. N. Perodeau, lieutenant-governor

Canadians Coming Back

Over 50,000 Have Returned From U. S. in One Year

Ottawa.—Immigration to Canada for the first three months of the present fiscal year, that is, from April 1 to June 30, 1925, totalled 27,540, according to a report issued by the department of immigration

Of this total 14,081 came from Great Britain and Northern Ireland and, the Irish Free State, 5,397 from the United States and 11,046 from other countries, almost entirely from Northern Europe.

In the same three months 9,111 Canadians who had been in the United States for six months or longer, and who went to that country to settle, returned to the Dominion.

Meanwhile the department of immigration and colonization began to keep a record of these returning Canadians on April 1, 1924, a total of 52,916 have come back up to the end of last June

Increased Unemployment in Britain

Cowboy-Earl Likes Ranching

Wyoming Man Who Inherited Title Will Remain in U. S.

Sheriden, Wyo.—Oliver Henry Walrop, aged 43, Wyoming rancher, who succeeded to the title of Earl of Portsmouth through the death of his elder brother, John Fallow Walrop, seventh Earl of Portsmouth, in London, will remain his United States citizenship and ranch interests in this country, and plans to continue living on his ranch here near Sheriden after he becomes the title.

The new earl did not appear to regard his title as English heritage as extraordinary, and his answer to questions about his departure for England to assume the earldom was that he intended merely to visit his native land, be invested with the title, and then return to his cattle ranch here.

During the fall of 1843, Walrop went to Canada on a hunting expedition from there he wandered to Wyoming where he became one of Englishmen near Sheridan. He liked it, and bought a ranch.

Cabinet Ministers Sworn In

Hon. J. A. Robb Succeeds Fielding As Minister of Finance

Ottawa.—The new cabinet combination was officially completed when Hon. J. A. Robb was sworn in as minister of finance and Hon. Charles Murphy as minister without portfolio. The two ministers were sworn in by E. J. Lemieux, clerk of the privy council, in the presence of His Excellency Lord Byng at Government House

Should the present government be returned to power, there is likely to be no further re-adjustment of the cabinet.

Two ministers, Hon. Charles Murphy and Hon. Dr. Beland are, it is understood, retaining office only until the elections are over and then will then be some re-adjusting of portfolios

Mr. Robb has been acting minister of finance for some time, owing to the illness of the veteran parliamentarian, Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding, who now has been retired, after many years of service to his country.

Plans For Super-Zeppelin

U. S. May Build One Twice As Large as the Shenandoah

Akron.—Plans for a gigantic super-zeppelin twice the size of the Los Angeles or the ill-fated Shenandoah and more than either, are being drawn up here by the experts of the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation.

Dr. Karl Arnstein and Capt. Ernst Lehmann, German zeppelin experts who are now vice-presidents of the concern, are in charge of the plans The proposed super-zeppelin has been christened in advance the G.Z.1.

The experts look forward not only to building this super ship, but to do so when they will build yet larger ships.

They believe that the larger ships would weather the most severe storms In fact, they feel that smaller ships are invisible the severest storm.

The proposed G.Z. 1 would hold 6,000,000 cubic feet of hellium The Los Angeles holds 2,500,000 cubic feet, while the Shenandoah held 2,100,000

Canada Not Thinking Of Annexation

Has No Idea of Joining U. S. Says Premier King

Toronto.—Canadians are no more thinking of annexation with the United States than they did of the United States ever thinking of annexation to the British Empire," said Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, premier of Canada, at the directors' luncheon in "International Day" of the Canadian National Exhibition.

Mr King added, amid laughter, that the idea of annexation of Great Britain and the United States was one that he would prefer to be brought about before the joining of Canada to the United States was now achieved

The prime minister said that so far as he was concerned he would oppose with all his might the idea of annexation of Canada and the United States.

British Subjects Only

Government of Western Australia Will Not Employ Foreigners

Perth, Australia.—The Government of Western Australia, having learned that foreigners have secured a large proportion of the work offered in connection with the clearing of land for the purpose of cultivation, has decided that in future any money advances made to settlers by the Agricultural Bank to finance such work shall be made on the condition that only British subjects shall be employed.

Ex-Kaiser Is Slowing Down

Washington.—The earth is slowing down, says a recent publication of the Smithsonian Institution But there is little danger of a cessation of rotation, for the rate of slowing is only one thousandth of a second per century.

This means a loss of a minute in six million years. Scientists estimate that ages and ages ago the earth revolved so that that a day was three or four hours.

Ku Klux Klan in Berlin

Berlin.—The Berlin police announce that they have discovered a movement, headed by three Uhlan States officers, and participated in by about 1,000 Germans, for the establishment of an order to be known as the "Knights of the Fiery Cross," along the lines of the Ku Klux Klan.

Tractors and Threshers for the Harvest

UNITY IN CANADA IS STRESSED AT QUEBEC MEETING

Quebec.—Unity on the part of all the provinces in the Dominion was the keynote of the address delivered here at the reception tendered by Hon Mr Perodeau, lieut.-governor of Quebec, to lieutenant-governors of Canada.

Among the speakers were, Mr. James A. Mathieu, lieutenant-governor of Manitoba; Col. the Hon Harry Cockshutt, lieutenant-governor of Ontario, and Premier Taschereau of Quebec

Hon Harry Cockshutt said the drawing together of the different provinces was greatly to be desired in Canada

Sir James Aikins said the unfortunate cause was that Canadians who met understand each other.

"When I think of Canada, or its splendid future," he said, "and when I think of the province of Quebec, I call it the corner stone upon a troublesome one. Canada could not be Canada if it were not for Quebec."

Premier Taschereau, after welcoming the lieutenant-governors and explaining the hopes and ambitions of the French-Canadians, said:

"Our motto is unity in diversity, and nowhere in this Dominion will you find a better spirit of unity and a more friendly and sympathetic feeling towards those who will reciprocate with the British Columbia's perpetual summer, western wheat, Ontario's industrial productivities, Quebec's natural resources and the Maritime's sea and forest wealth, if united, are the foundations of our great future."

Canada-U.S. Drug Pact

League of Nations to Study Recent Extradition Treaty

Geneva.—Government is represented by the League of Nations to study the recent extradition treaty between Canada and the United States covering the prosecution of persons committing opium and other dangerous drugs, with a view to the conclusion of similar treaties between other countries. A resolution to this effect was approved by the league council on recommendation of its permanent opium commission.

Anthracite Prices Advance

Projected Cost Will Further Increase If Strike Continues

Washington.—Consumers of anthracite are beginning to anticipate increases in the price of coal, ranging from a number of cities. Predictions are made that prices will be still further increased if the strike continues, and that consumers here and in Canada will be hit in August.

Meantime, coal operators are making elaborate plans to interest in the strike, and the walkout will apparently drift on indefinitely

50 Million Feet of Lumber Destroyed

Hawkesbury, Ont.—More than 50 million feet of lumber, piled in the yards of the Lauzon Company, Limited, was destroyed by fire which broke out in a pile at the west end of the mill on which the company's yards are and houses are located. Just opposite this town on the Ontario River

The loss is placed by H. Hinchburn, of Ottawa, managing director, at $7,000,000, which is stated to be well covered by insurance.

Increased Output of German Wheat

Ottawa.—The official statement of Germany's agricultural yield this year is 106,667,000 bushels, against 78,750,000 last year, according to a cablegram received by the department of agriculture.

The area sown to wheat in Argentine, according to a similar cablegram is 23,200,000 acres, as compared with 17,793,000 last year, and the condition of the crop is excellent

Advocates Bay Route

Regina.—That the Hudson's Bay Railway is feasible and that an early completion of the construction is desirable is the opinion of C. C. Cooke, of this city, who has just returned from a trip to the bay by rail and water, with a party of western business men Much material and considerable water power is available for harbor facilities at the end of the line, he states.

THE RECORD

E. Oxley, Editor and Publisher

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16, 1925

AN INDEPENDENT PROFESSION?

If you think publishing a newspaper is an independent profession, remember that the results of a newspaper's efforts are placed squarely before its readers and in a large sense before the world. There is nothing a newspaper can hide. There it is, and here it is, plastered high and broadcast far and wide. Its work is an open book. It is here in black and white for your approval. Few other lines of business consist of necessity show themselves their every step in the process of service—as must the newspaper. Count ten before criticising one.—The Raymond Advertiser.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS INCREASE

Shipments of cattle from Canada to Great Britain during July, 1925, were in excess of the same month last year, according to the monthly report of the Federal Department of Agriculture. The total shipments for the first seven months of the calendar year show an increase of over 10,000 head, when compared with the same period last year. All classes of meats show heavier shipments on export for the period January to July, inclusive, as compared with 1924. Beef exports were increased from 11,770,000 lbs. to 14,207,000 lbs; bacon and hams from 68,340,000 lbs. to 73,763,000 lbs.; pork from 51,190,000 lbs. to 10,811,000 lbs.; and mutton and lamb from 94,100 lbs. to 208,000 lbs.

1,000 ACRES IN SUGAR BEETS

Arrangements may be made for the planting next spring of 1,000 acres of sugar beets in Manitoba, according to Michael Scott, who is secretary of the Manitoba Sugar Company Limited. This firm has been making extensive experiments in the growing of sugar beets in Manitoba.

EXTENSION OF MIXED FARMING

Straight grain farming, of wheat raising as it is called in western Canada, is gradually but surely becoming a thing of the past in the three prairie provinces. Almost every farmer in the west today has at least a few pigs, cows or poultry, and some sort of a vegetable garden from which he secures food not only for himself and family, but also sufficient returns to look after his current expenses on a cash basis.

Manitoba and Alberta undoubtedly lead in this development, but even Saskatchewan, the largest wheat producing province of western Canada, has an ever-increasing number of farmers who are followers of the mixed farming plan to the extent that they are living very largely upon the products of their farms.

Ontario Makes Drastic Laws For Motorists

Must Obtain Driving Permits and May Have to Pass Examination

Every man and woman who drives a motor car in Ontario next year will first have to obtain a driving permit from the Hon. minister of public works and highways, told the annual meeting of the Canadian Automobile Association at Toronto.

The issuance of these permits would in all probability in due course be followed by compulsory examination for drivers, he said. The examination for traffic act infractions registered upon his permit and could lead to the permanent revocation of license to drive.

Printer's Sick Stomach and Headaches Almost Cost Job

Mr. E. M. Collins of Woodhaven, N. Y., says, "Instead of plodding through my work wearily on account of sick headaches and poor stomach, I now enjoy good health and ambition. I can do more and better work and live a worth living. I have never before given my name to advertise a medicine, but you cannot imagine how different I feel since I discovered Carter's Little Liver Pills."

Carter's Little Liver Pills make the whole system through the liver and bowels. They act as a mild and effective laxative, in a gentle manner without any bad after effects.

Turks Abandoning Old Customs

Officials Must Wear Hats and Dress Like Europeans

More and more the newly born Turkish Republic is abandoning old Turkish customs and substituting European methods, while the fez and turban as national headgear seems to be going into the discard. The council of commissaires has decreed that all officials must dress in European fashion and wear hats.

Only priests are to be permitted to wear turbans and they must uncover within government offices.

SUB-DISTRICT 5 WHEAT POOL MEETING WELL ATTENDED

The Wheat Pool meeting of Sub-district 5 held in Edmonton Saturday was well attended and was a satisfactory meeting in every respect. Mr. Johnstone Ferguson gave a very interesting report of the convention which was supplemented by a financial report from Mr. W. J. Jackman, district trustee. Mr. Jackman explained many points connected with the business of the pool which had not been clear to the members. A resolution endorsing the establishment of a grain survey board in Edmonton was passed unanimously.

A resolution expressing the full confidence of the members in W. J. Jackman, our trustee, H. W. Wood, chairman and all the other members of the board.

A vocal solo was given by Miss B. Fraser and a pianoforte selection by Rogers Wright, both being well received.

The psychopathic laboratory for the study of criminals, misdemeanants and delinquents in general is no longer an experiment. If it is in the hands of well trained persons who are more interested in finding the mentally incompetent and in working for their temporary or permanent segregation than in propagating an "ism" it will demonstrate its usefulness.

The moral and ethical responsibilities of the detective cannot be overly emphasized. It is the business of the detective detailed on criminal cases to investigate and secure such evidence as may be available. The courage we've seen is important in the preparation of criminal cases for court trial. Thus he should be mentally equipped to endorse no lapses on a morally mean and ethically correct basis for, "in the group of psycopathic constitutional inferiority" no one has to deal with an individual whose intelligence may be keen, but who may have a lack of stability or of ethical responsibility—they only gradually learn to distinguish between the play-world of make believe and the real world of objective happenings. There is an absence of weighing of these elements which are essential to satisfactory, stable social adaption and, when this policy is closely followed legal procedure and association will combine to create a scandal when incidents occur which bring the individual into the criminal court.

There are cases on record in which the detective in pursuing his investigation has gone days without a clue. Discouraged, he conceives a more "practical" plan of operating. He cultivates the acquaintance of the subject of his investigation (the person being investigated) prior to an arrest warrant being served and perquaires him as a wrecking and immediately begins his case. He undoubtedly recognized his instability and lack of normal response to problems both ethical and moral so that with this weakness upon which to formulate his case and observing that he would do anything suggested to him, he was easily tempted and it was not long before a full case was developed and ready to be submitted to legal authorities.

The disgraceful method employed by some detectives and the deceitfulness employed is deplorable. The defendant becomes a victim of circumstances; encroachments upon his character have been made in order to "prove" the report and it is evident to legal authorities upon the report of the detective that the party is guilty.

The detective who works on this hypothesis is not serving humanity or protecting society; neither are his efforts heralded by the court once they are known, for the law does not permit its agents to prey upon diseased souls.

EDMONTON SOCIETY VIEWS HISTORICAL FORT SITES

The Edmonton Historical Society visited the Lamoureux district last Saturday afternoon for the purpose of examining the ground and available proofs of the site of Old Fort Augustus, and its neighbor, the first Fort Edmonton.

The party included the Hon. Dr. A. C. Rutherford, Col. F. C. Jamieson, J. A. Jaffray, the provincial librarian, Prof. Long of the University of Alberta, A. B. Watt, John Blue, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, D. R. Mackenzie, S. H. Cunig and Mr Edmonds, jr. They were met at the north end of the bridge by R. G. Fraser, Miss Fraser and A. H. Gibson, and proceeded to the river front of the old Gaumont farm, now a part of the Rodney property. Here, on the river flat below the hill extending from a short distance east of the Gaumont house east erly to the boundary of River lot 6, stood the two establishments. The one to the west, apparently the more extensive of the two, is believed to have been the post of the North West Company, Old Fort Augustus, built by Angus Shaw and John Macdonald of Garth in 1795. About two hundred yards or more to the east was Fort Edmonton, built by the Hudson's Bay Company about 1796 and, it is believed, called Edmonton as a compliment to John Prudens, second in command at the post, whose native town was Edmonton, England. The Old Fort Augustus was abandoned to the North West Company in 1807 or 1808 and a new post known as New Fort Augustus was built by Mr Hughs, on the site of the present city pound plant in the city of Edmonton. The post was maintained by the Nort

The Fort Saskatchewan Basketball Association was organized originally on a three-fold basis: social, economical and educational. In our efforts to improve our social life and health standards of living we found that it was necessary to improve our economic condition, but were we interested in this we found that there was a number of influence at work which nullified practically all our efforts. It required much years to discover and trace to its fountain head just what this influence was and where it came from. Through the educational branch of our organization we gradually learned that about sixty per cent. of the dollar handed to the farmer was being diverted into the pockets of others who did not contribute to the earning of that dollar. The next step was to discover the means by which this proportion of the farmer's dollar was being diverted. To do this was a slow, tedious task, for the ramifications of the "Interests" that were feeding and thriving on the proceeds of the farmer's labors were many and varied, and were conducted with the utmost subtility, and while they posed as the farmer's friends he was being robbed legally and systematically robbed of his hard earned earnings. As we delved more deeply into this question it was found that a certain class, which is commonly called the "Big Interests," ie: the manufacturers, financiers, transportation companies, (on land and water) and grain dealers—were the recipients of special privileges which enabled them to secure more than their just share of the farmer's and other consumer's dollar and they

Dear Sir:

What the West Means to the East

Western Canada's 1925 crop should have the effect of finally convincing Eastern manufacturers, wholesalers and financiers how largely their success and prosperity is bound up in the progress and prosperity of the agricultural tributary of the West, and should open their eyes to the fact that Eastern approval and support of those essentially Western undertakings and policies to further develop and increase our farm production and wealth will result in still larger business and dividends for the East. Artisans and workingmen generally throughout Eastern industrial centres should become advised of the same knowledge.

In a review of the business outlook in Canada, The Financial Post, Toronto, says of Ontario: "Wholesale houses feeling effect of much heavier demand from Western Canada and look for excellent business this Fall and Winter in lines of trade. Industry spreading to large extent and many cases, heeded falling off in unemployment." In Quebec, it is stated, "very little unemployment evident." In British Columbia "huge building projects are under way, forbidding grain elevators" and "basic industrial conditions are improving gradually." In all provinces the agricultural position is reported better than for many years.

Thus back in the east and the west the effect of prairie production is felt and bringing about marked improvement in the industrial and economic life of the country. Concrete evidence of this betterment is found in the fact that whereas a couple of years ago the Massey Harris factories were more or less idle, they are now working day and night with full staffs in an effort to fill orders, and the stock of the Company is quoted at a figure double what it was at the beginning of the year; Sawyer Massey stock has more than doubled since the beginning, while Cockshutt Plow has recorded a 30 per cent advance.

Analyzing operating results for the first five or six months of the year, a Wall Street Summit journal recently hazarded the opinion that the C.P.R. would not earn its full ten per cent dividend this year, but improving business throughout Canada resulted in the railway exploiting its resources in 1925. August maintained the improvement, and with the Western crop now moving and business generally speeding up as a result, both the C.P.R. and C.N.R. are expected to make a splendid showing for the year.

The head of a Western trust company announces as a result of improved conditions his company has disposed of more farm lands in the past five months than in the previous five years. The Hudson's Bay Co. sold more than double the acreage in the first six months of 1925 as compared with the same period last year. An official report of the United States Bureau of Immigration says that the number of farmers settling on the Canadian prairies from a large portion of the United States is fifty per cent greater than for last year, and that the two railway companies and the Hudson's Bay Co. have sold more land in Western Canada than in any similar period for ten years.

The significance of these things should not be lost upon the people of Eastern Canada. There is hardly any limit to the wealth producing power of Western Canada, but those responsible for that production continue to labor under certain handicaps which ought to be removed, and can easily be removed if the people of the East will but take a large national view of the policies and undertakings involved, as, for example, an equitable readjustment of freight rates east and west, and the early completion of the Hudson Bay Railway. Anything that will add to the purchasing power of the West, and give a further impetus to its settlement and development, will mean a further large increase in industrial development and prosperity east of the Great Lakes.

No part of Canada stands to suffer quite so much or so quickly from depression in Western agriculture as the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. If the West encounters handicaps, its development will suffer and the people there will not reap the full reward of their labor. But they will make a living and can hang on. But if the necessary business is not forthcoming to keep their wheels turning and their man-power employed, the people will have no option but to shut down and throw their employees into the ranks of the unemployed. The latter must then emigrate to newer and more promising fields.

Development and prosperity in the West means the ban of nativity in Eastern industrial centres. The 1925 Western crop is demonstrating this to the hilt. The East should busily itself in its own interests and support those policies and undertakings which will assist to make such a condition as nearly permanent as human agencies can make it.

Odd House Needs Owner

Structure in Shape of Fixture Built in Seattle

A house five feet nine inches wide at one end and 16 feet at the other was built on a lot 60 by 130 by 11 feet in Seattle this summer by A. B. Wood, contractor. An ordinance requiring the house to be in line with others on the two streets it faces was the reason the structure took the shape of a flatiron, Wark said.

The dwelling contains three flat-shaped rooms. In the rooms a disappearing breakfast nook, a reeling bed and a vanishing ironing board were installed. The basement has a combination laundry and garage.

Wark said he was trying to find somebody the house would fit, so that he could sell it.

Big Crowd At Tennyson's Home

The biggest gathering of Tennysonians ever held in England met at Aldworth recently to visit the poet's old home in the Surrey hills. This is built on a hill near Haslemere and is now occupied by the Gaithwar of Baroda, at whose invitation the members of the Poetry Society journeyed to the poet's cottage.

Greater Montreal's population is now estimated at 1,028,000, according to the 1925 issue of Lovell's Montreal Directory just published. Population of the city proper is estimated at 767,500. Population in the suburbs and surrounding country is given as 130,500 and in the Island of Montreal, 130,000. Lovell's population, by the same authority, gave the population as 929,827.

A GRATEFUL LETTER

From a Lady Made Well by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

"I wish from my heart I could persuade every person who is run down in health to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial." This writes Mrs. Leslie Mitchell, Jr., Amherst, N.S., and then she says:—"About a year ago I was a weak, suffering woman. I was run down system and impoverished blood. Any little exertion would cause me to go into a state bordering on nervous collapse. I could not sweep a room or walk fifty feet without being exhausted. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking only six boxes I am as well and strong as ever. I can walk and run without stopping every few seconds gasping for breath as previously. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be my standby in the future if ever my blood needs building up, and I shall take a real pleasure in recommending them in any case needing a tonic."

There are many diseases due to weak, watery blood which can easily be overcome by a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The sole mission of this medicine is to enrich and purify the blood and when that is done all the varied symptoms of disease disappear, and good health returns. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Italian Engineer Plans to Make Eiffel Tower Greatest Skyscraper

The Eiffel Tower, in Paris, which today supports what is claimed to be the largest and grandest electric advertising sign in the world, would in time still another change into something perhaps even richer and strange or if the ideas of M. Carlo Castiglioni, Italian engineer responsible for the installation of the present electric apparatus, were adopted.

What he proposes is that the Eiffel Tower should be converted into a thirty six story apartment house for the special benefit of tourists.

The new building would be constructed by erecting room at walls about the present structure, and could be made to house 3,000 people with all appliances. The floor space could be put for offices as well as for apartments and restaurants. It would also be the greatest skyscraper in the world, promising for the municipality of Paris a tremendous source of revenue. Those are the views of M. Castiglione, who has said that the plans for the building are in preparation and when completed will be submitted to the proper authorities

British Government Aids Women Flyers

Big Grant For Club Which Has Six Women Members

Flying as a profession has been recognized by the British Government as being well within the capabilities of women and a club already has been formed to carry out the air industry's theme for a light aeroplane organization for London with members of both sexes.

In connection with the coming transfer of the Stag Lane aerodrome at Edgware, near London, by the London Aero Club, of which six flying members are women, a move has been made with the object of training women pilots for possible enrollment in an air force for protecting the capital from enemy raiders in the event of war with nearby powers.

The air ministry has agreed to provide the club with £2,500 worth of equipment and a grant of £1,000 for upkeep, and has promised more money as it is needed. It also will give £10 for every certified woman pilot trained by the club

With Better Business Conditions Some Movement Again Manifest To Utilize Western Resources

(By John Sweeting, Industrial Agent, C.P.R.)

A continuation of improved business conditions is shown throughout the western provinces, with very distinct progress in the growing volume of purchases as the fall and winter trade has opened. With the good average crop, the settlement of surplus labor and approximately the same total quantity of construction programme as usually called for, I would say that, in fact, business is going considerably better than it usually does at this season of the year. The general condition for supplying the demand for the better class of agricultural implements is very good.

There is some unemployment in the building trades of Winnipeg, which is the usual thing at this season of the year, but I am informed that the building programme for the coming season will be a very large one, and that there will be considerably more activity in the manufacture of various items based upon building materials. The capacity of B.C. are being developed and a new plaster plant under construction at Vancouver will be in operation in Northern Saskatchewan to supply certain kinds of brick, tile and plaster. Work is also being carried on in Alberta to utilize straw waste in the manufacture of various items based upon building materials. Last year no less than 35 cars of straw were used in Manitoba to produce paper from a similar raw material. The search for hemp for its fibre and marketing of which is being carried out in Manitoba, together with some experimental fields of flax this year with a view to encouraging the growing of this crop in the Province of Manitoba. Additional processes are being introduced to enable the bringing of the latent resources of Saskatchewan, and the pulp wood areas of Manitoba are being reconditioned to take care of the pulp and paper plant which is to be erected on the Winnipeg River. The settlement deposits in the McMurray district are under consideration at present, while the bituminous sands of Northern Alberta are continuously being tested and developed with a view to securing a proper method of treatment. Altogether there has been a pronounced activity throughout the western provinces in development and experimental work in many lines, looking to a period which appears to be just around the reasonable distance, when work on a commercial scale can be profitably accomplished.

The agricultural situation is a general way is better. The position, possibilities, prospects and importance of this industry is being more fully realized, and is thanks adapted to its more economic development are being utilized with gratifying results. The large incoming of new settlers into partially settled districts, together with improvements that are being steadily carried out on many existing farms, as well as the variety of products now available for market, is, and has served, an improvement in the western field, which is helping to a very large extent to bring back sanguine anticipations of success in putting the agricultural farmer in a field which is the determining factor to the well being of the province.

It is not difficult, therefore, to realize that the improvement in conditions which is and has taken place is largely in the confidence that is being shown—and which is bringing about increases in trading, opening up of resources, construction of power plants and new factories, and tending to interest outside capital to further investment in western investments. The more difficult period, which necessitated heavy retrenchments, appears to have been overcome, opening up for present and future consideration a programme of expansion which should develop without undue hindrance

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture With Wolf, the War Dog, in an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Hidden in such a long, rank, dense, the animal would may was terrified to see Pierrot, the half breed trapper, alone and kill Waskasoo, the black bear. This was slaughter, but for the two human creatures it was the beginning of life. Neppeese went after Baree and tried to entice him from his hiding place. For the first time the dog had a name. It was the Indian princess who called him Baree.

CHAPTER VIII.—Continued.

In that moment Neppeese felt the pressure of the rock on her shoulder and into the eyes that had been glowing softly at Baree there came a cruel, one wild look of horror. And then there came from her lips a cry that was not like any other sound Baree had ever heard in the wilderness—wild, piercing, filled with squashed fear. Pierrot did not hear that first cry. But he heard the second and the third, and then scream after scream as the Widow's tender body was slowly crushed into the seething mass. He ran toward it with the speed of the wind. The cries were weaker, dying away. He saw Baree as he came out from under the rock and run into the chasm, and in the same instant he saw a part of the Widow's dress and her mercanized feet. The rest of her was hidden under the death trap. Like a madman Pierrot began digging. When a few moments later he drew Neppeese out from under the boulder she was white and deathly still. Her eyes were closed. His hand could not feel that she was living, and a great moan of anguish rose out of his soul. But no; here was fight for a life. He tore open her dress and found that she was not crushed to her feet. Then he ran for water. When he returned, the Widow's eyes were open and she was gasping for breath.

"The blessed saints be praised!" sobbed Pierrot, falling on his knees at her side. "Neppeese, my Neppeese!"

CHAPTER IX.

Impelled by the wild alarm of the Widow's cries Baree and the night of Pierrot dashing madly toward him from the dead body of Waskasoo Baree did not stop running until it seemed as though his lungs could no draw another breath. When he stopped, he was a mile out of the canyon and headed for the beaver pond.

Exactly where in his Baree's fears it would be difficult to say—but surely it was not a voice of Neppeese. The Widow had chased him hard. She had flung herself upon him. He had felt the stretch of her hands and the smother of her soft hair, and yet of her he was not afraid! If he stopped long and then in his flight and looked back, it was to see if Neppeese was following. He would not have run back from her—alone. Her eyes and voice and hands had not something stirring in him; he was filled with a greater yearning and a greater loneliness now—and that night he dreamed troubled dreams.

Baree was glad when the dawn came. He did not seek for food, but went down to the pond. There was little hope and anticipation in his manner now. He remembered that, as plain by as animal ways could talk. Umisk and his playmates had told him they wanted nothing to do with him. And yet the fact that they were there took away from his loneliness. It was more than loneliness. The wolf within him submerged. The dog was master.

"The blessed saints be praised!" sobbed Pierrot, falling on his knees at her side.

In one of the larger canals Baree surprised a big beaver towing a four-foot cutting of birch as thick through as a man's leg—half a dozen broadlimbs and dangers and suppers in that one cargo. The four or five inner barks of the birch are what might be called the bread and butter and potatoes of the beaver moon, while the more highly prized barks of the willow and young alder take the place of meat and pie.

Baree smelled curiously of the birch rustling after the old beaver had abandoned it in the night, and then went on. He did not try to hide himself now, and at least half a dozen beavers had a good look at him before he came to the point where the pond narrowed down to the width of the stream, almost half a mile from the dam. There he wandered back. All that morning he hovered about the pond, shewed himself openly.

In their big mud-and-stick strongholds the beavers held a council of war. They were distinctly puzzled.

It may be that the beaver discovered the mute evil among themselves. It is possible that Umisk and his playmates told their parents of their adventure, and for how Baree made no move to harm them when he could quite easily have slain them. It is also more than likely that the old beavers who had fled from Baree that morning gave an account of their adventures, again emphasizing the fact that the stranger, while frightening them, had shown no disposition to attack them. All that is quite possible, for if beavers can make a large part of a continent's history, and can perform engineering feats that astound less than dynamite can destroy, it is only reasonable to suppose that they have some way of making one another understand.

However this may be, courageous old Beaver took look it upon himself to end the suspense.

It was early in the afternoon that for the third or fourth time Baree walked out upon the dam. The water was fully two hundred feet in length, but at no point did the water run over it, the overflow finding its way through narrow sluices. A week or two ago Baree could have crossed to the opposite side of the pond on this dam, but now—at the far end—Beaver-took and his engineers were adding a new section of dam, and in order to accomplish their work more easily, they had founded fully fifty yards of the low ground on which they were working. The main dam held a fascination for Baree. It was strong with the smell of beaver. The top of it was thick and dry, and there were dozens of smooth, dry worn little hollows in which the beavers had taken their sun-baths in one of these hollows Baree crouched himself out, with his eyes on the pond. Not a ripple stirred his velvety smoothness. Not a sound broke the drowsy still-ness of the afternoon. The beavers might have been dead or asleep, for all the sign they made. And yet they knew that Baree was on the dam. Where he lay, the sun fell in a warm flood, and it was no counterfeit sleep that after a time had different in keeping his eyes open to watch the pond. Then he fell asleep.

Just how long he remained this fact is a mystery. For minutes later he came up quietly, without a splash and he was within fifty yards of Baree. For a few moments he cautiously moved in the water. Then he swam very slowly parallel with the dam across the pond. At the other side he drew himself ashore, and for another minute sat as motionless as a stone. With his head he felt and tested the dam where Baree was lying.

A few yards away Baree was almost hidden in his hollow. Only the tip of his shiny black body appearing to Beaver-tooth's scrutiny. To get a better look Beaver-tooth lower pond that tail out beyond him and rose to a sitting posture on his hind-quarters, his two front paws held downward like over his breast. In this pose he was fully three feet tall. He probably would have weighed sixty pounds, may he resembled one of those fat, good-natured, silly-looking dogs that go largely to stomach. But his brain was Wonderful, for a beaver, at least. Suddenly he gave the hard mud of the dam a single slap with his tail—and Baree right at his before he could turn. Beaver-tooth stared. For a full half-minute he looked squarely into the shadowy face of the stranger—Baree—who was not a log. He was not a wolf. Moreover, he was very young—and harmless.

PAINS IN LEFT SIDE AND BACK

Other Troubles Women Often Have Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered such pain in my left side and back, and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard' and I have taken four bottles of it, I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. Doctor Said an Operation

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. Adams, Box 64, Provost, Alberta.

Nurses Use English At World Meeting

Chosen As Official Language at Congress in Helsingfors, Finland

Although nearly every country in the world was represented at the International Congress of Nurses, held in Helsingfors (Finland, in July, English was chosen as the official language, Miss Beatrice Ellis, superintendent of nurses at the Toronto Western Hospital, and the assistant superintendent, Miss Ida M. Afee, who attended the congress, referred to the remarkable fact that the majority of the delegates in Edinburgh as well as other languages China's representative was able to participate and suggestions in universal English, but the charming Japanese official delegate had to use an interpreter.

Finnish nurses during the year preceding the congress got up many of their leisure hours to the study of English in order that they might be properly equipped for an international convention. Miss Ellis, being one of the committee responsible for the arrangements, was invited to go and declared that she was much impressed with the world organization of the Finnish nurses.

Canada's delegates occupied an important place on the programme during the exhibition, and received appointment from the Dominion, in the person of Miss Ellis, were second to none in matters of nursing, training schools, hospital administration and public health work also, Canada was well to the forefront. Miss Jean Browne, president of the Canadian Nurses' Association, who had the honor of welcoming France into the council, referred to the fact that nursing was first introduced into Canada by the Sisters of Charity.

Five new countries were accepted into the council, and China was elected upon as the meeting place in 1920. Of the 1,500 delegates registered, 23 were from Canada.

Something To Consider

Good Service Is Right That Public Will Demand

The interest of the consuming public is the last thing which either side considers; but the day will surely come when it will have to be one of the first, for, after all, the public holds the whip hand if it cares to assert itself. It is still a question of service. The continual disturbances in the coal industry are having the effect of greatly changing preconceived ideas of fuel economy. Rather coal merchants are weapons for killing the goose which lays the golden eggs. Sooner or later engineers and engineers will be brought to understand this.—Illustration Spectator.

Potato Crop Less

The U. S. department of agriculture estimates the combined potato crop of Canada and the United States at 1,385,000,000 bushels below that of last year. On the other hand potato production in Europe is estimated at 15,000,000 bushels less than that of 1924, and of Tunis at 24,000,000 bushels more than in 1924.

Saves $24 A Year

Cooking experts figure that the SMP Enameled Ware Booster will save the average Canadian family fully $24.00 a year in meat bills. Meat shrinkage is 25% less cooked with very little shrinkage. Also, it makes tough cuts taste like the best ones.

You place the roast in the roaster, put on the cover; the roaster does the rest. No basting required. Every roast is perfectly cooked.

The cover fits close, so that cooking odors cannot escape. Cover can't open of out, which saves a sweet clean oven. Prices range from $5.00 to $7.50 each, depending on size and finish and don't forget the saving of $24.00 yearly.

AGREE ON PLANS TO RETAIN NEW FREIGHT RATE

Edmonton, Jr. by only changes the board of railway commissioners, as a result of the appointment of the Montreal board of trade, to the board September 29, agreed in rescind the order establishing the rate on westbound export grain and flour, with that exist between Canadian application will be made to the commission to cancel for the lowering of the export rate, this decision, in order that the status quo may be not post, without every possible effort to prevent it, loss to the benefit of the equalized rate on the country's crop.

This decision was reached at a conference between Attorney-General Brownlee, of Alberta, H. H. Woods, M.P., Alberta; Premier Greenfield, of Saskatchewan, and Attorney-General Lymburn, of Saskatchewan, held at Mr Woods' home.

The attorneys-general, for the two provinces agreed upon a line of action to be followed when the application of the Montreal board of trade is heard by the railway commissioners on September 29, and where Attorney-General Lymburn and Mr. Woods will be unable, owing to other engagements, to represent his province at the hearing, Mr. Woods' services have been retained by both provinces, to oppose the application on their behalf.

Depart Christians From Mosul Territory

Turks Send Entire Population of Bayo over Frontier

London.—The Turks have deported from two to three hundred Christian from the territory in the northern part of Mosul region, it is learned from authoritative sources. They were cited the village of Bazi and the monastery of Zerwaah, and sent the entire Christian population over the frontier. The Christians are reported to be in a destitute, hungry and distressed condition.

Baker-Carr Tablets are the best remedy I ever found. Although I have ever used," says Mrs. Arlon T. Allen, of Auburn, Me. "My little girl had a bad cold and could not sleep. I tried the tablets and she was resting sound all night. She was troubled with constipation and nothing seemed to help her. I had used the tablets but a short time before her bowels were regular. All mothers should keep Baby's Own Tablets in the house for they are a valuable remedy."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all druggists or will be mailed on receipt of price, 25 cents a box, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. A little booklet, "Care of the Baby in Health and Sickness," will be sent free to any mother on request.

Canada Will Co-operate

Dominion Is In Full Sympathy With League of Nations

Ottawa.—Canada is heartily in sympathy with the League of Nations, and will co-operate in every way possible with the League in the settlement of international disputes, and disarmament.

He said Canada was unable to ratify the protocol at present, but he accepted the principle of arbitration and disarmament, as the peculiar position as a member of the Dominion, to accept the protocol.

Senator Beaubien quoted a statement made by Premier Baldwin, of England, on the subject, indicating that Canada had full sympathy with the League and would co-operate in all efforts of the league tending to promote the welfare of mankind. The statement aroused applause.

Discuss Anglo-American Relations

Judge Says World International Court Of Justice Needed

Vancouver.—An address on the subject, "Anglo-American relations," by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald, of Vancouver, was the feature of the banquet given recently, arranged from an insane asylum at Hastings, consisting in the home of a Sea of Marmora, near Constantinople. This information is contained in messages received from the Prince's attendant by his friends in England.

The early part of the journey across the channel in France and there to Turkey he says that he was all by himself, and was not allowed to speak to any one, but after he reached Constantinople he was treated with every consideration. He was examined by leading Turkish alienists.

The Westminster Gazette declares that an inquiry is needed into the part played by the British authorities in holding the prince in an asylum in England for almost a quarter of a century, and alleges that the prince was tempted to affect the role of a lunatic. Abroad during the last 10 months, with friends from the British Government and the military commanders, which resulted in the prince being examined by two independent physicians.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

were able to do this by being organized 100 per cent. When we appealed to the government in power to adjust these unfair conditions we were either repulsed outright or ignored, or appeased with promises that were never fulfilled. Then an election was called both parties were profuse with their promises but it mattered not which party was elected the promises were relegated to the limbo of oblivion. We often wondered why this was so. Why were our hopes shattered and our trust betrayed? Why were the politicians so profuse with their promises when they wanted our votes and so forgetful of our needs when the election was over? As we studied this question further we found that they were unable to help themselves, they were bogtied, bound hand and foot by the recipients of special privileges. How did they come to get into this degrading position? By accepting vast contributions of money to the election campaign funds from the seekers of special privileges. How can they afford to make these contributions? Easily enough because it is not their own money but is money filched from the consumers by the special privileges secured.

Why did the price of binder ad- vance 5 per cent or about $13.00 each in 1921, the best election year, when in the ordinary course of events there should have been a decrease? Why did the price of many other commodities increase by 5 per cent to 10 per cent above the previous year when the price of farm produce was reduced by 150 per cent to 200 per cent? Let the men and women who do their own thinking answer the question for themselves.

Undoubtedly the consumer pays and he is awakening to the fact, as is evidenced by the support that the new political movement, started by the farmers in self defence, is receiving from large sections of the people outside the ranks of the farmers. Many business men and tradesmen are giving us their support, many others would do so only they are afraid of being accosted by the "Big Interests." This is not the farmers battle alone, it affects every consumer. "Self preservation is the first law of nature." Partyism is a millstone about the necks of the common people. Will they cast it off, or will they submit and contribute to their own destruction?

Yellowhead
"BREWED AS A BEER SHOULD BE"

When the day's work is done, and you are tired and listless owing to high-pressure business demands, there is nothing so stimulating or refreshing as a glass of Yellowhead. You do not have to take a distasteful medicine because you need a tonic. Yellowhead Beer, with the fragrance and vitalizing flavor of barley, malt and hops, skilfully blended in a most delightful way, and matured for months until it reaches a satisfying mellowness, is nature's antidote for an over-wrought nervous system.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Dr J S Halstead, oldest Free Mason in the United states, and possibly in the world, died recently at the age of 107.

Officials of a safety association have computed the annual "traffic loss" of the United States. It amounts to ten billion dollars annually, or $2 for every citizen.

The importation of Welsh semi anthracite coal to supplement supplies of Pennsylvania anthracite during the present strike is being considered in New York.

Rt Hon. Sir J Jordan, former British minister in Peking and member of the League of Nations advisory committee, died suddenly at a meeting of the China Association in London.

Robert A Lear, a West Virginia attorney, having made a bet during the last presidential campaign that Imsil would beat Coolidge, has paid up by walking 110 miles barefoot.

A stamp bearing the likeness of President Wilson will be issued by the United States post office department by the first of December, it is the plan of the friends and admirers of the war president succeed.

Manufacture of liquor containing 60 per cent of alcohol and sodium of 60 per cent, will be permitted in Soviet Russia from October 1, under a decision reached by the central executive committee

It is announced that the French government has accepted the invitation of the Toronto Horse Show officials to be represented at the tournaments in the Ontario city next November

The United States post office department plans to open eight new air mail routes this fall. Bids for the contracts for the new routes, which are in the south and west, have been opened.

The London Evening News quotes Congressman Fred Britten, of Illinois, on his way home after a trip to Russia, as saying: "I talked to Tchitcherin and others, and concluded that they are a lot of murderers and thieves."

Pending realization of the League of Nations' hopes of general limitation of armaments, efforts will be made immediately for a gradual reduction at Holland's military forces while maintaining a force compatible with the present international situation

Example To World

Election of Senator Dandurand of Canada to Presidency of League Of Nations

Canada constituted an "example to the world of how to handle success fully the problem of the treatment of minority populations," declared Paul Painlevé, premier of France, as the retiring chairman of the League of Nations Assembly, speaking in the Assembly at Geneva on the election of Hon. Senator Raoul Dandurand as president and in honor of the tenth anniversary of the existence of the League.

M Painlevé paid a tribute to Senator Dandurand as a statesman of high capacity and deep knowledge of international questions and referred to Canada as a shining example of French and French ideas. In Canada M Painlevé said, French conceptions of liberty and democracy have combined with those of the British.

He said that the choice of the assembly was particularly fitting because Canada was on common ground between the British and French civilizations.

EDMONTON SOCIETY VIEWS HISTORICAL FORT SITES

West Company until the fusion of the two companies in 1821. Later it was flooded by a phenomenal rise in the river and was moved to the next river bench above, on the site of the present governmental buildings housing plant, where the establishment remained until our own times. The Old Fort was pillaged by the Blackfeet in 1809 or early in 1810. Thompson notes the ruins as he passed in June, 1810.

The land passed from the first occupier, Grandbois, to F. A. Gaumont, who with his sons cleared the ground by throwing the chimney pillar into the cellars and levelling the surface. Besides the Gaumonts, the ruins are clearly recalled by Mr. Archibald Lamoureux, who tells us that in 1875, when the Catholic Mission Church was planned for Lamoureux settlement it was the intention at first to erect it on the bench above the old Fort and the building logs were hauled there, but before the building was commenced it was decided to choose a more central spot and the logs were hauled to the site of the present Lamoureux church, where the first church was built.

Some importance is attached to the fact that the red hawthorn which is not native to this province is found on the bank below the old establishments and also on the river bank in Edmonton near the old post there. If anyone of our readers knows of another place in this district where it is found we shall be glad to hear from him.

It is the intention of the Society to erect a stone cairn on the side of the surveyed trail on the above old establishments and also on the river bank in Edmonton near the old post there. If anyone of our readers knows of another place in this district where it is found we shall be glad to hear from him.

BRITISH JOURNALISTS SEE SOME FORT DISTRICT FARMS

A party of British newspapermen visiting in Edmonton last Friday were given an opportunity of seeing some of the farms in the Fort Saskatchewan district through the courtesy of the Edmonton board of trade. They came via Bremner to the Fort and lunched at the home of Lord and Lady Bodmy, returning to the city by way of Namao. Several farms were inspected en route. The Britishers were impressed with the unlimited opportunities of the country. R. A. Colwill of the Western Morning News is quoted as saying "What has struck me most on this trip is the glorious opportunity offered in Canada for the right type of man, who is willing to work and to adapt himself to his surroundings."

The party included a representative from each of the following leading newspapers of Great Britain: Daily Chronicle, London; Glasgow Herald; Morning Post; Daily News; Daily Telegraph; Belfast Telegraph; Western Morning News, Plymouth, The Times London; South Wales Daily News, Cardiff; Westminster Gazette.

A. M. BOUTILLIER U.F.A. STANDARD BEARER VEGREVILLE CONSTITUENCY

The Vegreville U.F.A. Federal Constituency convention held at Mundare on Friday, September 25, will long be remembered as one of the most harmonious and enthusiastic U.F.A. conventions ever attended by the large number of delegates and visitors who were present. The impression that the U.F.A. is dead were forcibly refuted when seventy-eight accredited delegates, representing 39 U.F.A. locals, assembled and after carefully considering the routine business of the convention such as the question of delegate to the coming U.F.A. convention, resolutions, etc., the convention was addressed by H. G. Reid M.P. for Bow River, and H. E. G. Schell field vice-president of the U.F.A.

The big event of the day was the nomination of a candidate to represent the U.F.A. at the coming Federal election. Seven candidates were nominated, four of whom withdrew, leaving three names for the consideration of the delegates. One ballot was all that was necessary. Mr. A. M. Boutillier, of Soda Lake, receiving an overwhelming majority over the other two on the first ballot.

Mr. Boutillier is an old timer in the Soda Lake district, having settled there some twenty five years ago. He came to the West from Halifax, N.S., where his family had resided for two or three generations. He is one of those fortunate men who have secured and hold the respect and confidence of all with whom he has come in contact, not only in his present home, but also in his former home in Halifax.

Mr. Chester Fulton, a compatriot of Mr. Boutillier's from Halifax, writes as follows in the Vegreville Observer of September 23: "In the editorial of the Observer of last week you made mention of the name of A. M. Boutillier in connection with the U.F.A. nomination. I never expect to write his obituary, but he will pardon a fellow countryman if he says a good word for him while he is alive. If his coming to the West has not changed him, and I am pleased to hear that it has not, he is just the type of man that would make a great representative. "Honest because it was right' was his reputation in the city of Halifax."

This is the type of man whom the farmers have chosen to be the U.F.A. standard bearer in the Vegreville Federal constituency.

Confidence—A National Keystone

Fictions accumulate at the trans-atlantic ingress which the 1925 crop of Western Canada is going to business throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, while paving the way for still greater increases and expansion. Almost every day the daily newspapers tell of some new record established. Both the C.P.R. and Canadian National are loading larger numbers of cars daily with grain than ever before in their history, with the result that the stream of wheat pouring into the terminal elevators is surpassing anything hitherto experienced in this country.

The Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co., the largest initial wheat handling company in the Dominion, if not in the world, recently took in 1,700,000 bushels in one day, where as in no previous year did it quite reach the one-million bushel mark.

Another most gratifying feature of this year's crop is that the actual yield per acre is not only coming up to the earlier estimates, but, taken on the whole, those estimates are being exceeded. In the matter of grade, too, the out-turn is highly gratifying, this year's crop grading higher than in any previous year. Not only is a very high percentage of contract grades, but at least half of the contract grades in Saskatchewan is reported as No. 1 Northern.

The large increase in wheat production in Canada this year, the satisfactory yield per acre, the good grade, and the substantial price is becoming well known throughout the United States, where the crop this year has fallen away below the average. As a result a movement of Fulled States farmers northwards to Western Canada has already begun.

The 1925 crop has also provided a final and conclusive reason for such an old established concern as the Hudson's Bay Company to take active steps to carry into effect its pre war policy of extending operations throughout the whole West. The H. B. Company has, therefore, commenced building operations on a new $1,000,000 store in Winnipeg, is enlarging its store in Vancouver, has purchased additional property to provide warehouses at Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon, and has just concluded the purchase of an extensive site for a store in Regina.

These are some of the outward and tangible evidences of the renewed confidence in Western Canada which is now felt by everybody. That renewed confidence is, in fact, the most valuable asset of all. It means more to our people and to this country and its future than all the millions of dollars of new wealth which the crop itself represents.

While the West was passing through the past few trying and difficult years, there was an all too general tendency towards pessimism and in the direction of decrying the country itself. When times are rather hard, and people are looking at the blue side of things, they are apt to forget that all countries have periods of depression, and that every year cannot be a "good" year. This year's crop, however, has demonstrated to the people of Canada, as no country, in all right, and as a result the people are taking heart. There will be no boom, but there will unquestionably be a newer and firm confidence.

And confidence is, let it be repeated, a real and vitally important national asset. Lack of confidence on the part of the people of Canada individually has in the past, been an outstanding national weakness. In the planning and construction of great national undertakings Canadians have shown a lack of confidence, but all too frequently in their individual capacity and enterprises they have been timid and fearful to venture. Such lack of confidence has been more in evidence in the East than in the West, although this section of the Dominion has not indeed crushers and prophets of blue ruin.

This year the West is not only proving to its own people what it can do, but it is demonstrating to all Canada and the world at large that under normal conditions it can provide the means to keep all the wheels of industry turning.

Supremacy Of the Air

New British Seaplane is Capable of Great Speed

The Napier R 4 which is the secret seaplane built at Southampton for the British entry in the Schneider air cup race at Baltimore, is now ready for shipment to the United States. The utmost secrecy is still preserved, but it is capable of speed of considerably more than four miles a minute. The machine has monoplane wings built in one piece from tube to tube, the only materials being metal and wood. The propellers are metal and the design throughout is entirely novel. The British hope not only to win the cup, but to gain definite air superiority.

A Tale Of Shipwreck

Bottle Message of Tragic Import is Found After Many Months

On a tiny island in the centre of the Indian Ocean, far from the steamship lanes, may be lying the bones of five seamen, saved from drowning when the ship on which they belonged was wrecked in a storm on March 18, 1924, according to a dispatch from Brussels.

A nurse at a sanitarium at Dendoso, near Ostend, found in the sands a bottle containing the following message: "Sailing ship Mary A. Dolling, from Philadelphia, wrecked in storm March 18, known latitude 13 east, longitude 10 south. Five were saved but will starve unless some-body comes soon. Please notify grandfather, F. S. Woods, 1140 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. For God's sake hurry."

The bottle, with its message of hope, travelled many thousands of miles before it was picked up in Belgium.

There was said to be only one other watch like it in Chicago. The other night the same window was raised and a package pushed through. It contained the watch and this note: "Jess Connors is dying, was you to have this and pray for him. His pal."

Public Shooting Grounds And More Bird Sanctuaries Have Been Established On Prairies

The department of the interior has recently set aside a number of public shooting grounds in the prairie provinces, and has added eleven bird sanctuaries to those already established there. These actions are not entirely contrary but complementary parts of the general plan of migratory bird conservation. Migratory birds are deemed on valuable from the standpoint of food supply, the satisfaction of sport and interest it gives, and now in an economic sense as well, as they destroy a large number of insects which are harmful to crops. Their numbers, however, are not unlimited, and the annual kill by gunners, if not properly regulated, might easily exceed the natural increase of the species. Hence the necessity for the establishment of public shooting grounds and bird sanctuaries.

The public shooting grounds are situated as follows: Three in Manitoba, twelve in Saskatchewan, and three in Alberta. The difference in the numbers in the various provinces is compensated for generally speaking, by the greater size of the shooting grounds in Manitoba, and Saskatchewan as compared with those in Alberta.

It is well known to sportsmen and bird lovers that the prairie and great plains regions contain the most important breeding grounds for wildfowl on the continent. This area embraces sparsely roughly, the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and a similar area in the United States, there border of the contiguous part of the United States. Here thousands of marshes and pools lake from the immemorial provided food and security for all kinds of waterfowl, but the progress of settlement, with the consequent draining of swamps and marshes, tends steadily to reduce the area of the breeding ground, chiefly by lessening the number of wild fowl and even threatening the extinction of some species. To prevent such an occurrence suitable areas have been set aside as bird sanctuaries, that in places where birds are suitably protected and may then increase in number. The department of the interior has established seven sanctuaries in Alberta and seven in Saskatchewan, and in Manitoba the federal forest reserves have been made game preserves under the provincial game act. Besides these, the Dominion Government has a number of sanctuaries in British Columbia, and Eastern Canada, all of the chief being administered through the Canadian National Parks Branch of the department. The purpose underlying these sanctuaries is respect to these refuges, and in addition other sanctuaries have been established by provincial governments, and in some cases by private individuals, all of them assisting in the conservation of this important natural resource.

New Species Of Gladioli

Considerable progress has been made during the past few years by R. M Palmer, at Cowichan Bay, in B.C., in the cultivation and propagation of new species of gladioli. Wheat Pool Contracts

As an example of the magnitude of the work being done by the Canada Colonization Association, it is worth of note that the largest contracts at the present wheat and coarse grain pool in Saskatchewan, were signed up by groups of Mennonite locusts, on lands through the medium of the association, which proportion are expected to deliver a quarter of a million bushels of wheat to the pool

Fattening Poultry In Crates

Fattening Fowls With Mixed Mashes to Determine Value of Preparations

At Ruthven, Saskatchewan, experimental station, an experiment was conducted three times in feeding poultry with mixed mashes, and the results are considered satisfactory. Six lots of roosters were used in the experiment. Each chicken lot one, with 36 birds in 20 days, the second and shorts was 85 lb. 8 oz. In each of the other lots 37 birds were used and in the same number of days the grains were. Lot 2, oatmeal and barley meal, 56 lb. 8 oz.; lot 3 oatmeal and shorts, 86 lb. 13 oz.; lot 4 barley meal and shorts, 83 lb. 4 oz.; lot 5 oatmeal and feed flour, 74 lb. 12 oz.; lot 6 barley meal and feed flour, 74 lb. 8 oz. All meashes were mixed with the experimenters in accordance with the following formulae:

1921, crates were introduced which are a better. Feed flour, he adds makes a sticky batter and the birds do not take to it readily. Shorts and ground oats are also rather dear in most farms, are not expensive and give satisfactory rains.

Pasture For Pigs

Use of Pasture is Found to Effect Saving in Quantity of Grain Produce Better Results

In comparing the results of two years of continuous feeding of pigs in dry lot with those of pigs on pasture, between the half feed on rape produce by pigs with the grain fed in dry lot, the experiment has not found the pasture lot made 0 23 pound higher gain daily while consuming 1 01 less pounds of meal per pound of gain. The use of pasture, he says, not only resulted in higher daily gains and effected a greater saving in grain, but it had a beneficial effect on the general health and thrift of the pigs. It is also worth noting that the pigs on pasture were very smooth and uniform in degree of finish when marketed, whereas the animals in the dry lot were quite unthrifty in appearance and presented a great variation in size and finish at the close of the test.

Bears Menace Stock Farming

Islanders Consider Appealing to Japanese Government For Aid

It is reported from Nemuro, Hokkaido, that bears are increasing so rapidly in Kunashiri, the largest island in the Kurile group, that the inhabitants are seriously considering appealing to the Japanese Government for aid. It is variously estimated that there are now between 5,000 and 10,000 bears on the island.

Hundreds of horses and cattle are killed and eaten by the bears yearly, it is said, and, unless something is done to cut down the brutes, all forward stock farming on the island will have to be discontinued. A bounty of $5 is at present given for each bear killed.

Beef Raising In Canada

Profitable Age and Weight of Cattle For Slaughter

Dealing with the question of profitable age and weight of cattle the bulletin on "Beef Raising in Canada," published by the Dominion department of agriculture, remarks that the days of the heavy bullock are past and that the life of the ox is gradually shortening. Still the vitality of will often demand a great price for the export trade, provided he has a good beef formation and well finished carcass. Under present conditions, however, the bullock is the more economical animal to produce. The heifer, which is destined for the butcher's shop, should be disposed of at the age of two years, and the steer at three years. Agreement of the above remarks is recorded from Northern Manitoba. As far as is known at present, the "take all" disease is confined to the part country, only three being found in the prairie region.

"The disease is caused by a fungus which attacks only the underground parts of grasses and wheat," says Dr. Fraser. "The young plants may be killed or the injury to the roots of base of the stem causes the plants to be stunted. The disease is most easily noticed at the time the heads of wheat plants begin to ripen. It usually occurs in spots, where the plants are much stunted and of a pale yellow color, while the healthy plants are green. The heads are small and the kernels are absent or much shrivelled. As many of the affected tillings have been killed in the early stage, the wheat is thin in the diseased spots. There may be several of these spots in a field. The diseased wheat is easily pulled out, as the roots and base of the stem is decayed. The lower part of the stem, or just below the surface of the ground, is dark or black in color. This dark color is usually best seen by pulling away the sheath. Sometimes small dark spore cases may be seen attached to the sheaths or roots.

"While the disease is serious, there is no need for alarm. From all the evidence obtained, it seems the disease is present on native grasses, and when the land is broken it passes to wheat through the soil. Those in favored from plant to plant in the air, as in the case of rust. Unique Exhibit At Wembley Shows Quality And Range Of Canada's Forest Products

New Wheat Disease

"Take-All" Disease Has Been Discovered in Different Parts of the West

A fungus disease known as "Take All of Wheat," has been found in the wheat fields of Northeastern Saskatchewan during a survey by the Dominion laboratory of plant pathology under Dr W P Fraser, Saskatoon.

The disease existed in severity, many fields being free or showing only a trace of the disease, while others showed 10 to 60 per cent. of diseased plants, says Dr Fraser. It has also been found in wheat fields not far from Edmonton, and has recently been reported from Northern Manitoba. As far as is known at present, the "take all" disease is confined to the part country, only three being found in the prairie region.

"The disease is caused by a fungus which attacks only the underground parts of grasses and wheat," says Dr Fraser. "The young plants may be killed or the injury to the roots or base of the stem causes the plants to be stunted. Canada's pre eminence as the "pot" wonde storehouse of the empire" is forcefully impressed on the mind of visitors to the British Empire exhibit then at Wembley, England, by the large and comprehensive exhibit of the forestry branch of the department of the interior

Canada, with her more than one billion square miles of timber lands covered with forests containing almost 1/3 of the trees species, produces the finest structural timber in the world as well as woods for many other industrial purposes; and this fact has been strikingly brought out in the Wembley display.

Prominent in the exhibit is a wonderful array of 184 panels of 60 different woods, most of which it is demonstrated are obtainable in large quantities The woods are grouped according to character, each group being separated by various exhibits of structural and articles made of these particular woods As part of this feature of the exhibit great rolls of Canadian newsprint are shown None by is a group of giant timbers which includes two solid blocks of Douglas fir, one two feet square, the other only five feet square; a segment of Douglas fir eleven feet in diameter and a thirty-three foot length, sixteen inches wide, and eight inches thick.

The history of Canada's forests is conspicuously laid on the walls, above the panels and wall cases, in a series of stage settings, showing the growth of the timber industry through the past four centuries, the stages of development being represented by the explorers, the pioneers, the raftsmen and the steam-loggers. Four mural paintings tell the story of the journey of timber from the forest to the mill, and two large pictures in wood mosaic depict lumbering scenes in Western Canada.

In the industrial section is exhibited a comprehensive group of articles manufactured from wood, ranging from a complete bungalow of two rooms and giant size for the storage of farm fodder, to wooden spoons

The exhibit has attracted a great deal of attention as shown by the large crowds which have constantly passed by the booth at all the many inquiries made of the attendants, and also by the numerous articles and paragraphs that have appeared in the British press, and that's no doubt that in thus making known the quality and range of Canadian forest products the Director of the Forestry Exhibit will aid powerfully in the development of this great industry

Corn Growing In Western Canada

Saskatchewan Grows About 100,000,000 Bushel Crop

Corn is steadily gaining in popularity throughout the west as an aid to diversified farming and it is anticipated that 100,000 acres were grown in Saskatchewan last year Although used was scarce last year and the price rather high, the acreage will probably be slightly higher this year than last The average acreage of corn grown by the corn growing district in Canada is Minnesota Number 13 and North Dakota While Flint are the brands most favored in Saskatchewan

The increasing favor with which corn is regarded by the farmer is well shown by the increasing sale of corn growing implements. In 1920 the implements sold did not attain the total of 10, while this year apparently 64 corn binders are now engaged in cutting maize.

A Long Stream Of Boxcar Trains

An idea of the extent of Siberia's harvesting operations this year may be gathered from the fact that practically two million cars of boxcar trains will be required, an increase of 60 per cent over the quantity used last year. In other words, twice as many will be needed in this province as to convey the earth more than 70 times

Canadian Archer Wins in England

Belleville, Ont., Man Makes Good Showing in Sport Almost Unknown Here

Archery is a sport almost unknown in Canada, although it is practised more or less in the United States, but in England it still holds an honored place on the calendar of sports and pastimes. Major Farley, of Belleville, Ont., recently won the gold medal in competition with the best archers in England and Scotland at London At Bath he won the championship of the West of England, receiving a gold medal and a magnificent challenge trophy. In another competition at Bath, Major Farley won the special prize donated by the mayor of the city. The Grand National was shot for at Oxford where the Canadian archer was also victorious, winning a large challenge trophy and a gold medal four inches in diameter, which dates back almost one hundred years. Yar ious other competitions were won by Major Farley while abroad

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

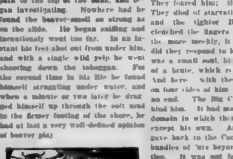
Neporse, the Indian princess, in trying to save the dog, Baree, from under the bomber where he has sought to hide, was caught by the moving arms and crushed in terror. Her father, Pierrot, the French-Indian trapper rescued her. Before that Neporse had gone once rescuing to Baree in stroke him, and he found she was a friend, not an enemy. Then Baree was still young and untamed and aimed to feed, for the slight of his mate being; was still strange to him.

CHAPTER X.

Just as in the life of every man there is one big, controlling influence, either for good or bad, so in the life of Baree the beaver-pond was largely an arbiter of destiny. Where he might have gone if he had not discovered it, and what might have happened to him, are matters of conjecture. But it held him. It began to take the place of the old whitefish and the beavers themselves he found a companionship which made up. In a way, for his loss of the protection and friendship of Kazan and Grey Wolf.

During this fortnight that followed Beaver tooth's exploit on the dam Baree ate his meals a mile up the creek, where there were plenty of crawfish. But the pond was home. Night always found him there, and a large part of his day. He slept at the end of the dam, or on top of it on particularly clear nights, and the beavers accepted him as a permanent guest. They worked in his presence as if he did not exist.

One afternoon, when the toboggan was particularly wet and slippery from recent use, Baree went up the beaver path to the top of the bank, and began investigating. Nowhere had he found the beavers' mud and stone dam on the slide. He began sniffing and inconsiderately went too far. In an instant his feet shot out from under him, and with a single wild yelp he was shooting down the toboggan. For the second time in his life he found himself struggling under water, and when a minute or two later he drag ged himself up through the soft mud to the former footing of the slide, he had at last a very well-defined opinion of beaver play



"After all, was no-ha-ha power outfit."

It may be that Unisk saw him, or may be that very soon the story of his adventure was known by all the inhabitants of Beaver town. For when Baree came down to the creek his supper of udder-bark that evening, Unisk stood his ground to the last inch, and he was not the first time they aroused noses. At least Baree sniffed audibly, and plainly Unisk the Unisk sat like a rolled-up Sphinx. That was the final remaining of the first misunderstanding on Baree's part.

CHAPTER XI.

While the lovely Neporse was shudering over her thrilling experience under the rock—while Pierrot still offered gratuitous advice in his prayers for her deliverance and Baree was becoming more and more a fixture at the beaver-pond—Black Wolf, Kazan was perfecting a little scheme of his own up at Post Lac Bain, about forty miles north and west. McTaggart had been factor at Lac Bain for seven years in the Company's book down in Winnipeg he was counted a remarkably successful man. The expense of his post was below the average, and his semi-annual report of furs always ranked among the first. After his name, kept on file in the main office, was one notation which said: "Gets more out of a dollar than any other man north of God's Lake."

The Indians knew why this was so. They called him Napoo Weehoo—the man-devil. This was under their breath—a name whispered shuddering in the glow of tepee fires, or spoken out

HER NERVES BETTER NOW

Received Much Benefit by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ontario.—"I started to get weak after my second child was born, and kept on getting worse until I could not do my own housework and was so bad with my nerves that I was afraid to stay alone at any time. I had a girl working for me a whole year before I was able to do my washing again. Through a friend I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it. I gave birth to a baby boy the 6th day of September, 1920. I am still doing my own work and washing. Of course, I don't feel well every day because I don't get my rest to the baby is so cross. But when I get my rest I feel fine. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and am going to keep on with it until cured. My nerves are a lot better since taking it. I can stay alone day or night and not be the least frightened. You can use this letter as a testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. CHARLES CARSON, 27 Forsythe Street, Chatham, Ontario.

Mrs. Carson is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from female troubles.

Talks Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills found my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did," the writes Mr. Frank J. Trumbull of Jersey City, N. J., whose letter goes on to say, "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew of the helpful news came your appetite and soon as much, until I read about other men in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they fixed me up until my liver was right and I can now eat without growing bilious, and they improved my general health 100%. You can use this and all from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills wherever I can."

by where not even the winds might carry it to the ears of Black Wolf Kazan. They feared him; they hated him. They died of starvation and sickness and the lighter Dash McTaggart had been a fault and failure in the eyes of a bunk, which rejoiced in power and here with the raw wilderness on four sides of him his power knew no end. The Big Company was behind him. It had made him king of a domain in which there was little to escape his ken. And in return he gave back to the Company bales and bundles of furs beyond their expectations. It was not for them to have suspicions. They were a thousand or more miles away—and dollars counted

Gregson might have told Gregson was the Investigating Agent of the district, who visited McTaggart once each year. He might have reported that the Indians called McTaggart Napoo Weehoo because he gave them only half price for their furs; he might have told the Company quite plainly that he kept the people of the trap-line in debt to him by starvation through every month of the winter, that he had them on their knees with his hands on their throats—but Gregson was a solid and pretty way—and that he always had a woman or a girl, built or halfbreed, to send back with the Post. But Gregson enjoyed his visit too much at Lac Bain. Always he could count on two weeks of the best pleasures; and in addition to that, his own women folk at home were a rich treasure of joy that came to them from McTaggart.

One evening, a week after the adventure of Neporse and Baree under the rock, McTaggart and Gregson sat glow of an oil lamp in his "store." He had sent his little pipple faced assistant to bed, and was now alone with Gregson. It was just six weeks ago that Pierrot had brought Neporse on her first visit to Lac Bain since McTaggart had been factor there. Gregson had noticed breath away. Since then he had been able to think of nothing but her. Twice in that six weeks Pierrot had been to Pierrot's cabin Tomorrow he was going again. Marie, the slim Cree girl over in his cabin, he had passed by—just as a dozen others before Marie had slipped out of his memory. It was Neporse now. He had never seen anything quite so beautiful as Pierrot's girl

Audibly he cursed Pierrot as he looked at a sheet of paper under his hand, on which for an hour or more he had been making notes out of worn sent their intelligent lodgers. It was Pierrot who stood in his way. Pierrot's father spreading out over Gitche-Manitou the mantle of his protection. Therefore Pierrot was half friend and Neporse was quarter. Gregson knew that Pierrot was a devil, but he had never seen the worst side of him. He had never seen a drop of his Indian blood in action. It only took half of Pierrot's Indian blood, coming down through generations of white ancestry, to make Pierrot a human fiend. Gregson had never seen Pierrot's father and grandfather, and even his mother. He would have known Pierrot's father and grandfather, and even his mother, if he had seen them. He would have known Pierrot as he was to-night.

He smiled pallid and cadaverous and stretched. After a while he put his pencil aside and blotted what he had written. THE RECORD

E. Quiey, Editor and Publisher

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 30, 1925

It has been pointed out to the editor that motorists having a desire for as good a road as possible from the Fort to the city should make use of the distance as outlined by Mr. Conners, engineer in charge of the work, instead of going via Namao or by other routes. Mr. Conners states that the distance are good and load at various points to finished portions of the new road, which are good, and ready for traffic. In fact, it is highly desirable that all vehicles use the new road to fasten it out and compact it before frozen up, otherwise next spring when the frost comes out of the ground the compacting will have to be done during the time of the spring thaw and mud and it will mean a longer job and a less satisfactory road.

On Saturday, September 12, a number of the friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, sr. met at their home to celebrate Mr. Fisher's ninetieth birthday. The party was a complete surprise to Mr. Fisher, who knew nothing of it until the guests arrived, bringing their congratulations and wishes for many happy returns of the day and presents expressing the esteem in which the aged yet young couple is held in the community.

The evening passed quickly with reminiscences, games and music, after which a dainty repast was served.

After the supper Mrs. Mort. Wright was asked to present to Mr. Fisher the good wishes of the company and the material token of their affections. This he did in a speech which recalled the long, faithful and efficient work of Mr. Fisher in the upbuilding of the community, morally, mentally and economically, as well as the interest he took in affairs national and international.

Mr. Fisher replied in a speech which reviewed the conditions which existed when he first arrived in Deep Creek and contrasted them with the conditions of today. He did this, he said, for the encouragement of the young people of today. He said he had travelled in different countries and climates and knew Alberta fairly well and he did not know a better country for a young man than Canada, a better province than Alberta, nor a better land in Alberta than they had right here in Deep Creek.

While his friends celebrated his birthday on September 12th, Mr. Fisher celebrated it by preaching the love of God at the home of his son, Mr. Ira Fisher, last Sunday morning.

The Edmonton Journal of Monday states that Frank Walker has disposed of part of his farm lands, some 700 acres for around $40,000. There are buildings on the property worth about $9,000, and the price of around $55 per acre ranks with the best sales made this year. So many round figures are used in the report we are afraid Frank is not getting a square deal. However, it seems he can afford to build a new house on another part of his holdings near the river, so his friends can look for invitations to drop in now and again.

Bring British Immigrants In

There are many questions affecting national policies in Canada in regard to which it is natural there should be wide divergence of opinion. But there is one subject, immigration upon which it should be possible to find common ground. East and West and the Maritimes may differ in regard to tariff schedules, freight rates, railway construction policies, and harbor improvements, but one and all are vitally interested in the question of population and in taxation problems.

Every Province in Canada still possesses large areas open to settlement and only awaiting people to bring them under cultivation and thus render them productive and a source of national wealth. Even the most thickly settled rural districts in Canada are capable of sustaining a denser population through more intensified farming, while in Northern Ontario and Quebec and in all four Western Provinces there are vast unpeopled areas.

On the other hand, there are some millions more people in the British Isles than there are avenues of employment open to them. The British tax-payer is therefore obliged to support these people in idleness, while the population goes on increasing in a greater ratio than the capabilities of the country to employ and support. Now, in the changed industrial conditions which have resulted from the war, does there seem to be any possibility of a material improvement in the situation

In times past the United States absorbed large numbers of immigrants from the British Isles, but under its quota system the doors of the big American republic are now practically closed. There is a good and sufficient reason for this new United States policy. Population across the line has now reached over 110,000,000, and the annual natural increase is 1,500,000. In other words, every recurring decennial census shows an increase in population of 15,000,000. Before long the figure will be 20,000,000. By far the larger portion of this increase is in the cities, with the result that the United States is rapidly reaching the point where it will no longer be a self-contained and self-supporting nation able to feed its own people. It has, therefore, and quite naturally, called a halt to immigration

Canada, however, occupies an entirely different position. Our population is small and our territory large, and for the most part unsettled. It is open to serious question whether Canada is morally justified in rigidly restricting immigration, and holding large areas unsettled and idle, when millions in the British Isles lack employment because there is none to be had

Canada may feel that it is not called upon to contribute to the upkeep of the British Navy, and that it should not obligate itself to participate in the defence of the Empire as a whole, and in other respects should not be expected to adopt policies purely from an Empire standpoint. But situated as the Dominion is in the matter of population and vacant territory it can hardly be denied that, so long as it is part of the Empire, it has some responsibility for the welfare of all British people.

Under the present time Canada could render no better service to the Empire, and incidentally to itself, than by evolving and putting into effect a well considered plan whereby a large number of people from the British Isles could be transferred to this Dominion. Something is being done, but not nearly enough. At present we are only subsidizing at immigration, instead of going into it in wholesale fashion

To those who realize which it would be a mistake to bring to Canada or send elsewhere. There are those who by reason of physical handicaps could not succeed in this country. There are others whose whole training is not calculated to enable them to adapt themselves to any other environment than the one they are now in. But there are thousands who could and would succeed in Canada if the means were provided to get them here and give them a fair start.

Canada's doors should be wide open to any Anglo-Saxon capable and willing to work. Let there be health tests to keep out the mentally, morally and physically unfit, but the amount of ready cash an immigrant may or may not have should not be a factor deciding his or her eligibility to enter Canada.

Some Trade Unions may take a short-sighted and narrow view of immigration, think and fear that an influx of immigrants would jeopardize their own jobs, but our experience has proved such fears to be groundless. Western Canada, at all events, should insist that the new Parliament to be elected on October 29 grapple with this question, and make provision for an entirely new and better era in immigration.

Orange Free State Is Rich

Became Definitely British Just Twenty five Years Ago

The Orange Free State, which the Prince of Wales recently visited, is one of the "babies" of the British empire. It became definitely British only in 1900—just twenty-five years ago.

At this place, however, the Prince saw the "mining stores," as the Bush men call the diamond, dug out of the earth, washed, sorted and finally weighed.

The tunnels in the mines are lighted by electricity and ventilated by compressed air, while the machinery is some of the costliest in the world.

The temptation among the workers to steal a diamond is great, yet few thefts occur.

Even if a native did steal a stone it would be of no use to him. He could not sell it, so disposed of it really, for all diamond dealers must be register ed and licensed, and black men dare to offer for sale a precious stone to a reputable white man

Not only has the Orange Free State its mineral wealth. It possesses also some ten million sheep, one and a half million cattle, half a million Angora goats, more than a million horses, and also seven ten thousand ostriches!

Many Auto Accidents

In United States

Records Show That Two Are Killed Every Hour in Day

The death rate in the United States due to automobiles accidents leads the world, being 14.5 fatalities for every 100,000 population against 5.2 in England and Wales, 4.3 in Scotland, 4.6 in New Zealand and 3.6 in Canada during 1922. Figures for 1924 show that for 158 American cities, the automobile accident death rate was 18.4 per 100,000 population, causing not less than 17,000 deaths in automobile accidents, not counting accidents which involved railroads, or street cars, and automobiles.

The toll of human life taken by motor vehicles in the United States was at the rate of more than two for every hour in the day. These statistics have been compile dby the National Safety Council for consideration at the Fourteenth Annual Congress which opened at Cleveland on Sept. 26.

PAUL IN CORINTH

Golden Text: Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace. Acts 18:9.

Lesson: Acts 18:1-17

Devotional Reading: I Corinthians 3:1-7

The Text Explained and Illustrated

Paul Supports Himself at Corinth by the Labor of His Hands (verses 1 to 4) B.C. Pompey brought Jewish prisoners to Rome, and the settlement grew rapidly. Therefore deported four thousand Roman Jews to Sardinia "in the hope that the malaria might kill them." Claudius came to the throne in A.D. He was indebted to Herod Agrippa of Jerusalem for help in gaining the throne, and on that account he granted favors to the Roman Jews. But when the Jewish rebels of Judea revolted against the Roman rule it was not deemed safe to permit their kindred to remain in the Imperial city, and 4 Studies issued an edict ordering all Jews to leave Rome. Corinth was, in his life the Emperor Claudius, gives another reason for the edict: It was "because they were in a state of continual in suit at the instigation of one Chrestus." It is thought that the Romans, hearing the name Chrestus, Christus (Christ) so often, supposed him to be one of the leaders of the Roman Jews. "Instigation no doubt means that the dissensions between the Jews and Christians had already risen to such a height as to attract public attention and appear to threaten the public peace. Yet when the Jews were expelled from Rome scarcely twenty years had elapsed since the death of Christ. Paul did not arrive in Rome till five years after his death. So other ap suits had been there. The good seed had sprung up of itself. The great Roman church was founded we know not how. But for the rural phrase of a heathen historian, we should not have known that it was a strong, active church in the days of Emperor Claudius."

Ten Million Sets Predicted For U S By Year 1930

Predictions a ten million of radio sets for the United States by the year 1930 were made by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, in addressing the opening session of the annual convention of the radio industry. Mr. Hoover said the approximately four million sets now in use in the United States and declared that the number had more than doubled. At the present rate of increase, all appropriations were surrounded by the owners, but with the steady development of parts and fittings, the volume of ready built instruments purchased increased until about forty per cent. are now sold ready to tune in. To supply the more than 4,000,000 homes now equipped with receiving sets, pro grammes are broadcast from 562 stations. Popular Mechanics

Increasing Interest Is Taken In Great Britain In Respect To Emigration To Canada

"This century will witness a development in Canada in all ways similar and equal to the development in the United States in the 19th century," a writer in The Outlook declares, and he adds: "In the long run, provided the present policy is maintained, of encouraging the immigration only of the Nordic races, Canada will produce a finer nation than the one in the making in the United States. Where a people of indiscriminate admission of immigrants was pursued until recently."

Country Industry In Alberta

Production Last Year Was Worth Three Million Dollars

Alberta's rapid expansion as a mixed farming province in recent years has brought about a development of branches of farming hitherto neglected, especially that of poultry raising. Three years ago this province was a heavy importer of eggs and other poultry products in order to meet domestic requirements, but the farmers, realizing that poultry can play a valuable adjunct to their regular activities, have lately increased production to such a degree that the province produced over 29,000,000 dozen eggs of a value of $5,796,000. In addition some 2,500,000 pounds of dressed and dressed poultry, worth $3,150,000, were handled by commercial houses, making a total production for the year of $8,196,000

Applications are already coming in from all parts of the province, and improved conditions among the farmers as a result of the good crop returns are also reflected in the evident desire of farm young people to take agricultural training. It is expected that the three schools will be filled practically to capacity, which means a total enrollment of 600, as against 396 last

To Aid Marketing Of Produce

Dominion-Wide Commission Is Proposed At Toronto Meeting

Hon. George Henday, minister of agriculture for Alberta, was present at a meeting in Toronto of the Ontario agricultural committee, at which the proposal to establish a Dominion-wide commission for the marketing of Canadian foodstuffs was further considered.

The gathering was attended by representatives of several provinces, and officials of dairy and co-operative associations.

Mr Henday said local organizations of farming producers in British Columbia chiefly responsible for the successful of foreign products in the British market. He visited the co-operative societies of Denmark. However he believed in the feasibility of a national commission such as was proposed but was further in favor any plan that would allow the producers freedom in the ultimate marketing of his produce

Hon. J. S. Martin, minister of agriculture for Ontario, said Canada was not keeping pace with other countries in capturing the British market. He felt things should not have been given to outside agencies to handle. Canada should be able to reach the consumer as much as the packer

Standard Turkey Grades

Uniform Description To Be Used By Three Prairie Provinces

Discussion of poultry grading by representatives of the three prairie provinces at a conference held recently in Regina, led to a decision to adopt the federal department of agriculture agreement had been reached on the description for turkey grades to be used in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta this fall.

A step next to be undertaken, deputy minister of the Dominion department of agriculture, after the conference, was the following: Instructions for turkey grades will be used in the three prairie provinces this fall. Specials will be Nos. 2 and 3 grades.

It is expected that the immediate adjustment of agricultural supply and demand will be made by the marketing of dressed turkey this season.

Hitherto various names have been used for turkey grades, some therefore of the table calling "Extra," selects No. 1, selects No. 2." Both the use of such terminology tended to confuse trade and the United States will know what it is purchasing and a misunderstanding will be avoided.

The conference also discussed the question of uniform weights for dressed poultry, and the proper sizing of ready-to-cook poultry, a subject of three days.

Ontario Plans to Step Up Exporting Business With Britain

The agricultural committee of the Ontario Legislature is in possession of a plan to establish a meat chilling and exporting business from Canada, with a view to supplying the British consumers direct, it is understood.

This plan has been submitted to the British premier and the imperial economic committee from Vancouver. Amongst other suggestions, the plan calls for the establishment in British Columbia of more complete cold storage facilities than are now available in the Canadian chilled meats and other products. It suggests central and cold storage depots in Canada, where, the plan, as on hand, involves an expenditure of $9,815,000.

The matter was brought before the Ontario committee by Major Palmer, of Vancouver, on hand to attend the conference.

The plan submitted by the major caused a great deal of comment in British circles connected with the economic committee.

What Wembley Has Accomplished

Brought Home Idea of Buying Empire-Made Goods

If Wembley has done nothing else—and could it have done anything greater?—it has brought right home to innumerable English women a sense that all the Britains are one family and that membership of it is a real partnership among our far-scattered Commonwealths. One notices the change of attitude among women shopping. They are very keen now on their origins as to where the goods come from. One often hears a shopper say: "Are you sure it is made in the Dominions? I want empire goods." A quick change in the contents of many shop shelves is being hastily effected to meet this new demand for everything that British and overseas manufacturers can supply it in Imperial preference in the way of practical bread and butter form that closer trading within the empire could be made. Ten, Wembley has brought to us that we are all one family, and that we can "keep the money in the family" only by dealing in the empire shop

Cheese and Also Butter

Canadian Product Is At a Premium On the British Market

Not for some years, says the News Letter of the Dominion dairy and cold storage branch dated September 10, has Canadian cheese commanded so great a premium over the New Zealand product as during the past few months. With a war on, and the British Navy seemingly in control, in shillings per 112 lbs. White cheese, Canadian, 97 to 98; New Zealand, 94 to 96; colored cheese, Canadian, 94 to 97; New Zealand, 93 to 95.

The News Letter also calls attention to the fact that the United States is rigorously enforcing the legal standards of the composition of butter, which is the same as in Canada, namely, a maximum water content of 16 per cent. and a minimum fat content of 80 per cent.

Crop Handling Suggestion

Ben Smith Says Canadian Pools Should Enter Arrangement With British Government

That the Canadian pooling associations should arrange with the British Government to handle a fixed proportion of the Canadian crop on a five year contract at fixed prices is one of the conclusions arrived at by Ben Smith, British Labor M.P., as a result of his tour of the Dominion.

Mr Smith also believes that British immigrants would be encouraged to settle in this country if it were possible for them to have some more community life than is now the case.

Danish Competition In Better

Growth Of Danish Butter Export Trade Alarms Denmark

Leading agriculturists, dairy-men, cattle breeders, representatives of export associations and private exporters, assembled at Copenhagen, Denmark, under the presidency of the minister of agriculture, to discuss the export of butter to foreign countries, particularly Great Britain. The speakers all emphasized that the heavy increase in the imports of butter from the British dominions by Britain, coupled with the free entry of margarine organized in England for enhanced marketing of butter from the dominions in the future," was going to greatly imperil the continuance of Danish butter

The meeting decided that every country must be started to prevent any justifiable complaints against Danish butter The minister of agriculture submitted a draft of legislation proposed to deal with the marketing of Danish dairy products. The details however, were not divulged

Dusk McTaggart, the factor of Post MacDuis, a brutal and unscrupulous adventurer, was determined to marry Nepessee, the beautiful Indian "princess," daughter of Pierrot, the trapper. He had lured of Marie, the slim Cree girl who had been his companion McTaggart's advances were distasteful to Nepessee and aroused the enmity of her mother, so the counterlovers further plotted to do away with Pierrot, if necessary, to win his daughter for himself.

He chuckled again as he made his way through the darkness to the door. Nepessee as good as belonged to him. He would have her if it cost—Pierrot's life. And—why not? It was all so easy. A shot on a lonely trap-line, a single knife-thrust—and who would know? Who would guess where Pierrot had gone? And it would be all Nepessee's now! For the last time he and even Pierrot, he had made an honest proposition; he would marry Nepessee. Yes, even that. He had told Pierrot so. He had told Pierrot that when the latter was his father-in-law, he would pay him double price for furs.

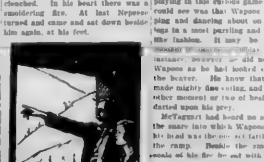
And Pierrot had stared—had stared with that strange, stunned look in his face, like a man dazed by a blow from a club. And so if he did not get Nepessee without trouble it would all be Pierrot's fault. To-morrow McTaggart would start again for the half breed's country. And the next day Pierrot would have an answer for him Dusk McTaggart chuckled again when he went to bed.

Until the end of the last day Pierrot said nothing to Nepessee about what had passed between him and the factor at Lac Obas. Then he told her:

"He is a beast—a man-devil," he said, when he had finished. "I would rather see you out there—with her—dead." And he pointed to the tall spruce under which the princess mother lay.

Nepessee had not uttered a sound. But her eyes had grown bigger and darker, and there was a flush in her cheeks which Pierrot had never seen there before. She stood up when he had done, and she seemed taller to him. Never in all his days had she looked so much like a woman, and Pierrot's eyes were deep-shadowed with fear and tenderness as he watched her while she paced off into the northwest toward Lac Bain.

She was wonderful, this silk of a girl-woman. Her beauty troubled him. He had seen the look in Dusk McTaggart's eyes. He had heard the thrill in McTaggart's voice. He had caught the desire of a beast in McTaggart's face. It had frightened him at first, but now—he was not frightened. He was uneasy, but big hands were clenched. In his heart there was a fierce, hot pain. At last Nepessee turned and came and sat down beside him again, at his feet.



"And he pointed to the tall spruce under which the princess mother lay."

"He is coming to-morrow, ma cherie," he said. "What shall I tell him?"

The Willow's lips were red. Her eyes shone. But she did not look at her father

"Nothing, Nootawe—except that you are to say to him that I am the one to whom he must come—for what he seeks."

Pierrot bent over and caught her smiling. The sun went down. His heart sank with it, like cold lead.

From Lac Bain to Pierrot's cabin the trail cut within half a mile of the beaver-pond, a dozen miles from where McTaggart made his camp for the night.

It was a splendid night that followed. Perhaps Baree would have slept through it in his nest on the top of the dam if the bacon smell had not stirred the new hunger in him. Since his adventure in the canyon, the silent forest had held a dread for him, especially at night. But this night was like a pale, golden day. It was moonless; but the stars shone like a billion distant lamps, flooding the world in a soft and blimpy gas of light. A gentle whisper of wind made pleasant sounds in the treetops. Beyond that it was very quiet

In this silence there began to hunt. He stirred up a family of half-grown partridges, out they scooped him. He pounced a rabbit that was evither used to be. For an hour he had no luck Then he heard a sound that made every drop of blood in him thrill. He was close to McTaggart's camp, and what he heard was a rabbit in one of Mc-Taggart's snares. He came out into a little startit open and there he saw the rabbit going through a most marvelous pantomime. It seemed him

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cornwall, Ontario: — "I am now giving your medicine a fair trial and it surely is doing me good and I am going to keep on taking it. I used to feel so tired in the morning that I didn't want to get up, but that feeling is leaving me now. I also have better and feel more like working. For seven or eight years I have had headaches, tired feelings, pains in my back and across my body. I read letters in the newspapers saying what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done others. My husband says I quit too soon, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, as I am better and haven't any ache or a pain. Isn't that the right way? I have great faith in your medicines. They must be good when those who take them speak so highly of them. I am recommending them to my friends and I will gladly answer letters from women asking about them." — Mrs. Bizer H. for a moment, and he stopped in his tracks.

Wapoos, the rabbit, had run his furry head into the snare, but with his first frightened jump had "shot" the sapling to which the copper wire was attached so that he made three half circles in midair, with only his hind feet touching the ground And there he was, clinching and striking and kicking about his neck slowly choked him to death

Baree gave a sort of gasp. He could understand nothing of the part that the wire and the sapling were playing in this curious game All he could see was that Wapoos was struggling and dancing about on his hind legs in a most puzzling and unrabbit like fashion. And he knew that he should do something to this amazing monster or did not regard Wapoos as he had regarded all the rest of the beaver. He knew that Wapoos made mighty fine eating, and after an other moment or two of hesitation he started upon his prey.

McTaggart had heard no sound, for the blare of the fiddle in his hand and the noise of the rapids filled the camp. Beside the smouldering coals of his fire he sat with his back to a tree, smoking his black pipe and dreaming contentedly of Nepessee when Baree ventured his night wandering. Baree no longer had the fiddle in his hand He was too full But he stood in and out of the startlit space, enjoying immensely the silkiness and the golden glow of the night He was following a rabbit run when he came to a place where two fallen logs left a trail no wider than his body He squeezed through, something tightened about his neck, and he was in a snare. Then as much as the sapling was released from its "trigger"—and Baree was lifted off his feet so suddenly that he had no time to protest as to what was happening.

The yelp in his throat died in a gurgle, and he went upward, his body going through the pantomimic actions of Wapoos, who was having his revenges inside him. For the life of him Baree could not keep from dancing about, while the wire grew tighter and tighter about his throat. When he snapped at the wire and flung the weight of his body to the ground, the sapling would bend elastically, and then—in its rebound—would yank him for an instant completely off the earth. Furiously he struggled. It was a miracle that the fine wire held him. In a few moments more it must have broken—but McTaggart had heard him! The Factor caught up his blanket and a heavy stick as he hurried toward the snare. It was not a rabbit making these sounds—he knew that Perhaps a fisher-cat—a lynx, a fox, a young wolf —

It was the wolf he thought of first when he saw Baree at the end of the wire. He dropped the blanket and raised the club. If Baree had been a rabbit or a fox, or the lynx had been less brilliant, Baree would have died as surely as Wapoos had died. With

A Vote for a Liberal Candidate is a Vote in Favor of Assured Progress Under A Stable Government

Dominion Electoral District of Vegreville

To The Electors:-

On Thursday, October 29th., you will be called on to exercise your voting privileges as citizens to elect a member to represent the Electoral District of Vegreville in the Canadian House of Commons. This is a new District with its boundaries arranged under the Redistribution Act passed at the last session of Parliament. It is therefore important that the first member elected here should be one who can give the District adequate attention and who, at the same time, is not bound by the dictates of cliques, groups or any organization which has as its basis of political action the encouragement of class antagonism. The member for Vegreville should be one who, while giving a general adherence to a definite political party, yet retains his independence of thought and action when matters in which the West in general, and the Electoral District of Vegreville, in particular, are under consideration. Western Canada cannot make its influence felt at Ottawa or in any way direct the course of legislation unless and until there are a sufficient number of members of Parliament from the West holding like views and able to express these views on the government through the regular channels provided therefor.

In January of this year, I was honored by contributing the nomination of the Liberal party as candidate to contest this constituency in the interests of the government headed by the Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King. I am therefore appealing for your support at the polls on October 29th on the grounds that, under great difficulty, with a majority of only one over other parties in the House of Commons, face to face with a Senate bent upon destroying needed legislation advanced by the government, the Mackenzie King government conducted the affairs of the country ably and wisely, with due regard for economy in administration, with skill in fiscal matters relating to our enormous public debt with such measures of tariff reform as circumstances rendered possible, with the closest attention to our great problem of the Canadian National Railways and without losing sight of the various public works which our national development demands.

Throughout the campaign, the various issues at stake will be presented to you at length by speakers on both sides—except that, as no Conservative candidate has been, or is likely to be, nominated to contest this constituency, it is improbable that the Conservative policies will be voiced here. Of these, however, it is fair to say that the Right Hon. Mr. Meighen, Conservative leader, placed high protection in the forefront. He also condemns the present management of the Canadian National Railways and has openly stated that, if given power, he would interfere actively in the management. However, as Mr. Meighen has no candidate in this constituency, the Conservative viewpoint requires no attention other than that the Progressive candidate, as a former Conservative, might be pardoned if he retained some affection for his old party friends.

The Government's Record

The record of the Mackenzie King government will bear examination. It has reduced expenditure. It has reduced taxation. It has removed burdens from industry and thus stimulated production. It has negotiated trade agreements with Australia, the West Indies, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland, Finland and Spain. All these trade agreements are associated with a policy of reducing the cost of production, enabling farmers and manufacturers to compete with greater advantage in world markets. With the latter have gone an effort to reduce transportation costs by land and sea. In connection with our ocean-borne commerce elevators are asked to bear in mind that it was the Conservative party in the House of Commons which held up the Peterson contract—an honest effort made by the government to reduce the cost of transporting grain and other farm products from our seaports to those of Great Britain.

The National Railways

The Government has fulfilled its promise to give public ownership of railways a fair trial. On taking power in 1921, the government found the National Railways in a badly managed and chaotic condition. Two sets of directors were in office, endeavoring somehow to make one part of the National Railways compete against the other with consequent increasing expenses in every direction. Sir Henry Thornton, a railroad operator of the highest ability, was acknowledged to be one of the ablest railway executives in the world. Under his charge the National Railways have been unified, consolidated and reorganized. He has infused into the whole body of officials a spirit of enthusiasm, pride in the system and an eager desire for public service. Today the Canadian National Railways are the equal of any in the world. Operating deficits have been turned into surpluses and, while the immense debt charges against the National Railways still remain for years to come, it is only through honest management, with no political interference, that [illegible] can be successfully reduced.

Farmers in the districts served by the Canadian National Railways will have vivid remembrance of the grain blockades which were common prior to Sir Henry Thornton's assumption of the management. The railways were then run for political purposes and suffered from lack of effective management. A return to the Meighen policy of curtailing capital expenditure will result in the system again falling into disrepair. A vote for the Liberal candidate is a vote for continued efficient management.

The country cannot afford to take a chance by voting against a government which had the foresight and the courage to deal with the Canadian National Railways in a businesslike way.

The North Railway

Settlers south of the Saskatchewan River have waited long years for better transportation facilities to the north. The Canadian Pacific Co-knife branch was looked upon as a solution. But the C.P.R. has ceased construction and is not likely to continue for a long time. During this campaign I will submit to those most interested a concrete and effective policy for their endorsement and if this policy meets with favor I will do my utmost to see that it is carried out.

The Tariff Question

Accusations that the Government has made no attempt to carry out its pre-election promises have no basis in fact. The Liberals have had "tariff for revenue only" as a basic policy for thirty years and to that end they have worked steadily. Tariff changes are matters which require long and earnest consideration and can only be made with due attention to existing conditions which might be adversely affected or even bankrupted by hasty, ill-considered action. But the government has brought about many radical reductions particularly in the tariff charges on farm implements the greater number of which today carry no higher duty than from 6 to 16 per cent. Other tariff changes are in view, each with the object of reducing living costs, ameliorating the lot of the producer and stimulating home production.

Immigration

Admittedly, this country needs a larger population especially to develop our agricultural and other natural resources. When the Laurier government left office in 1911, the immigration into Canada was satisfactory and steady. The succeeding Conservative government failed to follow up the good example of its predecessor and when the Great War came, immigration ceased completely. It has not yet revived, due somewhat to conditions in Europe which preclude people of a suitable type from emigrating. Our vigorous climate demands that only those who are fitted to cope with real pioneer life should be considered as possible immigrants. Our proximity to the United States is another deterrent to Canada. But the necessity of securing suitable settlers is a matter engaging the close attention of the government and the recent appointment of a Minister of Immigration who is to give his whole time to this work will produce results in the near future.

No one knows the exact position of the Progressive candidate on immigration matters. One of the most prominent Progressive members, E. J. Garland, opposes immigration entirely. The Progressive leader, Mr. Forke, admits he has no policy save that of "the satisfied settler being our best advertisement." Still others of the Progressives wish vigorous action taken to limit emigrants to Canada. From this multiplicity of ideas, the Progressive stand a poor chance of helping to evolve any definite policy.

It will be my aim to support in every possible way, the stimulation of immigration to this country, especially of those who by the conditions in their home lands and by their individual training show their fitness as possible settlers.

The efforts made by the Government to bring Canada's resources before the world may be exemplified by a reference to the Wembley Exhibition, where the Canadian exhibits were regarded as the most attractive and effective on the grounds. Eventually the expenditure made on this exhibit will be justified by results.

Other measures of government policy such as Senate Reform, etc. will be fully discussed on the platform and by way of literature.

A VOTE AGAINST A LIBERAL CANDIDATE IS A VOTE FOR THE RETURN OF MEIGHEN

The only policy opposing that of the government in the policy advocated by the Hon. Mr. Meighen. A vote against Progressive candidates is a vote, directly or indirectly, for the return of Meighen. The Progressives have no coherent and intelligible policy and for that reason, the Ontario Progressives have opposed taking political action. Two of the strongest men of the Progressives, Hon. T. A. Crerar of Manitoba, and Andrew Mc Henry of Springfield, Manitoba, have withdrawn from politics. These incidents show that the Progressives are realizing that they have no future in politics and will never become a factor in the political life of this country.

Remember the blunder of the Government by dissolving the Liberal Conference on October 1918.

I accept battle solely your vote and influence and [illegible] with your confidence will be given to justify it.

Your obedient servant,

CHARLES GORDON.

From School Teacher To Great Eminence

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania studied diligently and qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his medical studies, he managed to save up enough money to put him thru medical college. After the Civil War, he began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Titusville, and often rode horse-back thru the woods to reach and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of botany, knew and could easily recognize most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Later, he moved to Buffalo, N.Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of Pierce, Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known blood medicine and tonic. More than fifty million bottles have been sold. If your druggist does not sell the "Discovery," in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 50c to Dr. Pierce's Remedy Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont.

Providing Fuel For Motors

Billions of Dollars Are Spent Yearly For Gasoline

Few people realize what it means to provide fuel for the millions of automobiles in daily use. In 1906, before motor car production was well under way, the annual production of [illegible] was [illegible] barrels; this year it may surpass 1,000,000,000 barrels. In 1906 the gasoline production was [illegible] barrels. This year it will probably surpass 250,000,000 barrels. The investment in the oil industry is now estimated at $8,000,000,000, against about $1,000,000,000 fifteen years ago. The United States at the will this year probably consume 2000 million gallons of gasoline, which at 20 cents per gallon would mean an expenditure of $1,600,000,000. Thrift Magazine.

Tailored Details and Plain Contribute To Sports Types

The "channel" plait, furnishing fullness to the plain silhouette, hangs in straight line tailored frock into even greater favor. The jacket has many delightful ways of unexpectedly appearing on all sorts of styles and is the dominating adornment. It is here made of crepe-de-chine matching the becoming collar and slightly flared cuffs. The upper portion of the jacket displays the moulded fancy, and the back extends over the shoulder to fall below the shoulder-line forming a yoke to which is sewed the slightly gathered skirt. The long tight sleeves are a pleasing feature, and buttons trim the front opening. Any woman looking for a straight frock will be delighted with this pattern. Sizes 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. She will need approximately 5 yards of 36-inch, or 3¾ yards of 54-inch material. Price 20 cents.

Plan Forest Reserve

With a view to establishing a Dominion forest reserve comprising several thousand acres in the river lots at Mile 72, Hudson Bay Railway survey work is being carried out. It is reported the proposal will include not only conservation of what timber stands in the reserve, but also a system of reforestation through experimentation in growing new timber, such as jack pine, cedar and hemlock.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE CAN NOW FIND RELIEF

By Driving the Poisonous Acid From the System

Rheumatism attacks people when the blood is thin and watery, or charged with impurities, thus setting up inflammation of the muscles and joints Cold, wet weather or sharp winds may start the pains, but the cause is rooted in the blood and to get relief it must be treated through the blood. As a blood builder and nerve tonic Dr Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed, and for that reason do not fail to give relief to rheumatic sufferers when given a fair trial. Among the rheumatic sufferers who have proved the great value of this medicine is Mrs. Simeon J. Tatton, Indian Head, Sask., who says:—"For over two years I was an intense sufferer from rheumatism and until I began the use of Dr Williams' Pink Pills no treatment that I took helped me any. The trouble grew so bad that I could not move around the house without help, and finally I had to give up and go to bed Words cannot tell how much I suffered, and I could not bear to have any one come near me. Finally one of my neighbors strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to do so. In the course of a few weeks I could feel an improvement, and 6 weeks I was able to get up. I kept on taking the pills until all traces of the trouble were gone, and I could again do my housework, feeling like a new person.

Three years have passed since that and there has never been the slightest return of the trouble, so that I feel safe in saying that the relief brought by this medicine is permanent.

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Using Improper English

Warning Signs Flowed Near Schools Are Very Unpronounced

Any place is a bad place for improper English, but there could scarcely be a worse place than in the vicinity of the schools. Yet we find adjacent to many schools all over the country, road signs that are shockingly ungrammatical, says Editor Denholm, of the Blenheim, Ont., News-Tribune, who is considerable of a globe trotter One does not need to go very far, he points out, to see neatly painted warning signs "School—Go Slow." While outdoors this impropriety stares the students in the face as they go to and from school, indoors they are taught that the subjunction is wrong, and to be correct they must say, "Go Slowly." The use of correct English in public places should be absolutely adhered to, and in the matter of placing signs or correcting them, if brevity is desirable, the Blenheim paper recommends "School Zone," or another often used is Great Britain, "School—Caution."

Large Meteor Falls in North Dakota

A large meteor crashed in the earth north of Mercer, North Dakota, shortly after 10 o'clock Monday morning as it struck. Pieces were gathered for scientific study. Exact size of the meteorite could not be determined since the violent explosion scattered pieces over a large area. No damage was reported. The city water works is near the spot where the meteor fell, but was unscathed.

NORTHERN ALBERTA EXPERIENCING "CRIME CALM"

With city police experiencing one of the quietest periods in recent record, it would appear that the "crime calm" in the north is outending to other places. The provincial jail at Fort Saskatchewan now has but 79 male prisoners as compared with 121 twelve months ago. Last year the jail warden was able to supply men for local harvest work; this season all the "trusties" have been required to take care of the crop on the jail farm, which has turned out an average of 35 bushels of wheat to the acre, with a yield of 60 bushels to the acre on number 3 farm.—Calgary Albertan.

PUBLICITY PICTURES

Motion pictures for distribution among the news reels in circulation were taken the past week to the extent of nearly 1,000 feet in the Edmonton district by representatives of film concerns. These included scenes on the farm of Lord Rodney at Fort Saskatchewan, and the Gillies farm at Clover Bar. Pictures were obtained of the titled students in farming from the old lands who are working on the farm of Lord Rodney.

The West Leads the Way

Despite the fact that from press and platform in Eastern Canada sharp criticism, even abuse and misrepresentation, of Western men, organizations and policies continues to be voiced, and the West generally held up before the public ear as utterly selfish, concerned solely with its own interests and regardless of the welfare of other portions of the Dominion and quite indifferent to the fate of Confederation itself, there is nevertheless discernible a clearer, more sensible view of the West by Eastern men and institutions who take the trouble to study the actual situation and get below the clamor of propaganda.

With such men there is a growing conviction that here in the West the people are seriously and successfully grappling with some of the greatest of all great Canadian problems today, namely, economy in public administration and consequent reduction in taxation. At the same time, while insistent upon those rights and urging the necessity for reforms and the adoption of certain policies, the people of the West are not wishing but are hard at work seeking their own salvation and the permanent welfare and prosperity of Canada as a whole.

An illustration of this very welcome development is found in the concrete facts laid before the Investment Bankers' Association of Canada at their annual meeting in Montreal recently. The Association was informed that in the matter of municipal borrowings and expenditures Western Canada is setting an example which the East would do well to follow. In each year since 1920, Western municipal borrowings have declined, with the result that in the three years of 1922, 1923 and 1924 the total amount borrowed was ten million dollars less than in the one year of 1913.

On the other hand, Eastern municipalities borrowed sixteen million dollars more in 1924 than they did in 1912, while the aggregate of their borrowings in the last three years was $200,000,000 more than in the three years ending with 1913, compared with a decrease of ten million dollars in the West.

But this is not all. Returns for 1923 show that while six out of seven of the large cities in the four Western provinces reduced their per capita expenditures, seven out of seven of the large cities in Ontario and Quebec increased their per capita expenditures.

Turning from the question of municipal to Provincial finance, the convention was informed that in 1924 three of the four Western Provinces had balanced budgets and shared surpluses, while in the East only Quebec showed a surplus, and Ontario's deficit was over eight million dollars.

Commenting on these figures and developments, the report to the Investment Bankers' Association of Canada says the municipalities' achievements are significant. Such results in Western Canada, whether born of prudence or necessity, are setting an example which might well be followed in larger measure by many of our older and larger urban communities in Eastern Canada. And, dealing with Provincial finances, the report says: "That three of the four Western Provinces have succeeded in effecting this result (balanced budgets and surpluses) is evidence of a sound fiscal policy, which if continued and followed up by businesslike methods of debt amortization, must inevitably be recognized in a tangible way by underwriters and large investing institutions both at home and abroad."

Throughout the length and breadth of Canada there appears to be agreement that economy in public administration and production in taxation are imperative and essential to the welfare of the Dominion, and that until this is brought about, and definite action taken towards the liquidation of our heavy war debt, Canada cannot prosper as it should. If this is true, and no one is bold enough to question it, then the evidence shows that, despite all Eastern criticisms, it is the West that is making a real contribution to the stability of Confederation, and doing so by self-denial and hard work, while Eastern Provinces and municipalities go on piling up still larger debts, thereby further increasing taxation.

Under Providence, the West has this year added enormously to the wealth of Canada. As the result of the labors of our people the wheels of industry are being speeded up all over the Dominion, business is soundly improving, and, with railways busy, their net earnings are showing substantial increases. Prescott Indications are that the Canadian National will this year make the best showing in its history.

If the propagandists of the East, instead of sneering at the West as self-centred, narrow and selfish, and accusing Western people with being economists or annexationists, would impartially study the facts, and then cooperate with the West for the good of all, Canada would soon be on the high road of prosperity.

PAUL WRITES TO THE CORINTHIANS

Golden Text: Now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love. I. Corinthians 13.13.

Lesson: I. Corinthians 13.1 to 13.13. Devotional Reading: I. John 4.7-12.

The Text Explained and Illumined

The Supremacy of Love, verses 1-3—Emotional gifts are valueless without love. Eloquence unbaptized by love becomes no more than sonorous, deafening Paul in his words, "If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am become sounding brass, or a clanging cymbal." Paul's love for his readers leads him to speak of the possibility of his being without love rather than to express them of this lack—thus he illustrates the homely way he wishes to teach. The Greek word translated "tongues" has primarily the ecstatic utterances." "The gift of tongues was an ecstatic utterance by which men were carried away and broke into rapturous, inarticulate utterances. A modern worldism has written songs without words; this is a very apt description of the emotional side of spiritual emotion called in the New Testament "tongues." It is quite probably the nearest approach to it most Christians have had, but they are carried away by the feeling of a revival, or by special meetings the church was full of men who were talking in tongues. The latter are believed to be a born work ed by pagan who had copper chisels. A LITTLE BOOKLET MOTHERS SHOULD HAVE

It Tells What a Mother Ought to Know and Do

Above all things every mother wishes that her child, or children, whatever it is age, may be bright, healthy, good-natured, rosy boys and girls. Such children are a delight and good sleepers, bright eaters. Every mother's heart feels for little folks in bed well. No wise mother thinks that her child at six or seven is in good shape unless it is well and happy. No mother can expect, though, that the child will be well and happy if the baby food and children of are subject, but she can keep them from being healthy and bouncing.

A valuable little booklet entitled "Care of the Baby in Health and Sickness" has been prepared, and as it is something every mother should have, a copy will be sent free to any mother on request. who will mention this paper to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Soviets and Poles Friendly

Russia Anxious to Have Goodwill of Nearest Large Neighbor

In view of the statement that Germany will negotiate a security pact with the allies and enter the League of Nations, there is much interest evinced with Poland, which in the past have been marked by lack of cordiality, and even acrimony, have lately assumed a strikingly cordial character.

This has been forcibly emphasized by the warmth of the reception accorded M. Tchitcherin, Russian foreign minister, at Warsaw. The Soviet press interprets his Warsaw reception as the beginning of a definite approachment between Poland and Russia.

Russian official circles profess to see in the proposed security pact a move on the part of the Western European powers to create a united front, of all Europe against the Soviet union, and they appear anxious to have at least the friendship and goodwill of Russia's large neighbor, Poland, to offset the blow.

Increase Poultry Profits by Marketing Co-operatively

THE Western Wheat Producers, the Ontario Honey Producers and others, have made co-operative selling a marked success. They have obtained prices and increased their profits by standardizing their products and applying efficient sales methods; and are overwhelming in the demand and confidence they have created for the products, too, are always them benefits.

The astonishing proof of this is Prince Edward Island, where, for the last 15 years, the Government has been successfully applied co-operative marketing, has saved thousands of dollars annually for the potato growers, increased and permanently established their markets.

Naturally, to be successful, co-operative marketing must be handled efficiently. A booklet telling how successfully a few organizations have applied it is published in the FREE booklet, "Co-operation in Marketing Poultry Products," issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The Touring Automobile As A Means Of Unifying The Far-Flung Sections of Canada

How much is tourist development really worth to Canada?

There are two ways of looking at that question. The usual way is to view it through financial glasses. One needs only to glance at the figures cited by various authorities to realize that the money now spent in Canada every year by tourists from abroad has become one of the major items of our national income.

But there is another and perhaps equally important side of the question. Tourist development means a great deal more than the coming of an army of free-spending visitors. There is also the enormous increase in the actual investing done within the Dominion by the Canadian people themselves. The value of this cannot be set to be measured in dollars and cents, but it holds the key to many business influence upon Canadian unity.

It has long been a byword that Canada is a "difficult country to govern." The territory of the Dominion is not only far flung, but it is naturally broken into sections which differ as radically from each other in economic opportunities as in physical character and history. How to unify these sections, how to get some real sympathy of outlook and mutual appreciation of their respective problems, has been the problem of Canadian statesmanship and statesmanship. And the increased travel of the Canadian people looms up as one of the most effective influences for that purpose.

Canadians today are almost unanimously equipped to see their country. It is an actual fact, according to the natural resources intelligence service of the department of interior, which is paying particular attention to the tourist traffic in Canada, that the nine or ten million people of Canada own more passenger cars than any other nation on the face of the globe except the United States. They own more passenger cars than the 67,000,000 people of Great Britain or the 40,000,000 of France. The people of Ontario alone possess as many cars as the combined population of nearly 30,000,000 living in Germany, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. The cars owned by the folk of the United people are just half the number of those owned by the people of Saskatchewan.

It will be a remarkable fact if, in a few years' time the touring of Canada thins within the borders of the Province Edward Island, where, for the last three years, the number of automobiles owned by residents has averaged one to every 10 persons.

Naturally, to be successful, co-operative marketing must be handled efficiently. A booklet telling how successfully a few organizations have applied it is published in the FREE booklet, "Co-operation in Marketing Poultry Products," issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Looking After Reforestation

Britain Finds Time to Devote to Important Work

The forestry department boasts the worst fire years ago and has already set out 52,000 acres to trees. The season's work will cover 12,000 acres and bring the whole number of trees planted to two hundred million. The British Government is sore beset with problems. Seldom has there been a time when it has had more serious ones on hand. Yet it finds time and strength to devote to what is after all of more importance to British prosperity than some of the noisily exploited issues of the present day, the setting out of millions of saplings to prevent the land from becoming treeless and desolate.—Providence Journal.

Says Oyster Becoming Extinct

That the oyster is "going the same way as the buffalo and the elk," and within 10 years will be "an expensive luxury," is the opinion of W. F. Downs, secretary of the Atlantic Fisheries Association. From 1913 to 1922, he said, the number of oysters taken from United States waters decreased from 75,000,000 to 17,000,000

Marketing Eggs Co-operatively

Assistance to Farmer in Securing a Better Price

Eggs demand the most efficient and rapid handling methods that can be devised and for a number of years strenuous efforts have been made in the direction of improved methods of with indifferent results. The Federal and Provincial Governments are encouraging co-operative marketing as a solution of the problem. Standard standards have been devised by which eggs may be graded and standardized and the co-operative egg circles have proved of great assistance in this work and in improving packing methods.

A bulletin issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture deals with the matter and points out how to organize these egg circles and how to finance it and carry on its business. Farmers joining these circles can get the advantage of keeping good laying strains of hens on account of the better prices obtained for the higher grades of eggs and of the increased production. Moreover, the circle is economic of effort in the re-quirements of better markets, the egg circles enable the farmer to get a steadier market for his eggs, and somewhere than he would by doing his own marketing. The egg circles may also link themselves up into large co-operative associations of circles which act as an "egg pool" and exhibit the prices by operating storage facilities for the eggs. A bulletin to be distributed by the Publications Branch Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, gives information on the matter of egg circles and poultry.

Experiment Is Success

Partridges Imported to Manitoba From Hungary Are Increasing

The Hungarian partridges imported to Canada and released in the Neepawa district by the Brandon game and fish protective league are increasing. This fact was ascertained by B. J. Miles and R. M. Mathieson, K.C., who have just completed a tour of inspection of the district.

Thirty-eight partridges in all were first released for experimental purposes. Their numbers during the past winter weather here in splendid fashion and none was reported to have died. Mr. Miles obtained the figure about five miles away from where they were hatched, which would indicate that they were widening the radius of their flight.

Marketing This Year's Grain

Figures Give Idea of How Big Wheat Crop Really is

If all the wheat contracted during September along the Canadian Pacific Railway were baked into bread and loaded on standard delivery wagons, the long procession would be 1,200 miles and travelling at the rate of five miles an hour, it would take eight and a half days for the last wagons to pass a given point. This is the statement given out at Winnipeg by the statistician of the transportation department of the railway.

The marketing of grain on the C.P.R. in September amounted to 61,-694,857 bushels. In 26 nine-hour days this is at the rate of 75 bushels per second.

Nursing Standards Are High

"Comparing the activities of the last congresses of the International Council of Nurses held in 1912 in Cologne, Germany, with those of the congress held this year in Finland, one notices a great advance in nursing education since the pre-war days," said Miss M. F. Hersey, superintendent of nurses at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, on her return from the conference in Finland.

Develops New Potato

Tuber Originated at Raymond, Alberta, is of Superior Quality

"Early Queen" is the name given to a new potato originated by H. M. Kimball, truck gardener of Raymond, Alta. The tuber is of the white variety, combining earliness, fine flavor, cooks well and is of an excellent keeping quality.

Three years ago Mr. Kimball imported sufficient registered stock of Wee Macgregor potatoes to seed three acres. To maintain purity of strain the grower made application for government inspection. The professionals soon suggested that a number of hills of "tramped stock" be uprooted. A stake was driven in the hills designated for destruction. When Mr. Kimball started to dig up the spuds, he was surprised to note that the earth surrounding the vines was literally covered with tubers were setting and all indications pointed to a heavy yield. They were left until harvest, when the stock, which had become so attracted the amateurs that it took a larger plot was made for following year. And well they season was the virtue of tubers of the variety discovered.

Mr. Kimball's white potatoes were awarded first prize at the Raymond fall fair, while the "Early Queen" took first prize for its yield and quality. The white potato is of medium size, flat in shape, has very few eyes, is low growing and matures early.

The Wheat Pool

Success of the Pool in its First Year of Operation Is Most Gratifying

The wheat pool has made a final payment which makes the basis of payment $1.66 in Bassi. This was during carrying charges in both country and terminal elevators. Three-quarters of a million dollars has been set aside as a reserve and all elevators have been bought or built

The financial success of the pool in its first year is most gratifying not only to the farmers of Western Canada, but to the business men and the financial institutions, of Eastern as well as Western Canada. Any economy in the handling of our great crop is a good thing for the country as a whole, for the wheat crop of the west spends up or above down the whole country in the east—Sir Isaiah Wan Farmer.

Canadian Seed Show

Canadian bred seed alone since the beginning of the current year up to September 5, totalled $125,000,000, as compared with $50,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1924 and with $422,500,000 in 1923. So far this year the total Canadian bond sales, $187,-745,000 have been placed in the United States; $105,283,195 in Canada and $17,970,333 in Great Britain.

Seed Registration In Western Provinces

Inspection Just Finished Shows Large Increase in Barley

A decrease in total acreage of registered seed inspected in the western provinces to counter-balanced this year by a considerable improvement in yield, according to the final returns from 14 inspectors who have completed the Canadian Seed Growers' Association field work for this year, working under the seed branch of the Dominion department of agriculture.

Inspections were made at 540 points of 740 fields owned by 387 farmers, and comprising 17,000 acres. The acreage is about 5 per cent. under that inspected last year, but the total number of bushels is greater by 50,000.

A feature of the work this year states J. H. Blichenna, chief inspector for the Dominion seed branch, is the large increase in registered barley. There is no grain where purity as to variety is more important, than the raising value of barley depends greatly on this feature. The variety has grown most largely were Hannchen. In Saskatchewan, which had four times its last year's acreage, and in A. C. H., which was grown on an acreage ten times greater than in 1924. There is a slight increase in Marquis wheat, also in Banner oats Ext and Mindcan are not on the registered list, but several inspections were made of these varieties, and Mindcan may shortly be added to the eligible list.

Retain Name Of Marquis Wheat

Not Sufficient Difference to Warrant Introduction of New Names

A decision against giving new names to the various strains of Marquis wheat eligible for registration under the rules of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association was reached at a meeting of the Saskatchewan seed special seed board.

The board discussed a resolution recently adopted by the directors of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association in consultation with L. H. Newman, Dominion cerealist, and arrived at the conclusion that there was not sufficient difference between the strains of Marquis wheat to warrant the introduction of new names, which would only be confusing to growers. They favor the retention of the numbers used at present to designate the various strains.

An analytical study of the various strains of Marquis wheat was presented to the provincial board meeting by E. G. Booth, of the provincial field crops branch

Hunting Big Game in the Kootenays

The picture was taken at Nelson, British Columbia, in the heart of the Kootenay district. The deer there are plentiful and the sportsmen who go there always come away. If not taken as above, at least with a goodly supply of trophies in the shape and rising enemies to tell their friends.

The fall, of course, is the big open season. Then it is that the outdoor loving Canadian takes down his good old blunderbuss, looks it over carefully, digs out his old mackinaw and corduroys and the long boots, rushes for his same license and hits the trail for the tall timbers as fast as his legs or his auto, or a Canadian Pacific train will carry him. Further south, his American cousin goes through the same performances and also heads for the Canadian wild. And from England and Europe more ardent devotees of blizzard and truculent sportsmen passing through the Kootenays on their way home from the Orient go forth in quest of that revered bag of deer around Nelson or the great big grizzly, mountain sheep or goat in the round.

Oh, yes, Canada is a sportsman's country

Good Quantity of Cattle Always in Demand When Marketing

An amusing story is told in the last monthly review of livestock conditions by the market intelligence division of the livestock branch at Ottawa, but it is a story that cannot too strongly be impressed upon the breeders and cattlers. Good quality cattle, the review says, were always in demand and enjoyed a good outlet at fairly strong prices, but medium and common grades, which made up a large percentage of the offerings were rather hard to sell and a poor market often set in at lower prices. Good quality [illegible] were also in demand and sorts were slow in sale. A similar story is told of all classes of livestock. Select bacon hogs ran in price three to four dollars over what they brought in the month of August last, but they also showed an increase in numbers in Montreal and the west

Nurse Crop For Sweet Clover

Tests Show Winter Killing Less Likely To Occur

Tests at the Brandon experimental farm emphasize the fact that sweet clover is much more economically produced when sown with a nurse crop than when sown alone. The yields of the various nurse crops are in no way reduced due to the presence of the sweet clover and the slightly increased yield the following season in favor of seeding alone is insignificant. The stubble also affords considerable protection and hence winter killing is less likely to occur

Impressed With the West

Editors of United States agricultural papers, representing 11,000,000 circulation, were deeply impressed with what they saw during their recent tour of the prairies. "We have no wheat land in Illinois the equal to this," said P. A. Porter, editor of the Orange Judd Farmer of Chicago. "We dare not go back and tell the whole truth of what we have seen in Western Canada or we would lose half of our farming population."

SYNOPSIS

Pierrot, the trapper, received word that McTaggart the factor, would arrive at Pierrot's cabin the next day to demand the hand of his daughter, Nepeese. He is a beast in man form," Pierrot warned Nepeese. Hence, the next day, hunting near McTaggart's cabin, was caught in one of the game snares laid by the factor. McTaggart, finding him lying trussed up like an Indian papoose, cried, "You little devil! I ought to beat your brains out—and I believe I will!"

CHAPTER XII.—Continued.

The stick fell. It fell again and again and when McTaggart was done, Baree lay half stunned, his eyes part ly closed by the blows, and his mouth bleeding.

"That's the way to take the devil out of a wild dog," snarled McTaggart. "I guess you won't try the biting game again, eh, youngster? A thousand devils, but you went almost to the bone of the bull!"

He began washing the wound again Baree's teeth had sunk deep, and there was a troubled look in the Factor's face. It was July a bad month for bites. From his kit he got a small flask of whiskey and turned a bit of the raw liquor on the wound, causing Baree to set barbed hair his flesh.

Baree's half-shut eyes were fixed on him steadily. He knew that at last he had met the deadliest of all enemies. And yet he was not afraid.

The club in Bush McTaggart's hand had not killed his spirit. It had killed his fear. It had roused in him a hatred such as he had never known—not even when he was fighting cheek-to-cheek, the outlaw wolf. The vengeful animosity of the wolf was burning in him now, along with the savage revenge of the dog. He did not flinch when McTaggart approached him again. He made an effort to raise himself, that he might spring at the man monster. In the effort, swaddled up as he was in the bleeding, he rolled over in a helpless and hideous heap.

They began to journey before the sun was up, for if Baree's blood was almost dead within him, Bush McTaggart's was scorching his body with the fever of his satisfaction. He made his last plans as he walked swiftly through the forest with Baree under his arm. He would send Pierrot out alone for Father Grotin at the Mission seventy miles to the west. He would leave Nepeese here, marry her. That would tickle Pierrot. And he would be alone with Nepeese while Pierrot was gone for the missioner.

Take it all in all, McTaggart's mind like strong whiskey. There was no thought in his hot and naive scoring brain of what Nepeese might say—of what she might think. He was not after the soul of her. His hand clenched, and he laughed harsh ly as the fire flashed on him for an in stant the thought that Pierrot would not want to give up his daughter to Bush! It would not be the first time he had killed a man or the second.

McTaggart laughed again, and he walked the faster. There was no chance of his losing—no chance for Nepeese to get away from him. He Bush McTaggart was hard as the wilderness, master of its people, a blot of their desolate. He was pow er—and the law.

"While an oath he snatched his re volver from its holster."

The sun was well up when Pierrot standing in front of his cabin with Nepeese, pointed to a rise in the trail three or four hundred yards away, over which McTaggart had just appeared.

"He is coming."

With a face which had aged almost in sight of a marriage.

Again he sent the dark glow to his eyes and the deepening red of her parted lips, and his heart was stirred again with dread. Then suddenly she turned on him, her eyes shining, her voice trembling.

"Remember, Nootaye—you must send him to me for his answer," she cried quickly, and she darted into the cabin. With a cold, gray face Pierrot faced Bush McTaggart.

CHAPTER XIII.

From the window, her face screened by the folds of the curtain which she had made for it, the Willow saw what happened outside. She was not smiling now. She was watching quickly, and her body was tense. Bush McTaggart passed not a dozen feet from the window and stood face to face with Pierrot, her father. She heard McTaggart's coarse voice, his boisterous greeting, and then she saw him shoving Pierrot to one side to get under his arm. There came to her distinctly his explanation of how he had caught his captive in a rabbit-snare. He unwrapped the blanket. Nepeese gave a cry of amazement. In an instant she was out beside them. She did not look at McTaggart's red face blazing in its joy and exultation

"It is Baree," she cried. "He is not afraid of Baree. And then, as Baree rolled in a limp heap on the floor, she saw his half-closed eyes and the dry blood on his paws, and the light left her face as swiftly as the sun is shadowed by a cloud.

"Baree," she cried softly. "Baree—Baree—"

Partly lifted him in her two hands. Baree's head sagged. His body was nambed until he was power less to move. His legs were without feeling. He did not scarcely see. But he heard her voice! It was the same voice that had come to him that day he had fled the sting of the bullet, the voice that had pleaded with him under the rock!

The soul of the Willow thrilled and flared. It seemed to stir the slumbering blood in his veins, and he opened his eyes wider and saw again the wonderful face that had glowed at him so softly the day of Wahigoos death. One of the Willow's long braids fell over her shoulder, and she smelled again the sweet scent of her hair as he had caressed him and her cheek had been soft. Then she got up suddenly and left him, and he did not move while he waited for her. In a moment she was back with a basin of water and a cloth. Gently she washed the blood from his eyes and mouth. Then she turned to Bush McTaggart and the little quivers that shot through his body when her hand touched Baree's head were checked.

"He beat you with a club," she was saying, her dark eyes within a foot of Baree's. "He beat you! That mean brute!"

There came an interruption. The door opened, and the man beast stood looking down on them. A grin on his red face. Instantly Baree showed that he was alive. He sprang back from Nepeese's hand, and with a sudden snarl and fiercely at Bush McTaggart. The hair of his spine stood up like a brush, and his fangs gleamed horribly, and his eyes burned like living coals.

"There is a devil in him," said McTaggart. "He is wild—born of the wolf. You must be careful or he will take off a hand, he exhales!" It was the first time he had called her that never, name of Cree—sweetheart—her heart pounded. She bent her head for a moment over her clenched hands, and McTaggart—looking down on what he thought her confusion—said his hand caressingly on her hair. From the cabin Pierrot had heard the word, and now he saw the canoe, and he raised a hand as if to shut out the sight of a marriage.

"Mon Dieu," he breathed.

In the next instant he had given a sharp cry of wonder that changed with a sudden cry of pain from the Taggart. Like a flash Baree had darted across the floor and fastened his fangs in the factor's leg. They had bitten deep before McTaggart freed himself with a powerful kick. With an oath he snatched his revolver from his holster. The Willow saw a flash of him. With a little cry she darted to Baree and caught him in her arms. As she took it, McTaggart, her soft bare throat was with a few inches of Baree's head. Her eyes blazed

"You beast him," she cried. "He again you!"

"Mon Dieu," he repeated. "He will kill you! Nepeese—"

"He hates you—more than gun," the Willow was speaking over and over as if to herself. "He is Baree! Didn't you know it? Is Baree! It is not gone—at first tended me—"

Pierrot stepped forward, staring, face darkening.

Pierrot understood. He was amazed. He was startled.

"Is he contented—"

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK
Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ontario.—"I have taken your medicine for a number of years, and do not take it steady all the time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and be aring-down pains, headaches and pains across the back. I have my house to look after and some days I could not get up at all. I saw in the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. John Miller told me about it, too. Every time I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial." Mrs. F. J. WAGMAN, Mitchell, Ontario.

The merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is told by women to each other. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious for others to know.

Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles so common to her sex to give this well-known medicine a fair trial.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 235,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking the medicine?" 98 per cent. replied "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

THE SENATE HAS FINISHED WITH BRANCH LINES

Ottawa.—The Senate finished with the Canadian National branch lines in passing the remaining bill, providing for a 14-mile line in Quebec. The programme passed in the House comprised 26 bills. Of this number in the Senate, eight have been killed and the remainder passed. These killed proposed new million dollars of the debt, and almost a third of the proposed mileage.

The Senate has also passed the Saskatchewan Water Power Bill. Here there are to be 2,000 horse power sites, one particular design, the Tramping and Lake Diefenbaker. Both of these will be of more than 100,000 horse power. The prospects were considered to be good for Saskatchewan to make a start. Some of the sites are said to be close to the coal fields. Regulations governing the use of water power are to be framed. A Board of Control is to be appointed, consisting of three members, one of whom will be the Provincial Treasurer. The Board will have the power to fix rates for water power. It is possible that through guarantees some power may be started this year, but of this there is no certainty. The present outlook is that the Saskatchewan is mostly fuel, possibilities at best if industry is to be developed. The developing water of indigenous should produce such a reaction as to cause some favorable action next session.

British Millers Forced To Advance Price Of Flour

London.—The latest increase to the price of flour since May first is announced upon Canada. Gambling in wheat futures is said to be responsible for the rise, together with the expectations for a late and smaller crop this year. King Bob millers declare that they are forced to raise the price to meet the increase in the price of wheat, which is, they say the direct result of manipulations on the Chicago and Winnipeg grain exchanges. Since the beginning of May the price of wheat has advanced 4s 6d to 38s a quarter.

Montreal Still Leads

Reported Record of Grain Exports Well Ahead of Vancouver

Montreal.—Vancouver has not yet outdistanced Montreal in the matter of grain exports as was recently stated in a despatch from Ottawa. On the contrary Montreal maintains its position as the premier grain shipping port of this continent. During the two months ended August 15th, Vancouver shipped out 50,621,066 bushels of wheat, according to the despatch. Montreal, during the same period, shipped out 81,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, or a total of 74,000,000 bushels of all grains, notwithstanding the shorter period for new embarkation of five months during which the port of Montreal was closed by ice.

Quality

The most urgent requirement in Canada's Agricultural Products

CANADA produces every year large quantities of wheat, oats, barley, butter, cheese, bacon, beef, eggs, apples, potatoes, grass seed and clover seed that she cannot consume. Her natural outlet for these products is, of course, Great Britain—the one great consuming country of the world with an open market.

Unfortunately, nearly every other country with any surplus of food products wants to wear to send its surplus to this same market.

The keenness of the competition on this, our only market, and the energy and resourcefulness of our competitors began to impress themselves upon the Department of Agriculture some time ago, but it is only within very recent years that the real and only way to grapple with this problem has been discovered, or at least put into effect. This Department now believes, as do also most of the farmers of this country, that the "grading" of our agricultural products is the only and practical method of seeing us through the struggle and will assure us of our rightful place on the British market.

"Grading" means the classifying of products, whether they be hogs, butter, cheese, eggs or anything else, into what might be called in a general way "BEST", "GOOD", "FAIR" and "POOR" classes.

These exact words are not used in describing the grades, but that is what is meant. The proposed system of grading is threefold—

(1) Educational. When the produce sees the consumer, the quality of the product he is spurred on to maintain that standard if it is the "best" or to improve the quality where necessary.

(2) Fair Play. When products are not graded the inferior article for various reasons often brings as much as the superior article, and the credit and advantage of putting the superior product on the market is lost to the one who really deserves it.

(3) Facilitating Trade. The dealer learns to have confidence in the article he is buying and buys more freely, because it is guaranteed by grading, and grading will ultimately give to him what the "best" article really looks like or tastes like. In short, grading leads to absent standardization and assures to the producer a steady price.

Canada now grades her cereals, grass seeds, hay, potatoes, apples, eggs, butter, cheese, hogs, honey and poultry. The results have been in every case beneficial and in many cases quite remarkable, even though the grading system has been in effect in some cases for only two or three years, thus:—

Cheese—Grading began April 1st, 1907. Canadian cheese the past season fell below into such disfavour on the British market that New Zealand cheese was quite commonly preferred. Today Canadian cheese commands from per pound higher than New Zealand.

Butter—Grading began some time so far during the operations of said butter was then indeed at low ebb. Today butter today, while not the best on the market, is rapidly improving in quality and gaining in reputation.

Hogs—Over two years ago the Department of Agriculture began to grade hog hogs at the packing houses and smash packers. The 95% grade required by the packers for "select" bacon hogs is against "thick mediums" as classed by departmental graders has done wonders for improving the quality of our hogs and developing the bacon industry.

Best Condition Bacon, which evidently was wanted two years ago from 18 shillings a long hundredweight below Danish, has gradually grown in the estimation of the British wholesale buyer until it is now quoted at only from 1 or less to at most 1 or 6 shillings per long hundredweight below the best Danish.

This improvement in price is, of course, due to quality and has come about very gradually, the premium increasing down by a shilling or two a month until now it is not at all a rare occurrence to see best Canadian selling on a par with the Danish.

Eggs—Canada was the first country to grade and standardize eggs. These grades and standards apply only to export, interprovincial and import shipments, but also to domestic trading.

The basis is interior quality, cleanness and weight.

Standardizing Canadian eggs has established confidence between producer and consumer and between exporter and British importer, and has resulted in a greatly-increased demand for the Canadian egg both at home and abroad.

Other products might be mentioned where grading has worked to the great advantage of the producer and to the advancement of Canadian agriculture.

Already Great Britain recognizes our more certain, wheat, cheese, eggs, apples and oats as the best she can buy.

It is for us to so improve our other products, particularly our barley and potatoes, as to bring them also into the list of "those on the British menu" and consequently the highest prices.

Grading enabled us to do this for cheese, eggs and apples.

Grading is helping us to do it for butter and bacon.

Quality Counts

Quality is thus the first objective for the Canadian export trade, and, thus standards, properly, it is along these the Department of Agriculture is working to improve the quality of the export of the primary in seen in the growing volume of Canada's foreign trade, as shown by figures:—

GERMANY WANTS TO INSURE PEACE FOR THE FUTURE

Locarno, Switzerland Not only peace now, but peace for all time is Germany's desire. The German chancellor, Dr Luther, so informed M Briand the French foreign minister, in a private consultation of the two statesmen which stands out in diplomacy as the big-at single event since the ending of the recent conference.

The two leaders stole quietly away from Locarno and, meeting at a secluded spot on the shore of Lake Maggiore, had a frank talk on European problems as a whole, and especially how best to consolidate the peace of Europe.

This new log of conciliation marked by an expression of the determination of both statesmen to do everything humanly possible to banish the Franco-German war spectre, has injected a new ray of optimism into the political atmosphere, despite the fact that it did not result in the fashioning of a formula whereby France can guarantee, in a special way, the territorial integrity of Poland and Czechoslovakia, her allies

That problem will require a conciliation of the cabinets of Paris and Berlin, for France and Germany will find it difficult to bridging from their original positions without the support of their home governments and home parliaments.

Urges Commercial Air Development

Air Force Aiding Canadian Industry Says Commander Scott

Ottawa —The Royal Canadian Air Forces and its development along the lines of civil aviation, was the theme of an address before the Ottawa branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada by Commander Capt. J. Stan Scott, M.C., A.F.C., D.C. He said it was the particular function of the force to develop the air power of Canada by the spread of commercial aviation and the cultivation of a sound citizen air power.

Among the industries that have been considerably helped by the Air Force in Canada is the salmon fishing industry on the Pacific coast, he said. The airmen patrol for the suppression of illegal fishing and now that no inspector or salmon fisheries are employed. The officers flying in this service are all sworn in as fishery inspectors. Where-in connection is maintained from the aircraft to the stations.

Prince Writes A Play

Stockholm. Prince William, King Gustaf's younger son, known as Sweden's royal poet playwright, has completed a new play, which has been accepted for production by the Royal Dramatic Theatre. It is titled "the Board," and deals with life at sea, of which the prince has had considerable experience, having been trained for the navy.

Saskatchewan Co operative Elevator Co. Refuts Stories of Loss

Regina In view of rumor abroad to have originated in Winnipeg that the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, Limited, which is handling last year's crop, the following statement was authorized by the company.

The public of Saskatchewan co-operative Elevator Company is to know the financial statement published at the annual meeting of shareholders which will be held December 15 in Regina. The statement will show the company's operations for the financial year 1924-25 will be going forward to all shareholders within the course of a few days, however, the fact that a dividend of eight per cent for the financial year 1924-25 which ended July 31 last, was declared by the directors that the company's operations last year were on a very successful basis.

Ready To Reduce Armaments

Britain and Japan Willing to Join in Action

Washington While the Inter-Parliamentary Union resolved to sponsor movements for world disarmament and prevention of troublesome national border feuds, spokesmen from the British and Japanese groups declared their government were ready to join with others in a world action for further reduction of armaments.

The resolution on armaments reduction, introduced by Dr. F. Munch, of Denmark, expressed regret that expenditures for armaments by "most countries" showed a "portion increase" and stated that the object of giving nations a feeling of security, and called for a thorough examination of the whole question of armaments, before reducing armaments, including the drafting of a technical scheme to bring about it was adopted without dissent

PUBLIC MEETING

In the interests of the U.F.A. candidate for the Vegreville constituency, Mr. A. M. Boutillier, will be held in the Memorial Hall, Fort Saskatchewan on FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16

at 8 p.m.

SPEAKERS:
Mrs. R. B. Gunn, President U.F.W.A.
Mr. A. Boutillier
and others

A cordial invitation is extended to the General Public to attend this meeting whether you agree with our political views or not. Perhaps you are not fully conversant with our views. Come and learn about them.

A Vote for a Liberal Candidate is a Vote in Favor of Assured Progress Under A Stable Government

Dominion Electoral District of Vegreville

To The Electors:-

On Thursday, October 29th., you will be called on to exercise your voting privilege as citizens to elect a member to represent the Electoral District of Vegreville in the Canadian House of Commons. This is a new District with its boundaries arranged under the Redistribution Act passed at the last session of Parliament. It is therefore important that the first member elected here should be one who can give the District adequate attention and who, at the same time, is not bound by the dictates of cliques, groups or any organization which has as its basis of political action the encouragement of class antagonism. The member for Vegreville should be one who, while giving a general adherence to a definite political party, yet retains his independence of thought and action when matters in which the West in general, and the Electoral District of Vegreville, in particular, are under consideration. Western Canada cannot make its influence felt at Ottawa or in any way direct the course of legislation unless and until there are a sufficient number of members of Parliament from the West holding like views and able to impress these views on the government through the regular channels provided therefor.

In January of this year, I was honored by receiving the nomination of the Liberal party as candidate to contest this constituency in the interests of the government headed by the Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King. I am therefore appealing for your support at the polls on October 29th on the grounds that, under present difficulty, with a majority of only one over other parties in the House of Commons, face to face with a Senate bent upon destroying needed legislation advanced by the government, the Mackenzie King government conducted the affairs of the country ably and wisely, with due regard for economy in administration, with skill in fiscal matters relating to our enormous public debt with such measures of tariff reform as circumstances rendered possible, with the closest attention to our great problem of the Canadian National Railways and without losing sight of the various public works which our national development demands.

Throughout the campaign, the various issues at stake will be presented to you at length by speakers on both sides—except that, as Mr Conservative candidate has been, or is likely to be, nominated to contest this constituency, it is improbable that the Conservative policies will be voiced here. Of these, however, it is fair to say that the Right Hon. Mr. Meighen, Conservative leader, places high protection in the forefront. He also condemns the present management of the Canadian National Railways and has openly stated that, if given power, he would interfere actively in the management. However, as Mr. Meighen has no candidate in this constituency, the Conservative viewpoint requires no attention other than that the Progressive candidate, as a former Conservative, might be pardoned if he retained some affection for his old party friends.

The Government's Record

The record of the Mackenzie King government will bear examination. It has reduced expenditure. It has reduced taxation. It has removed burdens from industry and thus stimulated production. It has negotiated trade agreements with Australia, the West Indies, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland, England and Spain. All these trade agreements are associated with a policy of reducing the cost of production, enabling farmers and manufacturers to compete with greater advantage in world markets. With this policy has gone an effort to reduce transportation costs by land and sea. In connection with our non-local-consumers electors are asked to bear in mind that it was the Progressive party in the House of Commons which held up the Paterson contract—and thereby delayed the Government in its reduce the cost of transporting grain and other farm products from our seaports to Shores of Great Britain.

The National Railways

The Government has fulfilled its promise to give public ownership of railways a fair trial. On taking power in 1921, the government found the National Railways in a badly managed and chaotic condition. Two sets of directors were in office, endeavoring somehow to make one part of the National Railways system compete with the other with constantly increasing expenses in every direction. Eventually the government secured the services of Sir Henry Thornton, acknowledged to be one of the ablest railway executives in the world. Under his charge the National Railways have been unified, consolidated and reorganized. He has infused into the whole body of officials a spirit of enthusiasm, pride in the system and an eager desire for public service. Today the Canadian National Railways are the equal of any in the world. Operating expenses have been turned into surpluses and, while the immense debt charges against the National Railways still remain and will remain for years to come, it is only through business management, with no political interference, that these charges will be eventually reduced.

Farmers of the districts served by the Canadian National Railways will have vivid remembrances of the grain blockades which were common prior to Sir Henry Thornton's assumption of the management. The railways were then run for political purposes and suffered from lack of effective management. A return to the Meighen policy of curtailing capital expenditure will result in the system again falling into disrepair. A vote for the Liberal candidate is a vote for continued efficient management.

The country cannot afford to take a chance by voting against a government which had the foresight and the courage to deal with the Canadian National Railways in a businesslike way.

The North Railway

Settlers south of the Saskatchewan River have waited long years for better transportation facilities. The advent of the Canadian Pacific Cut Knife branch was looked upon as a solution. But the C.P.R. has ceased construction and is not likely to continue for a long time. During this campaign I will submit to those most interested a concrete and effective policy for their endorsement and if this policy meets with favor I will do my utmost to see that it is carried out.

The Tariff Question

Accusations that the Government has made no attempt to carry out its pre-election promises have no basis in fact. The Liberals have had "tariff for revenue only" as a basic policy for thirty years and to that end they have worked steadily. Tariff changes are matters which require long and earnest consideration and can only be made with due attention to existing industries which might be adversely affected or even bankrupted by hasty, ill-considered action. But the Government has brought about many radical reductions particularly in the tariff charges on farm implements the greater number of which today carry no duty or less than from 6 to 10 per cent. Other tariff changes are in view, each with the object of reducing living costs, ameliorating the lot of the producer and stimulating home production.

Immigration

Admittedly, this country needs a larger population especially to develop our agricultural and other natural resources. When the Laurier government left office in 1911, the immigration into Canada was satisfactory and steady. The succeeding Conservative government failed to follow up the good example of its predecessor and, when the Great War came, immigration ceased completely. It has not yet revived, due somewhat to conditions in Europe which prevent the people of a suitable type from emigrating. Our rigorous climate demands that only those who are fitted to cope with real pioneer life should be considered as possible immigrants. Our proximity to the United States is another deterrent to Canada. But the necessity of securing suitable settlers is a matter engaging the close attention of the government and the recent appointment of a Minister of Immigration who is to give his whole time to this work will produce results in the near future.

No one knows the exact position of the Progressive candidates on immigration matters. One of the most prominent Progressive members, E. J. Garland, opposes immigration entirely. The Progressive leader, Mr. Forke, admits he has no policy save that of "the satisfied settler being our best advertisement." Still others of the Progressives with vigorous action inform us that settlers are to come to Canada. From this multiplicity of ideas, the Progressives stand a poor chance of helping to evolve any definite policy.

It will be up also to support in every possible way, the stimulation of immigration to this country, especially of those who by the conditions in their home lands and by their individual training show their fitness as possible settlers.

The efforts made by the Government to bring Canada's interests before the world may be exemplified by a reference to the Wembley Exhibition, where the Canadian exhibits were regarded as the most attractive and effective on the grounds. Eventually the expenditure made on this exhibit will be justified by results.

Other measures of government policy such as Somain Reform, etc. will be fully discussed on the platform and by way of literature.

A VOTE AGAINST A LIBERAL CANDIDATE IS A VOTE FOR THE RETURN OF MEIGHEN

The only policy opposing that of the government is the policy of Meighen and Bennett. The Hon. Mr. Meighen. A vote against the Liberal candidate is a vote, directly or indirectly, for the return of Meighen. The Progressives have no coherent and intelligible policy and for that reason, the Ontario Grain Progressives have caused taking political action. Two of the strongest men of the Progressives, Hon. T. A. Crerar of Marquette, Manitoba and Mr. Henry of Springfield, Manitoba, have withdrawn from politics. These incidents show that the Progressives are realizing that they have no future in politics and will ever become a factor in the political life of this country.

Strengthen the Hands of the Government by Supporting the Liberal Candidate on October 29th.

I respectfully solicit your vote and influence and if favored with your confidence will use every endeavor to justify it.

Your obedient servant,
CHARLES GORDON.

Growth Of Fox Farming

Over Ten Million Dollars Invested in Industry in Canada

At the end of 1924 there were 3,166 fox farms in Canada and the value of the property was $10,813,533, according to a report issued by the Bureau of statistics. The relative position of each province with respect to the total value of fox farms was as follows: Prince Edward Island, 37 per cent.; Ontario, 16 per cent.; Quebec, 13 per cent.; New Brunswick, 9 per cent.; Manitoba, 8 per cent.; Alberta, 6 per cent.; Nova Scotia, 6 per cent.; British Columbia, 5 per cent.; Saskatchewan, 2 per cent.; and the Yukon Territory, 1 per cent.

Shrunk in the Wash

The teacher was giving a nature lesson on sheep. She explained that before they are sheared they are washed, brushed and combed. Then she showed the children pictures of a sheep, asking if any child could explain to her why the lamb's tail was so much longer than the sheep's?

There was silence, then—"The sheep's tail shrunk in the wash," said Jean, aged five.

PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE ADDRESSES FORT AUDIENCE

A meeting in the interests of Mr. Boutillier, U. F. A. candidate for the Dominion Electoral District of Vegreville, was held in the Memorial hall last Friday evening. Mr. Lemon and Mr. Rudolph Hennig were nominated for the chair, Mr. Lemon being appointed. Mr. Hennig was appointed secretary for the meeting.

The chairman announced the process at the meeting of the Hon. Mrs. Parlby, Mr. A. M. Boutillier, Mr. A. M. Matheson, U.F.A. Provincial member for Vegreville, and Mr. Braden, president U.F.A. political organization, Vegreville.

Hon. Mrs. Parlby addressed the meeting, eulogizing the former Progressive members of the House of Commons and commenting upon the many failures and shortcomings of Mr King and Mr. Meighen.

Mr Boutillier, the candidate, then addressed the meeting and towards the conclusion of his address said if he was elected he would do all in his power for the West.

Mr. Matheson and Mr. Braden also spoke in favor of the U.F.A. principles in general and asked for the people's support of Mr Boutillier on election day

FIFTH CONVENTION OF SCHOOL TEACHERS ASSN. HELD HERE LAST WEEK

On Friday evening the teachers of the Inspectorate concluded their annual convention and enjoyed a banquet and social evening. Professor Laserte of the University of Alberta gave a remarkable address entitled "Job Analysis." His point was efficiency in the matter of [illegible] analysis of the [illegible] of difficulty in the subject of arithmetic, and the discovery of educational deficiencies. Dean Kerr, [illegible] address on the teaching of the English [illegible] understanding [illegible] the [illegible] elements of Canada. Mrs. A. H. Foster of Calgary gave an illustrated lecture on [illegible] Mr. McNally visited the [illegible] and delivered an [illegible] paper on [illegible] understanding Mr. [illegible] Inspectorate district, gave the teachers a very able address on Grade V and VI organization.

The most remarkable feature of the convention was the fact that seven teachers [illegible] certificates took part in the program The address of Miss West of Fort Saskatchewan, entitled "Primary Devices," evoked unanimously favorable comment. Effective addresses on different phases of the Grade V and VI Science course were given by Miss Nellie Mahaffe of Mundare; N. R. Robison of Pleasant View; Guy Moore of Scotford, and James Pert of Lamont. A forceful paper on "History II" was given by Mr. Powell of Josephburg. Mr. Mahaffe briefly discussed "Composition I." Mr. Hegle, a representative of the Alberta Teachers Alliance was present and addressed the convention On Thursday evening Dr. Alexander of the University, gave his entertaining address on "The Acropolis of Athens." This was followed by an enjoyable dance. The set of officers was re-elected practically without change for the fourth year in succession. The enrolment was ninety.

BRENTON—MACDONALD

There is no budget of news from Good Hope this week. The reason for this is that the Good Hope of the [illegible] has been realized and now his ideal has become the real, his dream the actual, and his hope has attained fruition. Consequently everybody is congratulating Harry upon the happy ending of his dreams.

A very happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Macdonald of Good Hope at noon, Thursday, October 17, when their niece Miss Annie Macdonald, of Everton, Liverpool, England, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Brenton by the Rev. M. L. Wright. Miss Helen Pomeroy was bridesmaid, while Mr. J. G. Aldridge, leader of the Edmonton Newsboys' band, ably supported the groom.

After the ceremony all sat down to an excellent wedding dinner prepared by Mrs. Macdonald.

The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. M. L. Wright, who acted as toast master, and was replied to by the groom in his usual felicitous manner.

The toast to the groom proposed by Mr. Alex. Macdonald was replied to by Messrs. Aldridge, Kennedy and Steele. Many reminiscences of the great war and of the tour of the G. W.V. band were indulged in.

Amid showers of rice and confetti the bride and groom boarded the afternoon train to spend a short honeymoon at Jasper.

VANCOUVER EXPECTS RECORD GRAIN MOVEMENT

About 4,000,000 bushels of western Canadian grain have been booked for shipment to Vancouver, according to members of the grain trade at that port, whose reports indicate that October, November and December will see an unprecedented flow of grain through the port of Vancouver to the United Kingdom and continental Europe.

Truth is great stuff. But 90 odd of 95 were known practically everybody would be arrested.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE HELD MEETING HERE MONDAY

A meeting in the interest of Charles Gordon, Liberal candidate for the Dominion Electoral District of Vegreville, was held in the Memorial hall on Monday evening. There was a representative attendance and the audience appeared to be in a receptive mood.

Mr. Gordon was the first speaker called upon by Mr. Montgomery, who was in the chair, and he spoke interestingly and at length, quoting facts and figures and giving reasons why the Liberal party should again take charge of the affairs of the country, and concluded by asking for support at the election on October 29th.

He was followed by Mr. Prevey, president of the Alberta dairymen's association, who produced a number of facts concerning the manufacture and sale of also and the trade treaty with Australia. With regard to the latter the loss on butter to the Alberta dairyman through the decreased price owing to Australian competition, it is his opinion the small loss

BOOSTERS ADOPT BY-LAWS PREPARED BY EXECUTIVE

A general meeting of the Boosters club was held in the Town hall on Tuesday evening, the president, Major Sutherland, in the chair.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

The president read a copy of the constitution and by-laws which had been prepared by the executive. These were adopted after a few minor alterations and been made in some of them at the suggestion of the members present.

The regular monthly meetings were arranged to be held the first Wednesday of the month and will take such form and be held at such time and place decided upon at the previous regular meeting.

The next general meeting will be held in the Town hall Wednesday, November 4th, at 8 p.m. It is hoped a more representative meeting will be held next month, the attendance on Tuesday evening being rather disappointing.

Voting

Throughout Canada on October 29 the question, "Have you voted yet?" will be asked not once but thousands of times. What the questioner will mean, of course, is, have you exercised your franchise? That is the super ficial meaning, but is there not a much deeper, more significant meaning? Do you really "vote," or just mark a ballot paper? There is a vast difference between the two.

Admittedly it is a duty every elector owes his country to exercise his or her franchise when called upon to do so. It is just as much a duty as paying taxes or obeying the law, even though no penalty is imposed for nonfulfilment of the duty.

Electors will be urged to "vote early," and this is good advice because there are always people who will leave the performance of the duty to the last minute while circumstances may force others to do so. Everyone who can should, therefore, go to the polls as early as possible on election day. But while making haste to the polling booth, do not be nearly so precipitate in voting.

To come back to the original question, are you really going to vote or merely mark a ballot paper?

Are you going to vote Conservative, or Liberal or Progressive because your father or grandfather voted that way, or because some friend or relative is so voting, or because the majority of people in your neighborhood intend to do so and you wish to be with the local majority? If so, you are not voting at all, but just marking a ballot paper.

If are you going to vote for a particular party solely because you voted for it on previous occasions and you propose to be "consistent?" Considered to what? A party name? A policy or policies which may have appealed to your fore-bears or yourself in years gone by and which were designed to meet the then existing conditions but which do not necessarily have any force or bear ing in 1925?

Perhaps it is your intention to vote for a certain candidate regardless of the party or policy he supports solely because you know him and like him—although you may not know with you do just like him—the personality of the candidate?

Again, it may be that you are influenced in your decision as to how your ballot paper will be marked by some purely local or sectional consideration which has little or no bearing on the welfare of Canada as a whole.

It may even be that some people have decided to mark their ballot papers in a certain way with no more worthy object in view than to "kill the vote" as some body else they do not like but who they understand intends to vote the opposite way.

Not one of these are reasons supporting an intelligent marking of a bal lot paper, nor are the motives actuating such marking ones worthy of an intelligent patriotic Canadian citizen. Such conduct cannot honestly be dignified as "voting"; it is merely ballot paper marking, and, so far as Canada is concerned, worse the useless.

Stop and consider. On October 29 you are not voting primarily for a candidate or a party; you are voting for Canada, or ought to be. Parties and candidates are but the means to an end, but it is Canada, its welfare and progress which should be kept constantly in mind and guide the eye and hand when marking a ballot paper in the secret and sacred precincts of the polling booth.

True, the candidate beside whose name you place a cross is your choice to represent you in the Parliament of the Dominion for the next four or five years. True, the election or rejection of that candidate will have a bearing on the home as to which party will be entrusted with the responsibilities of government and of formulating the policies and directing the administration of the Dominion.

But these two items—the really vital issues—are big enough to call forth the exercise of every elector's best judgment unswayed by any of the petty, inconsequent, you, slaughter unworthy, considerations and influences that, unfortunately, are sometimes allowed to sway the feelings of people in times of election excitement.

If you were a shareholder in a large commercial enterprise attending the annual meeting of the company for whom would you vote as directors—men supporting policies which you were confident would result in increased business success and larger profits, or would you reject such men for some artificial reason or personal prejudice? Then remember on October 29 that you are a shareholder in the greatest of all great Canadian concerns, Canada Itself, and that you are choosing your board of directors.

On election day, really vote, and do not just mark a ballot paper. Instead of hurrying into the polling booth and hastily scratching a cross opposite a name, stop with pencil poised and ask yourself: What is the best service I can render my country today? Then VOTE as your judgment and conscience dictates. This is of the essence of good citizenship.

Half a loaf is sometimes better than no chance to loaf at all.

PAUL IN EPHESUS

Golden Text: For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil. I Tim othy 6:10

Lesson Acts 18:16 to 19:41
Devotional Reading Isaiah 55:8-13

The Text Explained and Illustrated

A Riotous Assembly, Up a Riot Against Paul at Ephesus, verses 22-28. The goddess Diana (Artemis), whose chief temple was at Ephesus, was the mother goddess, the goddess of fertility, the protectress of motherhood, the reproductive power that kept the great world over the same amid the constant flux of things." Her shrine was continually visited by crowds of pilgrims, and the making of miniature shrines for them and for the Ephesian was an important industry in Ephesus. There were tiny shrines which were worn as amulets, larger ones which were offered as gifts to the goddess, or which were kept in the homes and even placed in the grave beside the dead, so certain was that the dead had gone back to Her mother who bore him." Many of these shrines were made of marble or terra cotta but were found, but none of silver, the latter having been melted, no doubt because of their intrinsic value. It is probable that some of these small shrines that no small silversmith could make a fortune. Ephesus, a silversmith and making shrines for Diana, was doing a considerable business in craftsmen and had in-force a hold upon them that was not to be broken up with the workmen of like occupation, workers in coins and marble, and Paul reminded them that their prosperity came from their craft. And he also reminded them how "this Paul" had won by Ephesus, by practically all the province of Asia had made many people believe that gods were not made with hands." There was grave danger that their trade would be taken away from them.

NERVOUS DEPRESSION

Why People are I ow Spirited and Depressed

Nearly all women feel more nervous after an illness. Also of depressing and low spirits. Everything seems a burden. The slightest noise of sewing machine, ringing of sewing machine, irritability, headaches and worriment. People who suffer this way lack vitality and energy. Their blood is poor, nerves are starved and overworked. They can be reached through the blood. By enriching the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the starved nerves are supplied with the elements they need. This is proved by the experience of Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, 1215 Barclay St., Vancouver, B.C., who says,—"About three years ago I became very weak and nervous. I had pains in my side and back, and also suffered from frequent pains in the back of my head and neck. I was hardly able to do anything about the house. I would wake with a start in the night and my heart would flutter so that it almost choked me. I tried much doctor's medicine, but it did me no permanent good. One day I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to give them a trial. These pills produced such a wonderful change in a short time that I kept taking them until I had used a dozen boxes. By this time my health was so much improved, and in my condition that friends would ask me what I was taking, and of course I was only too pleased to tell them it was Dr Williams' Pink Pills. I am now feeling like a new person and am doing my own housework. We would not now be without Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

What Peat is Alberta

Matron of London Hospital Spends Fortnight With Queen Mary

Mrs. Matron's season without the passing of a long visit by Miss Agnes Kerner to the King and Queen at Balmoral. She stays for a fortnight or thereabouts, and accompanies the Queen on most of her walks in the ground, as well as longer expeditions. No other woman author of any rank is honored by the fore-reigns in just that way; she can truly be said to be regarded as one of the family during her stay. For many years Miss Kerner, or, as she prefers to be called "Matron," has been matron of the King Edward VII. Hospital for Officers, in Grosvenor Crescent, London. When Princess George had to undergo an operation three years ago it was there he went and when members of the royal household require to go to hospital they choose that man kept by Miss Agnes.

How Trade Increases

Canadian trade increased during August nearly sixty millions, as compared with August, 1924. A consumers' demand by the department of customs shows that the grand total of exports and imports, including foreign merchandise exported, was $164,328,281 last month and in August, 1924 was $124,731,283.

The Greatest Problem Facing Farmers of Canada Is That of Combatting Wheat Stem Rust

"The next big problem to face cereal-ists in Canada is that of combatting wheat stem rust," stated Dr. Charles E. Saunders, former Dominion cereal-ist and one of the leading plant breeders on the continent, "This is a matter of great importance and extreme difficulty, and it is not being adequately taken care of," he said.

The loss from this disease on the prairies is tremendous each year, and there is no method of combatting it by chemicals or by cultivation. The only way to overcome the difficulty, he said, was to propagate a rust resisting strain, which would at the same time have characteristics of high yield, early maturity and drought resistance.

Dr. Saunders pointed out that there are two kinds of stem rust on the prairies. These are found in different districts, though each district may be attacked by several varieties of rust. To fully study the disease, and to obtain rust-resistant varieties of wheat, it is necessary that many experimental stations be established throughout the three prairie provinces. Only by the expenditure of a vast sum of money would the desired results be obtained.

The famous cerealist is best known as the originator of Marquis wheat, which is so popular on the prairies that more than eighty-five per cent. of the wheat there is of this variety. Dr. Saunders also originated the Prelude and Ruby varieties which made possible the expansion of the wheat belt northward hundred miles farther north than it had been before.

The Dominion Government is at present introducing two other varieties propagated by Dr. Saunders. These are known as Garnet and Reward. After extensive tests they have been found to be unusually drought-resistant and particularly well adapted to cultivation in dry areas. They will make possible the production of wheat in many areas of the prairies where drought is common.

Dr. Saunders, during the twenty years primarily an agriculturist, is a keen student of French literature and also of music. Before entering the civil service he taught music, mostly vocal, and he has now returned to the realm of art. He resigned his position three years ago, and for more than two years has been studying French literature in Paris.

Producing Clean Milk

Guarding Against All Sources of Contamination in Milking Process

A clean pail, a covered pail and a clean animal are the big things in producing clean milk. All other sources of contamination are of lesser importance, says the Dominion agricultural bacteriologist in his report for 1924. The latter clean milk the pails should be washed and scoured and, if possible, treated with steam, and care taken to have no dirt fall from the cow into the milk. The report, which is distributed free by the publications branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa, describes in detail the methods of insuring complete cleanliness. Manure should be moved out of the reach of the animals, the cows should be regularly brushed, the milker's hands must be carefully washed, and the forestalk should be discarded.

Oil Pointed Out

Fisherman, Ont., reports declare that the decline in the productiveness of many sea fishing grounds is due to the discharge of oil by the fish meal report, the fisheries department states that its scientific investigations "do not believe that oil is actually injurious to fish life of any kind." Who is right? It is indisputable that the pollution of the sea with waste oil is likely to damage many of our birds.—London Daily Pictorial.

Meat and Bone By-Products

Constitute a Valuable Source of Protein and Bone-Making Material

The Dominion Animal Industry Branch and his assistant, Mr. F. N. Hamilton have issued a booklet on "Meat By-Products" which has been published in connection with the meat-inspection service. Dominion dressing-plants are under the inspection of meat-inspectors, and the booklet is issued by Miss Hamilton, Dominion meat-inspector, in order to furnish that knowledge of their composition and nature that is essential to their economic purchase and use. The feeding stuffs on the market that come under the foregoing headings include meat and blood meals, tankage, bone meal, fish meals and other related materials, mainly the by-products of the packing house, slaughter house and fish canneries, and consist of varying proportions of meat, fatty tissue, blood and bone, according to their source and method of preparation. As a class, states the bulletin, they are highly alkaline and phosphatic concentrates that constitute a valuable source of protein and bone-making material and are especially useful in the feeding of swine and poultry. It is essential that they should be prepared from fresh meat trade and as purchased should be sweet and sound, free from rancidity and mould. In consequence, continues the bulletin, which can be had on application to the publications branch, Ottawa, it is obvious that these feeding stuffs should be purchased always on guaranteed analysis, the object of the investigations, the results of which are recorded in this bulletin, was the establishment of standards in percentages of protein, fat, phosphoric acid, lime, for the various classes of products under consideration.

Menagerie of Insect Life

The most amazing zoo in the world is a 40-acre menagerie of insect life—has been opened near Tenafly, New York. It is the idea of Dr. Frank E. Lutz, curator of entomology at the American Museum of Natural History, who made a collection of 626 species of insects that were caught in his backyard.

The Royal Veterinary College in London admits domestic animals in all their infirmities and ailments and is the largest institution of its kind in the world.

Dairy Product Act

Amendments to the Dairy Produce Act and Regulations

The text of The Dairy Product Act as amended this year and regulations under the act have been published by the department of agriculture at Ottawa in uniform style with other acts relating to agriculture. There is now an amendment to the act authorizing the governor in council to make regulations that will enable the dairy produce grader to refuse to grade any dairy produce and to withhold grade certification. Sections 24 to 31 inclusive have been added to the previous 23 of the regulations. These provide: That any butter cut or moulded into prints or blocks shall be deemed to be not graded, and that no person shall brand, mark, describe or advertise for sale as graded, butter which shall have been so cut or moulded; that a grader's certificate covering any such lots shall be deemed cancelled; that no person shall pack butter in a package bearing marks of previous grading; that no person shall sell, offer for sale or have in his possession butter branded, marked, described or advertised contrary to these regulations and that any butter on which mould has appeared, whether on the butter itself or on the parchment lining, even though all green has been removed, shall be classified as "no grade."

World Poultry Congress

Alberta was represented by Hon. Geo Hoadley, minister of agriculture, and J. H. Hare, poultry commissioner, at the meeting held in Toronto to consider plans for the world poultry congress to be held in Ottawa next year. Hon Mr. Hoadley advocated formation of provincial committees to cooperate with the central committee in the matter of the congress a success, and the plan was given support.

Dress Turkeys Before Shipping

Whenever Possible Turkey Should Be Sent in Market in This Manner

Writing of the successful pool of turkeys in Saskatchewan last year, Mr. Harding (consultant for Alberta) states that shippers through the co-operative pool were encouraged to dress turkeys before shipping. He says: "The satisfactory way to dress turkeys is to remove the crop and intestines, but leave the head and feet on the carcass. Turkeys should be picked clean, but the skin should be left unbroken. The head should be severed close to the body, and the feet cut off at the first joint. The crop should be removed through a slit in the skin at the base of the neck. The intestines should be removed through a slit in the abdomen. The head and feet improve the flavor of the fowl, as do the liver, heart and gizzard. The gizzard should be opened and thoroughly washed, but the lining membrane should be left intact. Care should be taken to arrange them firmly in the packing cases to prevent moving while in transit."

Sweet Clover As A Pasture

Is Unequalled By Most Crops For Cattle and Hogs

As a pasture sweet clover has a carrying capacity unequalled by most crops. Cattle have been pastured on this crop at the Brandon experimental farm with no apparent ill effects. The condition of the animals was in no way affected by the bulk supply was maintained. According to a new bulletin on sweet clover distributed by the publications branch department of agriculture "when this crop makes a very soft feed when mixed alone and it is advisable to give the animals access to some form of dry roughage. In order to keep the crop from becoming rank and coarse it should be kept well pastured down. It withstands the effect of pasturing very well and it is possible to use even the first year's crop. Hogs may be turned on when the plants are 8 or 9 inches high with good results.

SYNOPSIS

McTaggart, the post trader, finding Baree, the wolf-dog, trapped in one of his game snares, struck him a blow with a club. Then he bundled him into a sack and carried him to the cabin of Pierrot, the trapper, where he went to demand the hand of Neepeese, the trapper's daughter. The girl recognized Baree and when she saw he had been injured she turned in anger at McTaggart. Baree, freeing himself, mastered his teeth in the latter's leg. McTaggart drew his revolver, but Neepeese raised the dog in her arms.

CHAPTER XIII.—Continued.

"Let us leave them to fight it out between themselves, m'sieu," he said. "They are two little fire-brands, and we are not safe. If she is bitten——"

He shrugged his shoulders. A great load had been lifted from them suddenly. His video was soft and pensive. And now the anger had gone out of the Widow's face. A questioning look of her eyes caught Mc-Taggart, and she looked straight at him half smiling, as she spoke to her father.

"I will join you soon, mon père—you and Mukis the Factor from Lac Bain!"

There was undeniable little devils in her eyes. McTaggart thought—little devils laughing full at him as she spoke, setting his brain afire and his blood to running wildly. Those eyes—full of dancing witches! How he would love them and play with them—very soon now. He followed Pierrot outside. In his exultation he no longer felt the smart of Baree's teeth.

Half an hour later Neepeese came out of the cabin. She could see that Pierrot and the Factor had been talking about something that had not been pleasant to her father. His face was crushed. She caught in his eyes the smoulder of fire which he was trying to smother, as one might smother flame under a blanket. McTaggart's jaws were set, but the eyes flared up with pleasure when he saw her. She knew what it was about. The Factor from Lac Bain had been demanding his answer of Pierrot, and

ABLE TO DO HOUSEWORK NOW

Sick a Year. Get Great Benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bloomington, N. S.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains and backache, also for nervousness, sick headaches and sleeplessness. I was troubled in this way for over a year, and a friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and induced me to take it. In short, say I have received great benefit from it and am able to do my housework now. I recommend the Vegetable Compound myself and am willing for you to use this letter as a testimonial." — Mrs. WILLIAM MORSE, Bloomington, Annapolis County, N. S.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 98 per cent. replied "Yes."

This record that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

Mrs. Morse is simply another case of a woman receiving "great benefit." Women suffering from the troubles so common to their sex should listen to what other women say who have experienced the same sufferings and found relief. Give this dependable medicine a chance—and at once. It is sold at all drug stores.

KEEPS THE FLAVOR IN

Pierrot had been telling him what she had intimated upon—that he must come to her. And he was coming! She turned with a quick beating of the heart and looked down at Mukis. She heard McTaggart's footsteps behind her, and threw the flash of a smile at the approaching Factor. Her teeth were not right. The nails of her fingers were cutting into the palms of her hands.

Pierrot stood without moving. He watched them as they disappeared into the forest, lingered still a few steps ahead of McTaggart. Out of his breast rose a sharp breath.

"Par les mille cornes du diable!" he swore softly. "It is impossible! And she smiles from her heart at that beast! Nôn! It is impossible. And yet if it is——"

One of his brown hands tightened convulsively about the handle of the knife in his belt, and slowly he began to follow them.

"His arms were about her like bands of iron."

McTaggart did not hurry to overtake Neepeese. She was following the narrow path deeper into the forest, and he was glad of that. They would be alone—away from Pierrot. He was ten steps behind her, and again the Widow smiled at him over her shoulder. Her body moved sinuously and swiftly. She was keeping accurate measurements of the distance between them—but McTaggart did not guess that this was why she looked back every now and then. He was mistaken to let her go on. When she turned from the narrow trail into a side path that crept down to the bank of a gravel, his boot gave an exultant jump. If she kept on, he would very soon have her alone—a good distance from the cabin. The blood ran hot to his face. He did not speak to her, though fear that she would turn ahead of them he heard the rumble of water. It was the creek running through the chasm.

Neepeese was making straight for that sound. With a little laugh she started to run, and when she stood at the edge of the chasm McTaggart was fully fifty yards behind her. Twenty feet sheer down there was a deep pool between the rock walls, a pool so deep that it was like lake. She turned to face the Factor from Lac Bain. He had never looked more like a red beast to her than at this moment she had been unafraid. But now—in an instant—he terrified her. Before she could speak what she had planned to say, he was at her side, and had taken her face between his two great hands, his coarse fingers rubbing in the silken strands of her thick braids where they fell over her shoulders at the back.

"Ka sakabet!" he cried passionately. "Pierrot said you would have an answer for me. But I need no answer now. You are mine! Mine!"

He gave a yank. It was a gasping, broken cry. His arms were about her like bands of iron, crushing her slender body, shutting off her breath. Hearing the world almost black for her. She could neither struggle nor cry out. She felt the hot passion of his lips on her cheeks, on her throat, and then came a moment's freedom, and air into her strangled lungs. Pierrot was calling! She had come to the fork in the trail, and he was calling the Widow's name!

McTaggart's hot hand came over her mouth.

"Then I answer," she heard him say. Strength came into the fingers that held her, and fiercely she struck the hand down. Something in her was fearful even as she held McTaggart. They blazed into his very soul.

"Brute nude!" she panted at him, freeing herself from the last touch of his hands. "Bête—bête—beast!" Her voice trembled, and her face flamed. "Bête—I came to show you my pool—and I will pay you what you wished to lend—and you—you have crushed me like a beast—like a great rude——" She broke down there—it is my pool!"

She had not planned it like this. She had intended to be smiling, even laughing, at this moment. But McTaggart had spoiled them—her carefully made plans! And yet, as she hesitated, the Factor from Lac Bain had looked for an instant over the edge of the chasm. And then she laughed—laughed as she gave him a sudden shove with her hands.

"And that is my answer, M'sieu le Factor from Lac Bain!" she cried triumphantly as he plunged headlong into the deep pool between the rock walls.

CHAPTER XIV.

From the edge of the open Pierrot saw what had happened, and he gave a great gasp. He drew back among the balsams. This was not a moment for him to show himself. While his heart drummed like a hammer his face was filled with joy.

On her hands and knees the Widow was peering over the edge. Bush McTaggart had disappeared, but the game down like the great sled he was; the water of her pool had closed over him with a dull splash that was like a chuckle of triumph. He appeared now, beating out with his arms and legs to keep himself afloat, while the Widow's voice came to him in taunting cries.

"Bete—bete! Bete, bete! Beast! Beast——"

She flung small sticks and tufts of earth down at him fiercely, and McTaggart, finding he had gained his equilibrium, saw her leaning so far over that she seemed about to fall. They long battle he'd down into the chasm, gleaming in the sun, her eyes were laughing while her lips tantned him; he could see the flash of her white teeth.

"Beast! Beast!"

He began swimming, still looking up at her. It was a hundred yards down the slow-going current to the beach of shale where he could climb out, and a half of that distance she followed him, laughing and taunting him, and flinging down sticks and pebbles. He noted that none of the sticks or stones was large enough to hurt him. When at last his feet touched bottom, she was gone.

Smiling, Neepeese ran back over the trail and almost into Pierrot's arms. She was panting and laughing, and for a moment she stopped.

"I have given him the answer Nees-tane!" He is in the pool."

Neepeese was out of breath when she reached the cabin. Baree lay curled to a table leg by a kabobi thong; heard her pause for a moment at the door. Then she entered and ran straight to him. During the whole hour of her absence Baree had scarcely moved.

Her touch thrilled him. It sent life and fire through his body, a strong lone quivering which she could feel and which deepened the glow in her eyes. Gently her hands crept to his head and his neck. It seemed to Neepeese that he did not breathe. Under the curve of her hand the dog's head in another moment she was talking to him, and at the sound of her voice his eyes shot open.

Canada's Century

Restricted Immigration is Advocated For Dominion by English Writer

"This century will witness a development in Canada in all ways similar and equal to the development in the United States in the 19th century," a writer in the London Outlook declares, and he adds: "In the long run, provided that the present policy is maintained of encouraging the immigration only of the nordic races, Canada will produce a finer nation than the one in the making in the United States where a policy of indiscriminate admission of immigrants was pursued until recently."

KNOTTY POINTS TO BE SETTLED AT CONFERENCE

Paris—The aims and objects of the Inter-allied conference and the views of France and Great Britain as to how the controversial points at issue may be settled are set forth in a text which Premier Marchandi and M Metinet agreed should be submitted for the British text while came to a common premises in opposition circles in France.

The new trial sets for a straightforwardness

1—Both countries confirm their responsibility for the Lusitania report.

2—They agree that for settlement both be made and the German naval officers guilty of the Lusitania outrage be tried by the Supreme Court of the United States.

3 In case the report of the commission declares Germany is not responsible for the sinking of the Lusitania, the plan the interested governments shall decide on a joint ultimatum as to the measures for putting into effect the penalties, or, in case of refusal, of taking such other measures as may be necessary for the protection of the submarine warfare.

Here and There

In the last fiscal year 2,843 homestead entries were granted in the Prairie Provinces, aggregating an approximate area of 614,300 acres, while, in addition, 710 soldier grants of 113,000 acres, make up a grand total of 726,400 acres so entitled.

In 1915 Canada exported no wheat to China. In 1916 she sent only eight bushels to Japan. In 1924 China imported over 5,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and over 1,500,000 barrels of flour, while Japan took 7,000,000 bushels of wheat and 110,000 barrels of flour. It is predicted these figures will be well beaten for the current year.

The Grand Challenge Cup, emblematic of the First Aid Championship of the entire system of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will be competed for at the Place Viger Hotel, Montreal, November 15. The champions in 6 branch-out competitions among Eastern and Western teams respectively, will fight it out for the trophy.

Plans are already being laid to make the C.N.R. Easonian Memorial Dogsled Derby an even greater success than in any previous year, and it is reported that the prize money will be considerably increased next winter, with the object of attracting more teams and members from the West and the United States.

Fire Prevention Week, October 4-10, was observed throughout the Dominion, and to mark the season of the importance of the occasion Mr. Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, broadcast an appeal by wire to every officer and employee of the system "to cooperate as in the past and set a good example by thoroughly cleaning up all premises."

Canada's great outlook, says a recent issue of the London Outlook, is that she wants more people, but of the right type, namely, steady agricultural workers with enterprise, initiative and endurance. Extracts in letters from emigrants under the joint-scheme of settling 3,000 families in Canada are bound to have their healthy effect on relatives and friends dissatisfied with their lot in England.

R. F. L. Sturdee, general Passenger Agent for the Orient of the C.P.R., with headquarters at Hong Kong, has been appointed Assistant General Passenger Agent of the system at Montreal. His duties commenced here in October. He was relieved of his other work owing to ill-health, but the climate of Canada soon restored him to physical well-being. He has a long record of service with the C.P.R., dating back to his first appointment at Saint John in 1894.

Sixty bushels of wheat at every tick of the clock is the rate at which the Canadian Pacific Railway have carried the grain into the elevators this season. To keep up this unprecedented rush, it has been necessary to move one car-load of grain out of Winnipeg at every one minute and twenty-three seconds of the twenty-four hour day. Grain delivered at the head of the lakes by the Canadian Pacific in September alone would fill a fleet of 200 ships, each with a cargo of 300,000 bushels.

Back from an extended tour of inspection over the company's western lines, E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, found a very united Dominion in the West as compared with that which had existed when he last went across the country. He thought the issues of the people were much more optimistic and with very good reason since he considered "it safe to say that 325,000,000 bushels was not too high an estimate for the total Canadian wheat yield this year. He noticed also that the country's manifest interest in immigration and a more general realization that Canada by its unrivalled remedy for most of Canada's difficulties.

There is much more to local advertising than effort to represent something at a low price. It conveys the assurance that the needed goods are stocked and that the merchant is making an effort to provide real service to his customers.

BRITAIN TAKES STEPS TO CURB RED ACTIVITIES

London Police raided the headquarters of the Communist party in London and also one of the London branch offices and arrested all Communist officials. Numerous papers and publications were seized.

The Communist party manifesto issued a statement, describing the incident as "the first step in the new attack on the working class."

This, says the bureau, was foreseen and it recalls the party's advice to form a workers' defense corps.

"The Communist party," it declares "will not, and cannot be, smashed Close the ranks, strengthen the party, continue to fight for class unity against the coming capitalist offensive."

Communist activities in England during the past few months have gone far beyond the propaganda and industrial agitation stage. Attempt has been made to foment a revolt against the government and a large membership has been built up, particularly among the foreign population. As a result of this thrust against organized authority, police action commenced which was deemed necessary

Trade With Russia

No Early Prospects of Trade Relations Between Britain and Soviets

Ottawa—There are no early prospects of trade relations between Soviet Russia and Britain being restored with the Baldwin Government in power, declared Right Hon. Arthur Henderson former home secretary in the Macdonald Labor Government, in an interview here.

When it was suggested that such a happening might have distinct effects on Canada in the matter of wheat marketing, Mr Henderson said that there were other considerations besides wheat, and if Russia was to regain her large production of wheat, she would need agricultural implements, many of which Canada was able to supply.

Asked about conditions in Britain, the former home secretary said it was the industries which depended on export trade that were the hardest hit by present conditions. He said the feeling was strong in Britain in favor of Germany being admitted to the League of Nations, as it was felt that would help to ease the diplomatic situation and give better assurance of peace. Until that happened there could be little hope of betterment as regards economic conditions, he said

Annual Sheep and Swine Show

Will Be Held November Third, Fourth and Fifth

Regina.—The annual sheep and swine show will be held here November 3, 4 and 5, it was decided at a meeting of the board of directors of the Exhibition Association held in the Stadium. The dressed poultry show will be held November 1. Prizes valued at $150 will be given at the poultry show. Professor M. C. Herner, Manitoba Agricultural College, will be the judge.

Maritimes Ask For Freight Rate Cut

Brief Prepared For Board of Railway Commission Publishing

Halifax.—The brief prepared by P. T. Cossett, freight rates expert employed by the three Maritime Provinces to present their case to the Board of Railway Commissioners, Canada, has been published in pamphlet form.

It declares against the present transportation point of view. Incidentally the disproportionate development of the Maritimes and manufacturing products in comparison with other provinces, due to the fact that the products of the Maritime provinces depend to a certain extent upon their ability to increase the prosperity of the Maritime provinces and their communications points in the central and western provinces.

The brief declares recent changes in freight rates have placed out-lying points at a disadvantage. Here the Maritimes and provided for in previous agreements. It asks for substantial reductions in eastbound freight rates to the Maritimes for Western and Central Canada and no freight passing through Montreal shall be rated in the Maritimes.

Captain Bernier at Seventy-four is Still Vigorous

Quebec.—A man still hale and hearty at seventy-four and ready to start off again if it is believed necessary to rescue Stefansson and his party, Captain Bernier, who is in his 74th year, has just returned from a trip to northern waters that included the rescue of the authorities at Ottawa. While off the coast of Greenland he suffered a bad fall when struck by a wind-jump boom, but made light of the bruised side that resulted from the accident. However, he will be 74-yed. It is believed the voyage just completed by the Arctic was the last she would take with the veteran captain at the wheel

Giant British Dirigible

Plan to Launch and Pick Up Planes In Mid Air

London.—With the R 32, Britain's great airship, makes its next trip, expected shortly, it will begin a series of experiments in launching and picking up aeroplanes in mid-air. The plane to be used will be a light fighting 32. The behind the experiments is to use airships in war as mother ships for a fleet of bombers to be launched from behind cover-almost clouds of smoke to harry the enemy. An apparatus like a trapeze has been fixed below the airship to which the planes will be lowered. It will be launched from the trapeze and it is to attach itself to the trapeze on its return

London Importers Seek Representatives to Establish Business

Regina.—Representatives of the largest importers and dairy produce dealers in London, Messrs. A. J. Mitchell and Sons, Limited, of Edinburgh, have arrived in Regina for the purpose of establishing connections in Saskatchewan in order to secure butter for Canada, was explained by W. Bruce Walker, Canadian director of European emigration, in an interview with a representative of the Morning Post. Mr Walker stated that though the Dominion wants agriculturists, there is no lag on the kind now will pave the way for the unemployed industrial surplus when other industries expand.

The Post, in an editorial extolling Mr Walker's plans, regrets that some residents and certain newspapers lead Canadians to believe that England's day is done and that the greater part of her population is existing on dole.

Urges Demand For Imperial-Made Goods

Lady Cowan Asks Canadian Women to Put Empire First

Ottawa.—That the women of Canada should devote the idea more actively to encouraging the consumption of Empire-made goods, Imperial unity could was the desire expressed by Lady Cowan, well known members of the British House of Commons, who is among the delegates to the Inter parliamentary Union, who addressed a large audience assembled at the Canadian Women's Club.

Lady Cowan, who has been the president for the British Women's Empire League for the last few years, is the world the women were doing to help Britain.

The speaker has for motto: "Our country, first."

"I am an internationalist," she explained, "but I am a believer and a supporter of imperial first."

Women could not become anything like what they were in Canada and Britain, she declared, without the ballot, and the per sonal touch will be substituted for correspondence in order to secure settlers for Canada, was explained by W. Bruce Walker, Canadian director of European emigration, in an interview with a representative of the Morning Post. Mr Walker stated that though the Dominion wants agriculturists, there is no lag on the kind now will pave the way for the unemployed industrial surplus when other industries expand.

Secure Settlers For Canada

The country is going to be saved next Thursday. By whom and how is another matter, but it is up to you to say which party handles the job. Two parties, the U.F.A. and the Liberals, are providing saviours for this part of the country, and both of them are so well fitted to represent us in the House of Commons as you could find on a long day's march. They are both good, able men, and whichever is elected, he will conscientiously do his best on behalf of all the people of this Electoral district. It is up to you to say which man goes. You have a week to think it over. Think well and think hard, take an aspirin to chase away your headache, then go out to the polls and exercise the franchise your forefathers fought and suffered to get for themselves and for you.

A Vote for a Liberal Candidate is a Vote in Favor of Assured Progress Under A Stable Government

Dominion Electoral District of Vegreville

To The Electors:—

On Thursday, October 29th, you will be called on to exercise your voting privilege as citizens to elect a member to represent the Electoral District of Vegreville in the Canadian House of Commons. This is a new District with its boundaries arranged under the Redistribution Act passed at the last session of Parliament. It is therefore important that the first member elected here should be one who can give the District adequate attention and who, at the same time, is not bound by the dictates of cliques, groups or any organization which has as its basis of political action the encouragement of class antagonism. The member for Vegreville should be one who, while giving a general adherence to a definite political party, yet retains his independence of thought and action when matters in which the West in general, and the Electoral District of Vegreville, in particular, are under consideration. Western Canada cannot make its influence felt at Ottawa or in any way direct the course of legislation unless and until there are a sufficient number of members of Parliament from the West holding like views and able to impress these views on the government through the regular channels provided therefor.

In January of this year, I was honored by receiving the nomination of the Liberal party as candidate to contest this constituency in the interests of the government headed by the Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King. I am therefore appealing for your support at the polls on October 29th on the grounds that, under great difficulty, with a majority of only one over other parties in the House of Commons, face to face with a Senate bent upon destroying needed legislation advanced by the government, the Mackenzie King government conducted the affairs of this country ably and wisely, with due regard for economy in administration, with skill in fiscal matters relating to our enormous public debt with such measures of tariff reform as circumstances rendered possible, with the closest attention to our great problem of the Canadian National Railways and without losing sight of the various public works which our national development demands.

Throughout the campaign, the various issues at stake will be presented to you at length by speakers for the Conservative, Liberal, Labor and Progressive candidates. These, each, save the Conservative candidate has been, or is likely to be, nominated to contest this constituency, it is improbable that the Conservative policies will be voiced here. Of these, however, it is fair to say that the Right Hon. Mr. Meighen, Conservative leader, places high protection in the forefront. He also condemns the present management of the Canadian National Railways and has openly stated that, if given power, he would interfere actively in the management of same. Mr. Meighen has no candidate in this constituency, the Conservative viewpoint requires no attention other than that the Progressive candidate, as a former Conservative, might be pardoned if he retained some affection for his old party friends.

The Government's Record

The record of the Mackenzie King government will bear examination. It has reduced expenditure. It has reduced taxation. It has removed burdens from industry and thus stimulated production. It has negotiated trade agreements with Australia, the West Indies, France, Belgium, Italy, Holland, England and Spain. All these trade agreements are accelerated with a definite view to the cost of production, enabling farmers and manufacturers to compete with greater advantage in world markets. With this policy in mind, and in effort to reduce transportation costs by land and sea. In connection with our sea-borne commerce electors are asked to bear in mind that it was the Conservative party in the House of Commons which held up the Peterson contract—an honest effort made by the government to reduce the cost of transporting grain and other farm products from our farms to the ocean ports of Europe.

The National Railways

The Government has fulfilled its promise to give public ownership of railways a fair trial. On taking power in 1921, the government found the National Railways in a badly managed and chaotic condition. Two sets of directors were in office, endeavoring somehow to make one part of the National Railways compete against the other with consequent increasing expenses in every direction. Eventually the government secured the services of Sir Henry Thornton, acknowledged to be one of the ablest railway executives in the world. Under his charge the National Railways have been unified, consolidated and reorganized. It has infused into the whole body of officials a spirit of enthusiasm, pride in the system and an eager desire for public service. Today the Canadian National Railways are the equal of any in the world. Operating deficits have been turned into surpluses and, while the immense debt charges against the National Railways still remain and will remain for years to come, it is only through business management, with no political interference, that these charges will be eventually reduced.

Farmers of the districts served by the Canadian National Railways will have vivid remembrance of the grain blockades which were common prior to Sir Henry Thornton's assumption of the management. The railways were then run for political purposes and suffered from lack of effective management. A return to the Meighen policy of curtailing capital expenditure will result in the system again falling into disrepair. A vote for the Liberal candidate is a vote for continued efficient management.

The country cannot afford to take a chance by voting against a government which had the foresight and the courage to deal with the Canadian National Railways in a businesslike way.

The North Railway

Settlers south of the Saskatchewan River have waited long years for better transportation facilities. The advent of the Canadian Pacific-Hudson Bay Railway has looked upon as definite. But the C.P.R. has ceased construction and is not likely to continue for a long time. During this campaign I will submit to those most interested a concrete and effective policy for their endorsement and if this policy meets with favor I will do my utmost to see that it is carried out.

The Tariff Question

Accusations that the Government has made no attempt to carry out its pre-election promises have no basis in fact. The Liberals have had "tariff for revenue only" as a basic policy for thirty years and to that tariff they have worked steadily. Tariff changes are matters which require long and earnest consideration and can only be made with due attention to existing conditions which might be adversely affected or even bankrupted by hasty, ill-considered action. But the government has brought about many radical reductions particularly in the tariff charges on farm implements the greater number of which today carry no higher duty than from 6 to 10 per cent. Other tariff changes have worked in the same way, with the object of reducing living costs, ameliorating the lot of the producer and stimulating home production.

Immigration

Admittedly, this country needs a larger population especially to develop its agricultural and other natural resources. When the Laurier government left office in 1911, the immigration into Canada was satisfactory and good. The succeeding Conservative government failed to follow up the good example of its predecessor and when the Great War came, immigration ceased completely. It has not yet revived, one somewhat to conditions in Europe which preclude people of a suitable type from emigrating. Our rigorous climate demands that only those who are fitted to cope with real pioneer life should be considered as possible immigrants. Our proximity to the United States is another deterrent to Canada. Of the necessity of carefully selecting settlers a matter engaging the close attention of the government and the recent appointment of a Minister of Immigration who is to give his whole time to this work will produce results in the near future

No one knows the exact position of the Progressive candidate in immigration matters. One of the most prominent Progressive members, E. J. Garland, opposes immigration entirely. The Progressive leader, Mr. Forke, admits he has no policy save that of "the satisfied customer, our best advertisement." Still others of the Progressives wish vigorous action taken to induce settlers to come to Canada. From this multiplicity of ideas, the Progressives stand a poor chance of helping to evolve any definite policy.

It will be my aim to support in every possible way, the stimulation of immigration to this country, especially of those who by the conditions in their home lands and by their individual training show their fitness to become settlers.

The efforts made by the Government to bring Canada's resources before the world may be exemplified by a reference to the Wembley exhibition, where the Canadian exhibit was regarded as the most attractive and effective on the grounds. Eventually the expenditure made on this exhibit will be justified by results.

Other measures of government policy such as Senate Reform, etc., will be fully discussed on the platforms and by way of literature.

A VOTE AGAINST A LIBERAL CANDIDATE IS A VOTE FOR THE RETURN OF MEIGHEN

The only policy opposing that of the government in the policy advocated by the Hon. Mr. Meighen. A vote against the Liberal candidate is a vote, directly or indirectly, for the return of Meighen. The Progressives have no coherent and intelligible policy and for that reason, the Ontario Progressives have ceased taking political action. Two of the strongest men of the Progressives, Hon. T. A. Crerar of Marquette, Manitoba and Dr. Beny of Springfield, Manitoba, have withdrawn from politics. These incidents show that the Progressives are realizing that they have no future in politics and will never become a factor in the political life of this country.

Strengthen the Hands of the Government by Supporting the Liberal Candidate on October 29th.

I respectfully solicit your vote and influence and if favored with your confidence will use every endeavor to justify it.

Your obedient servant,
CHARLES GORDON.

Girls' Attractive Suspender Skirt and Blouse

A charming frock featuring the plaited skirt at the sides, which is bound to be a favorite with girls, whether on a vacation or at school. Individuality in taste may be expressed by having the skirt of one contrasting material and the blouse of another but harmonizing color. Many mothers have short ends of material in the sewing room, and this model offers an excellent opportunity to use them. The accompanying diagram gives a very clear outline of the frock, and a chart with full directions is included with the pattern. Sizes 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 10 years requires 2 yards of 36-inch material for the jumper, and 1¾ yards for the blouse. Price 20 cents.

Home sewing brings nice clothes within the reach of all, and to follow the mode is delightful when it can be done so easily and economically by following the styles pictured in our new Fashion Book. A short cut-crossparying each pattern shows the material as it appears when cut out. Every detail is explained so that the inexperienced sewer can make without difficulty an attractive dress. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

The Causation Of Cancer

Faulty Diet Largely Responsible For This Ailment

Many public lectures are delivered in Europe and elsewhere on the cause of cancer but few appear to get to the bottom of the matter. Probably the most comprehensive lecture on the subject was delivered by Dr. Alexander Haig, F.R.S., before the Royal Institution, London, England. Dr. Haig's theories are based on the assumption that cancer is a blood disease and that faulty food and faulty diet which deposits the excreta of the vital processes in the blood are largely responsible for the cancerous growths. He claims that the best treatment of the deadly disease is prevention. HOW to accomplish prevention is further from Barton Seamwell, M.S.C., published in London Eng. Truth, 26 August, 1925, contains the following statements which profound experience has proved of vital importance to many cancer victims. The media acting against cancer are the great oxygen attracting element in the body in form over 70 per cent. of the mineral ash of the red corpuscles in the blood. Owing to certain defects in diet and the preparation of food, the modern civilized woman being suffers from "potassium starvation," and the increase of cancer is a corollary of this state of affairs. The great work of the late Dr. Forbes Ross finds an explanation in this discovery, also explains the success secured in the treatment of cancer with the administration of atomisated solutions of citrate and iodin phosphate of potash —which restore the reciprocative power of the blood, thus causing the cancer to retrograde and disappear.

If fathers and mothers of the Great Northwest would abandon their white flour, white sugar and other "foodless foods" from which all health preserving potash has been refined, and adopt whole wheat bread, whole wheat brown sugar and such "roughage" in their diet as is necessary to avert the slow and fatal constipation, which is the forerunner of every case of cancer, there would be no further rapid increase of this self-inflicted disease. This hope, however, as only the rare and vitiated palate are pleased with the digestive organs are deranged, with ill health, disease and premature death terminate the life of each following year in the realm of civilization. The world, the death rates from cancer and other self-inflicted diseases will continue to rapidly increase "cancer and a normality healthy human stream are incompatible, but if we persist in indulging in food poisons for the sake of the digestive autointoxication it produces before stirring us in our weakest spot, the inevitable penalty exacted by outraged Nature must be paid to the time. Charles Walter, 51 Brunswick Avenue, Toronto, Canada.

Germany and France Head List With England Third

Prizes of about $4,000,000 given to 125 winners, will be the record of the Nobel Foundation on the occasion of its 25th annual awarding of prizes at the end of this year.

Funds of the foundation now amount to slightly over $8,000,000, and the prizes to be given this year will be 119,166 kroner each, or about $31,000. Besides the five regular prizes of 1925, three were held over from 1924, namely, the awards in physics, chemistry and the peace prize.

Of the prizes awarded during the years 1901-1924 nine have gone to America and seven to Sweden. Germany tops the list with 26 prizes, closely followed by France with 21 and England with 14 awards.

ALBERTA WEEKLIES

While there are numerous exceptions, the majority of the weekly newspapers published in the towns throughout the province have been conspicuously fair in the present campaign.

Every daily newspaper is definitely supporting one or the other of the political parties, and the news given in the daily press of the campaign in the rural districts, where the great majority of the people of Alberta live, is comparatively meagre.

It is to the credit of many of the Alberta weeklies, which we will not name, since the number is so large, that their editors have declined in so many instances to succumb to the influences, always strong at election time, which are exerted to draw the papers into the fight among partisans of the old political parties.—The U.F.A.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. A. A. McGillivray, the leader of the Provincial Conservative party, has arranged to address the electors of this district in the Picture Theatre in Fort Saskatchewan on the 11th. of November next at 8 p.m. As this is the first opportunity which the electors in this district will have of hearing Mr. McGillivray expound his policies, there is no doubt that a large number of the electors will take advantage of this opportunity to hear him. Mr. McGillivray is accounted one of the best speakers in the Dominion. A hearty invitation is extended to all electors to attend.

AMERICAN EDITORS EXPRESS GRATITUDE

That the appreciation of the American editors at the time of their visit here was genuine, and not to mean flattery repeated at every social function held in their honor during their tour, is evident by the following letters received from two editors of the visiting party. Several ladies in particular of the group were loud in their praises at the time, but it is possible the hosts and hostesses were so modest they paid little attention. The people of this district, however, evidently made a deep impression in the minds of the American editors and their wives

These letters were read at the last meeting of the Boosters' club and The Record secured them for reproduction so that all who assisted, and those who may be interested, may see that the efforts put forth on that occasion were without doubt appreciated, and that, miserable as the weather was, it was a red-letter day for our American cousins' tour.

The U. S. As a Magnet

During the general election campaign the subject of emigration and immigration as between Canada and the United States received a great deal of attention. It was discussed pro and con, and masses of figures were thrown at the electorate to support this argument or to prove that contention. Whether the general run of people are any the wiser is open to question.

It did not, however, require all these verbal fire-works to convince people of one thing, and that is, that the United States does constitute a powerful magnet drawing tens of thousands of people annually from Canada. Conditions may disagree as to the underlying reason for that magnetic power, but that it exists it would be useless, in the face of patent facts, to deny.

Without assuming to speculate upon United States politics, which may have a bearing, latent and present, in promoting the conditions across the line which now seem so attractive to many people, it is natural that the United States should today exercise a great drawing power. From the standpoint of climate, scenic settings of the United States attract many people from this more northerly land, just as they draw thousands from other portions of the big republic.

But the real attraction is found in the "bigness" of the United States, and especially of its cities. People, as a rule, like big things. They are usually regarded as meaning providence and success, although often mistakenly so. Consequently the big cities and big institutions of the United States, dotting the map in a big way, attract.

It is the same influence at work which draws people from all over the United Kingdom to London; causes Frenchmen to flock into Paris, leads the youth of Ontario to go to Toronto, and of Manitoba to Winnipeg. Just so do Canadians naturally turn southward to New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and other large centres. It is natural; it is inevitable. Canada grows, the power of this great magnet will be lessened, but regardless of nationality, people, even citizens of the line it will never wholly disappear.

From the purely Canadian standpoint, the most desirable feature is that it is among the very best of our people that this magnet has greatest power. We manifold are the opportunities, and so numerous the openings for the highly skilled of our engineers, electricians and mechanics, for our most learned professors, our cleverest doctors, our ablest writers, authors and artists. In a word, the cream of our population fitted for leadership, that it involves an enormous personal sacrifice to reject the order and comfort of home and family, and the only gain in Canada is the great influence they exert in the life and thought of our great neighbor, resulting in the fine understanding and good relations which exist between the two countries.

But will this worship of "bigness" prove a good thing for the United States in the long run? And in the final analysis will the policies which have assisted to develop such "bigness" prove a strength or a weakness to the nation?

Time alone will provide answers to these questions, but already signs are not lacking giving concern in the most thoughtful citizens of public affairs. The big cities of the United States are not only attracting Canadians, but they are drawing the American people away from their farms, their hamlets, villages and small towns.

For example, the farm census of 1925 conducted by the United States Department of Commerce discloses 73,735 fewer farms than existed in 1920. And as farms decrease in number so does the number and population of hamlets, villages and towns dependent on rural life and prosperity for their existence.

During these same five years the population of the United States increased through natural causes about by seven and one-half million. That is to say, with 7,500,000 more mouths to feed, there were 73,000 fewer farms engaged in raising food products. The people are congregating in the large cities and towns, becoming consumers of food, but not producers of it.

Hardly became a highly industrialized nation and the greatest food importing country in the world. Today it is still importing its food supplies, but a million and a half people are out of employment, living on doles provided by the Government for them and their families. President Coolidge stated not many months ago that the United States had reached the point where from being the world's greatest exporter of food it would shortly become the world's greatest importer of food.

Any policy which in its effect draws the people away from the sources and activities of primary production into industrial undertakings in congested centres of population is not a sound national policy. Facts indisputably exist to provide the masses of the people with articles they may require, and one such industry can supply thousands. If and when the majority of the people are drawn into manufacturing and allied industries, and more such goods are being turned out than there are people to purchase, then the situation which exists in England today is bound to come.

The United States industrial magnet may attract Canadians at present, but the day is coming when the magnet of the great producing areas of Canada will prove still more powerful. People can get along without many of the articles of manufacture, but they must have food, and the nation which is in a position to provide not only food for its own people, but large surpluses for export, is the truly strong, prosperous and contented one.

Thanks Extreme Heat Fruitful Field For Canadian Genius

Delivering his annual address at the annual prize giving of Upper Canada College, at Toronto, Principal Grant said:

"I make no apology for putting scholarship in the forefront. Never had Canada more need than today for disciplined thinkers in every branch of our national life, and the boy who has won a university scholarship has at least the beginnings of intellectual discipline and even of intellectual distinction.

"I again appeal for some kind donor either to give us one thousand or at least to start a fund for a new science laboratory. My own view is that among the path of scientific research already so well trodden branch men as Professor MacLennan and Dr. Banting, and what a long chat of illustrious, lies the most fruitful field for the Canadian genius.

GUARD THE BABY AGAINST COLDS

By Keeping Baby's Own Tablets in the House at All Times

To guard the baby against colds nothing could be better than Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild laxative that will keep baby's stomach and bowels working regularly. It is a recognized fact that where the stomach and bowels are in good order that colds will not exist, that the health of the little one will be good and that he will thrive and be happy.

Thousands of mothers have become convinced through the actual use of Baby's Own Tablets that there is nothing to equal them in banishing constipation and indigestion, bringing on colds and simple fevers, expelling worms and making teething time easy. Among the list of parties from Baby's Own Tablets is Mrs. Alex J. Doyle, Alma, Que., who says: "I used Baby's Own Tablets in the home as a cure for colds and stomach troubles and for little ones to expel them."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Revenue From U. S. Tourists

More Than Two Million Automobiles Crossed into Canada in Three Months

Tourists from the United States have brought $150,000,000 in revenue to Canada this year, according to estimates of Canadian Government officials. More than 2,000,000 American automobiles, it is estimated have crossed the borders already this year. They carried approximately 8,000,000 tourists, or one tourist for every man, woman and child in the Dominion. Every province shared in the tourist business. Ontario received the largest traffic. Last year 1,376,986 cars from the United States visited Ontario, 161,978 of which stayed from two to thirty days, 1,046 from one to six months and the remainder shorter periods.

Awarded Wembley Medal

Canadian National Railways Exhibit Receives Signal Recognition

Award of the gold medal for transportation and commemorative medal for 1924 to the Canadian National Railways exhibit at Wembley, was announced in London and received at the C.N.R. offices at Winnipeg. The awards for 1925 will not be made for some months yet. Visitors to the exhibit in the section of the Canadian National Railways at Wembley in 1924 were unanimous in describing it as one of the outstanding features of the display. Their Majesties King George and Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, the King and Queen of Spain, and the Prince of Siam were among those to express their opinions of the size and variety of the C.N.R. exhibit.

THE FIGHT AGAINST STRONG DRINK (WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY)

Golden Text: Be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might Ephesians 6:10.

Lesson: Ephesians 6:1-20.

International Reading Psalms 91:1-8.

The Text Explained and Illustrated

The Christian's Spiritual Warfare—Verses 10, 11. To be a Christian is to be a soldier engaged in warfare against evil; and the struggle for the right comes from God. Not that we are sufficient of ourselves, but our sufficiency is from God. . . . Spirit . . . we can do nothing . . . and . . . should in our lesson about the Christian's armor be strong in the Lord, and in the strength of His might (see Joshua's charge to Israel's captains before battle). It has been well said that the Christian's armor is not physical but spiritual, and we rely upon his Lord, and he refers us to the preferable marginal rendering of the Revised Version "made be powerful in the Lord."

Does not that word put [illegible] promise for soldiers who are about to storm a difficult position? Be [illegible] make you powerful! Such power is not a trophy of battle, it is the free gift of omnipotence. It is [illegible] and not a wages. . . . [illegible] not something we have earned, but something we have received. . . . [illegible] patience in the [illegible] with a power [illegible] which fills up all the common things of life—the hunger of hope, of faith, of love, of daily labor of human service."

The armor (Verses 13-17) is that of the Christian but not [illegible] armor of God and [illegible] for his service during the [illegible] part having [illegible] Verse 13 reiterates his counsel, and verses 14-17 specify what these helps are.

No need to suffer skin rashes or to run the risk of getting them. Use Zam-Buk; it cures them surely and painlessly with like it cures a sore. 54-25

Most Northerly Radio Station Now Keeps Arctic Circle In Daily Touch With Civilization

The Arctic circle is now in daily touch with civilization, through the formal opening to the public by the department of interior and department of national defence, of its most northerly commercial radio station in Canada. This station is located at Aklavik, at the mouth of the Mackenzie River, and lies 1,300 miles north of Edmonton and 125 miles beyond the Arctic circle.

The new station in conjunction with others in the north, will supply a communication service for the Northwest Arctic and the Mackenzie basin, and will undoubtedly, it is stated, prove of great value to the mail, trading and transportation companies operating in that district. The country, it is pointed out, is very rich in furs, the yearly export running into many hundreds of thousands of dollars. There are also evidences of rich mineral deposits, but this resource has yet to be developed. The oil wells at Fort Norman, 200 miles south of Aklavik, are already being developed; it is officially stated and fuel oil and gasoline can now be obtained locally practically within the Arctic circle.

The opening of the Aklavik station and the previous opening of the Fort Smith station on Sept. 5, mark the completion of the development work on the western portion of the project in which the Northern Territories branch is interested. It will be recalled that the equipment of Aklavik station was lost when the Lady Aberdeen, of the Hudson Bay Company fleet, sank off Point Barrow in August, 1924. The completion of the Northwest Territories radio system laid therefore by the packet of last year until new equipment and stores could be shipped in down the Mackenzie River this summer.

Going Back To Grain

Products U. S. Cattle Lands Will Be Planted in Wheat

Ten million acres of sod in the southwest, formerly used for cattle ranges, will be planted in wheat within the next eight years, C. C. Isley, of Dodge City, Kansas, predicted in an address to the 28th annual meeting of the Grain Dealers' National Association at Kansas City.

He said prosperity was ahead for the large farmer of Northern Texas, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Colorado and Western Kansas if the change in grain from cattle is made. Much of the acreage which he predicts will go into wheat lands have been undeveloped, Isley declared.

"This is the first year the United States has been on a domestic wheat basis," said Isley. "And it is the first year that the wheat tariff has benefited the farmer."

No Crop Failures

Stated That There Was Not One Crop Failure in Manitoba

Not one crop failure in the province of Manitoba is the report of the provincial department of Agriculture, recently rebanded. Out-turns from threshing machines are satisfactory and a generally optimistic tone prevails. Ninety per cent of the crop is threshed in the Red River Valley and as far west as Portage la Prairie and only a few more work will be done. Averages per acre from 61 reports received show wheat yielding 19¾ bushels; oats, 44 bushels; barley, 23 bushels; flax, 12 bushels; rye, 19¾ bushels. These are higher in every case than final averages for the 10 past years.

Potatoes promise a good crop. Pumpkins are better than in years. Ploughing is nicely started. Stock is in good condition. The dairy industry is showing increases of butter output over last year.

Earth Has Growing Pains

A trembling earth reveals a young one, explains Prof. Charles W. Brown, geologist of Brown University, Providence. The series of earthquakes on the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards this year are more evidences of growing pains, he says in Popular Science Monthly. When the earth finally gets adjusted and settled in old age, there will be no more quivers.

Electric Ship Transports Grain

Carries 70,000 Bushels of Barley From Duluth to Montreal

Montreal started another epoch on its history since it became the Trade Centre of the Dominion, when a steamer from the port of Montreal, left after loading 70,000 bushels of barley.

The Twin Cities owned by the Minneapolis Atlantic Transit Company, came from Duluth. Her cargo was consigned to the Lake and the Liverpool Grain Company. Other steamers of the same fleet, are also expected to arrive shortly, and will be followed by others from the Great Lakes ports.

The boat will proceed to Montreal, through the Welland Canal, and the Canadian canals, and when she reaches Montreal, she will be towed to Liverpool.

The Twin Cities is one of the largest steamers on the Great Lakes. She is 600 feet long, and has a beam of 60 feet. Her cargo was loaded in 5½ hours, and she left Duluth at 7 o'clock on the evening of the 20th.

Onion Production

Has Carloads Shipped to New Zealand From Okanagan Valley

A rather unusual consignment of 10 carloads of onions recently left the Canadian Pacific coast for New Zealand, these having been grown in the Okanagan Valley. The shipment is worthy of note because not only is Canada producing immediate requirements for her own market, but New Zealand has been one of the countries which the Dominion imported in the past. The placing of an embargo on the California product by the Antipodes last year created a partial embargo, and growers an opportunity, which they took advantage. Out of the shipment made in 1924 a volume of business has developed which it is expected will be greatly increased and extended in 1925.

The total onion production in Canada in 1924 was 1,005,000 bushels, as compared with 716,000 bushels in 1923, according to the figures of the federal department of agriculture. The price [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] accounted for about [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

BOTHERED WITH ECZEMA IN RASH

Face Was Disfigured, Healed by Cuticura.

"Some time ago I was bothered with eczema, which broke out on my face in a rash. I took no notice of it at first until the trouble began to spread and the irritation caused me to scratch. My face was disfigured and the trouble lasted about three months.

"I tried different remedies but none seemed to do any good. I then got a cake of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." BAREE, SON OF KAZAN
By James Oliver Curwood
A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH
Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.
"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

McTaggar, the factor, had gone to the cabin of Pierrot the trapper, to visit Pierrot's daughter, Nepeese, as his wife. Nepeese led him to the brink of the chasm. He put his arms about the girl, but the hatred flaring up in her freed herself and pushed him over the brink and into a pool thirty feet below. Then returning to the cabin, Nepeese fondled Baree, the wolf dog. He nearly thrilled the young creature's animal. Under her caress his eyes closed and at sound of her coo-ee they shot open again.

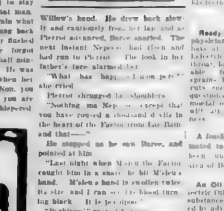
"He will come here that beast and he will kill us," she was saying. "He will kill you because you hit him Baree. Ugh! I wish you were bigger and stronger so that you could take off his head for me!"

She was unzipping the baldie's fangs about the table leg, and under her breath she laughed. She was not frightened. It was a tremendous adventure, and she throbbed with exhilaration at the thought of having beaten the man-beast in her own way. She could see him in the pool struggling and beating about like a great fish. He was just about crawling out of the chasm now—and she laughed again as she caught Baree up under her arm.

"We—we—have—got—our—hearts!" she gasped. "And—we'll—never—very—you—because—I am going to run!"

She bolted outside. Pierrot had not come and she darted swiftly into the balsam bark of the cabin, with Baree close in the crook of her arm, like a sack filled at both ends and tied in the middle. He felt like that, too. But he still had no inclination to wriggle himself free. Nepeese was with him until her arm ached. Then she stopped and put him down on his feet, holding to the end of the leather skin thong that was tied about his neck. She was prepared for any leaps he might make at Nepeese. She expected that he would make an attempt, and for a few moments she watched him closely, with silence, with his feet on earth once more looked about him. And then the Willow spoke to him softly.

"You are not going to run away Baree. No, you are going to stay with me, and I will take you that breast if he dares do to me again what he did back there." He sang back the same baby from about her flushed face, and for a moment she forgot Baree as she thought of that half minute at the edge of the chasm. He was looking straight up at her now with vengeance fell on him again. "Non, you are not going to run away! you are going to follow me," she whispered to him.



"He saw Nepeese put her two arms up around the man beast's neck."

They came at last into an open. It was a tiny meadow in the heart of the balsams, not more than three or four times as big as the cabin, and frost stopped and put him down on his feet, the grass was soft and green, and here and there were flowers. Straight through the heart of this little oasis trickled a streamlet across which the Willow jumped with Baree. Nepeese and on the edge of the rill was a small wigwam made of frankly cut spruce boughs and balsam bough. Before dinner the redheaded the Willow threw her head to see that things were as she had left them yesterday. Then, with a long breath of relief, she put down her furs in front and fastened the end of the baldie to one of the cabin spruce poles.

Baree barrelled himself back into the will of the wigwam, and with head at her—and eyes wide open—watched attentively what happened after this. Not a movement of the Willow escaped him. She was radiant—and happy. Her laugh, sweet and wild as a bird's trill, set Baree's heart throbbing with a desire to jump and romp with her among the balsams.

For a time Nepeese seemed to forget Baree. Her wild blood raced with the joy of the moment. She was free, far from Lac Bain. She saw him again. Sauntering about in the pool—picturing with horror the thing that had happened. Since I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S Blood Medicine I feel so different. I recommend it to all my friends and hope it will cure other women who are suffering from the troubles I had."—Mrs. Tom H. Gathing, 321 Evelyn Street, Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for the new mother. It is prepared from roots and herbs, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken by the nursing mother.

Its worth in restoring the mother to normal health and strength is told again and again in just such letters as Mrs. Gardner writes.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound shows that 98 out of every 100 women taking the medicine are benefited by it. They write and tell us so. Such evidence entitles us to call it a dependable medicine for women. It is for sale by druggists everywhere.

Willow's head. He drew back slow it and cunningly from her lap and as Pierrot and Nepeese had done in the next instant Nepeese had risen and had run to Pierrot. The look in her father's face alarmed her.

"What has happ—I mean pere?" she cried.

Pierrot shrugged his shoulders.

"Nothing ma Nepeese—except that you have proved a thousand of this in the heart of the Factor from Lac Bain and that—"

He stopped as he saw Baree, and pointed at him.

"Last night when Mukoo the Fairy caught him in a snare he bit Mukoo's hand. Mukoo's hand is swollen twice its size and I have a pound of blood-thirsting black. It is just open."

"Perhaps" gasped Nepeese.

She backed into the cabin. There were dark and filled with a sinister gleam a flash of exultation, she thought.

"Yes, it is the blood-poison," said Pierrot. A gleam of cunning shot into his eyes as he looked over his shoulder, and nodded. "I have broken the medicin—and told him there is no time to lose in getting back to Lac Bain. He is waiting. He is waiting. What that blackening hand, he is afraid to start back alone—and so I go with him. And—listen, ma Nepeese. We will be away by sundown, and there is something you must know before I go."

Baree saw them there, close together in the shadow thrown by the tall spruce trees. He heard the low murmur of their voices—chief of Pierrot's, and at last he saw Nepeese put her two arms up around the man-beast's neck, and then Pierrot went away again into the forest.

CHAPTER XV.

For a long time after Pierrot left them the Willow did not move from where she had seated herself beside Baree. It was at last the deepening shadows and a new rumble in the sky that roused her from the fear of the things Pierrot had told her. When she looked up, black clouds were massing slowly over the open space above the spruce-tops. Darkness was falling. In the whisper of the wind and the dead stillness of the thickening gloom there was the sullen brewing of storm.

Nepeese shivered and rose to her feet. For the first time Baree got up, and he crept close at her side. Above them a lightning flash cut the clouds like a knife of fire, followed in an instant by a terrible crash of thunder. Baree whined back as if struck a blow. He would have slunk into the shelter of the brush wall of the wigwam, but there was something about the Willow as he looked at her which gave him confidence. The thunder crashed again, and Baree cringed on farther. His eyes were fixed on Nepeese.

On that night, it may be, the Spirit of Storm was born in Nepeese. She

Captain Of Liner Is Shot

Capt. Clews of C.P.R. Steamship Metagama Is Killed At Antwerp

Antwerp, [illegible] Captain Clews, of the Canadian Pacific steamship Metagama, was shot and killed by a sailor on board the vessel this morning.

The sailor, who was a negro, ran into the Rue de Henry Dere, the landlord driver and Wall street, who died in 1923.

Two other officers of the Metagama were seriously wounded by the captain's murderer and are in an Antwerp hospital. The murderer, Daniel Bonjamin Cardozo, an English negro, engineer and fireman, England, and emigrant.

The movement of the tragedy probably will be known in connection with the general commanding the Third West Corps with headquarters at Salonika.

The shooting occurred in the midst of considerable excitement, as all vessels in the Antwerp-Gibraltar border is the center of the trouble.

Canada Sending Radio Delegate To Washington

Ottawa.—The department of marine and fisheries will be represented at the fourth United States radio conference at Washington, commencing on November 9, by C. P. Edwards, director of radio for Canada.

The conference is being called by the United States department of commerce, primarily to discuss radio matters in the United States, but following the precedent of previous years, Canada, Mexico and Cuba have been asked to send representatives in order that there may be co-ordination in the development of radio in North America.

Increase In Pulp Exports

United States Will Soon Depend On Canada For Newsprint Supply

Montreal—Canada's increasing exports of pulp and paper to the United States, more than any other reason had been the factor in bringing the Canadian dollar back to par and maintaining it at its proper value, declared Sir Herbert Ames, speaking at the convention of the Canadian Paper Trade Association, here.

H. H. Wilson, president of the association, said reports were growing by leaps and bounds, and the time was not far distant "when the United States would be entirely dependent on Canada for its newsprint."

Japanese Trade Competition

Chicago.—Great Britain's army of unemployed is great because of the industrial growth of Japan, the Right Typothetae of America's convention was told by A. E. Goodwin, of London. Mr. Goodwin is director of the British Federation of Employers of the United Kingdom and Ireland.

Japanese competition with Great Britain is especially keen among textile and machinery lines, Mr. Goodwin said.

Air Traffic Gummed Up

Chicago.—A traffic cop in the air to guard crowds from stunt fliers is planned by Morgan A. Collins, police chief. He will ask the city to provide the police department with a small pursuit plane, equipped with a powerful 100 and powerful searchlights.

Captain Of Liner Is Shot

Capt. Clews of C.P.R. Steamship Metagama Is Killed At Antwerp

Antwerp, [illegible] Captain Clews, of the Canadian Pacific steamship Metagama, was shot and killed by a sailor on board the vessel this morning.

The sailor, who was a negro, ran into the Rue de Henry Dere, the landlord driver and Wall street, who died in 1923.

Two other officers of the Metagama were seriously wounded by the captain's murderer and are in an Antwerp hospital. The murderer, Daniel Bonjamin Cardozo, an English negro, engineer and fireman, England, and emigrant.

The movement of the tragedy probably will be known in connection with the general commanding the Third West Corps with headquarters at Salonika.

The shooting occurred in the midst of considerable excitement, as all vessels in the Antwerp-Gibraltar border is the center of the trouble.

Zionist Student Called Martyr

Defies Charge of Attempted Assassination of Polish President

Warsaw, Poland, Tuesday, appeared in court today to answer charges arising out of the attempted assassination of President Wojciechowski by a bomb at Lodz. The accused, Abraham Stossel, Stanislaw Steiger, who was seen running away after the bomb was thrown, was arrested by the police on the spot. He is a fully developed Polish Socialist chemist. It proved to be innocent from the beginning, declining to have any counsel to defend him. He declared that he was a martyr and is determined to die for his defence.

GREECE DEMANDS HEAVY INDEMNITY FROM BULGARIA

Athens, Greece has demanded an indemnity of [illegible] Drama to be paid to Bulgaria. The amount of the demands was not announced although [illegible] agreement was reached between the two countries.

Drama was a town in Macedonia, which was ceded to Bulgaria by the treaty of Bucharest in 1913.

Prefects Radio Development

May See Newspapers As Complete Pictures is Forecast

Chicago.—Radio has a future in which facsimile newspapers will be flashed on complete pictures.

International broadcasting will be developed to such an extent that conversations will penetrate to the remotest corners of the world and end rivalry between nations, it is predicted.

This is the vision of Major General James G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America, revealed in an address delivered before a conference on education and industry at the University of Chicago.

"I do not believe," Major Harbord thinks, there must be an international conference "to settle grave issues that cannot be much longer delayed."

Settlers From Ukrania

Mennonites Arrive in West For Land

Saskatoon.—A party of 689 Mennonites from Ukrainia have arrived here and will take up farms in Saskatchewan. The majority of the settlers will locate in the Hoothorn district. Approximately 100 will settle in the Rashkow district while some will go into Alberta where arrangements have been made to locate a fairly large number.

The party was brought to Canada under the auspices of the Mennonite colonization board which has its headquarters at Rosthern.

AMERICAN EDITORS EXPRESS GRATITUDE

His Worship the mayor of Edmonton also sent a letter of thanks and congratulations, as will be noted.

May I take this opportunity to convey to you our appreciation of the delightful visit to Fort Saskatchewan recently as members of the American Agricultural Editors' Association.

I want in no way to pass that, to me, the dinner given us by the women of your community was the most appetizing of any that we had on the entire trip, and I wish that you might extend to the women whose efforts resulted in such a delightful meal, our appreciation of it.

We are glad of the opportunity to visit Fort Saskatchewan and to make a short tour of the up-to-date and prosperous farming country which surrounds it.

T. A. LEADLEY,
Managing Editor,
The Nebraska Farmer.

I have heard Mrs. Buchard mention many times to our friends that during all her trip through Canada the most splendid and sumptuous repast was that served to us at Fort Saskatchewan.

She has recounted how the tables were beautifully ladened with attractive and delicious food, and the graciousness of the service by the men and women of your community.

I can only second her encomiums and thank you and your co-workers for the very delightful visit that was made possible through the people of your community.

PAUL C. BUCHARD,
Managing Editor,
Hearst's Delineator.

Please accept my thanks and congratulations upon the splendid reception given by the residents of Fort Saskatchewan and District to the party of American Editors.

They were greatly impressed with what was done for them, and also with what they were able to see of the country, and Edmonton is greatly indebted to the Town of Fort Saskatchewan for its co-operation in the reception.

Please convey this message to your citizens.

H. A. BLATCHFORD,
Mayor of Edmonton.

BYE-ELECTIONS TO BE HELD

Bye-elections to fill the six vacancies in the Alberta legislature created by the resignations of members who have entered the federal field, will be held before another session, but as yet no date has been fixed for these elections. The vacancies in the house were created by the resignations of the following members: C W. Ross, Edson; S. J. Tobin, Leduc; T. C. Milnes, Clarenholm; A. R. McLennan, Edmonton, Liberals; Dr. Stewart, Lethbridge, Conservative, and W. M. Davidson, Calgary, Independent.

The freedom of the press doesn't create half as much comment as the freedom of the dress.

Yellowhead
"BREWED AS A BEER SHOULD BE"
When the day's work is done, and you are tired and listless owing to high-pressure business demands, there is nothing so stimulating or refreshing as a glass of Yellowhead. You do not have to take a distasteful medicine because you need a tonic. Yellowhead Beer, with the fragrance and vitalizing flavor of barley malt and hops, skilfully blended in a most delightful way, and matured for months until it reaches a satisfying mellowness, is nature's antidote for an over-wrought nervous system.

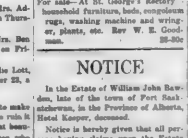
The Tractor In Russia
Is Rapidly Taking Place of Old Wooden Plow

Gradually the American tractor is making triumphant progress in Russia. It is being distributed by the cooperative organizations on easy terms of payment to peasant communities and is replacing the old wooden plow. Up to 1914 there had been imported into Russia only 370 tractors. At the beginning of 1925, the government had brought its purchases up to 1,425. The Soviet now contemplates that this year provides for the purchase of an additional five thousand.

How Robert M. Koenig Found Remedy for Pimply Skin



For years my skin would break out every once in a while—small eruptions did very little to help me.

I read a doctor's article stating that pimply skin usually comes from a stomach—bad bowels not getting rid of the poison.

I tried Carter's Little Liver Pills for a few days—and since that time my skin is smooth and clear. Now I tell my friends the right way of getting rid of a broken out skin—and also of clearing dirty of upset stomach and dark headache. Carter's are all you claim to be.—

Rats Cause Much Damage
Britain's Annual Loss Through Rodents is Said to be Enormous

During the recent invasion of Buckingham Palace by rats and their increase throughout the country, the Anti Rodent Society has started its fall campaign, urging housewives, storekeepers and all other particularly citizens to "do your rat-killing early," says a dispatch from London. The country has been invaded in a manner by a recent statement estimating the annual loss to England through rats at approximately £70,000,000 sterling.

Women Can Retain Their Good Looks

Mrs. Wm. Fletcher of 28 Cherry St., Stratford, Ont., says: "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a tonic and nervine that I would recommend to every woman nearing middle life. I found it soothing to the nerves, but it also relieved me of hot flashes, dizziness and backaches. Before I took the 'Prescription' and the strangest sort of pain, like a knife cutting thru my back. I took four bottles of the 'Prescription' and can truthfully say every particle of pain has disappeared and I am feeling as well as any person could."

Go to your neighborhood drug store at once and obtain this Prescription in tablets or liquid, or send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., for trial package.

Corn Culture in the West

Corn is at stably gaining in popularity throughout the west as an aid to diversified farming and it is estimated that 190,000 acres were grown in Saskatchewan last year. Although seed was scarce in 1924 and the price rather high, the acreage will probably be slightly higher this year than last.

GIRLS' A.A.A. HALLOWEEN DANCE DECIDED SUCCESS

The Girls' A.A.A. dance held last Friday was both a social and financial success, a fact which enables the girls to feel highly pleased at the result of their endeavors. The hall was tastefully and suitably decorated for the annual visit of witches, ghosts, and the like, and the carnival hats worn by the revellers were a visible sign of the invisible presence. A new innovation was the "get it when you want it" buffet supper, which was popular with the dancers and a source of profit to the association.

The Pearless Harmony orchestra gave extreme satisfaction, their new selections being very well received.

J. D. McLean was master of ceremonies.

The Women's Institute has arranged for a lecture to be given by Prof. A. E. Ottewell, entitled "The Life of Sir John Franklin," at the Memorial hall, Thursday, November 12, at 8 p.m. A silver collection will be taken to defray expenses.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT RED CROSS LANTERN LECTURE

A very interesting lantern lecture on Red Cross work was given in the Memorial hall this evening by Mrs Waugen, provincial president of the society. There was a large attendance.

A musical program preceded the lecture, the following artists contributing:

Pianoforte duet—Mrs. Pocock and Mr. Markle

Vocal duet—Mrs. Glover and Mrs. [illegible]

Vocal solo—Mr. Markle.

Pianoforte solo—Miss Viola Barley

TUXIS NOTES

The Y.C.C. Tonic Square held its regular meeting on Tuesday. The Mentor continued his lectures on Architecture in a discussion of the five classic styles. After the business the members took part in blindfold boxing and it sure brought great applause from the onlookers. The meeting closed in the usual manner.

NEXT WEDNESDAY IS ARMISTICE DAY

Local G.W.V.A. will place wreath of poppies on monument in memory of their fallen comrades

Next Wednesday being Armistice Day the local G.W.V.A. has arranged for the sale of poppies (the flower of remembrance) on that day. The sale of these poppies will be conducted by the Boy Scouts.

At 11 a.m. the town bell will be rung to signify the fact the one minute silence is being observed, and the bell will be rung again at its conclusion. At the time the G.W.V.A. will place a poppy wreath on the monument in memory of those comrades who gave their lives in the Great War. All members of the G.W.V.A. are asked to attend at this ceremony, and the rest of him and the general public are invited to participate.

Pleasant View

The monthly meeting of the U.F.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Geo Fray on Wednesday last. There was a fairly large attendance and considerable business was discussed, after which the hostess served a dainty lunch. It was decided to hold a masquerade dance in the community hall on Friday evening, November 20th. Suitable prizes will be given for comic and fancy costumes.

Mr. G. Southgate is engaged in moving his house.

Cupid has been busy of late. Dame Rumor reports that we may expect to hear wedding bells ring in this locality in the near future at frequent intervals.

Mr and Mrs. J. T. Krebs are now settled in their comfortable new home.

Mrs. Geo Fray visited in Edmonton during the first week.

Miss Dunning lead jam home on the sick list during the past week with tonsilitis.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McLeod are moving this week to their farm at Bardgate.

SWINE CLUB CONVENTION

Some forty boys and girls between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, members of boys' and girls' swine clubs from eleven different districts in the central and northern part of the province, will attend the third annual swing club show which will be held in Edmonton on November 5 and 6. In addition to exhibiting the pigs which they have cared for during the past season, these farm boys and girls will take part in two judging competitions.

The swine clubs are established under the direction of the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

THE MAGIC CARPET

Once upon a time in the mystic land of Persia, there was found among the treasures of a king, a wonderful carpet. One had only to sit on it, wish to be somewhere, and away the carpet would fly till the wished-for place was reached. For hundreds of years it carried kings and princes on the most amazing adventures. No one knows what finally became of it, but it may be that its last threads went into the make-up of the first Youth's Companion. For, like the magic carpet, The Companion for 1925 carries you to the land of your heart's desire — up into the Maine woods with the lumbermen; out on the western plains where the warlike Navaho Indians live; far up into the gold regions of Alaska; and away on the Southern seas in search of treasure and lost islands. All you need for such extraordinary adventures is a young heart and a Youth's Companion. Don't lose time in getting started; subscribe now and receive:

THE PROFITABLE FEEDER STEER

(Experimental Farms Note)

That there is good money in feeding steers of the right type has been demonstrated at the Dominion Experimental farm at Brandt. At this station during a period of eight years an average net profit of $7.00 on dollars and forty cents per head has been realized.

In order to realize a substantial profit in feeding and marketing steers of recognized beef type are required. Poor doing, unthrifty animals cost more to feed, spoil the appearance of the lots as a whole, are difficult to dispose of, and obviously are a losing proposition to the owner. It is, therefore, evident that when purchasing steers to place in the feed lot some experience is necessary in order to detect those undesirable individuals, and farmers who are not skilled buyers will usually find it more profitable to purchase steers through a reliable live stock commission firm. The losses incurred through ignorance of the market demands are appalling and the failure to give sufficient attention to the sorting of the steers into carload lots which are uniform as to breed, color, type, finish and age, contributes largely to these losses.

Both in this country and in the Old Country, the market shows a decided preference for the handy-weight butcher steer and the highest prices are paid for steers not exceeding 1300 pounds in weight. Steers of this description can be disposed of more readily and profitably as the smaller cuts of meat are preferred by the consuming public and there is less waste. The big steer, which the Great Britain trade terms the 'carcase bullock,' is not desired by the average butcher.

A Brighter Day For Europe

It is long now that we have been living. For seven long and difficult years Europe has been struggling a rocky road trying to find a way out of the morass of hatreds, bigotry, racial disorders and suspicions, and the financial wreckage following the conclusion of the Great War. Conference has followed conference after conference has struggled with the problems involved, the League of Nations has patiently sought to smooth away difficulties, remove misunderstandings and create a general feeling of confidence, the while supplying checks to unwise and aggressive action calculated to upset world peace.

Slowly but surely progress was made notwithstanding the fact that the United States refused to join in the League or to participate in conferences and resolutions large those which involved questions affecting payments of war debts, in which the United States is vitally interested. Had the United States removed, as is, from the local pre-judice and jealousies of continental Europe, and as a disinterested part in helping to work out European problems, it is safe to say that greater progress would have been made, and the standing of the United States among the nations of the world would have been immeasurably higher today.

Great Britain however, true to all her great traditions, and notwithstanding her own many and serious domestic problems and crushing war debt, accordially planned and worked for the salvation of Europe. Possibly to a greater extent than ever before has Great Britain demonstrated her world leadership. This may not be fully appreciated as yet, but future historians when they come to record the progress of world events and European reconstruction since the Great War can hardly fail to award credit to whom credit is due.

And at last the turning in the boat lane would appear to have been reached in the conferences unanimously arrived at by the conference recently concluded at Locarno, Switzerland, and effect to which will shortly be given by the signing of six treaties, and one of which is a document by which the Germany, France and Belgium agree to arbitrate all disputes among themselves, with treat Britain and Italy as guarantors. In other words, should Germany break faith, both Great Britain and Italy are automatically arrayed with France and Belgium, should France or Belgium violate the agreement, Great Britain and Italy will support Germany

Unlike the old Triple Alliance between Germany, Austria Hungary and Italy, or the alliance between France and Russia, or the Russo Entente between Great Britain and France, which were pledges to go to war in support of each other should certain contingencies arise, this new treaty is one guaranteeing peace and the prevention of war.

The credit for the Locarno conference belongs to the Foreign Secretary of Great Britain, Hon. Austen Chamberlain, who brought it about and provided over it. His was the directing genius which led to the final removal of all obstacles and brought about this happy culmination which, it is agreed by all observers and students of international affairs, ushers in an entirely new era in European politics.

One of the important results to follow from the Locarno conference and the drafting of these new treaties will be the early entry of Germany into full membership in the League of Nations. So long as the great central nation of Europe remained outside, the League could not possibly become the dominating factor in Europe and the world which its creators designed it should be But with Germany in, the League of Nations will become reality in an entirely new sense. Many of its greatest difficulties and most serious problems will thereby be removed. It may even pave the way for a changed public opinion in the United States and the ultimate acceptance of the League Covenant by Canada's next door neighbour, a consummation most devoutly to be wished.

Use Them Freely

In many families it is a problem to find a suitable remedy for children. Here is a dish that will please a family of six, besides having the indispensable elements of health. Pour over cups cooked macaroni.
cup cooked carrots (diced).
cup cooked turnips (diced).
tablespoons chopped parsley.
tablespoons chopped fresh red pepper.
cup chopped ham.
tablespoons buttered crumbs tablespoons St. Charles MILK cup water tablespoons butter tablespoon salt teaspoon salt.
teaspoon paprika.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water 25 minutes. Make a white sauce of butter, flour, milk, salt, paprika. Place a layer of macaroni in a well greased baking dish, then cubes with ham, carrots and seasonings. Repeat layers. All are now covered with the white sauce. Cover top with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

An Essentially Canadian Industry, Fur Farming Is Developing At Rapid Rate, East And West

Fresh indication is constantly being given of the remarkable manner in which Canada's newest industry, that of fur farming in its broadest conception, is seeking upon the popular imagination and winning fresh followers as well as periodically broadening the scope of its activities. With surprising frequency announcement is made of persons attending the efforts to bring under domestication some new species of Canada's fauna, while a very gratifying number of individuals, realizing the future status of the industry and the profits to be derived therefrom, are going to join the swelling army of Canada's fur farmers, Governments anticipating the same practical line and recognizing the wisdom of intelligent development and early stabilization are beginning to take steps for the encouragement of the industry and to put in effect measures for the achievement and maintenance of a high standard.

Prince Edward Island has been progressive in this regard, as is natural in the birthplace of the industry. A research experimental station, with special reference to foxes, has been established through the co-operation of provincial and federal governments to prosecute work for the benefit of fox breeders all over the Dominion. Ontario, too, has taken the lead in many things. Here its official endorsement to fur farming is in a very practical manner. It is to establish, and operate a fur farm as an expert supervision for the encouragement of the domestic rearing of all of the wild fur bearers of the province. The aim of the government is to assist prospective fur raisers by educating them, practically a fund of valuable information for their use, and setting them ready first-class stock for establishment. The provincial department of agriculture of Alberta has announced that its plans getting into operation a fur marketing service designed to meet the requirements of small operators for a medium of marketing, and which will not only serve the needs of trappers in the north, but those of Alberta's growing ranks of fur farmers.

Meanwhile signs of the expansion of the new phase of the fur industry are to be observed on every hand. The popularity so rapidly achieved by muskrat farming has been almost overwhelmed, and all over the country, sections of an unheard previously considered worthless, are being transformed into profitable muskrat ranches. The industry of chinchilla rabbit farming, so recently inaugurated, promises fine returns to such considerable proportions. Establishments for raising this little animal, introduced from Europe and proven through experiments in Saskatchewan ,to thrive particularly well in the brisk Canadian climate and raise a richer, more valuable pelt than there, are now to be found in Ontario and Quebec.

On the Pacific coast, and in fact throughout Western Canada, fur farming is exhibiting a remarkable growth. Residents of that broad territory, getting away from the mammoth concerns of agriculture and entering more extensively into the greater phases, have adopted the domestic rearing of fur bearers with characteristic vigor and enthusiasm. On Vancouver Island, where less than eighteen months ago there were not half a dozen fur farms, there are today about forty. A similar popularity is to be observed throughout the prairie provinces.

Fur farming, as a broad, multiplexed activity developing out of fur farming, is an essentially Canadian industry whose era is but opening Yet already, in expert opinion, its future is assured and it will in time become as staple as wheat growing, cattle raising or mixed farming. Fur production will shortly become revolutionized, and instead of the piles of rich pelts which go from the Dominion all over the world being brought in from the Arctic isolation, they will emanate from small, intensive fur farms, raised by men living under the pleasant est of social conditions.

A beautiful butterfly, found in the Fox district, England, has a scent gland in the top of its head. A spray of perfume from this gland is so powerful that it drives away hostile insects.

Factors in Milk Contamination

Proper Procedure to Follow in Order to Produce Clean Milk

In the report of the comparatively recently organized division of bacteriology of the Dominion experimental farms, covering the year 1924 it is shown that the factors that stand out prominently in the contamination of milk are five carelessly cleansed pails are among the best and cleanliness of the milker himself. Pails should be carefully cleaned and well dried. Care should also be taken to see that any effective manure particles get into the pail during milking. Dr A Grant Lochhead of the Dominion agricultural bacteriological staff is responsible for the report which can be had at no cost on application to the publication branch of the agricultural department, Ottawa. Other minor factors that are apt to increase milk contamination.

Tests have been made in the central experimental farm to ascertain how the milk is affected and statistical tables are supplied showing to what degree milk may be contaminated by unsanitary conditions pertaining to the milker, hand, stable and utensils A clean, healthy cow is the first essential, remarks the doctor, are the big things in producing clean milk. A study is also made of the bacteria producing a bitter flavor in milk, of the microbiology of frozen soil and of Bacillus coli communis, the cause of abnormal gas in agriculture the same as in other things.

Record Movement Of Wheat

Grain Marketed on C.P.R. Lines at the Rate of Seventy-five Bushels Per Second

More than 303,663,763 bushels or wheat, 98 per cent. of which has gravitated to the Fort William and Port Arthur elevators, is the record movement of grain on the Canadian Pacific lines west, and transmitted at the rate of five miles per hour, it would take eight and a half weeks for those wagons to pass a given point. The marketing season on C.P.R. in September amounted to 63,360,967 bushels. In twenty-five nine-hour working days this is at the rate of 75 bushels per second.

After a woman reaches the age of 30 it is impossible to convince her that the good all die young.

Health Of Our Livestock

Good Progress Has Been Made in the Control of Disease

There is much of a comforting nature in the report for 1924 of the health of animals branch of the department of agriculture at Ottawa. The veterinary director general, Dr George Hilton, in reviewing the contagious diseases existing in Canada shows that the animal diseases that a few years ago were troublesome have been banished from the country Rabies has not been detected in any part of Canada for years. Hoof and mouth disease has been reported among breeding horses for five years and sporadic cases in beef cattle for four years. Contagious pleuro-pneumonia has been eradicated from the country, only two outbreaks of any consequence having occurred in the past seven months. Glanders and mange parasites get into the country principally through importations, but have been practically eradicated. Suppression of glanders and the almost complete suppression of mange parasites, with the co-operation of the provincial authorities in Alberta and Saskatchewan, have been necessary and effective. Hog cholera, formerly the most serious contagious disease affecting swine, has been practically eradicated in Eastern Canada and Manitoba are free of the disease. Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Quebec and British Columbia are free from mange, but isolated cases are reported in Nova Scotia and Ontario. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have had to have sporadic outbreaks, especially in the northern districts. Among the infectious diseases of cattle tuberculosis is the most serious and widespread affection. Eastern Canada has been made the central experimental farm to ascertain how the milk is affected and statistical tables are supplied showing to what degree milk may be contaminated by unsanitary conditions pertaining to the milker, hand, stable and utensils A clean, healthy cow is the first essential, remarks the doctor, are the big things in producing clean milk. A study is also made of the bacteria producing a bitter flavor in milk, of the microbiology of frozen soil and of Bacillus coli communis, the cause of abnormal gas in agriculture the same as in other things.

Sugar Beet Cultivation May Prove A Great Factor In The Prosperity Of Western Canada

Making Progress in Fight Against Rust

Saskatoon Scientists Make Further Discoveries in Complicated Struggle

The first work carried on for some years at the University of Saskatchewan is assuming new phases in the shape of breeding tests conducted in the cereal breeding section of the field husbandry department.

The end in view is a wheat that will have all the good qualities of the best strains of Marquis wheat which will also be highly resistant to all the rust strains existing in Canada. During the past season a large number of crosses were made with Marquis on a highly rust resistant strain of familia. At Minnesota there has already been developed a highly rust resistant cross between Marquis and familia, which is known as Marquis-familia 11. This cross is of good quality, high yielding, combining in a high degree the milling qualities of Marquis, as well as the earliness and strength of straw, but the flour is too yellow to be satisfactory to the millers. It is hoped by back-crossing Marquis with Marquis-familia 64 that a strain may be produced which will have the flour color of Marquis combined with the rust resistance and other desirable qualities of Marquis-familia 64.

It will take many years and many hundreds of crosses together with careful selection and testing before the desired results are obtained. In undertaking these experiments the scientist in charge makes in very clear that he has no assurance that a high quality wheat immune in all rust strains may ever be discovered.

British Cattle Raisers Worried

Foot and Mouth Disease Has Again Broken Out

Cattle raisers are worried over a recurrence of the foot and mouth disease at several places in England. Scarcely had the minister of agriculture's withdrawal of the last restriction dealing with the disease been announced when an isolated outbreak was reported. Since then there have been several others.

The restrictions have been reimposed in some places, notably Manchester, where hundreds of cattle and sheep are brought in from Wales and Westmoreland and slaughtered. Under the restrictions, any sheep or cattle coming in must be immediately slaughtered.

Only a few more weeks before winter is with us again. Better be looking up an old flame.

FORT GARRY ORCHESTRA FOR RADIO

Radio fans in Western Canada and all the Western States, who frequently expressed their appreciation of the studio dance music programmes from Station CNRW in the Fort Garry Hotel, Winnipeg, will this winter find a new orchestra catering to their enjoyment. Photograph shows the new Fort Garry Orchestra, headed by Mr. L. A. Plume, which has opened its winter engagement at this hotel, and which will be heard every Wednesday evening in both studio and dance selections from the new studio of CNRW, which is located in the Fort Garry.

At Jasper Park Lodge during the summer months, Mr. Plume's orchestra was the pleasure of hundreds of tourists, both Americans and Canadians, who stated that in their travels in the various summer resorts on the continent, they had not found an orchestra which surpassed that of Jasper for either dance or concert numbers.

The Fort Garry Orchestra will be broadcast every Wednesday evening as it plays studio and dance numbers at the Fort Garry.

Trees Worth Three Million

New York Girl Finds Tree Farming is Profitable

Trees cannot, it is true, be made by guests, but they can be nurtured with which are unlikely to germinate who has studied them and understands their needs that they more than repay that someone in beauty and economic

Miss Evelyn W. Smith of Ana walk, N.Y., has so far realized her father's cherished hobby—tree farming—that her estate at the foot of the Berkshires holds 1,000,000 trees worth almost $2,000,000. For eleven years Miss Smith has worked at her tree culture with patience and enthusiasm until today her domain is visited by admiring tree lovers, landscape architects and college forest specialists interested in the results of her experiments.

The sturdy, beautiful Anawalk trees are so much in demand for memorial purposes for landscape decoration. Only a short time ago a beech was sent to Belgium to replace a lovely grove ruined in the world war. Other orders have come from all parts of the United States.

The new million dollar beet sugar refinery of the Canadian Sugar Factories Ltd., at Raymond, in Southern Alberta, has started operations, resulting in the completion of a major part of the industry in that territory under much favorable auspices. It is now evident that this new Alberta industry is going to a good start and with the exercise of consideration, has great possibilities.

After exhaustive investigation and preparation United States interests entered the Southern Alberta field for the refining of sugar from beets in the spring of 1925. Promise was made to erect a sugar refinery at Raymond in the heart of the irrigated district if farmers would contract for six acres of 6,000 acres of beets. It is estimated that 7,000 acres will be required this year and reports indicate the growing season were to the effect that stands were 95 per cent perfect. The first sugar from a sugar beet plant in Alberta is officially stated, is exceptionally good, and it would not be surprising if the tonnage produced reached 80 000 tons

Such a successful year or inception to get great possibilities of the beet-growing Marquis with Marquis-familia 64 that a strain may be produced which will have the flour color of Marquis combined with the rust resistance and other desirable qualities of Marquis-familia 64.

It will take many years and many hundreds of crosses together with careful selection and testing before the desired results are obtained. "BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

Nepesse, daughter of Pierrot, the trapper, carried Baree, the young wolf dog, from her father's cabin into the woods after she was fearful of the return of McTaggart, the factor whom, a few minutes before, she had pitched into a twenty foot stream when he made an overzealous advance to her. She met her father, who had learned that McTaggart had killed poisons, the result of a bite on the hand by Baree when the factor found the dog in one of his traps.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued

It was not like shiny calm Baree had known. It was an inundation, sweeping down out of the blackness of the skies. Within five minutes the bank of the balsam shelter was a showerbath—half an hour of that torrential downpour, and Nepesse was nowhere in the skin. The water ran in little rivulets down her back and breast; it trickled in tiny streams from her dripping braids and dropped from her long lashes, and the blanket under her was wet as a mop. To her it was almost as bad as being drowning in the stream after his fight with Papo-ichimo, and he crouched closer and closer under the shrinking arm of Wilow. It seemed an interminable time before the thunder rolled far to the east, and the lightning died away into distant and intermittent flashings. Even after that the rain fell for another hour. Then it stopped as suddenly as it had begun.

With a laughing gasp Nepesse rose to her feet. The water gurgled in her moccasins as she walked out into the open. She paid no attention to Baree—and he followed her. Across the open in the tree-tops the last of the thunderclouds were drifting away.

Nepesse looked down and saw Baree. He was standing close and unleashed, with freedom on all sides of him. Yet he did not run. He was waiting, as a waiter rat, with his eyes on her expectantly. Nepesse made a movement toward him, and hesitated.

"Go, you will not run away, Baree—"

NERVOUS BREAK-DOWN

Pains in Back and Legs Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ford, Ontario.—"I had a nervous break-down, as it is called, with severe pains in my back and legs, and with bleeding spells which left me very weak. I was nervous and could not sleep nor eat as I should and spent most time in bed. I was in the state, more or less, for over two years before Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by my neighbor. Before I had taken five doses I was sitting up in bed, and when the first bottle was taken I was out of bed and able to walk around the house. During my sickness I had been obliged to get some one to look after my home for me, but thanks to the Vegetable Compound I am now able to look after it myself. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine in turn with the Vegetable Compound, and I certainly recommend these medicines to any one who is not enjoying good health. I am quite willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. Bumpstead, 180 Jos. Jasmine Avenue, Ford, Ontario.

Nervousness, irritability, painful times, run-down feelings and weakness are symptoms to be noted. Women suffering from these troubles, which they so often have, should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. All druggists sell this medicine.

She stood there, trembling, her face white in the gloom, her eyes wide and filled with a strange fear. Baree sniffed the air, and looked at her, and sniffed the air again. He was waiting for her to do something.

"Baree, you will not run away?" she pleaded. "You will not go back to the cabin and be caught in a trap—or go eating in the forest that was not dripping! They could hear the trickle of running water all about them.

"Baree, you will not run away?"

She called to him softly as she slipped out on her wet moccasins and walked to the creek into the forest. A hundred yards from the open she came to the edge of a pool. "If you down and lay close to her, panting a little in the tightness of her chest, the smile faded from his face, leaving it cold and distant.

There was a change in Pierrot. During the three days of her disappearance, Nepesse had been quite too excited to notice this change, but Pierrot had tried to keep it from her. He had been away ten days on the trip to Lac Bain, and it was during that time that the old fear of losing Nepesse the joyous mate that Violet McTaggart was very sick with pneumonia. Pierrot's primitive mind had made the Willow chop her hands and head hopelessly. But he knew that the Factor would get well, and that he would come again to their cabin on the Gray Loon. And when next time he came—

It was when he was thinking of this that his face grew cold and hard, and his eyes burned. And he was thinking of it on this her birthday—and soon as her daughter Rachel to the cabin. Then, in spite of her resistance years, she was nothing but a child baby! She could not endure the horrible visions. And the dread of awakening her for all time from the innocent childhood that had been hers during her the whole trip—that she might have understood, and she came quietly, like a shadow to his side. His soul beat with a great and exultant love. He, Pierrot the outcast, would do the watching. And she—should sleep and play and live, and have no share in the black loneliness that had come to spoil his life.

On this day there came to Pierrot, the south, Mr'Isonia, the gum-chewing trader. He was gay and welcome with a great free hospitality in his heart. Two days he remained with Pierrot. He told Nepesse of his daughters at home, of their mother whom he worshipped more than anything else on earth—and because he was so good at the game, Nepesse and Pierrot had Dutch McTaggart were gone.

CHAPTER XVI.

It was the morning of August—the Flying up Moon when Pierrot returned from Lac Bain, and in the night, Nepesse would be sixteen. Wife's son's eleventh birthday. He hesitated to tell her such many things as Nepesse—about her hair, her shoes, which she wore at times like the two Englishwomen at Nelson House, and chief glory of all, somewhere of a dozen dresses. In the three winters she had spent at the Mission these women had made much of Nepesse. They had taught her to sew as well as to spell and read and pray, and at times there came to Pierrot a compelling desire to do as they did.

He was never this. Nepesse worked hard on her fifteenth birthday, and her birthday she rested before Pierrot in a fashion that took his breath away. She had piled her hair in green sprigs of moss and willow on the crown of her head, as Yetume, the youngest of the Englishwomen, had taught her, and in the middle of it had hung a bright, vivid sprig of the crimson fire flower. Under this, and the glow in her eyes, and the red flush of her lips and cheeks came the wonderful red dress, fitted to the slim and amazing beauty of her form—to the arms had been the winters ago at Nelson House. And under the dress, which reached just below the knees, Nepesse had quite forgotten the proper length, or else her material had run out—came the camp de mutire of her tallest, real stockings and the wonderful shoes with high heels. She was a vision before which the gods of she forests might have felt their hearts stop beating.

Pierrot turned her round and round without a word but smiling; but when she had him, Nepesse threw, and limping a little in the tightness

"It will be deep and sweet tonight. Nisga—yes, we will go."

She called to him softly as she slipped out on her wet moccasins and walked to the creek into the forest. A hundred yards from the open she came to the edge of a pool. "If you down and fall to-night, three times as big as it had been before the storm" She could hear the surge and lurch of water on its rush and race to the stars above. For a moment or two she stood poised on a rock with the cool depths half a dozen feet below her. Then she flung back her hair and shot like a silken white arrow through the starlight.

Baree saw her go. He heard the plunge of her body. For half an hour he lay flat and still, close to the edge of the pool, and watched her. Some times she was just under him, floating silently, her hair forming a cloud darker than the water about her; again she was cutting over the surface almost as swiftly as the otters he had seen—and then with a sudden plunge she would disappear, and Baree's heart would quicken its pulse as he waited for her. Once she was gone a long time. He whined. He knew

"There was no smoke coming from the chimney. The door was closed. Pierrot and Dutch McTaggart were gone."

Well her wet clothes clinging to her lightly, she was like a slim shadow as she crossed the sunny open and lay her head among the forest trees. Baree still following her, went straight in a bird-like that she had located that day and began tearing off the bark. Within a hundred of this she had her emptied close to the wigwam, and on it she heaped load after load of wood until she had a great pile. From a bottle in the wigwam she secured a dry match, and at the first touch of the flame the bird-bark flared up like paper under it. Then she laid on bone later the Willow's fire—if there had been no forest walls to hide it could have been seen at the cabin a mile away. Not until it was blazing a dozen feet into the air did she come to the little wood on it. Then she drove sticks into the soft ground and over the sticks stretched the blanket and the dry. After that she began to undress.

She drew a deep breath, and her eyes narrowed with a sudden inspiration. Slowly her mouth formed into a round red O, and beaming still nearer to Baree, she whispered:

Nisga—yes, we will go!"

She called to him softly as she slipped out on her wet moccasins and walked to the creek into the forest. A hundred yards from the open she came to the edge of a pool. "If you down and fall to-night, three times as big as it had been before the storm" She could hear the surge and lurch of water on its rush and race to the stars above. A WOMAN'S WORK IS NEVER DONE

No Wonder Health Gives Out and She Becomes Weak and Despondent

It is literally true every active woman in the home that her work is never done. She starts with interruption when she rises in the morning and is kept busy up to the time she retires at night. The work must be done whether she is feeling well or not. No wonder that the active woman breaks down under the strain, who becomes breathless at slight exertion, feels exhausted if she walks up-stairs, headaches and dizzy spells become frequent, and life seems a burden. Many of this trouble is due to the fact that her blood has become thin and watery, and to regain her good health she must take a reliable blood building tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The great value of this form of medicine is shown by the statement of Mrs. Mary Nolan, Lisgar, Ont., who says—"When I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was a dead wreck. It was with great difficulty that I could do light housework. I suffered from headaches, so that I would feel violently at the least exertion, and I always felt tired and depressed. I did not sleep well at night and had no appetite—my life was a misery. I was so dragged down that I felt I could not live long. Then I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and had used the pills for some weeks before I began to feel their benefit, but was encouraged to continued taking them for several months. When I was again as strong as well as ever I had been. I say, by inclination in saying that these pills are a remarkable blood builder and strength renewer and I never be grateful for what they did for me."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

King George Severs In, Public Matters

But Easy Going in Private and Personal Affairs

Some of the Almeric Fitzroy "indiscretions," about which too much fuss has been made, have at least had the advantage of bringing out certain aspects of King George's character and personality which, perhaps, were not sufficiently known to the man in the street. One of these is the King's severe punctiliousness in everything relating to the public service, as contrasted with his easy-going good nature in all private and personal affairs. A blundering royal servant may count on the mildest and most good humored rebukes, while a minister or state official who offends stands a good chance of a smart rap over the knuckles from "the highest quarter." With King Edward—keen statesman as he was—it was, oddly enough, the other way about.—London Mail

Extra Funnels On Ships Are Useless

Only One Is Required To Carry Away Fumes

Many people are under the impression that the more funnels a ship has the faster it can steam. This is not the case, however.

Two liners have recently been fitted with three funnels each to give them a more imposing effect.

There are many fine vessels afloat today carrying extra funnels that are not needed for more than dummies, for modern engineering has proved it advantageous to bring all the "up takes" from the boiler rooms to one funnel.

It is curious that motorships have at least one funnel. This is because the vessels contain boilers, although they are not used for creating steam to propel the ship. They are for the hot water systems and central heating. Some means have to be found for carrying away the fumes hence the motor ships are fitted with funnels.

An Oil that is Prized Everywhere.—Mr. Thomas Alderville (Ont) was put upon the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a wider constituency to deal with, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

MAY ESTABLISH A NEUTRAL ZONE IN THE BALKANS

Paris.—A neutral demilitarized zone between Greece and Bulgaria will be established by the commissioners of conciliation now in the Balkans, it was learned today, as the result of the decision of the Balkan conference presided by the council of the League of Nations.

Getting a spur to the Balkan states' ambition to elaborate the security pact, the council will probably use its debate to establish precedents to guide the Balkan statesmen in handling any future difficulties—and will even aid possible influence to hasten the League's security agreement with Germany—supplemented not only by a bid has arisen against, but also by accusations of a broken sections of that pact.

Thus will it hasten the consideration of a disarmament conference, which the Locarno protocol halls as one of the hoped for results of the pending treaty of security.

The Balkan relief, which came at the psychological moment in the new peace-loving effort to Europeanize politics, has been on International landscapes which suddenly overshadow the conflict between Greece and Bulgaria. Four great powers—France, Great Britain, Italy and Japan, and six lesser powers, represented both the European and the American continents, which together make up the membership of the council, solemnly declared their conviction and determination that hence forth conciliation and arbitration, and not the thunder of cannon, must be resorted to when disputes and between states.

May Be Message From Wrecked Coaster

Found In Bottle Off Wark Island October 24

Vancouver.—What is said promises to be a message from one aboard of the ill-fated steamer Wanderer, which went down in the Queen Charlotte Islands during the October storm, was found in a bottle on the beach of Wark island, it was learned here today.

The message, which disappointingly, all hands lost, was found during the storm on Jan. 6 or 7, 1922.

The bottle, which was corked, and with a rather elaborate cover, was one of the bottles that were washed ashore from the Canadian Explosives Limited, Hamilton Powder and Dominion Explosives Company, when the vessel foundered. It carried a cargo of explosives, and when she struck on the rocks and began to break up, she was abandoned by her crew, who got safely to shore in the lifeboats.

Disastrous Blaze in New Brunswick Village

Fourth In Four Years To Damage Business Section

Petitcodiac, N.B.—Fire, prior to being brought under control by the local brigade, with assistance from Moncton, destroyed the business section of this village, and caused damage estimated at $100,000 despite all efforts of the volunteers. Before the fire was finally got under control it had spread to the residential district.

The fire, the origin of which is unknown, burned out the general store and three houses, and reached several other buildings including a hotel and the post office.

Petitcodiac, N.B. This is the fourth time in four years that the business section of this village has been destroyed by fire. Each time it was rebuilt on a more substantial scale than before, but the present conflagration has practically wiped out the entire business section.

Here and There

"Canada is the greatest asset country of any community on the face of the earth," stated St. Leo Strachy, editor and proprietor of the London Spectator, in the course of a recent address before the Canadian Club. He stressed the advantages the country enjoyed in her large wheat area, electrical energy, wood pulp and mineral assets.

Between 20,000 and 30,000 men are expected to work in the forests of the Province of Quebec during the coming winter, according to the chief forester of the province. It is anticipated there will be a good season in the pulp and paper products, but that the cut of lumber will not be so heavy owing to the low price prevalent for sawn lumber.

Cordial relations between the ports of Quebec and Liverpool were emphasized recently by the exchange of cables by the respective Chief Magistrates of the two cities. The occasion was the Civic Week Celebration at Liverpool when the Lord Mayor, Thomas Dowd, sent Mayor Joseph Samson, of Quebec, greetings to which the latter responded.

A record for October weddings was established at the Windsor Station, Montreal, early in that month, when twenty couples invaded the Concourse on their way to Boston, Quebec, Ottawa and Toronto. Two of the bridegrooms were honored following time-honored custom. It used to be the fashion to subject bride to kiss the cook, but since the advent of short skirts the practice has been frowned upon.

Establishing what is easily a world record for movement of wheat, grain poured into Fort William and Port Arthur elevators at the rate of nearly thirty bushels a second for the whole of the 24 hours of October 8, from Canadian Pacific Railway cars. In all, 1,704 cars were unloaded during the day and each car carries an average load of 1,000 bushels, representing a total of 1,704,000 bushels.

Driving into stationary trains on level crossings seems to be a favorite sport on the part of a number of motorists judging by reports coming in recently from different sections. The latest is from Galt, where an automobile, in broad daylight, ran into a freight train consisting of 15 loaded and 15 empty cars standing in plain view on a crossing. Fortunately no one was hurt, but the instance is another of gross carelessness on the part of motorists.

The Grand Challenge Cup, emblematic of the First Aid championship of the entire system of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was won by the Weston Shops team, of Winnipeg, champions of the West, against McAdam, N.B., team, champions of the East and last year's winners, after a scorching test of the two teams conducted at the Place Viger Hotel, Montreal, recently. The margin between the two teams was so narrow as to be in doubt to the last moment. Weston took 897 points out of a possible 972 and McAdam had 439.

Tourist traffic development throughout Canada has reached such proportions as to equal the value of a fairly good grain crop, which such development has only just begun, is the opinion of Colonel Thos. Moore, of Yoho Valley, B.C., interviewed recently. He thought that an estimate of three hundred million dollars spent by tourists annually in Canada was not too high. Growth of interest in the Canadian Rockies was very noticeable although the majority of tourists there were Americans not yet Canadians, too, were beginning to discover them, said the Colonel.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor does not take any responsibility for the opinions expressed in these communications

Fort Saskatchewan,
November 4, 1925.

The Editor,
The Record.
Dear Sir,

The Pool of Alberta has signed the contract with the elevators, at five cents per bushel, with the intervener that the United Grain Growers handled last year. They saw that they can handle this year's wheat at four cents per bushel, which brought the other elevators down with them. This one cent per bushel means a lot of money to this province, but the farmers don't appreciate this little saving.

If all the shareholders of this company, and other farmers, would draw grain the U.G.G. would cut another cent off handling charges which would mean another large saving to the province.

A lot of shareholders take their grain to other elevators and if they don't get dividends they are sore at the company.

Yours truly,
J. B. GAUF.

NEW LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Alberta's new Lieutenant Governor is Dr. William Egbert, of Calgary, whose appointment to the position was made last week. The new governor took the oath of office on Thursday. Dr. Egbert succeeds Dr. Brett, who has been governor for the past ten years. He is a resident of Calgary of many years' standing.

PIONEER DIES

Sheriff Young, of Lethbridge, one of the pioneers of Alberta, died suddenly at his home in Lethbridge last week. Sheriff Young came to Alberta in the early '90's, and was for a time driver of a stage between Calgary and Edmonton.

Protection Sans Obstruction

An old farmer attended a big picnic and stayed over to watch the dancing at night. He hadn't been out in the world much, and he was deeply impressed with the girls' clothes at that dance.

"Some of the ladies' clothes I see here," he said, "puts me in mind of a barbwire fence."

"How's that?" asked him why.

"Well," said he, "it's this way—they appear to protect the property without obstructin' the view."—Topics

Phone Test Is Successful

Alberta Now Linked With United States And Eastern Canada

Inaugurating a direct telephone service that will link Alberta with many points in Canada and with every state in the American Union, Lieutenant-Governor R. G. Brett, in the office of Hon. V. W. Smith, minister of railways and telephones, engaged in telephonic conversation with the secretary of the state of Montana, of Colorado and of Arizona at the state capitals of Helena, Denver and Phoenix, exchanging greetings with the people across the line.

Premier Greenfield and other government officials were present during the test, which was a complete success as far as Edmonton's three cities were concerned. The test as originally planned also included direct connection with Ottawa and Vancouver, but owing to a short circuit six miles south of Wetaskiwin, caused when the wires became entangled with the telephone lines, the latter calls had to be postponed.

PAUL'S FAREWELL AT MILETUS

Golden Text: Ye ought to help the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He Himself said, It is more blessed to [illegible] than to receive. Acts 20:35.

Lesson: Acts 20:1-24.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 126:1-6

The Text Explained and Illustrated

Paul Reviews His Ministry at Ephesus, verses 18,21. See The Historical Background. From Miletus Paul sent to Ephesus to ask the elders of the church to come to meet him. In the churches which he founded Paul had established the office of deacons and had ordained elders after the model of the Jewish synagogue. Peter, in his Epistles, calls himself a fellow-elder; and Paul calls those church officials sometimes elders and sometimes bishops, using the latter term, which means literally overseers, or superintendents, in churches where the Gentile element was large.

When the Ephesian elders arrived, Paul began his talk by recalling to their minds his mode of life while among them. First of all he spoke of his "lowliness of mind." Humility was a remarkable virtue in Paul, for it was an uncommon one in his day. Free of giving offense to the Jews and condemning his own life had not kept him from preaching a crucified Christ, the need for repentance and faith, and the gospel to Gentiles as well as Jews.

A party of much interest to those concerned took place at the home of Mrs. S. Moore on Saturday afternoon, the occasion being Miss Ruth's twelfth birthday. The afternoon was spent in playing games, a fish pond, etc. A turkey supper was served at five o'clock by Mrs. Moore, assisted by Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. McEachern and Miss Moore. A pretty birthday cake was the centre attraction. Miss Ruth Moore and Miss Esther Reid were the lucky obtainers of the two nickles; the button was not discovered. The table favors consisted of Dora and Ruth Moore, Hazel and Ruby Lundy, Gilbert, Ivan and Ruth McEachern, Jean Hagar, Gladys Bernard, Norman and Charlie Fisher, Vera, Una, Laura, Ruby and Effie Morris, Ellie, Violet and Jack Hamilton, Margaret Mann, Elizabeth Webber, Esther Frey and Hattie Reid.

ST. GEORGE'S W.A. ANNUAL THANKSGIVING SUPPER GREATLY ENJOYED BY ALL

The annual Thanksgiving supper arranged by the St. George's W.A. was held on Monday, and, as has always been the case in the past, hugely enjoyed by all who attended it. The ladies of the Anglican church have a reputation for the excellency of the turkey and chicken suppers they hold each year at this season, and the latest was up to the standard of former years. Three separate sittings were necessary to accommodate the large crowd and everyone was satisfied. There were even several who threatened to return after they had walked around a little while.

After supper a dance was held which was also characteristic of this annual event, being run on free and easy lines, young and old alike indulging in goodhumored essays in their individual conceptions of present day dancing. These were or less jazzing

Shipments of cattle to the United Kingdom continue to maintain the high level of the past few weeks. During the week ended October 29, 2,563 cattle were exported, bringing the total for 1925 to date to 87,797 head, as compared with 67,073 for the corresponding period of 1924 and 48,340 in 1923.

HOLLAND WANTS HORSE MEAT

Following negotiations which have been in progress for some time as to the possibilities of a market for horse meat in Europe, Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, has received a cablegram from Antwerp, Holland, asking for a sample shipment of horses. The price offered f. o.b. Antwerp is six cents a pound, and the request is for a sample shipment of 2,000 lbs. Mr. Hoadley is arranging to have the shipment forwarded as soon as possible. The development of such a market would enable Alberta to dispose of a good deal of scrub stock to advantage.

ALTON—PITCH

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends in the Fort district took place in Edmonton on Wednesday, November 4, when Rev. A. R. Aldridge united in marriage Mr. J. Rod Alton, youngest son of Mr and Mrs J. M. Alton, and Miss Thelma Viola Pitch, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Finch, of 11424 94th street, Edmonton.

They were attended by Mr. Ken Alton, Kinsety, and Miss Dorothy McAlpine, Edmonton.

The groom's gift to the bride was a leather under-arm bag, to the bridesmaid an ivory vanity case; to Mrs. McSperran, who during the signing of the register sang "Take Thou This Rose," a gold pencil, to the best man a silver Eversharp pencil.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton were the recipients of numerous and lovely gifts, including linen, silver, cheques, etc.

Following the wedding luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Alton left by motor for Partridge Hill, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will later take up their residence in Edmonton. The best wishes of a host of old friends of the groom are extended to the young couple.

MR. McGILLIVRAY, PROVINCIAL CONSERVATIVE LEADER SPEAKS AT FORT

A Conservative meeting was held in the Eden Palace theatre Wednesday, November 11. Mr. McGillivray, leader of the provincial Conservative party, was the principal speaker. In his speech he emphasized the heavy burden of debt this province is laboring under and the absolute necessity of balancing the annual budget. He also outlined the measures he proposed to adopt in p s the affairs of the province in a proper financial condition. In addition he proposes to repeal all fresh legislation which has been hampering the credit of the province in the past and to put into effect a vigorous immigration policy to attract desirable immigrants to the province.

Mr. McGillivray was preceded by Mr. Short and Mr. Ewing, who gave interesting though brief addresses.

The meeting was well attended and the speakers were given a hearty vote of [illegible].

Mr. S. O. Jenen was in the chair.

The Political Situation

The result of the general Dominion elections held on October 29 is not a good thing for Canada. It creates a new House of Commons in which one political group commands a majority and consequently a situation is brought about where it is impossible to have a strong Government able to carry its policies into effect and give the country effective and efficient administration.

A majority of the constituencies rejected the policies of the King Government, but, while disapproval of the Government and its policies was thus recorded, neither did a majority of the constituencies express approval and vital support to the leadership and policies of the Conservative Opposition. In an even more emphatic way the country as a whole rejected the Progressive Party.

A condition of "stalemate," a deadlock, ensues, which apparently it will require another appeal to the electorate to break. In other words, at the time being at least, there must be a "marking of time," a period of drifting, which is an extremely bad thing for any country, and especially so for a young country like Canada with a number of serious national problems demanding vigorous and constructive action.

Comment as to "the man in the street" is, of course, largely colored by his party affiliations but all can frequently as a amazing ignorance of the constitutional position of affairs is disclosed. Without in any way touching on the party aspect of the situation, it may be well to clearly state the constitutional position.

If the Government of the day is clearly defeated in a general election, the practice both in Great Britain and in Canada is for that Government to immediately resign, and for the Premier to advise the Governor-General to call on the leader of the defeated Opposition party to form a new Government. But a defeated Government is not obliged to take this action. It can continue in office and meet Parliament and is not obliged to resign until it suffers defeat in the House of Commons. That is to say, the issue of office by any Government rests with the House of Commons.

But, if following a decisive defeat in a general election, the Government did not invite the Governor-General can take constitutional action to forcibly take responsibility for dismissing his Ministers and calling upon the Leader of the Opposition to form a new Administration. In this event the new Ministry must obtain a vote of confidence from Parliament otherwise the usefulness of the Governor-General is past.

However, in the election last month, while the Government failed to secure a majority, so, too, did the Opposition. Consequently the Government would be justified in continuing in office and asking Parliament for a vote of confidence relying on a combination of Liberals and Progressives to reach such a vote. It can, on the other hand, the Government resigns and Mr. Meighen is asked to form a Government, it is quite evident he could not command a majority in the House of Commons as at present constituted, and another election would become immediately imperative.

Mr. King is, however, confronted with a second problem. If he decides to await a verdict from Parliament, he must in view of his personal defeat and the defeat of one-half of his ministers, reconstruct his cabinet. This involves a series of by-elections. In the present indefinite state of public opinion it is doubtful if these ministers could be elected.

Furthermore, for the King Government to continue in office any length of time under present conditions would be to perpetuate the unsatisfactory situation in the House of Commons and Government which Mr King himself in advising dissolution of Parliament, urged as one outstanding reason why an election at this time was necessary, namely, to provide a Government with a clear mandate and a working majority. Mr King further announced that if the election did not result in providing such a clear working majority he would again appeal to the country.

Disturbing and expensive though it would be, the logic of the situation points to another election without loss of time. Whether Mr. King remains in office, re-constructs his cabinet, and calls that election, or whether he resigns and Mr Meighen forms a cabinet and then goes to the country, is a matter for Mr King (and his advisers to decide, and possibly before this article is published a decision will have been made. But as in any event it is quite evident that the holding of another election cannot long be delayed—and in the interests of strong, stable government in Canada should not be deferred—the is the sooner it is held and the whole situation clarified, the better for Canada.

Settlers From Sunny Italy

It is reported that banking interests in Northern Italy are negotiating for the purchase of forty thousand acres portion of the figure of production in of farm land in Manitoba, on which 1. 1909 and 1934, in 1909, the total value is planned to settle five hundred families of Italian agriculturists. If the was $1,681,301. Last year it was $15,deal is consummated, it is planned to 972,992. In 1924, 196 carloads of bring the vanguard of settlers next creamery butter were exported from spring.

Manitoba Dairy Industry

The growth of the dairy industry in Manitoba is well illustrated by a comparison of the figure of production in 1909 and 1934. In 1909, the total value Manitoba totalling 4,435,200 pounds.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL'S ARREST IN JERUSALEM

Golden Text: If a man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed. I. Peter 4:16.

Lesson: Acts 21:17 to 23:30

Devotional Reading: Psalm 126:1-5

The Text Explained and Illustrated

Paul's Report to the Church at Jerusalem, verses 17-19. Paul came to Jerusalem with a wonderful story of how the gospel message had been received among the Grecian Jews and Gentiles, and with abundant proof of their regard for the mother church in the collection which they had contributed out of their deep poverty. The leaders of the church at Jerusalem received Paul cordially, and after his recital they glorified God. Luke's account, however, makes no mention of their gratitude for the help of the Gentile Christians. Apparently they passed at once to what was uppermost in their own minds.

The Jewish Law can do to show that he is grateful is to say no. Gratitude is one of the cardinal virtues. We should be scrupulously careful to thank everyone who does anything for us, but, on the other hand, we should be scrupulously careful not to when those for whom we do anything fail to thank us. Giving one's service on such terms is one of the most miserable affair "It is another's fault if he be ungrateful, but it is mine if I do not give," declared Seneca.

Famous Watchdog Dead

Was Familiar Figure Around Geneva Headquarters of League of Nations

Bristol, le ..... Bernard watchdog of the League of Nations headquarters at Geneva, is dead. He was a wash-haired specimen of the Alsatian breed, and it is thought he must have caught a cold. The next day he was suffering pain and a clear opinion was injected, death taking place at once.

Bristol will never be the name is not known—was about 15 years old, and originally belonged to an Italian count, who was a real dent in the Hotel National before it was taken over by the league. The St. Bernard had been a watchdog since the foundation of the league, and was probably the most familiar figure there. All day the delegates at the assembly, and many others, were inquiring as to the state of his health from his keepers and loved by everyone. Bristol is to be buried in a grave in the front garden of the Palais des Nations.

WHY RHEUMATISM OFTEN COMES BACK

The Usual Treatment Does Not Reach the Root of the Trouble

Most treatments for rheumatism do no more than drive the uric acid poison in the blood and cruelle nature from one muscle to another. Then when the system becomes run-down by such treatment the disease again gets the upper hand and it all has to be done over.

Sufferers from rheumatism who have found their condition unrelieved by such treatments will be glad to learn that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the same treatment with this medicine has proved in thousands of cases that it builds up the blood to a point that enables it to drive out the rheumatic poisons through the regular channels, thereby banishing the cause of the pain. When this is done rheumatism is banished, and as long as the blood is kept pure and rich it will remain with immune from attack. This is fully proved in the case of Mr. Samuel Zinck, Upper Blandford, N.S., who says:—"For a number of years I was a sufferer from rheumatism which settled in my legs and made me beg for relief. At times the pain was so great that I could not walk. I tried liniments and medicines but without getting more than mere temporary relief. Then one day I decided to give Pink Pills a trial and from that time I began to improve. I continued to use them as directed by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and stayed one to try them. I did so advised and after using a few boxes I was entirely free from the trouble. I do not hesitate to say that my general health was improving. I continued to use them until I had taken about a dozen boxes when every trace of the pain had disappeared, and I have not felt a twinge of it since. I may add that my wife used these pills for a run down condition with equally good results."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont

A Novel Method Is Used By Overseas Representative To Advertise Canadian Goods

There was held at the Hotel Cecil on the Strand, London, England, on October 22nd, a somewhat novel dinner, to wit,a dinner where every item on the menu, even to the ice cream, was actually produced in Canada. W. A. Wilson, agricultural products representative, had the task of planning the dinner and securing the materials for it. High Commissioner Larkin presided and the guests were members of the London provision trade and the press.

In addition to arranging the dinner, Mr. Wilson was called upon to respond to the toast to the "Produce Trade of Canada," and portions of his address are of great interest as the producers of Canada inasmuch as they indicate what he, as representing them, has pledged them to provide for the British consumer. Mr Wilson's reply was, in part, as follows

As stated on the menu card, the dinner served consists of food products from Canada, and the kind reception and warm support accorded to me by the trade acquaintances alike in planning for and securing the necessary supplies, made the undertaking pleasant.

Canada needs people to cultivate her uncultivated lands, her producers need markets for their agricultural products, railway and steamship companies need tonnage, and business in general need the public's buying power. The people of the United Kingdom need food and the respective governments have negotiated repeatedly concerning plans for bringing the British overseas dominions for this country's surplus population. The surest road to a successful permanent emigration policy is to establish a market for the products produced by the people you encourage to emigrate and whom we welcome. The money you receive for buying our farm products, is, in a large measure returned to you in orders for manufactured goods.

There is an enormous moral advantage and no material disadvantage, in furnishing a wide preparation for marketing empire foods as a goal for the future and advancing to that goal step by step as economic efforts, rather than having exactly similar measures gradingingly forced out of one by popular clamor. Mackenzie King, prototype of the New Philosophy is fitting. He says: "Its law is progress. A point which yesterday was a fortress is today a mud today and will be his starting point tomorrow." Our commercial salvation lies in the practical use and development of the great resources and possibilities of trading within the empire.

Our qualities so splendidly shown in the war did not finish when peace was declared; and whatever our difficulties are—and they are considerable—I am certain we can rely upon the integrity and determination of our race to come through them successfully. We are not going to be content with military achievement only to be beaten in time of peace by the difficult problems that confront us. To improve the economic conditions is our task, and through its accomplishment will come a greater measure of freedom, contentment and happiness.

Canada's responsibility in that effort is, broadly speaking, the production of commodities possessing quality and character sought after and demanded by the best trade in your largest markets; to produce them in volume and to produce them regularly; no detail in their preparation being too small to be unworthy of our best attention.

Crime Increases

Crime in Chicago costs the city so much each year that it could well afford to pay each of its 30,000 crooks $30,000 annually or $900,000,000 in leave town, C. R. Hedges, president of the Chicago crime commission, told a church audience He estimated that approximately one per cent of the city's 3,000,000 population are engaged in criminal pursuits, and asserted that crime had increased 100 per cent since 1900

Keeping Milking Records

Practice of Weighing the Milk is Recommended to Dairymen

A practice that is generally followed and advocated at the illustration stations in Eastern Quebec conducted under the Dominion experimental farms branch is that of weighing each cow's milk. There are less than two cows, says the supervisor in his annual report, that do not produce sufficient to pay for their food, by weighing the milk these animals can be identified and eradicated. The value of this work is given as $.345 pounds which is more than the average production of cows in Canada, still it is a considerable improvement brought about by the methods pursued. Realizing that more milk could be obtained by more intelligent feeding of dairy animals, the superintendent of the Farm, Mr. H. H. Bramhill, B.S.A., has organized a herd test in connection with the illustration station, whereby the production of each cow is recorded during a period of twelve months. Briefly the system of keeping these records is as follows: Each cow is weighed on two consecutive days during each month and a composite sample taken from the milk of these days. This sample is tested for butter fat by the Babcock method and the result recorded in a book kept for the purpose. The amount of grain consumed by each animal is also recorded.

Winter Care Of Poultry

Value of Substitutes for Green Food in Poultry Feeding

During the winter months, when it is impossible for fowl to get suitable green food for poultry, certain substitutes may be used in order to furnish reliable substitutes for green grass, sweet clover, cereal, alfalfa meal and tomato pulp for this purpose an experiment was conducted in 1927-28 at the Dominion poultry husbandman at the Ottawa experimental farm. One pen was given sloppy mashes fed in the form of a wet mash, to which sweet clover meal mixed in the wet mash fed at noon, a third pen received alfalfa meal in the wet mash and in the fourth pen tomato pulp mixed in the wet mash was fed. All the hens were fed a standard scratch grain and mash standard mash, beef scrap was kept continually before them and they had both milk and water to drink.

The clover meal gave by far the best results for production, cost of producing eggs and profits. Tomato pulp came second, while alfalfa meal gave the poorest results. The hatchability of the eggs from the birds fed tomato pulp was, however, exceptionally poor

Wine B.C. For Plum Farm

Portland Island, near Marshy Island, B.C., has been bought by T. F. Westering, of Shanghai, for the purpose of converting it into a fox farm. The island is approximately five hundred acres in area and it is Mr. Westerian's intention of stocking it with fox and silver fame.

Large Quantities Are Shipped to China, Japan and the Philippines

Last year Canada shipped to Japan 528,200 pounds of butter, to China 280,000 pounds, to Hawaii 97,200 lbs., to the Philippines 185,000 lbs., and to the United Kingdom 107,870 lbs., all of which was produced in Vancouver. The majority of the shipments went from Alberta. Altogether some 2,000,000 lbs. of butter were exported through Vancouver last year

Heavy Salmon Pack

British Columbia Catch Greater Than Ever

British Columbia's salmon pack to date as in excess of the same period in 1924, and last year was one of the record years. Statistics published by the Dominion fisheries department show that the total pack up to October 5th in the present season is 1,276,-413 cases. Last year at the same date the pack was 1,276,625 cases.

British Columbia Timbers

Exhibit Shown at Wembley Has Resulted In Large Orders From Britain

As a result of the British Columbia exhibit at Wembley, many prominent architects of the United Kingdom are availing themselves of the new and beautiful timbers for decorative schemes which are obtainable with the new well known British Columbia timbers Wembley has overlaid a means to place before the public in general, and architects and builders in particular, practical illustrations of the use and coloring of these timbers. In this regard it has played a most important part in the prosecution of the British Columbia timber exports to the United Kingdom

Good Apple Crop

Production This Year is Expected To Exceed That Of 1924

Canada's total apple crop this year is now estimated at an increase of three per cent over 1924 and 7,954,233 barrels, which is about 10 per cent of the federal department of agriculture. The commercial apple crop in the United States is placed at 17 per cent or 1,130 and barrels, which is a record for this province. Ontario's crop is estimated at 2,500,000 barrels, 214,125 boxes, Quebec 1,032 barrels, New Brunswick, 56,833 barrels, and Nova Scotia 1,000,000 barrels, all the provinces, with the exception of Ontario, show decreases.

Prize Winning Butter

Scotters From Britain Meet With Success in Canada

In just over four months from the time of her first arrival in Canada, Mrs. W. E. Smith, who with her husband and six children came to Canada under the British family farm settlement scheme at the end of last May has become a prize-winning butter, cheese and cream maker. At the fall fairs recently held at Milner, British Columbia, Mrs Smith won first prize for fresh butter, first for fancy butter, first for cream cheese and second for cheddar cheese.

Mrs. Smith made good butter and cheese on her husband's farm in the old country and shortly after she arrived at their new 40 acre farm at Fort Langley, B.C., early last June, she began again to put her knowledge of making dairy products to practical use. A family of six children range in ages from 19 to four years, and possesses them, excellent visitors registered a similar record. The Red Cross of the land settlement branch of the department of immigration, and colonization advised Mrs. Smith to compete with her butter and other dairy products in the Milner fall fair, which she did with the results above named.

Ward J. Arms, another British settler, who came to Canada last April, has recently won a first prize for a pen of his pure-bred Barred Rock hens for eggs at the Agassiz, B.C., fall sale.

Mr Arms was a farmer near Birkenhead. He has a wife and two children, a girl of 17 years of age and a boy of 12 years. The boy may claim honors in the house of winning the prizes for it was he who prepared the animals for the show

Mining In British Columbia

All Records For Mineral Production Will Be Eclipsed in 1925

All yearly records for mineral production both from the standpoint of quantity and value, will be eclipsed in 1925, according to a summary of mining operations for the first eight months of the present year, issued by the B.C. minister of mines. It is estimated that the monetary value of the mineral production for the first eight months of 1925 is approximate $ 141,000,000. This indicates that the total final production for the year 1925 will approximate at least $20,000,000, an increase of $1,296,396, over 1924, or 12 per cent over the total for 1923, with no a record for the province.

Shipping Wheat Via Vancouver

Shipments of wheat from Vancouver during the first two months ended September 30, 1925, were 1,457,305 bushels and receipts 932,236. For the whole of last year approximately 25,000,000 bushels of wheat passed through this port, and it is anticipated that the wheat movement through Vancouver this year will equal, if not exceed, that of 1924

Crime Increases

Crime in Chicago costs the city so much each year that it could well afford to pay each of its 30,000 crooks $30,000 annually or $900,000,000 in leave town, C. R. Hedges, president of the Chicago crime commission, told a church audience He estimated that approximately one per cent of the city's 3,000,000 population are engaged in criminal pursuits, and asserted that crime had increased 100 per cent since 1900

ENGLISH BEAUTIES INVADE CANADA

J. W. Jackson's "Twelve English Dancers," who recently performed before their Majesties, the King and Queen, at the Alhambra Theatre, London, arrived in Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner, Minnedosa, for a thirty weeks' tour of Canada and the United States, opening at Montreal, October 19

English choruses have secured absolute successes in their appearances on this side of the water, and last year the most popular musical show in New York was C. B. Cochran's London production, "Charlot's Revue."

Settlers Are Prosperous

Many Always Seem One of Canada's Prairie Trades

The 5-h industry in Canada is ser ond to agriculture, and since early times the fish trade has been one of the most profitable of the country said Daniel J Reyn in giving addresses on Canadian fisheries at the request of the department of marine and fisheries Consumption of fish per head per annum in Canada, he stated, is only 22 to 24 pounds, while in England it is 40 to 50 pounds, and in Japan more than 300 pounds.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

by James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitagraph Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog, is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Nepesse, daughter of Pierrot, the trapper, tame Baree, the wolf-dog, into the woods and the two spent the night there. Baree was still untamed, but the girl was determined to make a pet of him. Nepesse was quarter Indian, with French blood also in her veins. In a few days she would be seventeen years old and her father had brought her ribbons for her hair, real shoes and material for a new dress. McDonald, the government mail-maker, arriving, took photographs of the girl in her birthday finery.

CHAPTER XVI.—Continued

It was late in August when Baree saw the first of his kind outside of Kazan and Gray Wolf. During the summer Pierrot allowed his dogs to run at large on a small island in the centre of a lake two or three miles away, and twice a week he netted fish for them. On one of these trips Nepesse accompanied him and took Baree with her. Pierrot carried his inner earthen gut with. He expected a fight. But there was none. Baree joined the pack in their rush for fish, and ate with them. This pleased Pierrot more than ever.

"He will make a great sledge-dog," he remarked. "It is best to leave him for a week with the pack, ma Nepesse."

Reluctantly Nepesse gave her consent. While the dogs were still at their fish, they started homeward. The canoe had given well out to leave Baree discovered the trick they had played on him. Instantly he leaped into the water and swam after them, and the Willow helped him into the canoe.

Early in September a passing Indian brought Pierrot word from Bush McTaggart. The Factor had been very sick. He had almost died from the blood-poison, but he was well now. With the first exhilarating tang of autumn in the air a new dread oppressed Pierrot. But at present he said nothing of what was in his mind to Nepesse. The Willow had almost forgotten the Factor from Lac La Belle, for the glory and thrill of wilderness autumn was in her blood. She was on hour trips with Pierrot, helping him to bleed out the new trap lines that would be used when the first snows came, and on these journeys she was always accompanied by Baree.

The mail-carrier, I will have him the finest dog in the pack, "mon pere!"

This was the time for Pierrot to say what was in his mind. He smoked.

"I am going to send you down to the retreat at Nelson House again this winter, ma cherie," he said. "Bush will help draw you down on the first good snow."

The Willow was tying a knot in Baree's babiche, and she rose slowly in her feet and looked at Pierrot. Her eyes were big and dark and steady.

"I am not going, mon pere!"

"Her eyes were big and dark and steady. 'I am not going, mon pere.'"

Wilf a shrug of his shoulders Pierrot watched her. After all, was he not glad? Would his heart not have turned sick if she had been happy at the thought of leaving him?

"The fishin's be blessed!" he murmured. "Some—now, it is Pierrot Le Quoise who knows what to do!"

CHAPTER XVII.

Back to Lac Bain, late in September, came MacDonald the map-maker. For two days Gregson, the Hudson Bay agent, had been Bush McTaggart's guest at the post, and twice in that time it had come into Marie's mind to creep upon him while he slept and kill him. The Factor himself paid little attention to her now, a fact which would have made her happy if it had not been for Gregson. He was enraptured with the wild, sinuous beauty of the Cree girl, and McTaggart, with most jealousy, encouraged him. He was tired of Marie.

McTaggart told Gregson this. He wanted to get rid of her, and if he—Gregson—could possibly take her on with him to Nelson House a price—

He explained why. A little later when the dogs were come, he was going to bring the daughter of Pierrot Le Quoese to the Post. In the excitement of their brief arrival he told of his visit, of the manner of his rescue, and of the incident at the canoe. In spite of all this, he secretly Gregson, Pierrot's girl would soon be at Lac Bain.

It was at this time that MacDonald came. He remained only one night, and without knowing that he was adding fuel to a fire already dangerously blazing, he gave the photograph he had taken of Nepesse to the Factor. It was a splendid picture.

"If you can get it down to that girl some day I'll be mightily obliged," he said to McTaggart. "I promised her one. Her father's name is De Quesne —Pierrot De Quesne. You probably know them. And the girl——"

Baree always suspicious of him, rose to the point of hating him. He required considerable will land restraint on his part with himself not to growl.

"If I cause him hate me he will have all save Mercuel. That is good."

So he looked into the future for Nepesse.

Man's Color Depends On Salt

Scientist Tells Why Races Are White, Yellow, Brown and Black

An explanation of the various shades of colour in mankind, such as that one's color is dependent upon salt. If your ancestors ate much salt the chances are that your complexion is fair. In Northern Europe—for example, where there has always been an unlimited supply of salt, the inhabitants are white. In China, Greenland, Korea and India, where salt is obtainable, but a trouble, the colour is yellow. In the plains of America and the Malay Peninsula, where the lack of good transportation makes salt difficult to get, man is brown. And finally, in West and Central Africa, in certain sections in which it is totally unknown, man is black.

Pastimes Of Wise Men

Shipping Pebbles Has Fascination For Famous Writers

Though playing ducks and drakes on the smoothest can hardly be deemed an intellectual pastime, it seems to have a peculiar fascination for men of letters. A friend who spent a day with Alfred de Musset on the Brittany coast complains that the poet spent almost the whole time trying to make pebbles skip across the water, and Mr. Lewis Hind tells of a whole afternoon which he and George Gissing and H. G. Wells spent on the beach at Sandgate engrossed in the same pursuit.

Finnish Waitress Readily Understood Order of Canadian Nurse

One of Canada's representatives to the recent International Conference of Nurses at Helsingfors, Finland, tells of the desperate time some of the visitors to the Finland meeting had in obtaining money for breakfast at their hotel. They pronounced it slowly and loudly, but to no purpose. Their waitress had not the slightest idea what was wanted. Then one of the nurses, with that resourcefulness for which their profession is noted, waved her hands in the air as gracefully as any Kindergartner, and said, "Banana." In a second the waitress had put the money on the table.

SAYS WEST WILL BE THE ARBITERS IN NEXT HOUSE

Montreal—That "the people of the west will probably be the arbiters of power" in the next parliament was the opinion expressed here by Henri Bourassa Independent member elect for Labelle and prophetic of Le Devoir role.

In commenting on the election, Mr. Bourassa added:

"We are elected more and more to hard: a government by groups. It is needed and more clearly necessary to get to parliament independent groups like the country needs representatives—him are better than blind party mine, people capable of freeing themselves from the spirit of party, of looking beyond local or provincial interest.

"As I have said over and over again, I do not mean to be merely the deputy of Labelle; I will support any policy that can legitimately reconcile the interests of the west and those of the east. I do not mean to be the man of a province or of a country."

Le Devoir editorially declares that the elections appear merely to have brought us to a crisis for which there is as yet no solution.

The situation," it says, "is simply complicated by the fact that the man who is at the head of the largest parliamentary group has not succeeded in securing the election in Quebec of one single personal candidate—with the possible exception of Mr Perley.

We are at any rate in the midst of a crisis, with the prospective lip a hope to distant future of a new general election.

"The two outstanding facts of the campaign are probably the extent of the Conservative victory in Ontario with its massacre of ministers and the almost total failure of the anti King campaign in our province in both cases the results surpass the hopes of the victors."

Freedom Of Money Market

British Government to Remove Embargo on Dominion Loans in London

Sheffield, England. Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, in a speech here announced that the new arrangement had decided to remove the embargo on the issue of dominion, colonial and foreign loans in London.

"The old full freedom of the money market will be restored," said the chancellor, and the city of London must be responsible for using it wisely and soberly. Over-lending, such as led to the crisis of our breath, straining at future credit, lending beyond our savings, will bring its own correction." He stated that he hoped so far as possible without impairing the freedom of the market, preference will be given to those who are bringing a high proportion of orders for goods to British trade."

Good Hope

On Friday evening of October 30th a number of friends and neighbours gathered to wish Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brenton happiness and a long life. The evening was spent in playing games and music. In the midst of this excitement Babe Simmons and Francis Ashton appeared laden down with gifts. They presented them to Mr. and Mrs. Brenton. After they were opened, a short address of [illegible] was given by Mr. Brenton. Lunch was then served which brought to a close a very pleasant and enjoyable evening.

Here and There

Wishing farewell and best wishes to the celebrated owner of the Scarlet Pimpernel, a bouquet of scarlet pimpernels was presented to Baroness Orczy when she embarked with her husband, Mr. Montagu Barstow, on the S.S. Montclare of the Canadian Pacific line, for England. The presentation was made on behalf of the company by Capt. Geo. Webster and President E. W. Beatty's card was attached. Baroness Orczy came out to Canada to assimilate local colour for a new book, which will be eagerly awaited here.

Motor tourists from the United States brought $150,000,000 in revenue to Canada in 1925, according to estimates of government officials. This sum is equal to a quarter of the value of the Dominion's wheat crop and approximates the value of the annual mining output of Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia combined. Of more than 1,000,000 American automobiles, it is estimated, have crossed into Canada this fall. They carried in the neighbourhood of 6,000,000 persons, or a number equal to the total population of Canada.

C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific, states that the amount of the crop in the West this year will make money more free and is bound to stimulate travel between Canada and the Old Country. To handle the expected increased volume of traffic, his company, he says, will run special trains early in December connecting directly with the company's liners, each sailing from the winter port of Saint John, N.B. These liners sail on dates that are calculated to get passengers home to any point in the British Isles or the near continent in plenty of time for Christmas.

Taking the North American mean year in Europe with a view to acclimating it in Northern Europe is in part the aim of Mahmud Gad, Canny Effendi, Egyptian, one of the largest land owners in Denmark. The Count and Countess were taken to the Cains river district, where they spent three weeks. During this time they walked an average of fifteen miles a day for twenty days, covering three hundred miles on foot, not reckoning the distance they traversed in canoe. They went to the woods of Northern Quebec for another shot at the elusive moose before sailing from home on the Canadian Pacific liner Montrairn.

A recent epidemic of motor accidents, five of which occurred in one night, Saturday night of March, proved to be fatal, elicited the following editorial comment from the Montreal Star: "The heavy drivers of automobiles should drive their cars into moving trains within a period of twenty-four hours in Canada would seem to indicate a fatal carelessness in the main cause of accidents. The location of level crossings in other well-known ways clearly indicated at a distance that given even a fast driver ample time to stop. As many good roadbeds adds automatically ring as trains are approaching. At others, bar gates are let down. Others are open —these almost entirely in the country districts. But despite all safeguards, warnings, signals, and precautions, accidents continue to happen at level crossings with an alarming consistency. In some incidents, indeed, it almost looks as though the driver were determined to defy all attempts to ensure caution." The paper calls for consolation of driving license in cases like the above.

LETHBRIDGE CORN SHOW

The Lethbridge corn show, which is the first corn show on a large scale to be held in Alberta, takes place November 10th to 14th, with a valuable number of entries. The acreage in corn in the province this year is estimated at 72,700 acres, chiefly in southern Alberta. This is compared with 67,000 acres last year, and 58,000 acres the year previous.

SHELTERS FOR FEEDING STEERS

(Experimental Farms Note)

With the introduction of diversified farming on the prairies, the feeding and finishing of steers has greatly increased. Shelters are an important consideration from the standpoint of economic beef production.

At Indian Head Experimental farm a series of experiments have been conducted for the purpose of gaining data relative to the value of different kinds of shelters for the winter feeding of steers in Saskatchewan. The shelters under consideration were stable, open corral with high board fence, shed with open front and southern exposure, and straw stack.

From the experiments concluded it has been found that the question of buildings need not deter a man from entering the cattle feeding business. It has been demonstrated by the Experimental Farms that cattle can do relatively better outside than when housed in expensive barns. Where natural shelters are not available, a corral with a high board fence about 7 feet high and a rough, straw covered shed, will be found very beneficial with a protection from the stormy weather. These shelters are easily and cheaply constructed o nthe average farm and will be found quite satisfactory for all classes of live stock. Through the agency of steers, the rough feeds and low grade grain can be profitably utilized. For further or detailed information write to your nearest Dominion Experimental Farm

NEW UNIVERSITY BULLETIN

"Age as a Factor in Steer Feeding" is the title of a recent bulletin from the University of Alberta, Edmonton, which should be of interest to cattle feeders in Western Canada. The results are based on three years' trials conducted by the department of animal husbandry with calves, yearlings and two-year old steers. One of the outstanding and, to the farmer, the most practical features of this report is the fact that in every trial with the yearling and two-year old steers a fair profit is realized in spite of low cost prices for the feeds fed was realized. Based on three years' work there was little difference between yearlings and two-year old steers from the standpoint of profit, both showing a greater return than the calves. Copies of this publication will be available through the Department of Extension, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

Canada's Foreign Trade

Dominion to Now Among First Six First Nations of the World

Canada's foreign trade now places her among the first six nations of the world as an exporting and importing country, a place which she has won not only by the export of her vast annual grain crops, but also as a manufacturing nation. In the year ending August 31, 1925, the exports of the Dominion reached new heights when the total value of her export trade was placed at $1,126,753,557.

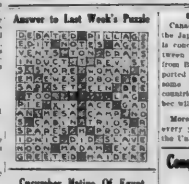
Answer to Last Week's Puzzle



Cucumber Native Of Egypt

Was Introduced Into England From Holland in 1639

The cucumber was one of the good things of Egypt for which the Israelites longed after they had left the land of bondage and were travelling through the wilderness. This plant grows in the fertile earth around Cairo after the inundation of the Nile, but not elsewhere in Egypt. From that country it was probably carried to Palestine and later to Europe. It is mentioned by the Latin poet Virgil It was introduced into England from Holland in 1639.

B.C. Pulp Comes To Japan

Canadian pulp practically controls the Japanese market, as far as price is concerned. During last year between 2,000 and 3,000 tons of pulp from British Columbia have been imported into Japan, of a total of some 3,500 to 5,000 tons from all countries. It is anticipated that Japan will presently enter in the field.

OLDTIMER INTERRED AT LAMOUREUX CEMETERY

The death occurred at the General hospital, Edmonton, last Tuesday, of John Baptiste Morane, of Lamoureux, a well known oldtimer of the district. Up to the time of his last illness deceased, who was almost ninety-two years of age, had been residing with his son, Ernest Morane.

The funeral was held from the Foster undertaking parlors last Thursday, Father Garnier officiating. Interment was made at the Lamoureux cemetery.

HEALTHY HENS ARE NECESSARY TO SHOW PROFIT

The one thing essential to profitable poultry raising is healthy hens, first, last, and all the time. The health of any flock, particularly during the cold weather, depends primarily on good housing, and the best time to repair or remodel your poultry houses is during the fall when other farm work is not too heavy.

Yorkville

The ladies of the Yorkville Red Cross auxiliary intend holding a dance in the Agricola schoolhouse December 4th. Don't forget the date. $1.50 a couple. Come and help the good work along.

Sid Jolliffe, George and Bill Spallin, Fred Peters and H. Walker have gone north on a hunting trip. Mr. and Mrs. J. Reid accompanied the lads. (May be a fish story)

G. W. and A. E. Armstrong have returned from a very successful hunting trip.

A number of young people of this district attended the dance at Ardrossan last Friday. All report a good time.

The Red Cross meeting for November was held at the home of Mrs A. Boag. The meeting for December will be held at the home of Mrs. A. A. Walker. The election of officers will take place at this meeting.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT G.W.V.A. SMOKER

The G.W.V.A. smoker held last Friday evening was, like all former ones, a great success. From town and country over—full words and cities gathered in a get together spirit and had a whale of a time. A great number of the old french songs were made to suffer once more and popular songs, stories and refreshments served to keep the crowd in high good humor till a late hour.

There was a very large attendance and president Harper, of the local branch of the G.W.V.A., had difficulty at times to make himself heard above the din but finally succeeded. We suggest he provide himself with a megaphone at the next celebration.

Several of the favorite entertainers obliged with the programs, and whatever gaps there were, were excellently filled by the Peerless Harmony orchestra.

HOOD—SHAW

A very pleasing event was witnessed at the home of Mr and Mrs. John Shaw of Clandonald on Thursday, November 12, 1925, when their daughter, Anna Jane, was united in marriage to Douglas James Hood, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hood, Sturgeonville. A number of friends and relatives gathered to share the pleasures of the occasion and to wish the young couple a long and happy married life. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. E. A. Peacock of Fort Saskatchewan.

POLICE COURT NEWS

William Turner, Fort Saskatchewan was arraigned before the local magistrate on Saturday, November 14, on a charge, preferred by the local Board of Health, of neglecting to provide for his daughter Phyllis, (three) preventing her attendance at school.

Accused was sentenced to two month's imprisonment, same being suspended conditional upon the recommendations of the Medical Officer being carried out immediately and

MANY USE TELEPHONE SERVICE

Since the inauguration of the continent-wide telephone service from Alberta, the commercial end of the new service has developed rapidly, and many calls are now being put through every week for points as far east as New York and Montreal. The bulk of the traffic is however for points on the Pacific coast, and in the western and middle states.

Good Hope

The first supper, concert and bazaar given November 13 by the Good Hope Ladies' Aid was a great success. Supper was served from six to eight at the home of Mrs. Pomeroy. After everyone was satisfied with children they went to the school to see the fancy work on display. This part was very well managed by Mrs. Sid Cranston.

The concert began at 8:30 p.m. The program consisted of the following items:

Opening Song—O, Canada.
Solo—Listen to the Mocking Bird—Mrs. Wright
Reading—To the Memory of Jane Brown—Mrs. W. Cranston.
Song—Let it Rain, Let it Pour—Girls Chorus.
Reading—Brer Rabbit and the Tar Baby—Mr. Powell.
Clarinet Solo—Phantasia on Ma Normandie—Mr. H. J Brunton.
Play—Wedding Presents — Young Folks.
Solo—Grandmother's Advice — Mrs. Wright
Reading—Our Minister's Sermon—Helen Pomeroy.
Song—No Wonder—Girls Chorus.

PROF. CORBETT DELIGHTS AUDIENCE WITH 'KING TUT'

Plans made by the Women's Institute for last Thursday evening had to be changed owing to the fact Prof. Cornell, who was to have lectured on "The Life of Ben Franklin," was called East. His place was taken by Prof. A. E. Corbett, who gave a most interesting lecture, with lantern slides, on "King Tut." Prof. Corbett kept his audience enthralled, the only criticism heard at the end of the lecture was that it was all too short to suit both old and young. This information will be of interest to the professor, who was afraid the youngsters would find the lecture tiresome.

Alex. Brant, formerly of Clyde, now at Jeffrey, was in town Saturday.

God Save the King

A few articles put in at the banner were not sold. Mr. Geo. Cranston very kindly acted as auctioneer and disposed of them to the delight of the ladies. The proceeds for the evening amounted to $66.30.

Cultivate the Christmas Spirit Now

The approach of the Christmas season brings to nearly everybody thrills of pleasurable anticipation. It is a time of happiness and goodwill all round with cold disappointments, and casualties and setbacks are relegated to the background. Modest people are busy planning and making gifts for their friends and friends, and it is to be hoped with a thought for those who are less fortunately placed in life than themselves.

But there are certain groups in our population to whom the coming of Christmas means the hardest work and longest hours at labor during the whole year. Chief in this group are the employees of the post office throughout the country. Persons who seldom write to relatives and friends throughout the year, do so at Christmas time. Millions exchange Christmas cards and other forms of greeting. Parcels containing gifts pour into the post offices in their thousands. And the postal employees have to receive, sort and dispatch it all, and, in the office and along rural routes, deliver it.

Most people time the mailing of their cards of greeting and gifts so that they will arrive at their destination one or two days before Christmas, or possibly on Christmas Day itself. The inevitable result is such a congestion in the post offices and mails over that it is a physical impossibility to handle all the business within the short space of time before Christmas Day, no matter how tremendous an effort be made by the postal clerks. Thus many gifts intended for Christmas are not received by those to whom they are addressed until Christmas is past and gone for another year.

A little more planning and forethought and unselfishness in behalf of the post office staff, displayed by people generally, would greatly improve this condition. By mailing Christmas gifts well in advance it may be that they will be received some days before Christmas, but, even so, in there not a greater thrill in the arrival of the first gift than in the case of subsequent ones? And is not a gift received before Christmas a happier one than if it is delayed and not received until Christmas and its fourth like "dare pass"?

Another group who find the week preceding Christmas a time of strain, resulting in ragged nerves and sharp tempers, are the clerks in stores. Many of them after the strenuous pre-Christmas rush find it necessary to recuperate in bed instead of being able to enjoy and join with others in the joy of the day. Their lot can be made much easier by early shopping. Therefore, in your Christmas activities give a thought to their comfort and happiness.

In order to be in a position to mail your Christmas parcels early, it is necessary to shop early. Then both these groups of workers will be helped to give you and the public generally better and more efficient service. Just a word in season—bring your Christmas unselfishness into action well in advance of Christmas Day.

You stand to gain by it in every way. Remember the old saying: "The early bird catches the worm." Well, early shopping means that you have the pick of the goods offered for sale, while the late shopper has to be content with what is left over and previously rejected by those alert and discriminating shopper. Early shopping gives time for suitable selection of gifts best designed to meet the needs and raise to the tastes of the one for whom they are intended. It means leisure in getting them suitably inscribed with appropriate messages and neatly and properly packed. And an attractively tied or packed parcel adds much to the pleasure of the one who receives it. It conveys an impression of thought and real love on the part of the sender.

Finally, in mailing, observe the instructions of the post office authorities. Put the postage stamps in the upper right hand corner; the address in the lower right hand corner; place your own name and address as sender in the upper left hand corner; if the parcel contains fragile articles, mark it boldly "Handle yth Care" or "Fragile." If you are attaching any Christmas seals or stamps of greeting, place them on the back of the letter or parcel, but not on the same side with the address and postage stamps.

General observance of these little things will greatly expedite the handling of the Christmas rush of mail matter, insure the proper handling of your parcel, and by speeding up the whole service and lightening the labor of the postal employees result in what you yourself desire, the best possible service.

No Trouble To Make Payment

Danish Settlers Pay $2,000 On Purchase Price of Farm

"I am glad to be able to make a payment on this farm now."

"Yes, that is the usual way of handling land deals of this kind," said the smiling land agent.

"All right we'll give you some now," and without any more ado the pay cheque was duly passed among the matron and street car tickets in his vest pocket and brought out the little wads of paper which he laid on the desk.

These little wads of paper were one thousand dollar bills.

This little scene took place in the office of the Western Colonization Company, in Saskatoon. The bank and dollar bills paid over by two Danish farmers also were brought out to this country to take up land, and who just arrived from their homes miles from Saskatoon. The agent was Alex Pedersen, a former Danish immigrant.

HOW TO RELIEVE CHILDREN'S COLDS

Avoid Serious Results by Using Baby's Own Tablets

When a child shows the first symptoms of a cold, such as sneezing, running of the eyes, clogged or running nose, prompt measures for relief may avert serious results. Mothers should always have on hand some simple, safe and effective remedy for immediate use.

Baby's Own Tablets act quickly, contain no opiates or narcotics, are tasteless to the taste. Mrs. Joseph Cadieux, Hochelaga, Mcss., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my children and find them a very satisfactory medicine. I can say the boy had a cold I gave him the Tablets at night and he was well next day. I also find they relieve constipation and they always do good." I think Baby's Own Tablets are much easier to give a child than liquid medicines. I recommend the Tablets to all mothers who have small children and believe they should always be kept on hand."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Frocks That Have Made Themselves Very Popular

Simple enough for street wear and charming enough for dress, Eclipse Fashion still smiles upon these simple frocks, both of which are developed from one pattern. The little one of flowered material has three-quarter length sleeves and is completed with a round neck and short kimono sleeves finished with the same material and a ribbon of pastel color ties in front at the back. A border of the material was used with charming effect for the plain frock, which depends on a belt with flat revers and has long sleeves gathered into a narrow band. No. 1166 is in sizes 14, 16 and 20 years for 34, 36 and 38 inches bust. Size 18 years for 36 bust requires 2¾ yards of 32-inch or 36-inch material. For side panels ¼ yard extra material, and for long sleeves ¾ yard. Price 20 cents.

Our Fashion Book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book, 10 cents the copy.

Radio Plays A Great Part In Keeping The Western Farmer In Touch With World At Large

The popularity achieved by radio in Canada is as great as it, to be found in any other country and greater than in most. The general adoption and rapid expansion are but further indications of Canada's position in the forefront with those countries developing along modern lines, and heading towards the national progress. Radio has consolidated in the country, carrying all sections of the to minutes and entering most intimately into the country's commercial, business and social life. In its peculiar relation to certain phases of Canadian life radio would seem to have imparted greater benefits than elsewhere.

Radio licenses were issued by the departmental of marine and fisheries during the twelve months ending March, 1925, to 91,206 persons. On-tario led all provinces with a total of 41,847, followed by Quebec with 15,-811. Registrations in other provinces were:—Saskatchewan, 9,303; Manitoba, 6,563, British Columbia, 6,402; Alberta, 5,843; Nova Scotia, 3,772; New Brunswick, 1,246; Prince Edward Island, 1,194; Yukon and North West Territories 17. Licensed broadcasting stations in the Dominion numbered 61 at the end of the year.

Wide Shield of Protection Spread Ov the western prairie provinces is striking. According to the sales manager of a leading company, the west is Canada's best radio field, and prairie farmers buy more sets than any other class of people. Radio is playing a great part in the life of the Western Canadian farmer and he is finding increasing benefits in its use. Constantly in touch with the big centres of the continent, he has instantaneously the latest market reports whilst the divergences of rates on the freight at will to his isolated home. In the war and immediate post-war years the general adoption of the broadcasting in Western Canada did a great deal to repatriate the life of the Western Canadian farmer, and now the same sweeping progress of the radio has further loosened any disadvantage he may be expected to suffer by reason of his position and imparted something unique and peculiarly enjoyable in the way of pioneer farming.

Cattle Plague Is Spreading In England

Famous Warwickshire Fair Cancelled For First Time in 600 Years

The Prince of Wales may have to abandon his fox hunting this season owing to the spread of foot and mouth disease and public interest in the epidemic, which is attacking 13 counties, centres on this sport.

Hunting is not allowed in the affected areas because it is believed that horses and dogs crossing over pastures carry the infection with them.

Officials of the ministry of agriculture are investigating a theory that automobiles are also carriers of the disease. They believe that motor-covered automobile wheels spread the cattle scourge, especially machines arriving from the continent, where the disease is prevalent.

Several cattle shows have been abandoned, including the famous Warminster fair in Wiltshire, which had been held each year without intermission for 600 years.

Good Outlook For Fat Cattle

Market Can Always Be Found For Choice Animals

Prospects at the present time appear promising for Alberta farmers who intend to feed beef cattle during the coming winter, in the opinion of F. Burns, veteran cattleman of that province. Farmers who have an abundance of feed, states Mr. Burns, cannot make better use of it than by buying a number of good feeders and finishing them at home, as there will always be a market for choice beef animals.

And in Japan, bread is bought by the yard. And maybe they say 18 inches is better than none.

A National Apple Week

Fruit Growing Becoming One of the Chief Industries of Canada

In an address in connection with National Apple Week, held in Canada the week of November 2nd, G. F. McIntosh, Canadian Government fruit commissioner, said in part:

"The outstanding commercial fruit of Canada is the apple, which has reached high honors in many international competitions. At the Imperial Apple Show held in England 1923-24 Canadian apples won 49 1-2 prizes, and in 1923 and 1924 the Canadian grown McIntosh Red was pronounced the best dessert apple in the show.

Adequate and accessible supplies of fruit are essential to the well being of a community. Fruit growing is becoming one of the chief industries in Canada and the most important kind of fruit grown is the apple, which by common consent is known as the king of fruits. This is due to double by the fact that it can be successfully harvested most highly colored and long keeping apples in the world. The apple may be grown economically in commercial quantities over an immense area of Canada, so great is the fact that if we were plant to apple trees the product would be sufficient to supply the markets of the world. The crop of apples to be harvested this year is estimated at approximately 12,000,000 barrels, and the client of the industry may be gathered from the following facts:

1 (one) 200,000 acres of land are devoted to the production of apples.

1 (one) 1,000,000 trees are required annually to market the commercial crop.

1 (one) estimated value of $120,000,000 is placed on Canada's apple orchard.

4. The annual crop contributed directly and indirectly approximately $3,000,000 to the railway earnings of Canada.

5. This year's crop of apples is estimated at 30 million bushels to return to the grower $7,000,000.

Poultry Shows

Two Crowned Poultry Shows to be Held At Saskatoon and Regina

Saskatchewan will again have two crowned poultry shows, one at Saskatoon, December 2, and one at Regina, December 3.

Handsome prizes are offered and the feature of the two shows will be that a special car will be in waiting at Canora to take the birds to Saskatoon lately the show is over the birds will be loaded into the car, which will proceed to Regina, arriving there just as the Regina show is concluded, pick up their birds and at once proceed to Saskatoon. Arrangements have been arranged to feature "Saskatchewan exhibition poultry" for the Christmas trade. It is expected that there will be about 2,500 birds in the car. Three years ago, when the crowned poultry show was started at Saskatoon the show case, six feet long, contained all the birds offered for exhibition.

Professor Baker, of the university, and W. Waldron, of the department of agriculture, Regina, have the grading, packing and shipping of the car in charge.

From Farm To City

Luxury Goods Are Double For Urban Dwellers

"Do a little figuring before leaving the old homestead for the city," is the advice of a university professor who has made a study of rural economics. In his investigations he found that a farmer who prospers living on a farm can receive a big profit of an income twice as big as he had on the farm if he expects in five or ten years. Mr. Burns continued to. He discovered that 300 average farmers had an income of $1,000 a year. The five as well in the city they must have $3,300.—Vancouver Province.

Triumph For Alberta Butter

Wins First Prize and Gold Medal At London Dairy Show

The greatest triumph yet scored by Alberta creamery butter in competition was recorded recently, when it was announced from London, England, that an exhibit of Alberta creamery butter entered made by the plant of the H. Dunn Company, at Edmonton, had won first prize and gold medal in the Colonial section of the London dairy show, one of the largest shows of its kind in the world. This means that this exhibit from Alberta stood ahead of all other exhibits from other parts of the British empire, not including British itself.

The other exhibits from Alberta, made from the plant of the Woodland Dairy at Edmonton, and the Innisfail Creamery, were given high rankings, position in the show. The first prize in the examined butter sections went to the Edmonton Creameries Company.

In the colonial section of the show Canada won four out of the six prizes offered for empire wide competition, and Western Canada took three out of the six. This means that Western Canada creamery butter is recognized in the most discriminating markets in the world, as the highest quality of butter, judged in any of the British dominions.

The exhibits from Alberta in the colonial section were made under the auspices of the dairy branch of the provincial department of agriculture. They were submitted for competition by the exhibitors in combining them to make the exhibit overseas. It is the first time that Alberta has exhibited in the London show, and it is regarded as a unique triumph for the Alberta dairy industry that the gold medal came to this province, even beating out the other sides. On practically all phases of Canadian life there exist the very highest ideals of quality and service, which distance and total dissimilarity of conditions render it most difficult for British home.

The British Isles is in constant and urgent need of information on Canada and its people can find material authentic and free from bias. This should be to some extent met by the work of those newspapermen trained through years to observe and express accurately and clearly, and given peculiar opportunity to see into the workings of life in Canada. Canada has not the slightest apprehension over the conclusions they reached. It may not be too strongly or too frequently reiterated that Canada has not the slightest need of exaggeration or misrepresentation. All she needs do is present her case in the open and it is to be adequately known as she really is.

Britain's Egg Import Bill

Last Year Amount Ran Over Seventy-seven Million Dollars

The London Daily Mail is carrying on a campaign to reduce the big British egg import bill. Last year the bill for eggs imported into Britain was approximately $77,500,000. This vast sum represents 2,500,000,000.

During the last few years there has been at notable increase in the number of laying hens kept in Great Britain, as well as a marked improvement in their productive powers.

Millions of Canadian eggs go to Britain every year, and are likely to be in demand there for many years to come.

In 1925, 21 per cent. of all hospital treatment in the United States was given free.

Advertising Creates Demand For Fish

Publicity Campaign of Last Few Years Produces Results

"If every Nova Scotia fishing boat and every fish dealer in Canada were to work the full limit of their capacity for the next six months they would be unable to supply the demand that has been created as a result of the intensive newspaper advertising campaign that has been carried on by the fishing industry," declared Senator Boutilliot, president of the Canadian Fisherman's Association, addressing the Rotary Club on "Canada's Fish Day." Mr. Boutilliot gave the club a brief history of the advertising campaign started some years ago by the fishing industry of Canada, and which, he said, had created an unprecedented demand for fish food in Canada.

Many Entries For Dairy Show

All Canada Competition Takes Place In Winnipeg This Year

The all-Canada dairy show which will take place in Winnipeg, February 9 to 12, in connection with the Canada Dairy Convention, is already attracting entries from creameries all over the Dominion. Out of a total of 34 already received, Alberta has 25, Manitoba 14 Saskatchewan 9, British Columbia 5, Nova Scotia 1, Prince Edward Island 4 and Ontario 4. The all-Canada competition was first in affiliated by the Manitoba Dairy Association and is now held in different city each year. The forthcoming event will take place under the auspices of the Manitoba Dairy Association and the Dairy Manufacturers' Association.

U. S. Chicken Population

The chicken population of the United States is placed at 480,000,000 by the department of agriculture. This number, the department said, would make a procession of chickens 160,000 miles long and they could lay enough eggs each year to reach from the earth to the moon and back again!

Turkey Season is S.C.

Dried leaves at Victoria, B.C. have been mystified by the appearance over the city of between 150 and 200 turkey buzzards. Many say they have their homes in the southern states and are seldom seen so far north, especially in such numbers. Naturalists are at a loss to explain their presence here

SYNOPSIS

Pierrot, its trapper, and Nepeese, his daughter, reach the regular fur trade route at Churchill, and here remain. Pierrot means to buy supplies and the wages of Mr. Thayer (the Hudson's Bay manager who was determined to marry Nepeese before wedding some penniless young trapper) to spend in throwing the devil. "If I make one fur," he will have all enough." Violated the intent was broken, and Mr. Thayer was gone.

Now the tents filled dusk and cold frosty nights of the Red Moon brought about the big change in Baree. It was inevitable. Never knew that it would come, and the first night that Baree settled back on his haunches and howled up at the Red Moon, Pierrot prepared Nepeese for it.

"He is a wild dog, ma Nepeese," he said to her. "He is half wolf, and the call will come to him strong. He will go into the forests. He will disappear at times. But no matter, he fasten him. He will come back. He will come back!"

And he rubbed his hands to the moon glow until his knuckles cracked.

The call came to Baree like a thunderous howl, and cautiously into a clearing he filled with moon and stars, under which the earth was white palace with a film of frost where the beard the fat hunter-said to the wolf. Here and there during the summer there had come the lone wolf howl, but this was the mingling of the pack, and as it shivered through the vast silence and mystery of the night, a song of savagery that had come with each Red Moon down through an undying ages. Pierrot knew that at last Baree had found his own.

"Sinking low under the bushes, his tail drooping, his ears almost—the wolf was the wolf runs on the night trail."

"Baree!" she cried. "Baree! Baree! Baree!"

He went into the edge of the forest, for she had drawn a short, waking breath as two before he was back at her side. But he had come, straight as an arrow, and he whined up into her face. Nepeese put her hands to his head.

"I am right, mon pere," she said. "It will go to the wolves, but he will come back. He will never leave me, for long." With one hand still on Baree's head, she pointed with the other into the pit-like blackness of the forest. "Go to them, Baree!" she whispered. "Then you may come back. You must. Chemase!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

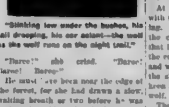
No longer, as in the days of old, did the darkness of the forests hold a fear for Baree. This night his bravery had risen to the stars and the moon, and in that cry he had, for the first time, cast forth his defiance of night and space, his warning to all the wild, and his acceptance of the Brotherhood.

He ran straight into the darkness to the north and west, shaking low under the bushes, his tail drooping, his ears slant—the wolf as the wolf runs on the night trail. The pack had swung due north, and was travelling faster than he, so that at the end of an hour he could no longer hear but his keen nose caught the scent of their trail. They were tired, a little discouraged, for they had not yet made a kill since early that morning. Baree knew that, and his nose had told him that for which Baree had been waiting.

In an instant Baree had scented it. His muscles grew taut as nerves of steel, and he was off like a shot, with unerring instinct, facing the direction from which floated the mystery and thrill of things scented. They could be only a shining softly, and Pierrot, he knew, a death so that he caught the flesh of the night properly, could now him to-night.

It is Mr. Hood," he said to a wolf got to Nepeese.

This Was It, the call of the kind that was running swift in his veins—not alone the call of his species, but the call of Kazan and a King Wolf and of his forbears for generations unnumbered. It was the voice of his father, the Pasquo had whispered, and he was right. In the golden night the Willow was waiting, for it was also who had gathered most, and it was she who most knew of life. Kazan had returned no sound, replied not to the low voice of Pierrot, but held her breath and watched Baree as he moved slowly away, step by step, in the shadows, in his moonwise move he was gone. It was then that she stood straight, and Baree back, her head, with eyes that glowed in rivalry with the stars.



Baree had not forgotten Nepeese. A dozen times he turned his head back and whined, had always he picked out accurately the direction in which the cabin lay. But he did not turn back to the night he had left, with the fear that no matter—something which he had not found continued. His hunt for it, even with the coming of the moon, and the coming of the gray dawn, was not sufficiently keen to make him hunt for food.

It was not until the second colder when the glow of the moon and stars died out. Under his padded feet, especially in the open spaces, was a thick white frost in which he left shorty at times the imprint of his toes and claws. He had travelled steadily for hours, a great many miles in all, and he was tired when the first light of the day came.

At last it had come—the meeting with that for which he had been seeking. It was in an open, lighted by the cold day—a tiny amphitheatre that lay on the side of a ridge, facing the east. With her head toward him, and waiting for him as he came out of the shadows of the forest, was Mahegun, the young wolf.

There was not a fortnight's difference in their age and yet Mahegun was much the smaller of the two; her body was as round and as full of fire as Baree; she stood on slender Pose that were almost like the legs of a fox, and the coat of her back was that of a slightly burnt hue, a sign of swiftness almost equal to the wind.

When she was near, half an hour before, in Baree's path in the small open on the side of the ridge, with a deep fringe of forest under them, and beyond that a wide, timbered plain which looked like a ghostly shroud in the silence of frost.

Mahegun, for the first time in her short pack and like Baree had failed to catch it. They were tired, a little discouraged, for they had not yet since early that morning. Baree knew that, and his nose had told him that for which Baree had been waiting.

In an instant Baree had scented it. His muscles grew taut as nerves of steel, and he was off like a shot, with unerring instinct, facing the direction from which floated the mystery and thrill of things scented. To Save Old Sailing Vessel

The Benjamin F. Packard, last of the square-rigged vessels owned from the Atlantic, at the port she built in 1882, is preserved from a wrecking wreckage. It was made by order of the Massachusetts Nautical Training School, Boston, Mass., that likely members of the class have decided to buy the old three-master from its present owners. He said the vessel will be stored with marine trophies and anchored off the harbor.

HEALTH BROKE DOWN

Could Not Get Sleep for Hours After Going to Bed

"It is not natural for me to sit down and write a letter in praise of a patent medicine as I had always been skeptical as to their virtues." This writes Mr. Arthur Seguin, Shorncliffe, Sask., who further says: "But there is no doubt I opened a general store in Shorncliffe and placed on my shelves a few lines of the best known proprietary medicines. Naturally, each Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As there were three in my family I had been suffering from catarrh for years, and my inside work had completely broken down my health. I was coughing all day, suffered from indigestion, and could not sleep half three or four hours after retiring. I started the pills, not with any great confidence, but by the time I had finished the second box I noticed much improvement. At the fourth box I felt myself again, but continued them for some further time. My cough has left me, the indigestion has disappeared, and I now feel as heavy almost as soon as I am in bed. In my opinion, now I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any who are feeling run down or without energy, as I think they are a blessing to mankind."

If others who may feel skeptical will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a full trial they will be convinced as we are. Sold by druggists. You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Reports being prepared by J. D. Soper on Canadian expeditions to the Arctic, will be completed in 1920.

Rev. John Carter, 61 years of age, son of John Carter, Toronto has been elected mayor of Guelph.

R. J. Breese, meteorologist at Washington, D.C., predicts 1920 will be a year without a summer with agriculture almost impossible.

The new Canadian Red Cross Hospital was formally opened at Englehart, Ont., by Hon. Lincoln Goldie, provincial secretary.

More than 400,000 people travelled by water between Canada and the United States during the year ending June 30th, research bureau shipping board records reveal.

A memorial tablet to the late Sir William Price was unveiled at the Armistice memorial service held in St. James' Anglican Church at Rossignol, Nova Scotia.

With the 1925 season of navigation nearing an end, statistics compiled at the port of Quebec show that 75,000 passengers were landed up to Nov. 7, bound for Canada and the United States.

Sir Horace Rumbold, British ambassador to Madrid, will head the commission of the League of Nations, which will inquire into the reasons for the existing between the Balkans and the Greeks recently.

The Manitoba Power Company will spend $2,000,000 in new equipment and transmission lines following successful negotiations for supply of power to the Manitoba Pulp and Paper Company mills at Fort Alexander.

NERVILINE

A King Over Pain

Those who seek permanent relief from the pain of Rheumatism, Sciatica and Lumbago should read the letter of P. E. Normand, from Georgetown, who writes:

"I was fairly crippled with aching joints and rheumatism. I could not move without pain. I needed help—came it from Nerviline. I got it and to-day; it will make you well quickly."

Nerviline is used throughout the world and has most decided sharp pluck the war during the last summer, the department of commerce announced to-day.

Reports for the third quarter of 1920, ended Sept. 30, received from 1,000 firms, showed a drop of more than 150,000 tons.

Motor vessels declined 40,000 tons during this period, while steamers or other classes of ships, it was stated, has been decreasing steadily.

Construction in this country dropped 22,000 tons. The U. K. figures for Great Britain and Ireland was reported to be 94,000 tons. The largest decrease was shown in vessels from 1,000 to 10,000-ton drop. France declined 19,000 tons and Denmark 7,000 tons.

Italy and Holland observed the only increase in work started during this period.

Toronto Doctor Announces New Serum For High Blood Pressure

A serum which may reduce the morbidity of high blood pressure was announced by Dr. F. H. G. Starr, of Toronto, Canada, in an address before the clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons, Philadelphia.

Dr. Starr said that William J. McDonald had been working on the serum in the research laboratories of the University of Toronto for some time, but that it had not yet reached the stage where a detailed description or an optimistic statement of its probable efficacy. He said the serum was a liver extract. High blood pressure, he explained, usually was due to hardening of the arteries, which is followed by an inflammation, possibly of germ origin.

PAUL BEFORE FELIX

Golden Text: Herein I also exercise myself to have a conscience void of offense toward God and men always. Acts 24:16.

Lesson Acts 23:1-24:27.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 91:1-11.

The Text Explained and Illustrated

The case against Paul Presented Before Tertullus versus Paul (Acts 24:1-9). Historical Background: Luckus had charged Paul's accusers to appear against him before Felix. Within five days the high priest Ananias with a deputation from the Sanhedrin arrived in Caesarea. Paul was summoned for trial. Tertullus, the advocate whom the Jews had engaged for the occasion, was a Roman. After fulsome words of flattery to Felix, every Jewish orator's chief accusation, Tertullus summed up the political issues of three counts. Inciting disturbances among the Jews throughout the Roman Empire. Being a ringleader of the Nazarene sect. Profaning the temple. Of the charges of (1) and (2) Paul was innocent, as he could easily prove. As to (3) he was guilty of the charge, but not in the sense in which it was made. Paul's defense. Paul's defense was a masterpiece of tact and courage. He began by complimenting Felix on his long experience as a judge. He then proceeded to show that he had been in Jerusalem only twelve days, and that he had not had time to create a disturbance. He had gone there to worship, not to preach. He had not been in the temple disputing with any man, nor had he been stirring up the people in the synagogues or in the city. He could not be charged with anything of which they could produce evidence. He admitted that he was a member of the sect called "the way," but declared that he was a true Jew, believing all that was written in the law and the prophets. He had hope toward God, which they themselves allowed, that there should be a resurrection of the dead. He had exercised himself to have a conscience void of offense toward God and men always. He had come to bring alms to his nation and to offer sacrifices. He had been purified in the temple when the Jews from Asia found him there. He had stood before the council and had asked them if they had found any evil in him except the one thing he had cried out when he stood among them, "Touching the resurrection of the dead I am called in question by you this day." Felix's decision. Felix was well acquainted with the way, and he knew that Paul was innocent of the charges brought against him. He therefore adjourned the case, but kept Paul in custody. Paul's imprisonment. Paul was kept in custody for two years. Felix sent for him frequently and conversed with him. Felix was a man of low character, and Paul's preaching of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come made him tremble. Felix's motive. Felix hoped that Paul would offer him a bribe. Felix's character. Felix was a man of low character, and Paul's preaching of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come made him tremble. Felix's motive. Felix hoped that Paul would offer him a bribe.

GREENFIELD RESIGNS; BROWNLEE NEW PREMIER

Premier Herbert Greenfield, leader of the Farmer government since it took over the reins of office from the former Liberal administration in 1921, tendered his resignation to Lieut.-Gov Egbert at 11.30 Monday morning, recommending that his honor ask Attorney-General J. E. Brownlee to form a government.

Premier Brownlee was sworn in immediately thereafter, followed by his ministers, the official duty being performed by his honor at his chambers in the government buildings.

While some changes have been made in portfolios in the new cabinet, no changes in personnel have been made, neither is there a new attorney-general.

The new cabinet as now named is as follows: Premier and attorney-general, Hon. J. L. Brownlee; provincial treasurer and minister of municipalities, Hon. R. G. Reid; minister of agriculture and public health, and provincial secretary, Hon. George Hoadley; minister of labor and public works, Hon. Alex. Ross; minister of railways and telephones, Hon. V. B. Smith; minister of education, Hon. Perren Baker; minister without portfolio, Hon. Irene Parlby.

The only changes in portfolio, it will be noted, are that Premier Brownlee, while retaining his portfolio, as attorney general, relinquishes that of provincial secretary to Mr. Hoadley, while the portfolio of minister of municipal affairs, held formerly by Mr. Greenfield, goes to Mr. Reid, who retains also that of provincial treasurer.—Edmonton Journal.

Good Hope

The Ladies' Aid will hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. Asmuson, Thursday, December 3, at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Wright visit to the Good Hope school last Thursday and organized a Mission Band and a Mission Circle. Miss Carmichael is leader of the band. The officers elected for the Circle were:

President—Helen Pomeroy.
Vice-president—Myrel Whitson.
Treasurer—Mary Pomeroy.
Secretary—Ada Moyer.

The next meeting will be held in the school house on Thursday, November 26, at 3:30 p.m. It is hoped that all the girls will attend to get a large number of members. The membership fee is 25c.

Mr. Gant is selling out and moving to Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cranston and Mary Pomeroy were Sunday visitors in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Brenton were the visitors of Rev. and Mrs. Wright last Sunday.

Redwater

The Harvest Thanksgiving service was held at Redwater on Friday evening, November 20th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Brown, who have for many years permitted their house to be used for Anglican church services. The Rev. O. J. Roberts, F.Th., Incumbent of Battenleny, preached from verses 15 and 16 of the 145th psalm. Mrs. Roberts as usual presided at the organ. The singing was good and hearty.

Partridge Hill

Mr. Stan Whitson paid a flying visit to his farm at Akenodale last Thursday.

Mrs. Tom Aitken and little son Carl, of Kinsella, are visiting friends in this district.

Mr. Yvon Ucther, Kinsella, is visiting friends here.

The U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. at a joint meeting last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terrance observed Old Timers' night. The evening was an enjoyable one for all present with reminiscences of early times, songs and merry junk. The toast to "The Old Timers" was proposed by Mrs. Harry Rye, president of U.F.W.A., and was heartily responded to by all present. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the host and hostess for their hospitality.

The joint annual meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Flintoft on Tuesday, December 8.

Mrs. Frank Lawrence, Mr. George Lawrence, Miss Susie and Mr. Ernest Smith were Edmonton visitors last Sunday.

Preparations for the school Xmas concert are going on apace, teacher and pupils alike are working hard to make it a success. It will be held on Tuesday, December 22.

BELOVED QUEEN MOTHER DEAD AFTER HEART ATTACK

Stricken with heart disease Thursday morning, almost on the eve of her eighty-first birthday, Queen Mother Alexandra passed away at 5:35 o'clock last Friday afternoon, with her son, King George V., Queen Mary and surviving members of the royal family at her bedside.

Thus died the radiantly beautiful Danish princess who captivated England 57 years ago when she came to be the bride of the then Prince of Wales and who held the empire's love and reverence through three generations as the Princess of Wales, as Edward VII's queen and then as the queen mother.

Burial will probably be made towards the end of next week, when the body will be laid to rest in the royal vault beside King Edward at St. George's chapel, Windsor.

A War Of Extermination

Despite the fact that the statesmen of the great European nations, and the League of Nations are earnestly striving to bring about understandings and conditions which will have the effect of preventing future wars, we neverthe less must be reasonable of this and that invention and the effect it will have on the next war."

The "next war" is, as a matter of fact, now being waged. It has been in progress for some time and is increasing in intensity. But instead of be ing a war between man and man, it is a war of extermination between man and insects. Man has won victories in certain sections of the battle line which extends around the world, although, in the language of the late Great War, he has not yet been successful in fully consolidating his position, then mak ing his victory secure and lasting. In other sectors the insects still have the upper hand and seem to be gaining.

The battle between man and the insects is not spectacular but it is a strenuous and extremely exacting struggle that grave possibilities if there is any slackening in man's onslaught until final and complete victory is ob tained.

In the Canadian House of Commons last session, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, made a brief statement regarding the offensive being waged under the direction of that department against crop destroying insects in Canada when he was asking for an increased appropriation for this work, acknowledging the general desire of reducing rather than increasing ex penditures and extending the scope of public services.

Addressing the Rotary Club of Ottawa a few days ago, Dr. Arthur Gibson, chief of the entomological branch of the Department of Agriculture, stated that from 10 to 25 per cent. of the entire crop grown is destroyed by insects, while millions of dollars' worth of pulpwood was destroyed from the same cause.

It is estimated that the boll weevil causes damage to the cotton crop of the United States to the amount of $200,000,000 each year, over which it has been proclaimed that this beetle may in time ruin the cotton growing in dustry of that country.

The pest, or scientific, which affects cattle, causes a loss in Great Britain alone of from $100,000,000 to $25,000,000 annually.

Here in the West we know by bitter experience what the sawfly and other insects do to the grain crops, and how many a promising field has been ruined by them.

But it is not in relation to crops and cattle alone that insects are waging war on mankind. Until comparatively recent years, one-half the human death rate of the world each year was due to malaria, transmitted from per son to person by the mosquito. For more than a score of years the mos quito held up the construction of the Panama Canal. Between 1881 and 1889 twenty-two thousand laborers on canal construction died of malaria or yellow fever, and the failure of successive canal companies was due to the mosquito, and it was not until the United States engineers studied and fought the mos quito that the canal was finally constructed.

The Rockefeller Foundation has provided millions of dollars for a cam paign against the hook worm.

But it this war against the insects is to succeed it must not be left solely to Governments, scientific bodies and interested experts. As in the Great War, the world, mankind and womankind of the citizens must be mobilized for victory.

The common house fly is a much more dangerous enemy of man than even wet, raw weather, although all the colorful rail work that has been done, the aver age person thinks. If typhoid diphtheria and other diseases are to be wiped out, the filth and disease carrying house fly must be first exterminated, and "swatting the fly" should not be regarded merely as a passing fad, or an amusing diversion, but as a really serious business in every Canadian home.

Governments experts have compiled much valuable information against insects—facts which should be fought and destroyed and those which are useless to man. It remains for the individual citizen to apply that knowledge and co-operate with the Government departments of health and agriculture in waging the battle, upon the successful outcome of which depends human lives and countless millions of dollar, annually.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 29

PAUL BEFORE AGRIPPA

Golden Text: I am not disobedient unto the heavenly vision. Acts 26:19

Lesson Acts 25:1 to 26:32

Devotional Reading: Psalm 42:1-5

The Text Explained and Illustrated

Paul's Defense Before Agrippa, verses 1-32.—King Agrippa as he is called Agrippa II., ruler of small principali ties in Northern Palestine, with the title of king, son of Herod Agrippa I., who slew James the son of Zebedee, great nephew of Herod Antipas, who beheaded John the Baptist, great grandson of Herod the Great, who massacred the innocents in his at tempts to kill the infant Jesus. Paul began his defense not only for him self but of the gospel he preached by conspicuously referring to Agrippa's knowledge of Jewish questions and customs and then by told of his own life as a Pharisee, his persecution of Christians, his conversion, and his commission to preach to the Gentiles. To the heavenly vision granted him on the way to Damascus he had been obedient

It is not enough that a man should say, "I have had a heavenly vision," or Wherefore I was constrained of the vision." Right, ap proved human judgments, that are all very well, but the right result is, Wherefore I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision." Paul's knowledge of Christ makes him de fend, not himself, but Christ and things. It is only as we know Christ and do your guile" (Dr Alexander Maclaren).

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ARE OF GREAT VALUE

To All Mothers Having Young Children in the Home

No other medicine is of such aid to mothers of young children as is Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are the very best medicine a mother can give her little ones during the disturbing teething time because they regulate the stomach and bowels and thus drive out constipation and indigestion; pre vent colds and diarrhoea and break up colds and simple fevers

Mrs. Joseph Gauthier, Quyon, Que., writes: "I have found Baby's Own Tablets a great help to my little girl in Baby's Own Tablets. I would not like to be without them and can strongly recommend the Tablets to all other mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr Williams' Medi cine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Plan To Reduce Crime

Offer $2,500 Reward For Best Programme to Reduce Crime in New York

An award of $2,500 is offered by the Society for the Prevention of Crime to the citizen or public official who presents, before January 11, the best programme to bring about the reduction of crime in New York City.

The announcement of the award states that while a single suggestion may win, the problem is so complex, it seemed best to open the way for a programme or series of related efforts toward the solution. The contest is open to every citizen and public official in the United States.

The total number of words submitted must not exceed 15,000, which may include not only an exposition of the plan but argument for it. A brief summary, however, may accompany the manuscript, which must be typewritten. No manuscript will be acknowledged or returned.

New Varieties of Spring Wheat Give Exceptional Promise Of Doing Well in Western Canada

(By L. H. Newman, Dominion Cereal ist, Ottawa)

Among the many new varieties of spring wheat produced by the cereal division of the experimental farms branch of the department of agricultu re at Ottawa, Ven, Garnet and Reward, are worthy of special mention, since they are practically sure to oc cupy a prominent place in certain districts of Western Canada. Garnet is the result of a cross between Preston and Red. Reward is a cross between Marquis and Preloff. Both varieties are earlier than Marquis. During the past eight years' test at the branch farms at Brandon, Manitoba, Indian Head, Saskatchewan, and Lacombe Alberta, Garnet matured, on an av erage, about one day earlier than Marquis, in Manitoba it matures usually around seven or eight days before Marquis, while in Alberta the difference be tween the two may reach twelve or thirteen days during some seasons. Reward usually matures three or four days later than Garnet

To obtain data from as many sources as possible, a plan of local variety tests was inaugurated in 1924, and continued in 1925. In 1925 69 farmers tested these two wheats alongside of five standard sorts. In 1925, 100 farmers widely scattered throughout the three provinces, con ducted similar tests. While the data is withholding its final decision as to whether or not Garnet will be placed on the market this winter pend ing further milling and baking tests are made, at present this variety ma terial seems to be regarded as a substan tial advance over Ruby as an early maturing wheat. In some of the drier districts, evidence so far collected would seem to indicate that Garnet, like its Preston parent, is able to stand up against drought conditions better even than Marquis. This may, or may not, be confirmed by subsequent tests. In milling tests made thus far, this variety has proved quite satisfac tory, indeed and there seems little doubt but that it will rank among the high quality varieties. While it appears to be quite susceptible to rust, its early maturing qualities may enable it large ly to escape epidemics which do not occur too often in this season. In yielding tests conducted at the branch farms, as well as at some of the pro vincial agricultural colleges, it has ex celled Ruby by a very substantial margin in local tests where most wheats produce a somewhat starchy kernel, Garnet seems likely to pro duce a kernel of fairly good quality

Reward is particularly promising in districts where rainfall is likely to be ample. It possesses a remarkably strong straw and produces a very fine quality of grain. It also seems to have considered rust resistance, which, together with its early ripen ing quality, makes it rather promising in those districts which are liable to suffer from rust. During the bad rust year of 1923, this variety tied with Kota for first place at the experi mental farm at Brandon. Reward, moreover, stood up perfectly straight, whereas Kota lodged very badly. The rust-resisting abilities of Kota are well known, as to also its tendency to lodge.

There is as yet practically no Re ward wheat available for general dis tribution, although a pure line of this is being multiplied as rapidly as pos sible. In the case of Garnet, how ever, several thousand bushels will be placed on the market this winter pro vided milling and baking tests con ducted during the next three months do not reveal any serious weakness. The division is preparing a pamphlet in which will be submitted a complete statement as to the performance of this wheat in different districts, in comparison with the well-known Mar quis.

A conservative attitude in being as sumed throughout, lest people become unduly enthusiastic regarding the merits of this new introduction. If this variety is placed on the market there will probably be a limit set as to the number of bushels which may be obtained by any one farmer. The price charged will be a reasonable one.

Fertilizing Value of Wood Ashes

Are Valuable For Restraining Acids in the Soil

Wood ashes may be used to advant age as a fertilizer for most crops in light and gravelly soils of acid type, table loams inclined to be sour. They are especially valuable for the tree crops and vineyards of the Niagara district. Apple trees are benefited by the use of potash under extensive conditions, including the severe soil conditions of the Canadian Prairie Provinces, but benefited less frequently than in the case of fruit trees. In the case of grain crops, the use of potash under extensive conditions is not generally profitable, but in the case of intensive farming, where the crops are valuable, potash is frequently found profitable. Potash is also found profitable in the case of certain vegetable crops, such as potatoes, tomatoes, cabbages, etc., and in the case of root crops, such as mangels, turnips, etc. Potash is also found profitable in the case of certain forage crops, such as clover, alfalfa, etc. Potash is also found profitable in the case of certain grain crops, such as wheat, oats, barley, etc. Potash is also found profitable in the case of certain vegetable crops, such as potatoes, tomatoes, cabbages, etc. Potash is also found profitable in the case of certain

In an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

With the coming of the tonic filled days and nights of the Red Moon, a change came over Baree Neipoos, the trapper's daughter, had made a pet of him, but Baree was half wolf and at the call of the wolves he fled, to join his own as Pierrot the trap per, had predicted. "Ho, Baree," Neipoos outlined him. "But you must come." Baree ignored "The woods and joined Makwegum, a young she-wolf. Who also was seeking the pack. The ears of both were attuned for the slightest sounds from the wolves

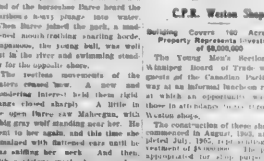
The snow grew deeper under their feet In the open spaces they waded through it to their knees, and it confirmed to fall in a vast white cloud that descended steadily out of the sky. It was near midnight when it stopped. The clouds drifted away from under the stars and the moon, and for a long time Baree and Makwegum stood without moving, looking down from the bald crest of a ridge upon a wonderful world

An hour after the storm had ceased, Baree came suddenly to the west of the tongue of the wolfpack. It was not far distant, probably not more than a mile below the foot of the ridge, and the sharp quick yapping that followed the first outburst was evidence that the long-legged beasts had put up a sudden game A caribou or young moose, and were close at his heels. At the sides of her own people Makwegum laid her ears close to her head and was off like an arrow from a bow

The unexpectedness of her movement and the swiftness of her fight put Baree well behind her in the race over the plain She was running broadly inward by link For an interval of perhaps five minutes the pack were so near to their game that they made no sound, and the chase swung full into the face of Makwegum and Baree The latter was not half a dozen lengths behind the young wolf when a crash that in the brush direct ly ahead stopped them so sharply that they tore up the snow with their heels and forfeited equal headway Ten seconds later a caribou burst through and floundered on across the open. Baree paused for a moment to watch the chase more than twenty yards from where they stood. They could hear its wild leaping as it disappeared. And then came the pack.

At sight of those swiftly moving gray bodies Baree's heart leaped for an instant into his throat. Behind him Makwegum, and that she had run away from him The moon and the stars went out of existence for him. He no longer remembered the chill of the snow under his feet. He was wolf—all wolf. With the warm scent of the caribou in his nostrils, and the passion to kill sweeping through him like fire he dashed after the pack.



"At sight of those swiftly moving gray bodies Baree's heart leaped for an instant into his throat."

It was as if Baree had belonged to the pack always. He had joined it so naturally, so utterly without question, that he was a stranger, an interloper, a creature whom they noticed only in a moment when they had time. He was but with the rage and disappointment of hitters who had missed their quarry. A second wolf sprang in, striking Baree treacherously from the flank; and while he was in the snow, his jaws crushing the forelegs of his first foe, the pack was on him en masse.

Such an attack on the young man's body would have meant death in less than a minute Every fang would have found its hold Baree, by the instinct strengthened in him who was under his first two assailants and protected by their bodies, was saved from being torn to pieces in a moment. He knew that he was fighting for his life that it was the horde of beasts cold and merciless, that assailed him, that felt the burning pain of their long fangs in his flesh, he was smothered, a hundred knives seemed cutting him into ribbons, but he did not cry out in whimper or a cry—came from him now in the horror and hopelessness of it all

It would have ended in another half minute had the struggle not been at the very edge of the bank. Undermined by the erosion of the spring floods a section of this bank as 15 feet gave way, and with it most of the snow half the pack. In a flash Baree thought of the water, and with a supreme effort he broke from the mass of fighting bodies. He had set him free of the pack and in that instant he gave a shout and sprang far out into the deep water of the stream Close behind him half a dozen jaws snapped at his heels as he leaped. He saved the caribou, so this strip of water, eighteen to twenty feet wide, was drawn all between him and the pack.

The stream was not more than a hundred feet in width, and on the opposite side Baree rose to a footing straight to get across it Until he dragged himself out on the opposite shore, the pack, at his heels, was a snarling, snapping mass of fangs. Then it ceased to attack, and as he dragged himself slowly and painfully to his feet, with the fish in the water was a red path set blazed

There was no time for others to take this place From the broken end of the horseshoe Baree heard the caribou's heavy plunge into water When Baree joined the pack, a modified mouth trotting soaring horde, Napoleon, the young bull, was well out in the river and swimming steadily for the opposite shore.

The restless movements of the watery monsters, and the wide-eyed wondering interest held them rigid Fangs closed sharply A little in the open Baree saw Makwegum, like a big gray wolf standing near her. He went to her again, and this time she remained with motionless eyes until he was sniffing her neck And then, with a vicious snarl, she snapped at him. Her teeth sank deep in the soft flesh of his shoulder, and at the unexpectedness and pain of her attack, he let out a yelp. The next instant the big gray wolf was at him.

Again caught unexpectedly, Baree went down with the wolf's fangs at his throat. But in him was the blood of Kazan the fresh and bone and sinew of Kazan, and for the first time in his life he fought as Kazan fought on flat terrible day at the top of the Run Rock

That fight, if it had been fair, would have been a thing for Baree even in his youth and inexperience In fairness the pack should have waited. Even a few of the pack to wait—at least till one or two more Baree's life was his blood, he was a stranger, an interloper, a creature whom they noticed only in a moment when they had time. He was but with the rage and disappointment of hitters who had missed their quarry. A second wolf sprang in, striking Baree treacherously from the flank; and while he was in the snow, his jaws crushing the forelegs of his first foe, the pack was on him en masse.

Such an attack on the young man's body would have meant death in less than a minute Every fang would have found its hold Baree, by the instinct strengthened in him who was under his first two assailants and protected by their bodies, was saved from being torn to pieces in a moment. "I'LL TAKE THE PILLS"

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Letter from Mrs. Ayars Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Spring Valley, Sask.—"I took the Vegetable Compound before my last confinement, when I got to feeling so badly that I could not sleep nights, my back ached so across my hips, and I could hardly do my work during the day. I never had such an easy confinement and this is my sixth baby. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the 'Farmer's Telegram' and wrote you for one of your books. We have no drug-st in our town, but I saw your medicine in T. Eaton's catalogue. I am a farmer's wife, so have all kinds of work to do inside and outside the house. My baby is a nice healthy girl, who weighed nine pounds at birth. I am feeling fine after putting in a large garden since baby came. She is as good a she can be. Yours is the best medicine for women, and I have told about it and even written to my friends about it." Mrs. ANNIE E. AYARS, Spring Valley, Sask.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a powerful effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system so that it may reach in every respect as nature intends. All druggists sell this dependable medicine. Give it a trial. C
